

THE WORLD OF FASHION.

VERNAL MODES FOR DRESSES.

Dress Goods - General Description - Latest and Proximate Styles - Silks, Grenadines, Organdies, Shawls, Cloaks, Jackets, Mantillas, Laces, Skirts, Gloves, Boots, Mourning Goods, Jewelry, Parasols, Hoops, Collars, Etc.

The spring styles, not only in bonnets, which have been described, but in dresses and dress materials, cloaks, shawls, laces, and the most and the most elegant articles that make up a lady's wardrobe, are now pretty well established.

There is a tendency to revive styles long since looked upon as too restricted for recreation. It does not appear, either in military or dress goods, that any one color is a decided favorite; but green, blue, lavender, and grey will be the prevailing shades.

In silks the styles are neat and elegant. Chenees have reappeared, and rival in beauty the dotted patterns; but stripes, in other qualities are much sought after. There are narrow stripes, and wide showy stripes very becoming to some figures; but perhaps the most admired are those of medium width, comparatively few ladies choosing a style decidedly conspicuous.

Among the new designs is one in lavender. On the material narrow stripes of this color are wrought. A novelty is a ground of delicate pearl color, with the figure of a half moon in scarlet wreathed in flowers.

Another style is a light blue with stripes, which at the first glance seem only of flowers; but a closer scrutiny reveals a human figure, with folded arms and alpine hat, sitting among the flowers.

A rich more important has a narrow stripe of Mexican blue and a wide stripe of white, with flowers in jardinerie. Grisaille silk in little checks, or in white dots on a black ground, is very desirable for traveling dresses.

In plain light silks one of the color water de l'isle is new, and will be a favorite. It is of a delicate and beautiful appearance. The old fashioned stripes, such as olive green and olive-brown, have been revived for street dresses.

Black has been worn so much in cheap dresses that it became a necessity, the fashion-makers say, to introduce some dark colors in silk instead of black, and these were chosen. The Gladiator cloth, and the Eugenie in dark blue, green, and brown are also new styles for walking suits.

For full dress, colored satins take the lead. The cashmere white satin is soft and beautiful, and is preferred for bridal dresses in place of white corded silk.

In mourning there is a new material called poplin grenadine. It may be worn in full mourning, instead of bouzanique, and is more durable. It is two and a quarter yards wide, and trimmed with ermine and a handsome mourning shawl. Some bombazines take the precedence for the deepest mourning.

The new material is now in thin black goods for summer wear, and there are the Hermine, the Byzantine, the Perizette, and the Hernali - quite a variety from which to select.

Grenadines, with a black ground, barred in narrow white stripes, forming a large square, or a white round carried with black, and variegated flower in each square, are new and pretty. A beautiful design, in the same material, is of a delicate brown ground, with a richly tinted flower, and a small irregularly shaped black spot, darker brown than the ground, resembling a shadow.

Fabrics of goats' hair will be considerably used for spring and summer walking dresses. They are in stripes and checks, and are of no plain. When combined with a mixture of cotton they are durable, and look well until they are worn out. The plan will make good suits for ordinary wear, but stripes and checks are not so desirable for carriages.

Next to grenadines the organdies are probably the most admired of the goods for usual summer wear. Last year the designs were grotesque and unattractive; but some of the new patterns are quite beautiful, particularly those in variegated flowers and delicately formed leaves. The robe patterns are very handsome, and many selections have been made.

Nearly all dresses of this quality are now lined or partially lined. If the wearer does not wish to gorge each breath, there is an easy method of folding under a part of the width. It is introduced by a leading modiste, and is found to give a graceful sweep to the skirt.

Thin dresses will not generally be gored. The question whether they could be which was for a time perplexing, is solved. They are gored when mounted on stiff lining, and are trimmed with puffings or with one deep flounce. An organdie trimmed with a flounce, or with a wide band of some contrasting color, is very pretty. An attractive style is the gored skirt with a few plaits at the back, resembling somewhat a style that was in vogue among our grandmothers. There are two sachas with fringe of the color of the dress; the heading, or a contrasting color, depending from the back at each side. Corresponding sachas, two inches long, are attached to each seam, and fall within a few inches of the bottom.

