Summer Fashions.

Fashion, this season, is pleased to be very gay and very peculiar. Odd little bonnets of the quaintest designs form the apex to objects con-structed on no architectural model save that of the Pyramids, the base being exceedingly wide and broad, and differing from those ancient Egyptian specimens of art only in the modelling of waist and the projection of arms.

Take the whole effect, however, and save where there is unnecessary exaggeration, it is not bad. The contrast of color is pleasant without being too glaring. Harmony is insisted upon; and though there are many novelties, and great variety in style, material, and triuming, good laste suggests the impropriety of mixing or overloading with ornament any article of costume, and finds much more alexanderic points.

and finds much more elegance in quiet simplicity than in valgar display.

Embroidery has been revived to an extent which renders it a most important element in ornamenting dresses, suits, skirts, and articles of clothing of all kinds. Scarcely an article of dress comprised in ladies' and children's wardrobes but is indebted to this method of producing a highly decorative effect. The fashionable impetus has undoubtedly been given by the beautiful embroidery executed by the Grover & Baker machine, by the furor which it has excited abroad, and the admiration and patronage which it has received in the highest circles. Not only dresses, cloaks, sui's, Balmoral skirts, and the more important articles of clothing are now ornamented with machine embroidery, but parasols (which are afterwards dotted, or filled up with beads), slippers, both of kid and satin, and gaiter boots, both for walking and visiting

This fashionable rage renders the possession of a Grover & Baker Macnine indispensable to fashionable dress-makers, and most desirable to families where the mother executes most of the sewing, and wishes to dress herself and children handsomely, and, at the same time, economi-

Morning dresses are made of cambric, or pique. It of the latter, they are either gored or made into a skirt and short jacket, which is worn with a white tucked chemisette. The gored dresses are beautifully embroidered down the seams in a narrow and very simple pattern, and sometimes scolloped out round the bottom; the jackets are also embroidered, and the skirts, either in an apron pattern, as a bor-der, or in small pyramids upon the skirt. Striped cambrics are very often trimmed with frills of the material; but plain cambric dresses are extremely pretty trimmed with bands of cambric of a contrasting color, stitched on with We hardly know whether this is the proper place to discuss such matters, but we may just mention, for the beneat of housekeepers, that the newest and most stylish library-table and piano covers are made of plain light brown, or neutral, shades of cloth, stitched upon the edge and ornamented in the centre with beautiful designs in embroidery machine stitching.

AMUSEMENTS.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.-Mm'e Gazzuniga must have, felt like "Helen Mc regor," on her native heath, as she stood on the boards of the Academy last night. If the Academy does not colong to her, its greatest successes are hers, its reputation, and its most artistic recollections. M'me Gazzaniga was welcomed by a fine house, and enthusiastically received. Time has not left one trace on her, she is the Gazzaniga of other days, with the winning smile and sweet face varying with every emotion.

Her voice has changed, out it has changed for the be ter. It has jost the slight harsoness which marred it; it is deeper, more mellow, and as sympa-thetic as ever. "Ah, mon fils" was most ar isti-cally sung, and with that dramatic expression which note but Gazzaniga possesses to such perfection. For an eccore to this she sung a charming French "Romance," full of lightness and grace. "Amor francesto," accompanied by Mollenhauer, was a ranesto," accompanied by Mollenhauer, was a magnificent cisplay of voice, power, and expression. It is one of those charming compositions for which Donizeth made a reputation in Paris. Apart from his operas, the words originally were French ("Il faut partir"); and admirable as the italian language is for singing, we consider that this melody loses some of i's character by the translation. Signor Limberti, the tenor, pre-ented to us for the first time, was an agreeable surprise, for he was not preceed by any great puffing, and we did not expect much.

He is, however, a very fine artis', with a clear musical Italian voice, capable of great power, but a tenore di grazia except when such power is requisite. He sings in the finest modern style, and has great expression. Admirably suited to Gazzaniga's special style, what would an opera be with them to ether? Ardavini we know for a carefal a rust, with a fine voice and an agreeable style. Molienhauer is as fine an artist on the violoncello as we have. He has execution and expression, without which execution is as nothing. which execution is as nothing.

As an encore for the multitude he gave the hackneyed "Carnival of Venice," which should be forbidden, with all its unworthy trickeries, by musical law. The trio from Lucrezia, which terminated the concert, was not effectively sung, owing, perhaps, to want of rehearsal. The programme will be entirely changed for the matinee. CONFLAGRATION THIS MORNING. Bestructive Fire in the Fifteenth Ward-Ethe "Dearie Mills" Entirely Destroyed -Loss About Two Hundred Thousand Dollars. Shortly after 4 oclock this morning a destructive fire broke out in what was termed the "Dearie Mills," situated at twenty-fifth and Callo whill streets. The property was owned by Mr. Henry Hoppin, and consisted of a number of buildings constructed of stone, brock, and frame work. The mills extended in Callowhill street a distance of two hundred and sixty seven fees, and some of the buildings ran down within a few feet of the Schusikill. They were all destroyed, with the exception of a live-story building known as the "Keystone tion of a five-story building known as the "Keyston" tion of a live-story building known as the "Keystone Mill." Some of the structures extended east and west, but most of them north and south.

