"A Point upon Which We All Can

To the Editor of The Evening Telegraph: Under the above caption there recently appeared an editorial in your paper, upon the question of an 'equalization of bounties to soldiers and sailors," which was duly appreciated by those who enjoyed its perusal. Although this subject has been ursed apon Congress with as much vehemence as could with propriety be given it, yet it is a burning shame that their action upon the matter has been thus far so tardy, and now that it has passed the House, we are led to believe that "it will meet with opposition in the Senate." Can it be that our Senators have made up their minds that now, the wartheing over, and the army mostly out of service, the soldiers of that army are to be recodected no longer, and if they are to be, that windy resolutions in the shape of thanks are sufficient? If there is anything in the shape of do varight neglect—not to say inconsistency—it is in refusing to grant to those of our soiders who left for the battle field at the commencement of the war as full a compensation as those who went in at the ceventh hour, and at the waning of the kebellion, under the refusion of high bounties and other permiser. hour, and at the waning of the Rebellion, under the influence of high bounties and other pecuniary inducements. It is a fact patent to all that those was enisted at the first call to arms, with no other inducement than a patriotic spirit and the meagre pay proper that the Government then offered, left comfortable homes and lucrative occupations to defend and, if necessary, to die in their country's cause. Now shall it be said that this part of the army are not entitled to the same consideration as those who came in under the influence of the high bounties reserred to, or backed by immense sums bounties referred to, or backed by immonse sums in the shape or substitute money—housands of whom, we are prepared to prove, were mustered out whom, we are prepared to prove, were mustered out ere they were a month in the field, or even had a misket in their bands?

This measure is optoed by some open the ground that it would be "an unwarrantable expenditure of money, and that it would be cause the deer of the country." To this we won u say, can that measure be called such a terribly unwarrantable squandering of the public money, that gives to a man, who has lost has situation and health, and even insked his lite in detense of his country, a few pattry dollars to enable him to stait again upon the great highway of me? Certainly, those who sat in the councils of our hation appear to have no such scruples in regard to wasting the time and money both, of the Government, in running up to New England (some of them) in order to stump the State for a certain candidate for Governor, or in voting money to "international Fairs," or in legislating for the benefit of the "Sea Islands." What a jewel is consistency, in their case!

As to its increasing the public debt, what item, we dead deserves, with more propriety, to be part of the dept of a nation, than that which fairly remunerates those who risked their lives to save that nation? We those wh. Trisked their lives to save that batton? We think it ma, be saiely said, that it is owing, in a great degree, to the services of the men who ask for this "equalization," the fact that we have a nation, a public debt, and, thank God! money to pay the interest on that deut, and, in time, the debt itself.

The writer of this was in the sarvice of the United States, as a private so dier, for hearly that the carry and the same and the sam and upon applying for the pay due us by the Govern-ment, we were rejused by the paymaster, in conse-quence of some alleged informatity in our discharge papers. We were referred to a superior officia, then to his superior, who in turn suggested that it would be better to put the matter in the same of a claim against the Government. Not being in a condition to commence a claim against the Government, for to commence a claim against the Government, for over a year's back pay, we went to Pre-taent Luncoin himself. Having looked at the papers, he turned round in his chair, and eyeing us from head to foot, remarked, "You are aware, young man, that without a proper degree of system, which to some man smarter a little or formality, the machinery of a Government like this could not properly go on At the same time it is not the policy of the Government to allow a slight technicality like this to precent a soldier from getting that which is justly ent a soldier from getting that which is justly ent a soldier from getting that which is justly due... 'm' folding the papers, he quickly endorsed them:— If this man has performed his duty, as appears to be evident, let him be paid. A. Linc in.' As he handed them back to us, he remarked, with a very significant smile. "We must be a little easy with you, boys; we may need you again."

In view of the present unsettled condition of pontical matters throughout the word, the event of our so, diers being needed again is not the most un ikely thing that could nossibly occur, and in this case, is it to be supposed, in view of the treatment of our rank and file by Congress since the wait upon certain matters, that there will be the same alacrity shown in responding to the call for recruits as there shown in responding to the call for recruits as there was in 1861 and 1862? If the soldier is a creature of any common sense is it to be suppo ed that ac will rush at once to the celense of the standard of his country, tak ng ti e meagre pay proper of the Gov-ernment, or will be be apt to wait until that Gov-ernment comes to him in its extremity with magnincent inducements in the shape of extra pay or high

Some may say that the true patriot and lover of his country should not take such things into con siceration, but our experience is (and we are not alone in the opinion) that true pairiousm loses none of us force by being allied to "pecuniary contentment," and that the true soldier figure just as well with 'greenbacks' in his pocket, with the know-ledge that his family are decently provided for a home, or that he will have something to fall back upon at the end of the war, as he would do without these incentives.

AMUSEMENTS.