A good way of making two silk dresses of different colors, into one dress, is to make one, and put a trimming of the other around the lower part of the skirt, the upper edge being pointed or scooped, and the sleeves and waist trimmed to match.

The newest pattern in sleeves is the Empire, which is the coat-sleeve, with a wide pulling on the top. While the coat-sleeve is the prevailing style, there is such a variety of patterns that all tastes can probably be suited.

Points are not much worn. The waists are round, with or without a basque-finish, as it may suit the fancy.

In Paris the looped-up dress is still worn on promenade, but for evening dresses, or on extraordinary occasions, the skirt has a train. Some are two yards in length, and is worn without the large hoops. Which are the most difficult to manage, these trains or the numerous hoops, is a serious question for ladies. Suits are made with either round or shawl-shaped mantles.

Suits for little girls, comprising skirt and basque, trimmed to match, are fashionable. Knickerbocker suit or neat casemere, with a sash of blue, is a prett, suit for a boy of five to seven years of age.

Parasols are richer, smaller, and more beautifully decorated than ever. They are usually lined with white, and have gilt or ivory handles carved in singular devices. Some are black silk are bordered with jet and gold; others with steel or enamel beads, the edge being lined with a cord or narrow fringe. The old-fashioned canopy-top parasol is brought out again, but it has not yet found many purchasers. Parasols are also revived. They are suited for carriage use. Being small and turning over at the top, they can be employed for fans. Parasols are likewise made of pongee. These are larger and more durable than parasols of ordinary silk, and are appropriate for the seaside, or for country use.

There is nothing new in shawls, except square ones of silk and wool of so light a shade that they can be worn all summer. The most and the most elegant fine assortments of the India or camel's hair, French cashmere, the Alpine, etc. Shawls are more worn this spring than formerly, possibly because they are gracefully burrowed - arranged to fall in an Arabian hood.

There have recently been one or two openings of shawls, and another will take place in the present week. The styles have never been more varied or richer than now, and each particular fancy may be gratified. The only difficulty that can arise is probably that of selecting from so many. It has been supposed that the days of the basquine would be past this spring, but it is still a very fashionable garment, though differing in outline and trimming from the former basquine. It does not sit closely on the back, and the front is loose, like the front of a sacque. Some of the new styles are in deep colors around the lower edge, with a double fall of zig-zagure lace. A few are partially open at the back, and others are open to the waist, with a wide, long, shawl, trimmed to match, depending from the waist; or a long sash passes from each arm, and crossing at the waist, is fastened with a medalion. This kind of ornament is also in vogue, but with two heads alike. If the cloak is made without a sash, broad ribbons, having jet decorations, are attached to the back of the neck, with two loops, the two ends being more than a yard long.

Something novel, if not decidedly "odd," is the new style of basquine in rich silk, and ornamented with a trimming of black and white feathers two inches wide, with tufts of the same in front, to resemble buttons. One new style is a basquine cut low and square like the neck with a fall of lace. The circular mantle of silk, with a coachman's cane trimmed with jet bead fringe, is quite a novelty, and is considered handsome.

Talismans or circulars are nearly lost sight of, as may please, will be worn to match the dress; but when of different material from the skirt they have a decided look, and are worn with a fall of lace. The circular mantle of silk, with a coachman's cane trimmed with jet bead fringe, is quite a novelty, and is considered handsome.

The lace shawls, both white and black, are handsome, and can be bought at prices so small. They are in both shawl and circular shape, and are more particularly intended for receptions and matinees. Elegant lace bar-cos and collars are displayed. In collar lace is nothing newer than the Empress and auge. Collars and handkerchiefs are made to match.

