FINE ART SALE.

In yesterday's tasue of THE TELEGRAPH! we called attention to the fact that Mr. B. scott, Jr., had on exhibition and for sale a large number of fine paintings, at his Art Gallery, No. 1020 Chesnut street. A careial inspection of the collection will show that it is one of the best, if not the very best that has ever been offered to a Philadelphia public.

There are 177 pictures on view, and all of them are fair specimens of art. The collection embraces some of the best productions of the Flemish, Dutch and French schools. The names of the artists are a guarantee of the value of the pictures. Our space will not permit us to speak at large of each particular picture, but there are some that deserve a special

No. 16-"A Street Scene in Antwerp," is a most admirable specimen of Flemish art. It represents an old gabled house, and the costumes are highly effective and elaborately fini hed.

No. 58-St. ted "Plundering and Burning of a Viltage in Belgium, by the Spantards under the Duke of Awa, during the Stateenth Century," is perhaps the most spirited work in the collection. It is from the easel of Buyten, or Antwerp. The piece is filled with flaures of the alarmed populace flying from danger. The architectural beauties of the picture are not the least of its astractions. The effects of the fire and smoke are finely managed, and prove that the artist is familiar with his calling.

No. 65-"Jumping Jack," by Bereure, of Brussels, is a highly humorous sketch. It represents a benevolent-looking old gentleman amusing a child with one of those eccentric toys whose limbs obey the beheets of a string. The subject is admirably

No. 61-Entitled "Love and Jenlousy," by David Col, of Antwerp, is: a very surgestive picture. A beautiful giri is watching the actions of her lover. who is not aware of her being near him. The expression is very fine.

No. 64-"A Street Scene in Amsterdam," by Eversen, is very fine in its coloring,

No. 109-"A Marriage Contract," by Strockel, of Amsterdam, is an admirable work of art. The contracting parties are at a table signing the papers The management of the costumes and the entire coloring can hardly be excelled.

Nos 112 and 114 are companion pictures by the Brothers Keck-Keck, of Amsterdam, and are spiendid efforts of these fine artists. The best figure piece in the collection is "The Reception Day," by Carolus, of Brussels.

A very touching little sketch, entitled "Mother and Chid," by Wagner, of Dasseldorf, will attract attention. It is extremely simple in its defails, only a beautiful young mother rocking her babe to s'eep; but it tells the whole story in the most eloquent

No. 132-"The Young Artist," by Wurtz, of Brussels, is a capital picture. A proud mother is inspecting the first efforts of her child, and the sentiment of satisfaction is plainly stamped upon her countenance. There are other pictures that are worthy of description, but it would perhaps be better if all persons interested in art would go to Mr. Scott's gallery and inspect for themselves. The sale commences this evening and will be continued to morrow evening. The catalogue can be had by caling at Mr. Scott's gallery.

AMUSEMENTS.

ARCH STREET THEATRE.-Mr. Owen Marlowe's and street hearts.—ar. Owen harlowers popularity was proved by the large house assembled for his benefit. He appeared in Who Killed Cock Robin? a piece which has had great success in New York, and in a new poculiarity, His Lordskip, which was full of full, and very successful. This evening Mr. Hemple, a popular comedian in this city, will make his first appearance Mr. Hemple, since his last appearance at this theatie, has played at the Walnut and at the American Theatre, and always with the same popular success. To morrow evening with the same popular success. with the same popular success. To-morrow evening Miss Price will take a benefit, at which Mr. Mordaunt and Miss Jefferson will appear.

NEW CHESNUT STREET THEATRE -Edwin Adams plays this evening the part of "Frank nawthorns" in Men of the Day. This play, first produced at the Walnut, has always seemed to be the special property of Mr. Adams. It is one of his best roles and the play is decidedly the very best of all written by Falconer. The Chesnit will commence at 8 cicled materials of a current to 8 as herestofers. o'clock, instead of a quarter to 8, as heretofore

WALNUT STREET THEATRE.-The success of Hamlet, with crowded bouses is all that can be chronicled at this house Mr Booth has established himself as the "Hamlet" of the age.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.- The Ravels have but two more evenings. To night the celebrated M. Du chalumeau will be given, with the Green Monster and Young America. To morrow, benefit of Gabriel

Mr. RUFUS ADAMS, the eminent Elocutionist, will give an entertainment at Concert Hall, on Tuesday evening, May 15. Choice selections of vocal and instrumental music, by lady and gentlemen ama-teurs, will be interspersed with the Sel-ct Readings of Mr. Adams. An amateur will recite "Shamus O'Brien," a tale of the irish rebellion. Mr. Adams will introduce several of his favorite 'pupils, including a son of Bishop Suppson. This will form one of the best entertainments of the season.

