MURDER NEAR LEWISBURG, PA. Three Ferness Killed-Money the Cause of the Tragedy.;

We have just learned the particulars of a terrible tragedy that has been enacted some three miles from Lewisburg, York county, resulting in the murder of three persons. George Squibb was a farmer in easy circumstances, residing in Warrington township, at the place indicated above, and whose family consisted of himself, his wife, and a granddaughter, of about fourteen years of age. It was supposed that Mr. Squibb had considerable money in his possession, and it seems that some flend in human shape determined to secure this filthy fucre. shape determined to secure this filthy lucre, even at the sacrifice of several lives. On Sunday sight the monster visited the house of Mr Squibb, and there murdered the whole family.

The terrible affair was not discovered until yesterday morning, when the neighbors found Mr. Squibb lying on the porch of his house, his body bearing the marks of no less than fourteen cuts that had been made thereon with a knife in the hands of the murderer. The old man's life was not extinct, but he was insensible, and lived only until last evening. Inside of the house was the form of Mrs. Squibb, horribly beaten and cut. She, 'oo, was senscless, and there is not the least hope entertained of her recovery, while it is highly probable that the vital spark has fled ere this reaches the eye of the reader. Near by lay the body of the granddaughter, cold in death. It was also stabbed, beaten, and bruised. From the fact that all the victims were found divested or their shoes, it is believed the murder was committed when they were pre-paring to retire, which, according to their cusom, must have been at an early hour in the

Upon a search of the premises being made yesterday, about $350 in money was found, which, the murderer sailed to lay his hands upon, but a married daughter who lives in the vic states that it was supposed Mr. Squibb had $700 or $800 in his possession, and it is probable that the robber obtained $350 or $450—a small recompense for his guilt as an assassin. It is not known who committed the crime, but he will yet be prought to justice, as "marder will out."

The funeral of the granddaughter took place at 10 o'clock to-day, and was a tended by a vast concourse of citizens of the neighborhood, among whom the most intense excitement pre-vails in consequence of the brutal murler that has just been perpetrated in their midst.

Miss Caroline E. Squibb, a daughter of the murdered man, recently resided with Mrs.

Streeter, No. 381 F street, Washington city, and despatches have been sent to notify her of the murder, but the operator reports that she has removed and cannot be found. In order that her whereabouts may be discovered, our Washington exchanges are respectfully requested to publish this notice.—Harrisburg Telegraph, 19th.

GUERILLAS IN KENTUCKY.

They Rescue Captain Moy and Two Other Outlaws-United States Troops in Pursuit.

The city was startled from its propriety yesterday on the reception of the news that the re-doubtable Harper and his gang had resumed operations on a bold scale in Kentucky. The tacts, as we gleaned them from offic al sources, are these:—On the afternoon of Friday, a de-tachment of Federal troops left Franklin, Kentucky, for Bowling Green, for the purpose of conveying to the latter place Captain Moy and two other guerilias. While on the way, or im-mediately after reaching Bowling Green, they were attacked by the guerilla leader Hurper and forty men who experience. and forty men, who succeeded in summarily rescuign three guerilla prisoners. This much is rescain three guerilla prisoners. This much is certain. It is also stated that the outlaws sacked part of the town of Bowling Green, broke open the jail, and let loose all the prisoners except a neero awaiting execution for the murder of Douovan some months back. The following the property of the prop was received yesterday. It was sent by a prominent of Pranklin:

by a prominent of the pranklin:

"And The pranklin:

"The p men. Two murderers are under arrest here. An attack on the goard is expected to-night. If possible, send a detachment of infantry by evening train to day,"

Immediately on the receipt of this, General Fisk despaiched a detachment of the 16th Regulars to Franklin, while others were sent from other quarters in pursuit of the outlaws.-Nashvi le Despatch, Saturday.

Visitors to Gettysburg Battle-Ground.

From the Getty-burg Star, June 14.

The battle-field of Getty-burg continues to be visited by parties from all parts of the country. The following arrivals we copy from the Eagle Hotel register of Tuesday:— Major-General Hancock and wife; Hon. William

B. F. Hancock, father of the General; William R. Hancock; Master Frank Hancock; Hon. John P. Kennedy and wife; General Steinard; Miss Bachus; Colonel William P. Wilson; Captain John B. Johnson; Colonel Anderson; General Mitchell and four children; Major Lyster and Mitchell and four children; William two servants; Colonel Batchelder; William Walker; Colonel Fes-enden; A. J. Rankin; Cap tain Gish; T. F. Rothermei, artist; Samuel Middleton; T. J. Brown; James Grub r and wite; Thomas Shipley; L. E. Elston; John Mickley; J. B. Paxton; William R. Mall; W. H. Brunner; R. A. Beich; Theodore Heilig; and M. H.