Among linen collars is the Empress, edged with lace, having a cameo on each point, with on the cuffs of the sleeves there were cameos to match. Another collar has red and white cord around the neck, with tassels in front. Handkerchiefs beautifully embroidered with an initial or some strange device in the corners, are among the attractions.

Dark Baltimore is the favorite color for the day, and is elaborately trimmed skirts so much in vogue during the winter, disappear as the warm weather draws nearer. For spring wear there are skirts of a wide cloth, with a border of contrasting color. Sometimes they are trimmed in scalloped bands, and sometimes edged with a narrow fluting. White cambric skirts with rucks and fluting, look well when perfectly new, but as they are worn they rob them of their beauty; still they are the only skirt suitable to be worn with a thin dress, or a silk dress. The latest fashion is beautifully embroidered, are for elaborate breakfast toilets; a sleeveless jacket, in some bright color, worn over an embroidered vest, completes the toilet.

Of the present style of hoops, with its great circumference, a lady writes: "It is said the Empress Eugenie liked the fashions, but it has not been set off here as yet. It is a very unmanageable attire. American ladies, in following what they call the mode, persist in walking in the streets with their feet in a clumsy appearance, and in entering public conveyances in hoops that require the space of a circle six feet in diameter. The strange antics of these hoops suggest the words: - 'Oval some power, the globe give rise To see ourselves as others see us.'"

The only novelty in shoes is the Congress and promenade boot combined. The elastic reaches just to the ankle, and the top of the shoe is on the side; the advantage is that it can be put on much quicker than one buttoned the entire length. Slippers are trimmed with elaborate bows, some of which are considered of more value than shoes, as they are occasionally seen on gaiters, but they are not in good taste, as they give the foot a clumsy appearance, and should be worn only on slippers. There is the usual variety of dress shoes.

The designs in jewelry are many - some of them only attractive on account of their oddity in having numerous angles, curves, and pendants. Earrings and brooches are set with brilliant, pearl, and diamonds, and are usually finished with pendants of some fanciful device.

In vogue jewelry, which is coming into use, there is a new chain intended to be worn over the basquine. There are also sets with white opals, with pearls and gold, in curious designs. Chains in this material, fastened with a pin at the throat, and long enough to hold the watch in the belt, are worn. Pendant charms are also attached. - N. Y. Evening Post.

CITY INTELLIGENCE

(For Additional Local Items see Third Page.)

INTERESTING CEREMONIAL. - The beautiful Degree of Rebekah was appropriately conferred last evening upon a number of Odd Fellows and their ladies by Vigilant Lodge, No. 155, I. O. O. F., at their Hall, Sixth and Chestnut streets.

The affair passed off in the usual pleasing and profitable manner, and the ladies showered their benedictions upon the Hon. Schuyler Colfax, the author of the Degree of Rebekah, and Past Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Indiana, and upon the gallant committee of arrangements.

ANOTHER JOURNAL. - A neatly printed and spicily edited little paper, under the title of the "Star," was published by the late publisher, Mr. Charles E. School. It is the successor to the "Stage," and is a theatrical paper which cannot but prove acceptable to the audiences of our theatres. The publisher is a gentleman long connected with the press of our city, and has acquired a reputation as a pleasant and forcible writer. We wish our new friend every success. It will be gratuitously distributed in the various public rooms on the same principle as the various theatrical papers in the leading cities of the Union.

CHARGED WITH BEING A BOGUS DETECTIVE. - A man who gave the name of William Chambers, was arrested by a patrolman in the Third District Police, Chambers, being intoxicated, and had in his possession a revolver and a pair of handcuffs. He made a statement to the effect that he was engaged in the business of detecting deserters, and that he was employed by police in the neighborhood of Second and Chestnut streets. His story was by no means a satisfactory one, and Alderman Titterton committed him to prison.

CHRISTIAN UNION. - Rev. Dr. Vermilye, of New York, will deliver an address on Christian Union, this evening, in Dr. Beadle's Church, Seventh street, below Arch. Rev. Drs. Beadle, Jeffrey, Newton, March, Dales, Snydam, Bomberger, Stark, Bartine, Steele, and Rev. Mr. Kimball, Secretary of the Association, are expected to participate.

