JEFF. DAVIS.

Visit of His Counsel to His His Probable Melease in a pew Boys.

Forthers Monroe, June & Messre, William B. Forthers & Gretary of the great Rebei well known private Jot of the war, have passed chieftain during Jot of the war, have passed chieftain during as with Jeff. Davis inside the forthers in the wholes and that of his legal associates Mr. Reed's fish and that of his legal associates Mr. Reed's fish and that of his legal associates being a prossional one, their conferences with their being a prossional one, their conference to the Associated with the important approaching event, was more a social one than anything clie. Mr. Davis greeted aim with great cordianty, as also did Mrs. Davis.

He acknowledged to me seeing a great change in Mr. Davis 'physical condition from the time he last saw him, though not of the marked and discouraging character he had anticipated. The entire party took dinner with Mr. and ars. Davis in the finely furnashed ca emate cocupied by the latter, who is now keeping house for her bustand. Their could is with them. Ibough not quite able to dipense hospitality in the sumpruous style of her Richmond regime. Mrs. Davis possesses enough of calmary and other auxiliaries for comfortable housekeep ng, to prevent her guests going away in a complaining mood. They left his evening for the North Mr. Reed going to Philadelphia, and Mesers Van byckie, Edsali, and Hanrison to New York. They parted with Mr. Brady yesterday, who went to view the old battle

Retraction ! (ALLENTOWN DAILY NEWS.)

I hereby acknowledge that the charges and specifications of fraud, which I published in the Allentown Lavy News, respecting the "Grand Thial of Siwing Machines," held at Island PARE, New York, las. September, were altoge-ther without foundation in fact.

ther without foundation in fact,

I thought that the Florence Machine really should have gained more of the advantages claimed than were awarded by the judges, and very naturally supposed that there had been some kind of "trickery" practised, and so stated in several publications; but upon a more thorough investigation of the matter, I learn that the whole trial was conducted in a fair and honorable manner, and that the Willcox & Gibbs' Machine demonstrated, in the estimation of the committee, some thirty-five points of superiority over the Florence Machine, in competi-tion, and that the Willcox & Globs obtained the Highest Premium.

This I freely admit, in justice to the firm whose character I so unwarrantedly called into WM. F. WOLLE, Agent Florence Sewing Machines. ALLENTOWN, Pa., June 5, 1866.