Those among the above who have come to that way. Colonel Batchelder is here in company with other military men, to gather facts and material for his history of the battle, which he has now in course of preparation. Mr. Rothermel, the artist, to whom has been awarded the contract for the historical painting of the battle-field, is here for that purpose, prospecting, locating positions, and taking views. On Tuesday evening the distinguished parties were serenaded by the Gettysburg Band, at their neadquarters at the 'Eagle." General Hancock, Hon. John P. Kennedy, General Steinard, Colonel Batchelder, and William B. F. Hancock, Sr., appeared on the verandah and acknowledged the compument in short speeches appropriate to the o casion. They retired amid deafening cheers. The party left again ou Wed

Fashionable Wedding at Syracuse. Syracuse, June 19 .- The great Moguls of fashion in this city, and the lowlier Mussulmans of the country hereabout, find an ever-recurring source of conversation in a grand marriage celebrated last Thursday evening, between Mr. James Manning, Jr., of this place, and Miss Jennic Bailey. The ceremonies were performed at Hazlewood, the delightful residence of Charles Bailey, Esq., the bride's father. The list of in-vitations included nearly all the oldest and most esteemed residents of Syracuse and vicinity. The mansion of Mr. Balley, magnificent always, was decorated palatially, and so plentifully be-decked with flowers that the source of their production became a matter of speculation.

The bride was lovely, the groom happy, and everybody else enchanted. Bands of music, stationed within and without the house, playe almost incessantly, while the gay and lewelled throng flitted and glittered through the "Ger-man," led off by Mr. C. of Oswego. Mr. Richaroson, Mayor of Oswego, and one of the groomsmen, danced in the same set. Day-dawn found many of the guests arriving home; but very many day-dawns must come and go ere the bewildering impression of that dazzling and pleasant occasion will be erased from the memory or cease to be the theme of those who were guests or witnesses.—N. Y. World.

Wade Keyes Pardoned.—The President has granted a pardon to Wade Keyes, of Montgomery, Alabams, who was a member of the Rebel Cabinet, having been Attorney-General of the short-hved Confederacy. His pardon was requested and recommended by Attorney-General Speed and Admiral Lee, of the United States

-Lucretia Mott thinks the marriage contract should partake more of the nature of a "reciprocity treaty" than it does at present, AMBSEMENTS.

WALRUT STREET THEATHE.—We have arrived at Mr. Booth's last night. No actor has for many years played so long and so triumphant an engagement. The interest in Mr. Booth's performances has never flagged; night after night not only were the houses filled, but night after night the same people were to be seen; so that the attraction has in Mr. Booth, and not in the play. This evening Mr. Booth will appear as "Ruy Blas," a part in which ail the great especial advantages nature has bestowed on him for the stage are displayed, as well as the genius with which he is endowed.

NEW CRESNUT STREET THEATRE,—Mr. Tilton's testimonimi benefit offers a rare array of attraction. Mr. Frank Drew in his striking imitations of well-known artists; Mr. Tilton, Miss Price, Mr. Wallis, and Mrs. Henri in Faint Heart; Mr. Marlowe as "Lord Dundreary" in he dramatic caprice of His "Lord Dundreary" in he dramatic caprice of His "Lordchip, written for him by M'me de Marguerites; Frank Mordaunt reads "Sheridan's Bide" with the magnetic power which rides off with the imagination; and last, lot least, Miss Tilton the young debutante, will appear in Delicate Ground, supported by Mr. Rankin Mr. Tilton soes to New Orleans as stage manager of the St. Charles Theatre.

NEW AMERICAN THEATRE - Valsha, the Slave Queen, has found a fine representative in M'me Poulsi. She looks well, dresses magnificently, and acts with power and offect. Mr. Raiton is a very handsome young man, with a five voice, if he would not strain it, which, however, he does, being of the Studiey-Howery school. The niece, as originally produced in this city under Burton's management, was a great show piece. The American has not be-stowed much magnificence apon it. Mad'ile Galetti is as charming and graceful as ever. Valaha and Kameraida are played every night.

COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT .- Mr. John E. McDo-ROUGH, an old Philacelchian, and ever popular with our theatre-goers, is ab ut to start for Europe upon a professional four. His friends have prepared a testimonial of a comp men'ary character, previous to his departure. It will come off ou Saturous evening next, at the Arch Street Theatre. The bill is an admirable one and around draw a crowded house admirable one and should draw a crowded house. Mr. McDonough has been a hard student, and has risen by persevering effort to a high position in his protession, and we have no doubt will add to the reputation of Amer can actors in Europe.

MR J. H. TAYLOR of the Walnut, will take a benefit at the Walnut Street Theatre on Thursday. He will present a comedy entitled She Would and She Would Not. This is the piece that, having rechristened it, and called it The Magic Marriage, Mr. Gayler produced as original at Wallack's Theatre, carriers are small the street of atre, causing a war among the critics, who telt th piece was not his, but couldn't place it in its right place. The play is very entertaining. Mr Tavlor is an actor of the first merit—classical, yet full of animation and vivacity—a true artist.

The New Star.

gencer:-"United States Naval Observatory and Hydrographical Office, Washington, June 14. — "Sir:—On the night of the 12th of May a star, not herctolore visible to the naked eye, was ob-served in the constellation of Corona Borealis, and was then estimated to be of the second magnitude. Several practical observers at Washing ton, Cambridge, and elsewhere agree in this estimate of its brightness. At Washington it was seen on the night above mentioned by Mr. Farquhar, of the Patent Office, who on the 14th communicated the discovery to me. Since then it has on every clear night been carefully compared at the Observatory with neighboring stars of well-determined magnitude. The star proves to be 2765 of the 26 degrees of Argelander's Durchmusterung, in which it is set down as of the 9'5 magnitude, and does not appear to have been ever before noticed as a variable. Its mean place for 1870 has been determined here as 16h 68m. 4 14s. 26d. 17m. 21 6s. "The comparisons for variability have been made at 9 P. M. or gach day, and the stars selected to compare with are taken from the Durchmusterung, and are in close proximity to the variable. The following table shows the magnitude as estimated here, and the comparison stars used at each observation:-

Corona Borealis. May 14.....4 21, 67 8 8 2768 26 9 0 2763 26 12.....92 2764 26 13.....90 2761 26

"We learn from the last number of the Comples bendus that the same star was ob-served at Rochetort on the night of the 13th of May, and on the following nights, with the same appearances. It also appears from the last number of the Astronomische Nachrichten that it was observed in Ireland on the 12th of May, when it appeared as a star of the second magnitude, and in England on the night of the loth of May, when it appeared as a star of the third magnitude. A meridian observation of the star was made at the Observatory of Greenwich on the 17th of May.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant, "C. H. Davis,
"Rear-Admiral, Superintendent, 'Hon. Gideon Welles, Secretary of the Navy, Washington." DIFCOVERY OF A NEW STAR BY A YOUNG ASTRO-NOMER.—About the last week of May a lad by the name of Augustus Tait, a son of Dr. Tatt, of this city, thirteen years of age, discovered a hitherto unknown stat, in the Constellation of the Crown. At first it was invisible to the naked eve, but rapidly grew brighter, till it could be seen without the aid of a glass. A day or two after young Taft's discovery, Professor Gould, of the Cambridge Observatory, disco vered the same star. It proves to be one of the third magnitude.—Hartford Times, June 16.

Belle Foyd as an Acraess.—A few weeks since we stated, on the authority of gentlemen who had returned from England, that this lady had sued for a divorce from her husband, Mr. Harding, and that she intended to support herself by gon g on the stage. She was then prenaring for it, with a fair prospect of success, Advices received by the steamer Scotia, state that she n ade her debut at Manchester in the character of "Pauline," in the Lady of Lyons, and failed; but we have not learned the particular lars. The gentleman from whom we received our information is intimately acquainted with Mrs. Harcing (Helle Boyd); he stated that in conversation with her, she said that she preferred "Lady Macbeth" to "Pauline," and that she would like to see her husband five minutes because the first the purpose of fore she went on the stage, for the purpose of dressing him down, and giving her blood a healthy circulation. Her loathing detestation of him she said would fire her soul and keep it in a blaze through the performance. And yet, she once leved him, and her love ruined him.—