ATTEMPT AT BURGLARY. - William Lee is a colored youth aged nineteen years. William attempted to commit a larceny at the house of Charles W. Smith, No. 735 Wood street. He cut his way through the door last evening with a pocket-knife, but was caught by the alley adjoining the house, before he had carried his intentions into execution.

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER ARRESTED. - Last evening, a man named Randolph Johnson was arrested at Sixth and South streets, as a suspicious character. He was prowling about the neighborhood, and had on his person when arrested a razor. Not being able to give a satisfactory account of himself, he was committed by Alderman Titterton.

A DISHONEST DOMESTIC. - A woman named Rose Higgins was arrested at Ninth and Spring Garden streets, charged with larceny. Rose was engaged as a domestic in the family of P. B. Hall, No. 1119 Spring Garden street, and stole from the family a quantity of jewelry, clothing, etc. She was held to answer.

CHARGED WITH HIGHWAY ROBBERY. - A man named John Crout was arrested last evening in the neighborhood of Seventh and Baker streets, charged with being concerned in a highway robbery. The defendant hailed from Baltimore. Alderman Titterton committed him to Moyamensing.

THE FENIAN BROTHERHOOD. - In another column an advertisement appears, calling the Fenians together this evening to hear important information received this morning. The time for "action" has arrived, and all true friends of liberty are requested to rally round the standard of Irish independence.

SUSPICION OF LARCENY. - Patrick Schovler, who resides at No. 821 North Front street, has been arrested on the charge of stealing the sum of forty dollars from another party. He was held in $600 bail for a further hearing by Alderman Toland.

INSULTING FEMALES. - A man named John Black was arrested last evening for insulting females on the street. He was arrested at Seventh and Catherine streets, but states that he resides at Thirtieth and Girard avenue. He was committed by Alderman Titterton.

ILLUMINATION. - The National Union Club, Chestnut street, above Eleventh, was brilliantly illuminated last night in honor of the triumph of the party in Connecticut.

HOW TO KEEP A SHOW. - Julia Carpenter keeps a sort of snake show on Market street, near Thirtieth, and it is quite a success. A man named Charles Bensch, whose vocation it is to play at certain games, on which he tries to get bets and fleece victims. Yesterday afternoon a small boy, 12 or 13 years of age, was enticed into the show, and having a pouch of money in his possession which belonged to his father, he was persuaded to bet on one of the swindling games attached to the establishment.

He was soon cheated out of $500, and was then taken in hand by the proprietors of the concern, who induced him to purchase some bogus jewelry, etc. Altogether he was swindled out of $800. The father of the boy being informed of the occurrence, had Bensch arrested, and subjected to the show-mongers. The pair were committed to prison on the 1st exhibition came to a sudden close.

STORE ROBBERY. - A man named John Baskerville attempted to rob a store at Eighth and Filbert streets, last evening. Baskerville hailed from Baltimore, and was caught with a pair of boots, a pair of gaiters, and other things in his possession. He was committed to prison, and was sent below by Alderman Jones, in default of $5000 bail.

CAUGHT SECRETLY. - Thomas Sterling was found secreted in the out-house of a dwelling at Fifteenth and Arch streets last evening. He was arrested on suspicion of felony, and committed to prison in default of $1000 bail.

THE MEXICAN LOAN. - A. - Don't you think this Mexican loan - B. - Is rather risky, I must own: A. - I can't express the thing endorse, 'Twill be another colored horse. B. - Perhaps so - but no project rash Will ever while for me my cash. Gains without risk are always best; 'Tis interest in a good way.

With coat and pants to match it well. Which Tower Hall so cheap does sell. Our stock of clothing is the largest and most complete in this city, surpassed by none in material, style, and fit, and sold at prices guaranteed lower than the lowest. No. 618 MARKET STREET, BENNETT & CO.

