McCULLOCH AND JEFF. DAVIS.

Secremry McCullock has an Hour's Interview with Jeff. Davis-Mrs. Davis Visited by an Old Colored Servant and Present Steward of the Secretary-The Secretary and Party take a View of the Rip Raps, Sewall's Point, Newport News and Crany Island, and Then Leave for Washington-The Grand Jury of the Norfolk District Court to Bring in a True Bill Against Davis, Etc. FORTRESS MONROE. May 6.—Secretary McCulloch paid us a flying visit to-day. Accompanied by his wife, two daughters, and a daughter of Postmaster General Dennison, he left Washington at 5 P. M. yesterday, on the United States revenue cutter Northerner. It was only designed to go as far as Point Lookout, the object being a pleasure sail down the Potomac river and back for recreation and health; but the weather proving so unexpectedly delightful and the sail so charmingly agreeable-scarce a ripple ruffled the smooth waters of the bay, and the misty and balmy haze of an Indian summer day gently clouded the dazzling sunlight-it was concluded to protract the voyage to this place, to take a view of the Fort and its memorable surround-ings—the famous Rip Raps, which forty years of labor have not yet served to complete; Sewall's Point, once studded with Rebel batteries, and awakening loudest echoes with the thundering roar of its cannon; Newport News, the scene of that terrible naval conflict that lost to us many heroic lives, and those splendid frigates, the Congress and Cumberland, and where once lay encamped the Army of the Potomac—and, if time permitted, to take a glimpse of Craney Island, so historically renowned in the war of the Revolution, in the war of 1812, and in the last and most fearful war of all, against the allied forces of the rebellious

ARRIVAL OF BESETTING DIFFICULTIES. At eleven A. M. the cutter Northerner threw out its lines upon the Baltimore steamboat whart. Secretary McCulloch and party, with Captain McGowan, of the cutter, proceeded once to the Fort. But neither the high official position of the distinguished visitor, or proper display of naval gilt decorating the sleeves and shoulders of Captain McGowan, could gain them admission without a pass.

"I am Secretary McCulloch," plead the official head of our national finances.
"I don't care if you was President Johnson himself, you couldn't go in here without a pass," insisted the unyielding sentinel.

A few minutes delay set matters right. The sentinel submitted the case to the corporal of the guard, who submitted it to the sergeant, as higher in rank, who submitted it to Captain Beck, officer of the day, who submitted it to General Miles, who presented himself in person, and who graciously allowed them to pass in. After this process, which to some of the party must have revived recollections of that singularly cumulative chain of events connected with the house that Jack built, there was no further difficulty. The party enjoyed the free-dom of the fort. They walked to headquarters, took the round of the casemate, and made the grand circuit of the parapet, that is to say, the lady visitors and Captain McGowan, who in the meantime had been introduced to and joined several officers and ladies of the fort. While these were walking, taking, and sight seeing, Secretary McCulloch employed his time differ-

THE SECRETARY CALLS ON JEFF, DAVIS.

Shortly after making himself known to General Miles, Secretary McCulloch expressed a desire to visit Jeff Davis. Of course such a request, coming from such a high official, could not be refused. The interview lasted over an hour, No one was present during the interview. Not coming in an official capacity, the visit of the Secretary did not in the slightest degree partake of the character of an official visit, and it would be simply absurd to attach to it the least significance as bearing upon the future disposal of Mr. Davis. A simple desire to see the man, and have a social chat with him as man to man, was, doubtless, the controlling impulse and desire of the Secretary. And such was the nature of the interview. It was nothing more than the social interchange of thought and feelings between two great minds. Many topics, it is to be presumed, were discussed, in which the shrewd, cultivated. and incisive vigor of their diverse minds and brilliant effect and particularly one possessing the large degree of egotism characterizing Mr. Davis, the latter, it is reasonable to conclude, could not be restrained from speaking of himself, and it was natural he should seek to divert the channel of conversation in that direction and betray a palpable eagerness to speak of his long imprisonment, his im-paired health, and eagerness to be tried. Mr. McCulloch listened no doubt with mingled politeness and patience to these diversions; but all that could be wrung from him by his adroit interlocutor was the simple hope and assurance that justice would be done him. Thus the conference began, continued, and ended. Whether Mr. McCulloch went away with a better opinion of Mr. Davis than before his talk with him is best known to himself. Whatever his impression, it is not at all probable that it will swerve him in the least from what, in his high official character, he considers his duty to him as a A VISITOR TO MRS. DAVIS.

