(From Our Own Correspondent.)

ELIZABETHPORT, New Jersey, May 17. Mr. Scries Editor:-Here I am, in the presence of his Popocatapelt Highness Brigadier-General Santa Anna I. I came to see him with the laudable desire of finding out what he wanted, and other private matters, and reporting it with all haste for your column.

I arrived at this inland city by way of Tacony, on the Philadelphia and Trenton Railroad, and immediately inquired of the newsboys for the General's residence-they showed me, and on entering the front door. I found the umbrella of New York the Heraid's reporter in the stand, so I knew I had not come too soon.

As soon as I could, I rushed upstairs and hallooed through the keyhole-"Correspondent of THE PHILADELPHIA EVENING TELEGRAPH, and nobody to introduce him!" The General immediately took his wooden leg off the table. and cried, "Open ze door," which I did, when I was soon alone in his highness' presence. The furniture was neat, not gaudy, such as would become the representative of a republic like Mexico-Canton matting on the floor, four chairs of three different varieties, a very well veneered table, with most all of the vencering yet on it, and two demijohns, constituted the stock of furniture on hand. I made known to the General, in as few words as possible, the object of my visit, when he expressed great pleasure in having an opportunity to tell what he was here for. Yesterday he had told four New York reporters, and he would be giad to commence with me

OBJECT OF SANTA ANNA'S VISIT.

"Senor-I suppose ze newspaper folks want to know why I leave my tranquil home at St. Thomas. One was, ze musquitos was begin to come, and ze ozer to restore ze republic of Mexico which I made myself forty years ago. I want to get some Mexican Centres formed in zis great country, and I be ze Head Centre, and when Senor Stephens get what money he want and leave New York, zen I want my friends to go to Monsieur Jones' Woods and cheer for ze Republic of Mexico which I mae forty years ago. Ze Mexicans now want monish-most of zem as I know want monish, and ze hope of all peoples as want monish must be zis great country."

"Are you aware, General," we asked, "that people think you want to be President of Mexico and get hold of that $50,000,000 loan lately introduced into Congress?"

"Bah, Senor, I could not expect zat, for Senor Johnson, ze American President, would not take notice of ze bill, and vot you call veto it, before he see vot it was: or, if he did not, we would use ze monish in our Circles here before it get to Mexico. No, sar. All I want is to be ze Head Centre of ze Mexican republic which I made forty years ago. I want also to see ze great men of zis great country. I want to see Senor Horace Greeley and some of ze principal black Republicans; ze Mexican Republicans are not all black, but some of zem are. I have one who is my cook, and zey tell him at zis house that he look like Senor Greeley. I want also to see General Scott. I did not get a good chance to see him when he was in ze Mexican republic, because I was very busy when he was there, and I had to leave as soon as he came where I was, and all ze time he was in ze republic I was kept very busy, and did not get a chance to see him. I see out of my window on ze wharf they are building a sign with ze words-

RUBBISH SHOT HERE.

And I have been waiting to see ze shooting, and ze rubbish.

"If I was in my Republic of Mexico, which I made forty years ago, I would get all ze Frenchmen, and put zem together, and put a wall ead.

around ze place, and put on ze walls big guns pointing at ze Frenchmen, and I would say on ze step:

"And I would shoot zem, and all ze Mexicans, too, zat was ze enemies of ze Republic which I made forty years ago, and zat is ze way I would make ze republic free."

The above is but a brief resume of the important conversation I had with the General, and if you think it will serve the purpose of that interesting republic you may print it. I see the correspondent of the London Times has printed his interview with President Johnson, and surely the policy of General Santa Anna Is equally in need of explanation. As I was about to leave, the General, leaving state manners, said, "Senor, will you indulge?" pointing to the demijohns. I consented, and then and there the General and myself drank to the health of-Santa Anna of the Mexican Republic, and I of the Monroe Doctrine, both very sick men.

YOUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

Fun in Council. Myth Griffiths, last Thursday, offered a resolution instructing the Chief Engineer to obtain in writing from the contractors when the Chesnut Street Bridge will be finished and ready for travel. We would, in behalf of the Bridge, inform this Myth that there are too many serious matters claiming the attention of Councils without the members indulging in jokes like this. It this thing is allowed to go on, somebody will next ask, What is going to become of the Gas Committee? Or, What is the New Court House to Cost? Which are the Streets that have been cleaned? And a hundred others, both alike funny and irreverent in an assemblage like the City Councils.

Artist-"Oh! they are fully prepared for such an emergency. There's my stock of old pictures, studies, and sketches, which are worth nothing now, but will realize a handsome sum in that event. Why, sir, if I could only come back again I'd find myself a rich man."

Off With His Head! "A slaughter-house has been erected near this city to do the entire slaughtering of the city. It can work off daily 15,000 head of eattle, hogs, and sheep."-Chicago Paper. We feel a regret that this paper does not tell us how these 15,000 heads are "worked off." Are they wrung like chickens, or do they catch them in a trap, like a mouse, and then are they pulled and 'twisted off? It seems to us the "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals," should lock into the workings of this House.

> Spiritual. That liquors latterly run slow, Each tapster doth assever. And yet, some happy ones, I know Are active more than ever. For, wending by a place where Mait And Mirth are much prevailing, I noticed "Ale and Porter vault" Over the cettar railing.

A QUESTION FOR THE BENEVOLENT. - When Semmes says he is ruined in purse, that he cannot pay his debts; and in person, that he cannot pay the debt of nature even-would it not be well to give him a neck's tension?

Con. by Stone Chisell, Esq. - Why did the Greeks do more than any other nation to retard the progress of the fine arts?

A Goop Story,—A correspondent relates a story told by a Cunard steamer captam concerning Lord Robert Grosvenor, who was among his passengers some time since. This nobleman is the eldest son and heir of the Marquis of Westminster, whose fortune is enormous, and said to produce the immense income of £450,000 per annum. He is nightly intelligent, and the varicty and depth of his information would be considered great even for a commoner. He has travelled extensively in all parts of the world, and it is not long since he returned from a long tour in the United States. While at the West he was one day waiting at a country station for a tardy train, when one of the tarmers of the neignborhood entered into conversation with

'Bin about these parts consid'able, stranger?'

"Yes, for some length of time."
"Like 'em putty well, eh?"
"Yes, pretty well."
"How long have ver bin here?"
"A tew weeks."
"What's yer bizness?"

"I have no business, What are yer travellin' for, then ?" "Only for my own pleasure."
"Don't yer do any bizness? How do yer get ver hvon then "If sen't neces ary for me to work for my sup-port. My inther is a man of property, and gives me an allowance sufficient for my wants."

"But 'spess the cisl man should die?"
"In that case I dave say he'd leave me enough to live upon.' "But in ose he should bust up?"
Here the conver ation ended, and Lord Grosvenor walted away, evidently struck by a new idea, and one which had never been so forcibly presented to him until now. -General Neal Dow sailed for Liverpool last Saturday, he said be a invited by the temperance reformers of Great Britain to aid them in their efforts to get a material prohibitory law. -A plan is set on foot for building a monu-ment at Columbes, Ga., in honor of the Rebel ICE COMPANIES.
