The great question of all, however, the posi-tion of France, is not answered. The Emperor has given no sign to the world of what he will do. He waits to take that place—for which France willingly bears the burdens in peace of 660,000 armed men—of arbiter of nations; for that crisis, when both parties standing armed for the strategie, his word, and his 500,000 bayo-nets offered to either will prevent war, or will make the one certainly victor. And yet it must be, even to the French Emperor, a difficult path to choese. With Prussia, he looses all chance and hope of securing the Rhine; with Austria, he takes the side unpopular in France, of oppo-sition to Italy and the liberation of Venetia. So doubtful would war be in its issue for him, that our hopes of peace now may well rest in his The great question of all, however, the posiour hopes of peace now may well rest in his interest in peace, and on his influential advice prevailing

President Johnson's Speeches to the Soldiers, Sailors, Citizens, and Colored People. S (1) 005 100 001 From the Herald.

We published Thursday the speech of President Johnson to the soldlers, sailors, and citizens who called to serenade him on Wednesday. Yesterday we published his speech to the colored people of Washington. Both of these speeches, like everything else which has emanated from President Johnson, are full of plain, sound, practical common sense and sturdy, uncompromising honesty and independence of opinion. Those who have expected him to falter or quail before the storm of radical abuse and vituperation will be disappointed by these speeches. He places himself fairly and squarely in contrast with those Senators and Representatives who have maligned and abused him, and appeals to the American people to decide who is most worthy of confidence.

To the soldiers and sailors he compares his own brave conduct during the Rebellion with the conduct of those polyacians who remained at home in case and comfort, while he and other patriots were at the front of danger. To the colored people he says that their tracst friends are not those who are using the negro race to ride into political power, but those, like himself, whose sympathy is practical and whose actions are dictated by a sincere, unselfish regard for the best interests of the freedmen. The soldiers, the sailors, the citizens, and the negroes greeted the President's speeches with enthusi-actic cheers, and he may learn from this unanimous applause that the hearts of the people are still with him and will always be, so long as he is true to the great principles which he avows. On Wednesday, atter reviewing the other ordeals to which this nation has been subjected, the President came to speak of that latest and greatest ordeal—the recent Rebellion. In a few strong and unanswerable sentences he explained his whole theory of reconstruction. He showed that although the war for the Union is over the Union is not yet restored, and he denounced in terms only less vigorous than those of his 22d of February speech the Northern Rebels who are now conspiring to prevent restoration. The plea of the radicals that the Southern States are out of the Union was logically annihilated. When the rebellion in Massachusetts was put down, that State was not declared out of the Union. The Dorr rebellon in Rhode Island did not make that a dead State. The whiskey re-bellion in Pennsylvania did not transform that State into a territory. And yet the Senators and Representatives from these very States are now loudly clamoring that the South is not in the Union because a Rebellion has existed and been suppresent there. suppressed there. This argument is irresistible, and the radicals will not attempt to refute it. Quite as convinc-ing is the logic by which the President proves that his plan of reconstruction is both practi-cal and constitutional. Since his accession to office he has given the Southern States courts and judges, he has restored the postal service, he has reopened their blockaded ports, he has authorized elections of Governors and State Legislators, and in all this there has been nothing contrary to the Constitution. Now, he asks, what remains to be done? Merely for Congress to allow the States the right of repre-

CASUALTIES.-The following persons were dmitted into the Pennsylvania Hospital yesterday .- Henry Logan, aged 56 years, residing on Pine street, above T venty-fourth, had his left hand mashed by its being caught between two cog-wheels at an iron foundry near Sixth and Callowhill. The hand had to be amputated. Michael Sullivan, aged 37 years, residing at Darby, had his face and eyes badly burned by the premature discharge of powder while blast-ing rocks in a quarry at Darby creek.

CONVENTION OF RAILBOAD MEN .- A general convention of all railroad presidents, chief engineers, and general superintendents in the United States is to be held in this city on the 4th of July next, for an interchange of views in regard to railroad construction, management, and operation. The call for the convention has been signed by railroad officers in all parts of the country, and the clife officers of railroads in the British Provinces have been invited to attend and participate in the deliberations.