Mrs. Davis is likewise honored with a visit from one of the party arriving in the Northerner. Her visitor was the colored steward of Secretary McCulloch, who bore him company to cater for him in his health-seeking trip. This colored disciple of Soyer in former years had been one of the lamily servants of Mr. Davis. He was received with becoming cordiality, and expressed himself greatly pleased with his visit. About the same time another visitor called on Mrs. Davis. The latter visitor was a gentleman from Richmond, who brought her as a present from the ladies of Richmond, a magnificent silk dress, and a costly variety of other articles appertaining to a lady's toilet. It is said that a portion of the gift embraced a tolerably cumbrous roll of Uncle Sam's greenbacks; but the latter part of the story is rumor, I do not wouch for its correctness.

SIGHTS ABOUT THE HARBOR AND DEPARTURE. Brevet Brigadier-General Burton, commandant of the post, accompanied to the cutter the ladies of Secretary McCulloch's party. Half an hour atterwards the Secretary made his appearance, Major-General Miles, commanding the district, coming with him. At two P. M. the steamer left and completed the programme set forth above; that is, took a circuit of the harbor, when the Richard Search Posts. viewing in turn the Rip Raps, Sewell's Point, Newport News, and Craney Island. Two hours passed in this inspecting circuit, when the cutter headed up the bay on her return to Washington. -N. Y. Herald.

SALE OF FINE PAINTINGS.—The wellknown auctioneer, B. Scott, Jr., wil hold another sale of paintings on Thursday and Friday evenings of the present week. The collection, which is a very large one, contains specimens of the best German, Flemish, Dutch, and French schools. Some of the best living artists are represented. Mr. Scott has, by his frequent sales of fine works of art, added largely to the art collections of our city, and introduced some real rems into our city. The present collection is more than ordinarily valuable, and any one can satisfy an educated taste there. It is impossible in the impude space at our division to call the collection. one can satisfy an educated taste there. It is impos-sible, in the imited space at our disposal, to call at-tention to the specialties of the collection, but a careful inspection of the lists of artists contributing will indicate the value of the whole. Large numbers of our best judges or art have visited the store in Chesnut street, above lenth, and pronounced the ex-hibition admirable. As there is a growing taste for art in this city, there saies are extremely popular, and it is to be hoped that they will be continued as long as there is any demand for good pictures. as there is any demand for good pictures.

DEATH OF I. P. HUTCHINSON.-Israel Pemberton Hutchinson, Esq., expired at one o'clock this morning, at his residence, in Walnut street. His illness was brief, and for some days there have hen no hopes of his recovery.

He was in the seventy-seventh year of his age. He was the son of Dr. Samuel flutchinson. Our Special Despatches.

WASHINGTON, May 9. Neutral Vessels in Chili.

An official decree from the Government of Chili declares that neutral vessels which communicate with the ships of the Spanish squadron, or which furnish them with fuel, provisions, ammunition, or other supplies, will not be permitted to enter or load in any part of the republic.

Contraband Coal in South America. The Department of State has been officially informed by the Spanish Government that foss 1 ceal, the product of the mines of Chili, declared to be contraband of war by the commander of the Spanish squadron in the Pacific, will only be considered such contraband of war in case of its being despatched from Chilian ports destined for the enemy's ships.

United States Mail Contract. The Post Office Department has made a contract for the conveyance of the mails from New Orleans to Mobile and back daily in suitable steamboats; also to carry the mails from New Orleans, by way of Galveston, to Indianola and back three times a week in suitable steamships. Telegraphic Communication with the West Indies. The President has approved the bill to encourage telegraphic communication between the United States and the West India Islands and the Bahamas. It provides that the International Ocean Telegraph Company, incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, their successors and assigns, shall have the sole privilege, for a period of fourteen years, to lay, construct, land, maintain, and operate telegraphic or magnetic lines and cables in and over the waters, islands, shores, and lands over which the United States have jurisdiction, from the shores of the State of Florida to the Island of Cuba and the Bahamas, either or both, and other West India Islands.