ORGAN OPENING - The portion of our community who delight in musical entertainments will have a rare opportunity of being present at one to-morrow evening at St. Clement's Church. The new organ, the finest and largest in the country and by far the largest in our city, will be then opened for the first time, and many of our first performers call all its powers into play. The entertainment will be at once grand, solen n, and delightful, and will, we doubt not, crowd the church to overflowing.

The Matines we referred to a few days ago will be given by Mr. Gaertner, at the Fover of the Academy of Music, on Thursday, May 17. We learn from the programme that we are to have an opportunity of hearing M'me Abel, the classical planist. M'me Abel is a pupil of Chepin, and her plaving is compared, in the German papers, to that of M'me Chara Schumann. Mr. Gaertner will also be assisted by the classical Quintette Club of this city. by the classical Quintette Club of this city.

CITY INTELLIGENCE

For Additional City Intelligence see Third Page

BEAR NOT FALSE WITNESS .- A night or two since a party of eight young men made an attack on a passenger railway car, at Germantown road and Oxford street. The conductor was assaulted, and the windows of the car were broken. Yesterday afternoon one of the party was arrested, and during a hearing before Alderman Clouds he stated that he had nothing to do with the affair, and could prove an alibi

Time was given him to prove his assertion, when he brought forward as witnesses seven in-dividuals, who were about to testify to his whereabouts at the time the assault on the car was made, but unluckily for the prisoner and his would-be witnesses, the conductor recognized every one of them as the party who assaulted the car. Whereupon the entire party was held to bail on the charge of inciting to riot

BAD GIBLS.-A young girl named Sally Tobin, and an accomplice named Annie Stan-burg, were before Alderman Swint vestorday atternoon, charged with stealing some clothing and a gold ring from a house on Eighth street where Sally was engaged as a demostic. Sally is only sixteen years of age, and, instructed by the other girl, had resolved to lead a victors life, and stole the articles mentioned to aid her in her toolish resolve. The Alderman commuted them both to prison, to learn the ways of windows.

A NEW WORK OF ART .- A beautiful photographic view of the death-bed scene of Presid Lincoln is now on exhibition at Earles' Gallery, groups together all the distinguished characters who were congregated together on that mournful occasion. It is the intention of the artist to give the picture general distribution. Rev Charles M. Biase, late chaplain of the army, is the general agent for Pennsylvania, and persons desiring to engage in the sale of the picture will do well to call upon him at Mr. Farle's.

WHO KILLED DR. BURDELL? I Some persons are inclined to think that the mys-tery of the Burdell murder has at length been cleared up by a man called "golden"—a very unsuitable name, by-the-by, for an individual who appears to have a face of brass, a craw um of lead, and a heart of iron. It Mrs Cunningham did kill Dr Burdel, it is clear that she is just the sort of dashing widow that one would not like to propose to; but we tion't think this Golden wituess knows much about the matter. Immediately after the reading of the journal the House resumed the consideration of the Constitu-tional amendment reported by the Reconstruction Mr. Randall (Pa ) addressed the House in opposi tion to the measure. He seed that the colored race in the Southern States were allowed to occupy the same position as they did in his own State; but he was not willing that the General Government should interfere with the matter in Pennsylvania, neither was he willing that it should interfere with The injustice and animus of the third section had been so thoroughly exposed by gentlemen on the Republican side that he desired it unrecessary to say anything about it fureer than to express his belief that the intention was to prevent the possibility of any Southern State voting for the amendment as a whole. The scheme was one of procrassive time and delay looker to the explaint of the trustion and delay, look no to the exclusion of the Southern States till after the next i residential elec The President's plan, on the contrary, was plain and simple, just and effect ast, and, as he believed, acceptable to the vast majority of the people, North and South. The issue between the President and Congress was made up, and the appeal must be made to the people. He be need that nothing could avert the speedy possession of the legislative branch of the Government by the conservative men of the country under the lead of Audrew Johnson.

