Men One Would Much Rather Not Meet. Men who mix a salad better than any other

Men who ask you to listen while they read out aloud something they have written them-

Men who tell stories that run one into another, so that you find it very difficult to get away at the end of any of them. One-character comedians.

Hero worshippers of the common stamp, by whom such pure minded, earnest persons as Garibaldi are rendered ridiculous. Men who have quarrel'ed with all their relations.

Men who have been betrayed and abandoned in the most heartless manner by all their friends.

Men who have been persecuted and swingled by a general conspiracy of everybody.

Men who imitate popular actors. Men who are always asking, "Don't you think

Men who are always "putting a case."

Men who agree with you too much.

Men who "leel impelled to join issue with you."

Men who are technically enthusiastic on the subject of art, without having any practical knowledge of it whatever.

Men who will go on drinking the best wine you can put before them, and, when asked how they like it, reply, "Oh, pretty well; but the fact is, you know, it's perfectly immaterial to me what I dring."

Men who have received a testimonial.

Men who quote Shakespeare. Men who quote Byron. Men who quote Artemus Ward.

Men who quote anybody. -The following musical terms, defined in the me, convey much information in a very con-

Accelerando-In speed, increasing measure. Accelerando—In speed, increasing measure.

Al ceretto—Not quite so rapid as the last.
Andanie—Soft and slow the movement goes.
A rempo—Mark the music as it flows.
Brilliante—With great spirit and with might.
Con k veressive, movement vish Brilliante—With great spirit and with might.
Con f xpressione—In excessive movement right.
Cre-cendo—From soft to loud the music swells.
Da Cape—'Return," this sign the player tells.
Docrescendo—From loud to soft the music lails.
Folie—To action loud this signal calls.
Fortissimo—Louder, louder raise the song.
F. F. F.—Louder yet, and very strong
Legato—Gilde soft and close when this you see.
Magaiore—Signifies the major key.
Mezzo Forte—A little louder, but not too strong.
Mezzo Forte—A little soft; too soft is wrong.
Mezzo Polane—A little soft; too soft is wrong.
Mezzo Polane—A little soft; too soft is shown.
Plane—Soft and low, with gentleness. Pianc—Soft and low, with gentleness.

Pianissimo—softer, with sweet tenderness.

Prestissimo—Quick and quicker fly your fingers.

Suscatto—sharp and pointed nothing lingers.

Uniso—Sing together in one voice.

And in music all rejoice.

-One of the greatest parlor toys, as well as a most interesting invention of science, combined with art, is the "Photograph Mystery"-put forth in this city under the agency of Frederick G. Adams, of the London Stereoscoptic Com-pany. The Mystery is contained in two envepany. The Mystery is contained in two envelopes, one containing pieces of white albumenized paper, the other slips of white blotting paper of a corresponding size. One of the former is moistened with water, and a piece of paper from the other envelope, likewise wetted, is laid thereon, when a beautiful photograph is immediately developed on its albumenized surface. Photographs have of course been printed in the usual manner on the albumenized slips, and then decolorized with bromic or iodic acid, or some such agent; the other pieces of paper have been soaked in hypo sulphite of soda, and the application of this reducing agent to the hidden photograph brings it again to view.
