Is There any Real Democracy in the Democratic Party?

It would puzzle any man to point out the rea democracy of the party which, in our country, so belies and prostitutes that name. It certainly, is not devoted to the great fundamental principles of democracy as laid down by JEFFERSON in the Declaration of Independence. You can scarcely gravel a sham Democrat of the present day worse than by quoting to him those imme a tal words, "We hold these truths to be selfevident, that all men are created equal," etc. His democracy is built upon a very different foundation from that. Said a once prominent Democratic office-holder, in speaking of this statement of JEFFERSON'S, "It is a self-evident lie." The principles of the so-called Democratic arty are really the principles of aristocracy. It does not believe in the capacity of men for self-government, or their equal right of participation in it. Take the Democratic party of this State, for instance, and it lives, moves, and has its being, simply and solely, in a warfare upon the rights and privileges of our citizens of African descent. This is its great "principle." Upon this it stakes its existence. It is the only issue it recognizes from one year's end to another, and in every contest, from the election of Governor down to that of pathmaster or constable. And this is "democracy!"

How can any real Democrat, any man who truly believes in the capacity of the people for self-government, ally himself with such an organization? Waat dignity or nobleness is there in a contest where you must appeal constantly to all the baser prejudices and passions of the human heart? What elevation of soul can possess any man while he is waging a continual warfare against the poor and down-trodden for the purpose of keeping them down? Is there any gemocracy about that? We should think that our Democratic leaders would loathe the work in which they are engaged, it is so repugnant to all those nobler, and higher sentiments which delight the soul.

It is the glory of the Republican party that the worst accusation its enemies can bring against it is, that, if it had the power, it would establish the principle of universal political equality, which is true democracy, throughout the land. What is this but the confession of its liberal and humane character? You may say that its confidence in human nature is too great. That is what aristocracy always says, Its language is, "We who have power are capable of safely and wisely using it; all below us are incapable of doing so." But true democracy says, the people, irrespective of wealth. rank, or acquirements, are the rightful and only safe depositories of the power which is to be exercised over them. The Republican party is based upon this principle of confidence in the people. It abominates all privileged classesall caste-all discrimination of rights. Equality -simple, pure, impartial, and universal-before the law, is its great principle of government. Give every man an equal chance in the race of life. Let each make the most of the faculties given him by his Creator. These are our doctrines; and can any man who believes in a republican form of government refuse to give them his hearty and unhesitating consent?

Death of Senator Lane-Incidents Connected Therewith.

SENATOR LANE, of Kansas, after lingering for several days since the fatal shot from his own hand, expired yesterday in Leavenworth. The circumstances attending his suicide are more ully narrated in the local papers than we have seen elsewhere. Senstor Lane had been home on a short visit to Lawrence, and was taken seriously ill at St. Louis on his return. His symptoms indicated a diseased condition of the brain, threatening him with paralysis, and, by the advice of physicians, he gave up the intention of returning to the Senate during the present session, and started on his way home again. Arrived at Leavenworth, he stopped with a brother-in-law by the name of McCall, who resides on the Government farm at Fort Leavenworth. While here he manifested signs of aberration of mind, which caused his triends some uneasiness. Among other things exhibiting the direction of his thoughts, he inquired of his physician what was the easiest method of putting an end to one's existence. Upon the day of the fatal occurrence he weat out to ride with his brother-in-law, and, when upon the point of getting into the carriage, returned to his room for a moment, and then reappeared. It is supposed that he got his pistol during his absence. While riding he conversed pleasantly upon the beauty of the scenery and other topics. He got out of the carriage several times, however, upon trivolous excuses, and it is supposed intended to commit the tatal act at each time, but probably was restrained by the power of reason not yet fully overcome. At last they came to the gate open ing out upon the highway from the farm. While Mr. McCall went to open the gate, Senator LANE got out of the carriage, stepped back a few steps, exclaimed, "Good by, Mac!" and, drawing his pistol, instantly shot himself in the mouth, the ball passing upward through the brain and coming out nearly in the centre of the top of the head. He sprang into the air and fell heavily to the ground. He was immediately removed to the house, and medical assistance called. He was unconscious, and the story that he was dead was telegraphed to the press of the country. He revived, however, the next day, and continued to improve until he became able to converse, to take nourishment, and move his limbs, which, upon one side, had at first appeared to be paralyzed. So favorable were his symptoms that his recovery was deemed quite possible, if not probable. After some four or five days, however, he began to fail, and finally died vesterday, at five minutes before twelve o'clock. His remains will, to day be taken to Lawrence, where his family resides, for interment. He leaves a widow and several children.

A Bad Record.

THE Western papers are showing up the record of Rev. JESSE B. FERGUSON, Secretary of the "National Union Club," under whose auspices the Convention is to be held in this city next month.

The Cleveland Leader says:-

'The Reverend Jussu's antecedents are some what interesting, and an indu-trious newspaper man has taken the trouble to uncarth them. From the record which he exhibits, we learn that in 1861 the ingenuous Ferguson was a warm Rebel. In May of that year he stumped Kentucky for the Confederacy. He declared that the rights of a free and generous people had been invaded, and that the South must stand up and defend herself. Here is a pearl from one of his speeches:-

"'Write it on the front of my brow, and let it form a sacred cross over my heart: I am a Rebei to the Government at Washington, and would thank Heaven for the hour that would sweep it and its occupants into the sea; for use peace, the hope, the existence of our people requirent.'

"And here is another:-

" 'The usurpation of ABRAHAM LINCOLN, in "The usurpation of ABRAHAM LINCOLN, in every devernment upon earth, were our Constitution its organ claw, "OULD BRING HIS HEAD TO THE BLOCK, AND IT WILL DO IT HEER, if our people but remember the cost of line and treasure whereby they were born to be free."