Mr. Strouse (Pa ) followe on the same side. He declared that the Constitution was never intended to be plastered and pate ed and that Congress should be exceedingly cautious about tampering Many Republican members being sathered in groups throughout the hall, and saying no attention to the gentleman who had the floor, Mr. Le Biond (Ohio) made a point or order, that it was not in order for members of this "narmonious party" to hold caucus meetings during the session of the House. The Speaker good humoredly sustained the point The groups separated and retired to the cloak room, and Mr. Strause proc eded with his remarks.

Mr. Barks (Mass.) was the bext speaker. He reparded this as the most important question that could be presented to Congress or the country. He believed that the reorganization of the governments in the insurgent States could only be safely read, by affecting a change in the basis of political made by effecting a change in the basis of political British Vessel Seized by Alleged Fenians NEW YORK, May 10 .- Captain McBlune, of the British schooner Wentworth, from Windsor to this port, reports that on the 2d instant his vessel was seized off Grand Menan by a party of sixty men under the command of Colone Kelly, who said they were Fenians. They scuttled the fishing craft they were in, and, after keeping possession of the Wentworth about four hours, landed at a place called Brady's Mistake. They acted in a very orderly manner, doing no damage either to the vessel or crew. After they left Captain McBlune resumed command, and proceeded on his voyage.

Explosion of a Shell in an Iron Foundry -Loss of Life.

Boston, May 10 .- In the iron foundry of Davies & Farnham, at Wastbam, yesterday afternoon, a shell, which had been purchased for old iron, exploded, instantly killing William H. THE ADAMS FXPRESS ROBBERY.

Additional Particulars of the Affair-A Bald Operatio . - How the Case was Worked-Private Against Public Police Detectives, Etc.

We published yesterday an account of the arrest of three more of the roobers of the Adams Express car on the New Haven Express train on the night of the 6th of January last, and their rend tion to the sutherities of Connecticut. Taey are now in Bridgejort in close confinement, where they will be

As age, or: in close confinement, where they will be kept unto the next term of court.

The train on which the robbery was committed was the regular express between New York and Boston, and left New York are in the afternoon. The idea of the robbery first originated in the mind of John Grady, the brakesman of the train. At the of John Grady, the brakesman of the train. At the time of the agair he had been one year in the employ of the New Haven Raifoad Company, prior to which he was a soldier is the 6th Connect.cu Regiment. Grady is a shrewd observing fellow, and knowing the missenger of the Express Company was in the habit of se plan during the passage of the train, he thought the plan of roboing the Express Company a very good one.

The first disclosed his plan to his brother-in law, James Wells, a wel-known New York character income under arrist, who communicated it to the either parties engaged, all of whom we's now within the customy of the amhorities. There are even persons in the confidence of the affair. On the might of the robbery a portion of the robbers made a surroptitious entrance into the express car, while the others were to get on the regular passonger cars. Grady, the brakeman, did not rue on the train that might, but you a substitute, he going to Stamford, where he was to take part in the affair.

where he was to take part in the affair.

The men that rode in the train got cer at a certain point, expecting to be able to assist in the scair; but the plan did not work as they expected, as it was said the jou could be done within the limis of the State of New York. The parties that got off the train in the early part of the venture returned to New York, and proceeded to the house of Augustus. Tristram. No 76 incrates street—the latter being among the gang. This portion of the robbers were traced as far as Norwalk, where they were into a saloon to drink, and remained there until the same saloon to drink, and remained there until the same train they went down on returned up from New Haven. The train was behind time on its return. and when the par ies got on they were spotted by Conductor Hurlbut and Mr. Spooner, one of the New England district superintendents of Adams

Express Company.

In regard to the amount of money in the car that was robbed, and that was actually in possession of the theore at one time, no full statement has been published; it amounted to $480 000; but one safe they did not breek open. The one they did break open contained $81 000 in legal-tender notes and $50,000 in five-twenty bonds, in addition to which the contained are not safe they did not be safe they did not break open contained and safe one. tacro were promisedous packages. The robbers carried off $180,000 in gold and currency. The party got off at Coscoo bridge, three and a-half miles from stam ord, and hus their booty near that place. A bag containing $5000 in gold was found on the ride of the track where the robbers got off.

