EPISCOPAL CONVENTION. THIRD DAY'S PROCESDINGS.

This morning, at 9 o'clock, the P. E. Convention reassembled at St. Andrew's Church for morning prayer. Bishop Vail presisted, Rev. Mr. Paddock and Rev. Dr. Clerc, of Carlisle officiated.

Rev. Dr. Kowe them preached a sermon upon "Missions," prepared for the Board of Missions, and delivered before the Convention at its request. His text was from St. Luke ix. 6. "And they departed, and went through the towns, preaching the Gospel, and healing everywhere."

Dr. Howe is lerved to the universal practice of the

Dr. Howe referred to the universal practice of the Protestant Episcopal Church to mangurate all her Synods with Divine services. But he thought that Synods with Divine services. But he thought that to devise and carry out measures for extending the gospel of Jesus Christ through the most authentic, safest, and most efficient medium to those who know not or repared not the Lord who bought them. It was truly a mistaken view of the incumbent duties of the Convention that con d allow her members to devote most or their thoughts and discussions to the revision of old canons. It was not surely executing the duties of earnest desciples to give the main part of the Convention to the consideration of securing and perpetuating alove the good works which had been achieved. . he miss onary spirit should actuate the doing of new labors and the achieving of greater

The mission of the first disciples was not to the heathen, but to the Jews, who possessed some knowledge of the immo tal God. And the mission the Church had to-day is quite similar. It was to go among those who know the floly Scriptures, to arouse them from their indifference; to excite their enthusiasm for spiritual things.

That primitive mission was itine ant. The disciples went forth with no determined place of resi-ples went forth with no determined place of resi-dence, the length of their stay in any place was to be dependent upon the welcomeness of their reception. Their instructions were. 'Parry awhile wherever you are received." Their first mission was merely entative, to try whether there was a respon-

This consideration is well worthy of being thought upon. Many parishes are perpetuated where no adequate population exists to support the ministers who are assigned to their charge. Thus many worthy pastors are dulled and discouraged by having no compensative result, and woose forecast can discern no spiritual good in the future. There are men thus abiding in this lingering state of martyrdom, of whom he world is not worthy. Did these ministers take their lives into their hands and go among the savages of the world, then there is a spirit of romance, a consciouscess that for such there are enlisted the sympathy and the prayers of the whole Church.

This is a type of discipline permitted and overru'ed by H'm without whose will not a sparrow falls to the ground, but surely this is an abnormal type of what an enemy hath done to the Church. It is not a type of the itinerancy of the first missionaries of the Word of our Saviour.

It appears that missions to new fields were associ-are of the seventy disciples, we learn that the Lord sent them forth two and two. They were for pioneer work, to herald the coming of the Lord. This point presents an action for us, which it is not too late to reinstate among us. Interchange, such as associate members can arrange among themselves enables them to preserve themselves from exhausting labors. It is an unmutgated cracity to require new laborers to work among the new fields, incessantly producing sermen later sermon without rest and redel. He who works up to the means and his abilities gains strength daily, while he who overworks himself is only ingering on to an inevitable death.

Another feature of the primitive messages was the

Another feature of the primitive missions was the fact that they preached the Gospel—the new truth— the cardinal principle that Christ is the Saviour It may be said that now the story has become oid;

but the 'foolishness of preaching' was used to over-turn the wisdom of antiquity.

Invite men to serve Christ, first, in His med ato rial office, and unfold to them afterwards the mean's by which they may lears that they have rightly re' ceived H.m. The Church, it is humbly submitted, should begin, not by asserting her services, but by preaching Christ. preaching Christ.

Besides preacting, the Apostles healed every-where They performed miracles, and showed that religion was peneficent, striving to heal the wounds of the fall. It was most fitting that the second Adam should heal the sufferings caused by the first The sympathy of Jesus must be reproduced in those who are advocates for H.m. There are men who are speculatively sound and morally correct, but who are yet a mpathet cally wanting. On! let this Church be the Church that was the reputation of doing good. Then it will not fail to win adherents to its cause. Let them seek the publicans and sinners, those from whom sanctimonion-ness stands aloof, and welcome them to the sanctuary. Thus to hear as well as to teach must be the duty of the Church if she would gain the world to her support. The electric chain of love must be grasped by every one of her ministry, that society may be en-compassed with a vow of adherence to Him whose beneficent spirit cannot be resisted. We shall thus have introduced no novelty, but have endowed our Zion with other great claims to be recognized as the Apostolic Church. Is the Church fundling her Divine mission of bearing abroad the Holy Word, when there are ten counties within this one State, wherein one hundred and fifty thousand persons are not recipients of the tropel from us?

