The Issue Made Up.
The House of Representatives, yesterday, by a vote of 120 to 32—nearly four to one—concurred in the Senate's amendments to the joint resolution proposing certain amendments to the Constitution. The Senate passed the resolution by a vote of 55 to 11, last week.

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, two-thirds of both Houses concurring, That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States, for their adoption or rejection:
Article 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed; but whenever they shall be ascertained by an enumeration taken under the authority of the United States Government, in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in that State.

Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in rebellion or in insurrection against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; but Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

The issue is now made up for the country, and the loyal people will gladly accept it. The proposed measure is the crowning act of that great organization which, despite the efforts of traitors North and South, carried the country safely and triumphantly through the war. It comes to us as the expression of the matured thought of three-fourths of both Houses of Congress. Upon no measure of policy, of anything like equal importance, since the commencement of the Rebellion, has the Union party been more unanimous. In the House of Representatives not a Union vote was cast against it, and in the Senate the only defection was of two or three men who long since left us, and whose action is in notorious and flagrant opposition to the views of their constituents.

Take section first. Its fundamental idea is the equality of all citizens before the law. Is not that right? Who will be prejudiced by it?
Take section second. Can any man deny its essential justice? Ought not each voter, as far as possible, to have equal power? Is it right that a South Carolina voter shall have twice as much power in the nation as a Pennsylvania voter?
Take section third. Is there anything unjust about this? Can the man who, having taken an oath to support the Constitution, became a Rebel, reasonably object to being excluded from office? Are they wronged by it? Who shall dare say they are?

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.
Overview of the Evening Telegraph, Wednesday, June 14, 1866.
The Stock Market continues very dull, but prices are without any material change. In Government bonds there is very little doing. 5-20s sold at 102 1/2; 102 1/2 was bid for 6s of 1881; and 6s; for 10-40s.

The Southern cause is lost—so irrevocably that there remains no Southern man insane enough to hope to see it re-erected. We submit in good faith to the new order of things, according to the power of the sword those domains to which we cling in former days. The conquerors have won that for which they fought—the power to construe the Constitution of the fathers in any way that suits their own views. To give it up to the hands of their enemies is not to give it up to the hands of the conquerors; it is to give it up to the hands of the future.

MILL ON CONSERVATIVES.—Mr. JOHN STEWART MILL, in the recent debate on the Reform bill, made use of an expression which sounds peculiar to our ears. In explaining another quoted assertion of his, that the Conservative party are by the law of their nature necessarily the stupidest party, he said:—"The Conservatives are probably stupid, but I mean to say that stupid persons are generally Conservatives"—a principle of which he said Conservatives should be proud, since it insured their being such a "powerful party."

PHILADELPHIA STOCK REPORT.
THURSDAY, JUNE 14.—There is no new venture to present in the Flour Market, there being no demand for shipment and a moderate inquiry only for home consumption. Sales of superfine at 88c; 00; ex at 89c; 10; 500 lbs. North-west extra family at $11 1/2; 1180; the latter for strictly choice; $1 2 1/2; 13-25 for Pennsylvania and Ohio do; and higher rates for fancy brands, according to quality. Bye Flour quiet but prices are steady at 96c. Nothing doing in Corn Meal.

HEX. M. F. ODELL.—In the death of the Hon. M. F. ODELL the country has lost one of its most conscientious servants. Mr. ODELL was elected to Congress for the Brooklyn District at the very crisis of our national fate, and at a time when no one but a leader among the Democrats could be chosen. He was elected while at the capital as a consistent War Democrat, and voted with the Union party on every question growing out of the war.

GOVERNOR OF MONTANA.—The nomination of the Hon. GREEN CLAY SMITH to be Governor of Montana has taken us by surprise. Mr. SMITH is a talented and rising member of the lower House, and had there a field in which he could display his ability to advantage. Although still a young man, he has achieved a widespread reputation, and has upon several occasions shook off from his feet the dust of his desolatory constituency. His vote in favor of the Constitutional amendment yesterday was a testimony to his devotion to free institutions. He is, probably, the best representative his district can select, and we regret his loss, although he is fully capable of filling his new field of labor.

FULLERTON AND STEEDMAN AGAIN.—A fresh lot of FULLERTON and STEEDMAN reports with reference to the Freedmen's Bureau is published. South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida are the burden of the present effort. We must say that, after the exposure of the unfair, prejudicial, and apparently malicious report of these wandering inquirers with reference to the workings of the Bureau in North Carolina, we place very little reliance upon anything they may say. They are evidently laboring to make out a case, their work may be congenial, but it is worthy of very little respect by an intelligent public.

WELL ANSWERED.—Just after the vote in the House of Representatives had been taken on the Reconstruction Resolution, several announcements having been made of members absent or paired, and as to how they would have voted, Mr. ELDRIDGE, in ridicule, announced that if Mr. BROOKS, of New York, and Mr. VOORHEES, of Indiana, had not been turned out of their seats, they would have voted "No."
To which Mr. STEVENS added that if JEFFERSON DAVIS was here, he would probably have voted the same way.