New CHESNUT STREET THEATRE.—A full house assembled to greet the debut of the Webb Sisters. These young ladies played a two weeks engagement last year at the Arch. They have, unfortunately, a propensity for giving what are called protean pieces, patchworks kept together from one impersonation and another by such flimsy stuff that it wil not held either interest or probability, and is most wearying. It would be far better to personate one after another the various changes, as Miss Stanley did, rather than inflict a piece on the audience like the Dying Child. It was well put on the stage, and had a I the assistance from the company possible, still it was intensely tiresome. Miss Emma Webb is a nice looking, ladylike person, with discretion sufficient not to attempt too much. She is chiefly employed in interesting young heroines, or in singing second, in duets, with Miss Ada. Miss Ada is pretty, young, lively, with magnificent eyes. Her vivacity is her special talent. She changes her dresses with great quickness, but remains eyer the same person. Her dialects are all alike; but then she is young and pretty, and full of animal spirits, sings a good comic song and dances a capital jis, has no objection to breeches—long or short—and, in fact, is in every way calculated to fill the house, from the gallery to the pit—especially the galleries. The great advantage with the Webb Sisters is, that they know about five hundred pieces, and vary them every might, giving generally two or three each performance.

ARCH STREET THEATRE.-Mrs. John Drew made her first appearance last night to a very moderately filled house, in the comedy of The Needfal. The play was as successful as on its first presentation, the whole company having parts in it suited to their specialities. Mr. Mackay, of course, carried off the honors of the evening. His thoroughly artistic and natural delineation of the simple-minded cockney is a picture that engraves itself on the memory.

WALNUT STREET THEATRE .- Mr. Booth appears this evening in "Shylock" and "Petruchio." Mr. Booth's "Shylock" is another of the gems of his

COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT TO MR. WILLIAM JOHNSON. — the patrons of the P. relli Amateur Italian Opera and the Seventeenth Street Drawing Room will not forget the complimentary benefit to Mr. William Johnson, to take place this evening. The bill provided for the occasion is a most a trac-tive one throughout, and we doubt not the house will be crowded to its utmost capacity. Mr. John-son is every wav deserving of the proffered testi-monial, and we shall be glad to know that the resuits of the entertainment will have fully equalled

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF MUSIC—Mr. and Mrs. Mordaunt give a farewell benefit here to-morrow evening. The Colleen Bauen with Mr. and Mrs. atordaunt, Miss Noemie de Marguerittes appearing as "Eily C'Counor" for the first time. The other attractions are great. Mr. Mordaunt has long been popular amongst us, and should receive a hearty farewell, showing how he has been appreciated and how he will be regretted.

how he will be regretted. ASSEMBLY BUILDINGS .- The "Carolina Twins' remain only this week. The medical faculty have all pronounced them wonders in the natural and scientific world. They are pleasant and lively girls, and there is nothing startling in their appearance. They remain only this week. MUSICAL FUND HALL.—Mr. I. L. Rice will give his farewell concert this evening. Mr. Wolfsohn and Mr. Simon Hassier will play.

WA PHENOMENON .- On the morning of the 31 instant, from half past eleven to a quarter-past twelve, Birmingham, England, was enveloped in almost total darkness, and again at half-past four P. M. it was as dark as in the middle of a winter's night. At both periods there was a moderate fall of rain, with a little wind. ARMY GAZETTE.

Court-Martial for the Trial of Paymaster Paulding. A general court-martial has been appointed to meet at the city of Washington, on the 28th day of May, 1868, or as soon thereafter as practica ble, for the trial of Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel E. E. Paulding, additional paymaster United States service, and such other prisoners as may be brought before it. Defaul of the Court—Major-General C. C. Augur, United States Volunteers; Brevet Brigadier-General P. P. De Witt, Colonel Veteran Reserve Corps; Brevet Brigadier General O. V. Dayton, Colonel 19th Regiment Veteran Reserve Corps; Brevet Brigadier General E. P. Fyffe, Colonel 7th Regiment Veteran Reserve Corps; Brevet Colonel D. M. Sells, Lieutenant-Colonel 107th Regiment United States Colored Troops; Brevet Coionel T. A. Dodge, Major Veteran Reserve Corps; Major D. F. Foley. Veteran Reserve Corps; Captain W. K. Haviland, 14th Regiment Veteran Corps, Judge Advocate.

No other officers than those named can be assembled without manifest injury to the service.

The court will sit without regard to hours. NAVY GAZETTE.

Allowance to Navy Officers. NAVY DEFARTMENT, WASHINGTON, May 23, 1866.—Congress having, in view of the call for increased compensation to officers of the navy, repealed the law which prohibited any allow-ance to them for rent of quarters, or to pay rent for furniture or for lights, or fuel, etc., the Dapartment, in order to prevent a recurrence of the irregularities, abuses, and arbitrary allow-ances which occasioned the prohibition, deems it proper to establish a fixed rate of compensation in leu of the extra allowances which were prohib ted by the law now repealed. Accordingly, from and after the first day of June proximo, officers who are not provided with quarters on shore stations will be allowed a sum equal to thirty-three and a thira per centum of their pay in lieu of all allowances, except for mileage or travelling expenses under orders, and those provided with such quarters twenty per centum of their pay in lieu of said allowance. The act of March 3, 1865, having increased the cay of mid-shipmen and mates, the allowance hereby authorized will not be extended to them. GIDEON WELLES, Secretary of the Navy.

CRIME IN SCOTLAND .- From an official return it appears that in 1865 there were 2567 offenders committed for trial in Scotland. Of these, three were sentenced to death, 179 to penal ser-vitude, 1884 to various terms of imprisonment, 19 to be detained in reformatory schools, and 216 to be whipped, fined, or discharged on