The company shall at all times give the United States the free use of said cable or cables, to a telegraphic operator of its own selection, to transmit any messages to and from its military. naval, and diplomatic or consular agents; and the company shall keep all its lines open to the public for the transmission for daily publication of markets and commercial reports and intelligence, and all messages, despatches and communications shall forwarded in the order in which they shall be received, and the Company shall not be permitted to charge and collect for mes-ages transmitted through any of its submarine cables more than the rate of $3.50 for messages of ten words; subject, however, to the power of Congress to alter and determine said rates: provided that the International Ocean Telegraph Company shall, within the period of three years from the passage of this act, cause the said submarine cable or cables to be laid down, and that the said cable or cables shall be in successful operation for the transmission of messages within the said period of five years; otherwise this grant to be null and void, and Congre-s reverses the power to, at any time, alter or repeal the above act.

The President has also approved the bill exending the time for the completion of the Union Pacific Rallway, Eastern Division, until the 27th of June, 1866. The time for completing each succeeding section of one hundred mile; is to be reckoned from that date. This bill also extends for two years the time for commencing and completing the Northern Pacific Railroad and all its several sections.

Reception of a Religious Delegation. The President, to-day, by appointment, gave an audience to the delegates of the General Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, now in session at Georgetown. North Carolina, Alabama, Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia, only were represented, it having been said that those appointed from the other Southern States had not the means to pay the expenses of travelling hither. The presiding officer of the Conference introduced the delegates severally to the President, remarking that they had, by a resolution unanimously adopted, come to pay their respects to him. Alluding to the fiery ordeal through which the Southern people had passed, he said he need not remind the President of the difficulties which environed them, and the poverty with which they were suffering. To this might be ascribed the small number of ministers and lay delegates present at the Conference. He might continue his remarks, but feared to trespass on the President's indulgence.

He however prayed that the blessing of Almighty God may rest upon the President, and that the Lord would give him the requisite wisdom and strength to perform his important duties. To this the brethren responded with an emphatic "Amen."

The President thanked the delegates sincerely for the compliment which they had paid him by this visit. He trasted that the prayer they had offered would be heard and answered by the offered would be beard and answered by the Power to which it was addressed, and that all honest effor's of the Conference would be crowned with success. He hoped the day was not distant when peace and prosperity would be restored to an undivided country.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

District Court No. 2 Judge Stroud.—Wachschlager & Palmer vs. Bart ett Smin & Co. An action to recover the difference between the contract price for a quantity of refined oil, which the plain tiffs had contracted to de iver, and the price it brought at public sale; the defendants, it is alleged, having declined to take the oil.

The contract was for the de ivery of 500 barrels of on, at to cents per galon, and it is alleged that the detendants purchased the contract at 63 cents per gallon; but, when the plaintiffs notified them that they were ready to deliver the oil, the defendant-refused to take it, and it was then sold at public saie, with notice to them, at 54; cents per gallon District Court No. t .- President Judge Shars-

Court of Quarter Sessions-Allson, P. J -Samuel Wilhams, colored, was charged with the larceny of $20, the property of J, Mathews, colored, The testimony for the prosecution was that the sor of Ma news enlisted as a substitute, received some money, and sent $200 to his father by Williams its went to see Williams, who told him that his son had went him $200, but that $100 was his, and that ae wantee and obtained $20 for his trouble.

But it seems that young Malbews owed $100 to Wilhams, and gave him the money; and after persuasion by Williams, he sent $100 to his lather. Williams asked $20 for his trouble, which was given by Mathew. The jury rendered a veryiet of we by Mathews. The jury rendered a verdict of not Daniel and Michael Mooney were charged with the larceny or two cows, valued at $100, the property of James Brown. The prosecutor saw his cows on Sunday, March 4 about 9 o'clock in the evening, and found they were gone on Monday morning. That evening he found at a tan-yard in Richmond two hides, which he identified as those of his cows. A witness testified that on sunday night he was about one hundred vards from Brown's stalle, and saw two men driving two cows from the above mentioned stable.

He waited till they came near him, and saw the men driving the cows—one of whom he identified a-Daniel Mooney. By the counsel for the defendants it was attempted to prove that this was a bribed witness; but he failed in this. Still on trial.

CHOLERA.

The attention of the Public is called to the fact that Epidemic Cholera has no premonitory symptoms. The Diarrhes, which is supposed to be its forerenner, is the disease itself in its first stage, and is very tractable. It should, however, be noticed that this Diarrhoa or Looseness is frequently unattended by pain or uneasiness, and fatal delay has often occurred from the notion that Cholera must be attended with Cramps. In the early stage there is often no Griping or Cramps, and it is at this period that the disease can be most easily arrested by the use of a proper preventive, which is offered in