Great Lord of the harvest, renew by The spirit that first mission, and send more laborers into the

DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN PRILDEL-THIAN.—The mercantile community will be pained to hear of the sudden death of Captain Wilmon Whildin, which occurred last evening about 6 o'c ock. Captain Whildin was a native of this city, and the son of Captain William Whilldin, was for many years was closely connected with the trade of Phindelphia. He was in the sixty third year of his age and res ded in Philadelphia during his whole life. He graduated with honor at the University of Pennsylvania, andra ter vards in the medical school attached to that institution; but soon retired from the procession and ado sted his father's business, to which being an only child, he fell heir after his father's death. He was well known in business cir-cles from his long cornection with the steamboars plying between Philadlphia and Cape May or intervening points. Durmy the course of a long and active business career he succeeded in retaining the esteem of all with whom he came in contact. By esteem of all with whom he came in contact. By persevering efforts he had amassed an ample competence, and in the enjoyment of apparently robust health, looked forward to an old age of ease and comfort. He was seen by many of his friends vesterday. His death was occasioned by a sudden attack of apoplexy. He was at the time of his death President of the New York and Philadelphia Steam Propeler Company. He was remarkable for the geniality of his manner, and for his unpstentations charity. He leaves a large fortune, which is the result of a life of probity and enterprise. He had but recently moved into a new and finely appointed home in the western part of the city, but lived but a short time to enjoy it. He was one of the oldest of that important class of citizens who have made our coasting trade a specialty, and perhaps the most highly respected. His death will be greatly regretted by a large circle of acquaintances. The family re-maining consists of three daughters, his wife having been for several years deceased. been for several years deceased.

FIRE IN WATER STREET THIS MORNIFG. —About half-past 11 o'clock this morning, a fire broke out at Deitz, Sprole & Henry's cooper and quaying shop, No. 207 South Water street. The building, which is an old three-story brick one, was cutirely occupied by the above firm, and the cooper shop being on the first floor. The lower por-tion of the building and the cellar was completely ded with water. It is thought that the fire origin noted from a spa-k, alighting on the root, from a neishboring chimney, there being no fire in the building at the time. Deitz, Sprole & Henry are insured in the Franklin Insurance Company, and the building, which is the property of the Phillips'

Another important step in the application of that useful substance—India rubber—is its introduction into paint. The rubber is first dissolved and then ground into the paint, thoroughly perineating every portion into the paint, thoroughly permeating every portion of the ma-s, and, it is said, produces a very superior article, which succe-stully reasts dampness, sait water, and even acids. The bill reported by Mr. Eliot (Mass.), on Tuesday, to amend and continue in force the bill establishing the Freedmen's Bureau, came up as the business in order in the morning Mr. Stevens (Pa.) moved to amend the sixth section in reference to the Sea Islands, by making it read that when the former owners

He said that these lands were forfeited to the United States as belonging to belligerents, and they were allotted to some 6000 jamilies, which were now in possession, cultivating sthem and having comfortable homes upon them.

It would be cruel and unjust to turn them out, leaving the Government to procure for them other lands at the cost or $25 an acre, as proposed by the section. The amendment was adopted-yeas 79; nays 46; so that the section now reads:-Section 6. And be it further enacted. That whensection 6. And be it further enacted, that whenever the former owners of lands occupied under General Sherman's field order, dated at Savannaa, January 16, 1865, shall apply for restoration of said lands, the Commissioner shall refuse to surrender

Mr. Davis (N. Y.) moved to amend by striking out all after the second section. Mr. Brandagee (Conn.) moved to postpone the turther consideration of the bill till the second Monday in December next. He sustained the motion by the argument that at that time Congress would be in a condition to act more intelligently on the subject, as it would then have before it the reports of the Commission sent by the President, and of the Special Committee, to be sent by both Houses. o inquire into the working of the system, and idding, in an undertone, that the postponement would save some Congressmen, and particularly

Mr. Schenck (Ohio) gave notice that the Committee on Military Affairs had carefully revised he Bounty bill, and had made alterations in it; that a report would be made to-day, and that he would ask the House to-morrow, after the morning hour, to consider it. One very material change made in the bill is that all local bounties paid to soldiers are to be taken into consideration, and deducted from the sum which might otherwise appear due.

The bill, as originally reported, provided only for the deduction of the United States bounty also received. This change will cut out from the benefits of the bill almost all who had enheted after the payment of liberal bounties had