WECCACOE LEGION .- The members of the Weccacoe Fire Company, who were attached to Company B. 72d Regiment P. V., and those who served as sallors during the war, have organized a military company, under an act o mcorporation. The uniform of the company consists of dark blue jacket, light blue pants, and fatigue cap.

GONE TO BALTIMORE .- Last night the Committee, consisting of Ray, S. R. Lothrop, Henry Boroughs, Dr. J. B. Upham, N. B. Shurt-leff, T. M. Brewier, Thomas Goffeld, C. W. Slack, Noah Mayo, J. C. Haynes, Charles Caverly, Jr., J. D. Philbrink, and J. H. Span, from the Public School Board of Boston, left us for Baltimore.

COMMONWEALTH VS. ENTERPRISE.-The grand opening match between the above base ball clubs will take place this (Saturday) after-noon, at the grounds of the former, Fifteenth and Wallace streets. A spirited game is expected.

ACCIDENT .-- Charles Allcock, of the Phonix Hose Company, whilst proceeding to the fire on Thursday evening, was knocked down by a pair of horses at Eighth and Ches-nut streets. Several of his ribs were broken, and other internal injuries sustained.

ALARMS OF FIRE .- An alarm of fire was caused yesterday morning by the burning of a bed in a house, at Ella and Amber streets; and one about nine o'clock, by the burning of some shavings and rubbish in the cellar of a house at Dillwyn and Callowhill streets.

DEDICATION .- To-morrow (Sunday) afternoon and evening the lecture and school-rooms in the St. John's German Evangelical Lutheran Church, corner of Fifteenth and Ogden streets, will be dedicated.

Southern delegates for itself, and send back those who are disloyal. With equal strength he retorts upon the radicals for calling him a usurper because he has written as many vetoes as Washington did; and, after indignantly de-manding what he had usurped, he quoted Jefferson and others to prove that there is a tyranny of the many more to be dreaded in a republic than the despotism of any President. In this Mr. Johnson is undoubtedly correct. Our President is comparatively powerles; but this radical Congress can legislate itself into office for life, and become an unendurable aristocracy aristocracy. In both these remarkable speeches of the President he bids his hearers to wait and see who will be most faithful, and who is the real friend of the freedmen; and he promises that they will not have to wait very long. These significant declarations will inspire the utmost curiosity among all parties. From them we inter that the President is about to take some decided and im-nortant action before many damaged the portant action before many days, and the pro-babilities are that he will commence by dismissing the radical members of his Cabinet. We say that this is probable: but if the President is about to do anything, a reorganization of the Cabinet is, in fact, indispensable. The radical strength in Congress must be broken, and the only way to break it is to remove the Cabinet which supports and inspires it. The fate of the veto of the Civil Rights bill has shown that so long as the radical leaders can maintain their present ascendancy it is uscless to attempt to check Congressional action. Besides this, there is no plan which the Presi-

Besides this, there is no plan which the Presi-dent can frame that can be carried out without the co-operation of his Cabinet Ministers, and it is evident that some of his present Gabinet retain their places for the express and avowed purpose of thwarting all his plans. As Presi-dent Johnson is a practical, common sense man, he must perceive the absurdity of an effort to make Stanton, Speed, and Harlan assist him in any conservative measures. Why these mere any conservative measures. Why, these very persons hold their portions, not at the pleasure of the President, but at the pleasure of Mr. Sumner and Mr. Stevens, and will only relin-quish them voluntarily when Mr. Sumner and Mr. Stevens command. It is a matter of public notoriety—it has been repeatedly published in the radical papers—that certain members of the radical the Cabinet the Cabinet were about to resign when the Freedmen's Bureau bill was vetoed, but concluded to remain at the request of the radical leaders.

