AMUSEMENTS.

ARCH STREET THEATRE—Miss Rushlon was announced to appear last evening as "Rosalind," another part in which she assumes male attire, but at the last moment Mr. Marlowe came forward and informed the andience of Miss Rushlon's sudden and serious indisposition, which would prevent her appearing. The audience received this information with great resignation. The announcement which followed, that Mrs. John Drew would play "Rosalind," and also appear on every other night of the week, met with an en'husiastic reception. Mrs. Drew played "Rosalind" with that artistic perfection that distinguishes her, and which contrasts so greatly with the attempts of inefficient pretenders to tread in her footsteps. This evening Mrs. Drew will appear sa "Lady Teaz o" and on Friday in Giralda and The Day After the Wedding. Mrs. Drew's versatility enables her to take up all parts of the written and acting drama and acting drama

New Chrestur Street Theatre.—The Webb Sisters will appear this evening in a piece entitled Normic; or, the Foster Sister, a piece probably taken from the French, which seems to be new to our days; but then new tites are now so often given to old pieces, that it is as difficult to recognize old friends as it was to recognize Napoleon's old soldiers under their ducal and princely names. The Misses Webb, ho wever, have been attractive in everything.

WALNUT STREET THEATRE.—Mr. Booth appears this evening in his great part of the "King" Jester." Accustomed to his "Hamiet," the impersonation of the fool's revenge is not only most wonderful, but most admirable. The comedy of Faint Heart, in which Mr. Taylor is so excellent, will also be given. will also be given.

NEW AMERICAN THEATRE. -This theatre is being gradually patronized by the best class of our citizens Great preparations have been made for their comfort, and the a musements are of the very best, varied from ballet to comedy, with Harry Pearson. It will be one of the attractions of Philadelphia during the summer.

FRIGUANT CONCERT — we of the last and per haps finest musical entertainments of this season will be given on to-morrow evening and Saturday afternoon at the Academy of Music. Madame Gaz Phicadelphians, assisted by Signor Limberti, Signo Ardavani, and Mr. Mollen aner, the exquisite vio Ardavani, and Mr. Mollenhauer, the exquisite vio loncelist, will certainly attract a crowd, it it is in the power of a splend d bill to secure attendance Madame Gazzanisa performs some of her bespices, especially her rendition of "Ah! mon fils," by Meyerbeer. Signor Limberti sings a romanza o Verdia, which is exquisitely beautiful. Lovers o music should be in attendance, as the heats of summer are approaching, and there will be but little future opportunity for this style of amusement. We can promise that all present will be satisfied with the performers, for it is seldom that so many fine artists are found in conjunction.

MATTERS OVER THE RIVER

Acquitted.—Another of the boys whom John Beck implicated in the burning of Mr. Hatch's barn on the 15th of May, 1865, has been acquitted by the Jury. John Beck was convicted of the crime of setting that barn on fire at the last term of the Camden county Couris, but his sentence was suspended, in order to give him that status which would enable him to implicate others in these acts of incendiarism. In consequence of this he implicated three others, two of whom have already been acquitted, and it is probable that a new trial will be examted to one who was found cutify at a previous granted to one who was found guilty at a previous trial. There acts of meendiarism have created intense excitement in the public, so much so, in met, as to often elicit the ungenerous remark that the boys charged ought to be convicted whether they were guarty or not These remarks were highly im-prudent and injudicious, but intelligent and noble-minded jurymen did not allow them to bias their judgment nor sense or justice in the rendition of CHILDREN'S HOME.-The influence and good which the Camden Home for Friendless Children is exerting is of the most saintary and philandren is exerting is of the most salutary and philanthropic character. A larse number of children, destitute of parents or guardians, have been taken to this institution, where their wants have been carefully attended to, and from which they have been sent to good and comfortable homes. Most of these little homeless wanderers were thore belonging to brave soldiers who ost their lives in defense of our national flag, and whose mothers have either passed away, or are too destitute to give them that tender care their tuture good nay require. The managers are making every preparation within the scope of their abulities to increase the usefulness of this "Children's Heme."

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS. - The Board of Education are using all the means within their con-trol to advance the usefulness of the public schools of Camden. They design at an early day to commence the erection of a new and commodious building, for the purpose of concentrating all the classes and departments of the schools in Middle Ward into one. This enterprise has been under consideration for some time past, and it is most likely that it will soon be consummated. It is also designed to introduce instrumental music into the public schools. This would be of great advantage to the pupils.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.—The ladies con-nected with the Methodist Episcopal Church at Hammonton are now engaged in holding a straw-berry festival, which is very largely attended, the proceeds of which are to be appropriated to-wards the building for themselves a very handsome and convenient church edifice at that place. The cultivation of strawberries by the people of Ham-mouton has been for several years past the princi-pal leature in the agricultural development of that city, and it has been carried to a profitable and vast exient. STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL .- The ladies con-

STEALING CIGARS.—Two colored women straining Cigars.—Two colored women, named Mary Bettencount and Elizabeth Nixon, have been held in $800 bail each, to answer the charge of the larceny of cigars. It seems that they were employed as cooks at the stand in the Baltimore depot, and for some time past the proprietor has missed a large number of cigars.