GREAT SALE OF OIL PAINTINGS. - The lovers of art have an interesting event in prospect in the great sale of oil paintings, belonging to the American Art Gallery of New York, to take place at the Art Gallery of B. Scott, Jr., No. 1020 Chestnut street, on the evenings of Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of this week. The collection is extensive, numbering 215 paintings, and is every way worthy the attention of connoisseurs. They consist of pasti pictures, crystal medals, oil paintings of pleasing and varied subjects, from the penicils of some of the most talented artists of the day, and the collection, we may state, is so goodly for the encouragement of American artists, that it is a handsome monument to the good-artists of our country. The pictures will be sold with the picture. We would urge upon our readers the propriety of examining this collection in the forenoon, and attend the sale upon the evenings above named.

NEW DRESS-MAKING ESTABLISHMENT. - Just such an establishment as the ladies of our city have long felt the need of has at length been supplied. At the recent solicitation of numerous patrons, Messrs. J. W. Proctor & Co., No. 520 Chestnut street, have opened a department for Ladies' Dress-making, with suitable and elegantly furnished Reception Rooms for the convenience of ladies, and every care to execute all orders in the best and latest European styles, with the utmost promptness. Ladies need fear no disappointment in regard to their orders being delivered punctually at the time promised.

We cordially commend to the attention of our fair readers this elegant provision made for their accommodation and convenience by J. W. Proctor & Co. NITROUS OXIDE GAS, AS AN ANAESTHETIC AGENT FOR TOOTH-DRAWING. - To G. Q. Colton is due the credit of reviving the use of this important agent in the practice of dentistry. - Letter from Surgeon-General.

After describing the results of several cases of Surgery where Dr. Colton has administered the Nitrous Oxide Gas, Dr. Carrochan adds: "I feel similar favorable results are met with by others, the Nitrous Oxide Gas will supersede all anaesthetics in use here." Dr. Colton, whose office is at No. 757 Walnut street, has used the gas for three years, without a failure or accident.

PAY'S ECONOMY. - "My income," said Pat, for the year '65, 'Was over $200, as I was always in the habit of. But he jeters, I hope 'twill be under this year. And then of the Income Tax, 'twill, I'll get clear." Pat's economy is practised by those who buy low priced and nearly valueless clothing because it is low priced. A suit of clothing to be cheap must last well until it is worn out. Such goods can be had at low figures at Charles Seely & Co.'s one-price Clothing Store, under the Continental.

TO CATCH MICE. - On going to bed put crumbs in your mouth and lie with it open, and when a mouse's whiskers tickle your throat - bite. We never tried the above, but we have tried, to our entire satisfaction, the coal prepared by W. W. Alter, the renowned dealer at No. 624 Arch street, below Girard avenue. We do not know a solitary instance of a person dealing once with Alter, but what became a regular customer. Branch Office, Sixth and Spring Garden.

SPRING FASHIONS FOR CHILDREN. - M. Shoemaker & Co., Nos. 4 and 6 N. Eighth street, are now opening a splendid assortment of CHILDREN'S CLOTHING. In the latest Paris styles, unsurpassed for elegance of workmanship and material. The price is invited to call and examine.

LACE CURTAINS. - No need waiting any longer for cheap Lace Curtains. Patten has just returned from New York auction sales with an immense lot of Curtains, bought at less price than before the war, and will be sold here at W. Henry Patten's Curtain Store, No. 1408 Chestnut street.

HOWELL & BOURKE,

THE CHOLERA

Deprived of its Horrors by Purifying and Enriching the Blood.

NOW IS THE TIME TO USE A PREVENTIVE.

There is None Equal to Helmbold's Highly Concentrated Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla.

THE CHOLERA is defective vitalization of the blood, and when the blood is LIFE GIVING POWER, it causes relaxation of the contractile power of the blood vessels of the lungs and the intestines open their myriads of pores and all the albuminous food-making material passes out from the bowels.

THE CHOLERA is a fatal disease, and while there may be no occasion for alarm, those of impure blood are most liable to suffer.