The first but ding on Callowbill street was a three-story and a half structure, 40 by 80 feet, and close by was a four story stone and brick building. These structures were connected by a one-story building that formed the engine-n.u-e. In the four story building were six boilers, Mr. John Dairie occupied these buildings for the manufacture of woollen goods, such as ba moral skirts, shawls, etc. The main operations were carried on in the three and main operations were carried on in the three and a half story structure.

In the fourth-story building was the drying-room; immediately over the boilers and above this room were apartments for weaving. Mr. Dearie also occupied a one-story structure towards the Schuylkili as a dye-house. A three and a four-storied back building and six one story building a contraction.

Schuyikili as a dye-house. A three and a four-storied brick building and six one story buildings, of rame, brick, and stone, were occupied by James Mouach, Jr. & Co., whose business was drying and printing cotton and woollen goods.

The three-story brick building attached to the Keystone mili, which formed an L, was also destroyed. In this structure was a splendid engine of 120 horse power, and also a new boiler, and other machinery. Mr. William Horn, manufacturer of Balmoral skirts, etc., occupied this structure.

All the real estate, together with the fixed machinery, and the greater part of the running machinery in the different mills, belonged to Mr. Hoppin, His loss is estimated at $100,000 He is insured for $22,000 but $20,000 is on the buildings destioved, and $12,000 is on the only building sett unmigured.

sit. Dearle's loss is put down at $90,000 on machinery and stock. He is insured for $21,000. He has $2500 in the Equitable, and $2550 in the Republican Insurance Companies, and the rest in New York, New Jersey, and New England Companies. Mossrs. Monach & Co. suffered a loss of $3000 on their own material, but at the time of the fire they had on hand about $20,000 worth of goods belonging to other parties, left at the mills to be dyed and printed.

These goods were insured by the parties owning them for $7000 in the Amsterdam Company, of New York; and $7000 in the Brooklyn Company, of New York; and $7000 in the Brooklyn Company, of Rew York.

Mr. Horn's stock was valued at $35,000. It is totally destroyed. Mr. Horn is insured for $18,000, of which $12,000 is in the Royal, of Liverpool, and $8000 in New England Companies.

The total loss by the conflagration will reach $200 000. The fire originated in the drying-room of the fourth story building, and the flames spread with learful rapidity. The a arm was promptly given, and the firemen were soon on the ground, and through their exertions the five-story structure was saved.

During the progress of the fire, some of the burning flakes were thrown across the Schuylkill, and dropped into the coal oil establishment of Mr Jacob S Zuyart, Thirtieth and Hami tou streets and ignited a parre, of oil, but the flames were promptly subdued

By the destruction of the mil's, about one hundred and fitty hands are thrown out of employment.

IN MEMORY OF GENERAL SCOTT.

Through a long life of wars he passed.

All triumphs of his country's powor;
But peace its broadest sunshine east
Around him in his dying hour.
From far or near he heard no din
Of field disputed, fortress stormed;
But sweete-t was that peace within
That sooks of duties well performed.
So, in the Tower's busy sphere,
We keep a conscience just and clear.

Our purchases for this season having been delayed, waiting the expected decline in goods, we have now on hand the largest and best assorted stock of Clathing in Philadelphia, purchased for CABII EXCLUSIVELY AT in Philadelphia, purchased for CASH EXCLUSIVELY AT THE VERY LOWEST HATES OF THE SEASON, which enables us to realize a fair proft, and sell at prices less than the price of the same goods in most other establishments. We can supply Clothiers doing a fine city trade with goods adapted to their sales, at prices so much lower than the cost of their present stocks, that, by making an average of the whole, they will be enabled to dispose of their goods at prices covering the average cost, and even paying a profit.

Court of Quarter Sessions-Judge Pierce .-Court of Quarter Sessions—Judge Pierce,— Habeas corpus cases before the Court.
In the case of Mrs. Sarah Rinier, who sought to obtain, by writ of habeas corpus, the custody of a child, which was heard a week ago, the Court refused the application, and remanded the child to the custody of the uncle John Smith, granting the mother the privilege of visiting the child.

Margaret Kelly applied, by writ of habeas corpus, for the custody of a child, now in the custody of a Miss Jones.

The The mother of the child, it seems, has been for some time in a miserably destitute condition. The child was placed in a charitable institution. The aunt, Mrs. Kelly, took the child and wished to adopt it, but upon being advised so to do, she had the child bound to her. From the evidence, she cared for the child as a mother should. She clothed it comfortably, taucht it prayers, and sent it to church aid school. The mother came and stole the child, but the aunt recovered it. A second time the mother took the child. She kept it some seven or eight days, hving all the while in a filthy, wretched celiar on Bedford street.

days hving all the while in a fithy, wretched celiar on Bedford street.

Miss Jones, who, it seems, is connected with some charitable mission, saw the child with its mother, in a most abominable condition, and wished to take it. The mother being very destitute, sold the child for a pair of shoes and stockings. These are the prominent features of the evidence. The matter is to be held under a week's advisement.

On habeas corpus, the bail of Edward Thorn, a youth, charged with assault and battery, with latent to kill, upon Robert Sherrer, was lessened from $2000 to $1200.