The robbers occurred on Saturday night and

The roblery occurred on Saturday night, and on the Sunday evening following Mr Alien Pinkerton, of the National Police Force of this city, with a corps of assistants, accompanied by Mr spooner, of the express company, proceeded to the New Mayon depot at Forty-second street. When in the train Mr. Pinkerton observed a man that attracted his attention, and who subsequently turned out to be attention, and who subsequently turned out to be Mr. Finkerton observed a man that attracted his attention, and who subsequently turned out to be the man C ark who has been treed and convicted as one of the robbers. Clark paid his lare to Now Haven, but sot off at Stamford in company with Augustus Irisaram and Mc suire He made application to a livery stable to go to his uncle's, but the night beens cold and be a stranger in the place the sale akeeper refused to lend him a learn int the night being cold, and he a stranger in the place, the sab e-keeper refused to lend him a seam, and the party was obliged to remain at a hold in Stamford until Monday morning, when they took the first train to Norwalk, but Clarz got on at Darien. At this time the detectives got on their track, and remained so until C ark's arrest. Augustus Iristrem proceeded to Advant, and went to the house of his unc.e. Joe Tri-tram, two and a half miles from the depot, programs a wagon for that purpose at a liver, stable—frish am met at the tram a confrere, and they proceeded to Coscob bridge, where the got some of the proceeded to Coscob bridge, where the got some of the proceeds of the robbery, which had been buried near that place. They returned to Joe Fris-tram's house, where they arrived on the following Tuesday morning, at hait-past three o'clock. Mr. Hopkins, the livery sind e keeper at Norwaik, who loaned the boise and wagon to Augustus Tristram and Clark, apprenensive that his property would be stolen, seat his son to follow them, when the above facts were obtained.

facts were obtained. When the robbers returned to Trisiam's from Coscob bridge the detectives were notified, and the house was watched until fuesday afternoon Moanwhile detective Pinkerton and Superintondent Spooner procured warrants for the arrest of Joe Iristram and Clark When Tristram to and himself in the hands of the law he tried to appear an innocent party by saying that the men were strangers to him, and the money found in his house was in their baggare. This story fell to the ground, however, when upon searching his person a gold watch which was stolen from the expression was found. Detective Pinkerion here obtained further information of the rollers, and at once belegraphed to North the robters, and at once telegraphed to New York to Mr. Henry Sanford, the General su-permendent of Adams Express Company, and from the information he received he proceeded, from the information he received he proceeded, attended by a private watchman of the S. Notholas Hovel, to the house of one Barmore, No. 100 D.vision streef, where they found in a bag in a barrel $100,000 in currency, a part of the proceeds of the robery. Barmore was arrested, but was subsequently discharged without trial. While at Joe Tristram's house Detective Pinkerton observed a bag with the bottom twisted, and from this lact concuded it must have contained gold, and that the precious metal was not far off, and upon pushing his investigations further a large amount of gold was found three-tourths of a mile from Trising his investigations further a large amount of gold was found three-tourths of a mile from Tristram's house, under a stone wall beside the road. On the trial Tristiam pleaded guity, and was son-tenced to three years and six months in the State

Clark was tried and convicted; but his counsel subsequently procured a writ of error, and the case is now awaiting the action of the Supreme Court of Connecticut. Subsequent developments showed Connection. Subsequent developments showed that there were other parties in the robbery. While the detectives were watching Joe Tristram's house. Augustus Tristram, Alien, and Mediuire said that the proof against them and also against Wells, before recurred to, was cumulative until it became conclusive, and they, with McGiory, were arrested, as described in yesterday's Heraid, Grady, the brake man on the train on which the robbery was committed, was suspected to be a party in the affair; built the testimony against him was not deemed sufficient the testimony against him was not deemed sufficien the testinony against him was not deemed sufficient to hold him until about one week ago, when he was caught in the act of robbing a passenger on his trais, and it was then deemed time to arrest him, charged also with participation in the express rootery.— N.