An administration thus divided against itself will be powerless to assist the President in the action which he is about to take. That this action is to be prompt and important is evident from the jact that in both his speeches Mr. Johnson is careful to reiterate his promises to stand by the conservative masses of the country, though everybody else may falter and fail, and to prove himself, before vary long, the best friend of the white man and the black. The friend of the white man and the black. The President weighs his words well, and when he makes such piedges as these we are justified in expecting some action more decisive than a veto, which may be voted down, or a speech, which of itself will affect the radicals very little. Consequently we look to see these remarkable addresses followed up by a change of Cabinet and renewed energy in the work of reconstruc-

POLICE ITEMS .- Garrett Hunter, a conductor on the Market Street Rallway, had a hearing before Alderman Beitler, yesterday, charged ria C. Kendall, colored, who got into his car as a passenger. The prosecutrix testified that she was coming from West Philadelphia, and was going to Germantown; that she at first attemp-ed to enter the car by the back platform, but was pushed off, and was told to go to the front platform, which she did, and the door being topen, she succeeded in entering the car, though the defendant tried to close the door to preven it. The car was then run off the track and she left it.

The counsel for the company argued that, as the conductor was acting under the orders of his employers, he ought not to be held to ans-wer a criminal charge. On the other side, the decision of Judge Allison was referred to, in which it was held that the directors of railroad

PHILADELPHIA COUNTY HOMEOPATHIC MEDICAL SOCIETY.-The annual meeting of this association was held on Thursday evening, at association was held on Thursday evening, at the Homeopathic College, in Filbert street, above Eleventh. A variety of business inter-esting to the Homeopathic profession was trans-acted and a discussion on the medical and surgi-cal treatment of tumors also ensued. An election of officers for the year was then entered into. and the following gentlemen were elected:-President, Dr. Richard Gardiner; Vice-President, President, Dr. Richard Gardiner, Vice-Pesident, Dr. O. B. Gause; Secretary, Dr. R. J. McClatchev; Scribe, Dr. B. W. James; Treasurer, Dr. A. H. Ashton; Board of Censors, Drs. Jacob Jeanes. Walter Williamson, and L. S. Brooks; Committee on Proving of Drugs, Drs. Ad. Lippe and H. N. Guernsey. A committee of one on the Rinder pest and its influence on meats used by the community, and on the Cholera and its progress, was appointed, consisting of Dr Rushrod W. James.

HAD ANTOINE PROBST AN ACCOMPLICE? -Chief Franklin yesterday made a thorough search among the enlistment papers of the 11th Pennsylvania Cavalry, to ascertain if there was a member of the regiment named Jacob Genther, and, if so, to get a description of the same. The story of Antoine Probst was, that the accomplice Genther, or Ganter, was a member of the 11th Cavalry, which regiment was consolidated with the 5th Cavalry, and that he belonged to Com-pany I. The only name tound which resembles that given by Probst is Jacob Gensler, of Company H, who is put down in the descriptive list as forty-three years old, five test eight inches high, and light complexion. This does not in any respect answer the description given by Probst. An effort will, however, be made to find Gensler, who, at the time of his enlistment, belonged to York county. Pa.

ALMOST A COLLISION .- During an alarm of nre on Thursday evening, a steam nre-engine was driven down Wainut street, and while crocsing the intersection of Ninth street, the horses were running at the top of their speed. At the same time one of the Union pa senger cars was about to cross Walnut st., and it was only by the dexterity, skill, and strength of the driver that a collision was avoided. He guided his horses around just in time to let the steamer pass. It was a case of reckless driving on the part of the individual on the steamer. Chief Engineer Lyle Las often spoken in con-demnation of this fast driving, but it seems that he is not much heeded.

INTERESTING EXHIBITION .- Last evening the male pupils of St. Patrick's School, under the charge of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, gave an exhibition of their producency in scholarship in the presence of parents and others. The entertainment came off in the hall where the school is held, on Twentieth strees, near Locust. Declamations, recitations, singing, and dialogues constituted the programme of the evening. The exercises gave the utmost satis-taction to all present, and much praise was given o the Brothers, whose system of instruction is iniversally commended.