We think creatures with such a record as this are hardly qualified to teach loyal men their duties at the present crisis.

The Senate Passes the Senatorial Election Bill.

SENATOR CLARE'S bill regulating the time, place, and manner of holding Senatorial elections, passed the Senate yesterday. We have already given the provisions of this bill. An unsuccessful attempt was made to strike out that portion of it providing that the voting shall be "openly by a viva voce vote." We consider this one of the best provisions of the bill. No man who votes in a representative capacity has a right to cast a secret vote. His constituents have always a right to know how he tulfils the trust they have reposed in his hands. On the contrary, a popular vote-by the people in their original and sovereign capacity-ought always to be by ballot, so that the elector shall enjoy his freedom of choice to the fullest extent.

It is a little singular that DooLITTLE, COWAN, DAVIS, SAULSBURY, and the other conservatives generally, voted against this bill.

News by the "Persia."

THE Persia passed Sandy Hook to-day with news up to the 30th ult. Later details of the battle between the Pruscians and Austrians. near Nachod, on the 27th and 28th ult., make out a great victory for the Prussians. They claim that the Austrian losses on the field were between 3000 and 4060, besides 8000 prisoners, The Austrians, it is proper to say, however, put a different face on the matter.

The Hanoverian arm; has at last surreadered at discretion to the Prussians.

The laying of the Atlantic cable was to commence on the 10th inst. A purely Tory Cabinet will be formed in men of most undoubted loyalty, is published, No one of those who append their names are open to even a suspicion of treasonable sympathy. The Tribune this morning mentioned it as follows:-

"The call for a convention of the loval Unionists of the South, at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, must command general attention There is manifestly a secret conspiracy at the South to exclude consistent Unionists from office, and persecute them to the utmost. They are scattered, overawed, and must organize for mutual protection, and to claim the protection of the nation. This call is a sign of promise. We trust it will be fully responded to."

Passage of the Constitutional Amendment by the Tennessee Senate.

THE Senate of Tennessee has ratified the Constitutional amendment. The House would do so promptly, only that the conservatives and Rebels have resorted to the revolutionary proceeding of refusing to attend, so that the body is without a quorum. The recusant members will probably be arrested or expelled.

Cabinet Resignation.

POSTMASTER DENNISON has resigned. It is thought that all the other members of the Cabinet, except perhaps SEWARD and WELLES. will do so also. Growing disagreement with the President on the great issues of the hour is said to be the cause of this threatened break-up. Perhaps it is as well. The crisis is too momentous to admit any longer of doubtful positions.

Election of Senators in Nebraska.

THE Nebraska Legislature elected Major-General JOHN M. THAYER and F. W. TIPTON to the United States Senate yesterday. Both are Republicans.

THE CAUCUS ACTION .- The New York Tribune this morning gives in a special despatch what purports to be the proceedings of the caucus of Union Congressmen held last night. Mr. GARFIELD announced the resignation of Postmuster-General DEVISON, and predicted a similar course on the part of three other members within four days:-

"The most exciting event of the caucus was debate on the Philadelphia Convention, which called Mr. RAYMOND to his teet. In answer to the inquiries as to the object of the New York Times in indorsing the Convention, Mr. Ray-MOND said that when he indorsed the call it was with the distinct understanding that none but Union men were to participate in the Conven tion. He had since been persuaded into differ ent conclusions, and was ready to admit that he had done wrong. However, he would re-tract his words, and henceforth there would be no more indorsements of the Philadelphia Con vention by himself or the Times.

"A resolution was offered that no Union member of Congress would countenance the Philadelphia Convention. The yeas and navs were demanded and recorded, and the result was the unanimous passage of the resolution.

RENOMINATION OF HON. SCHUYLER COLPAY,-Speaker Colfax has been unanimously renominated tor Congress from the South Bend (Ind.) District. A very able and radical letter from Mr. Colfax was read before the Convention. He says the issues of the coming campaign can be reduced to the one question, Which shall govern in the councils of the nation, loyalty or disloyalty?

THE DEMOCRATIC ADDRESS mourns over the "seven long months" during which the late Rebel States have not been allowed representation in Congress. It don't say anything about the four long years during which these States voluntarily refused to take part in the Government of the States, and did their utmost to overthrow it by war.

PASSAGE OF THE NATIONAL TELEGRAPH BILL. -The House of Representatives has passed the Senate bill authorizing the construction of telegraph lines on all mail routes. It now goes to the President, who will undoubtedly sign it.

Death of John Mason Grier.

YESTERDAY afternoon, after a short illness, John MASON GRIER, one of the editors of THE EVENING TELEGRAPH, died at his residence in the city. It is not in the cold words of a set eulogium that we can express our feelings at the loss of one whose good qualities of head and heart we have learned to recognize by daily contact. Meeting him constantly, we are well qualified to speak of his character, and bear testimony to his unchangeable geniality, enduring friendship, and literary ability.

Mr. GRIER was born near Chester, Pa., in 1832. His father was the Rev. Dr. GRIER, and his brother is the Rev. Mr. GRIER, editor of the Presbyterian. He attended a partial course at Latayette College. He commenced the study of law in the office of THEODORE CUYLER, Esq., was admitted to the Bar in 1854, and a few years later was admitted to practise in the United States Supreme Court. From his earliest years, however, he had a tondness for journalism. While yet a boy he contributed to various journals of our city. When having concluded his law labors he became connected with the old Register, then under the management of the late General JAMES B. BIRNEY. At the time of Mr. GRIEB's first entrance upon the Register, that paper was sounding the first toesin in favor of freedom. With resistless energy it was attacking the doctrine, of the pro-slavery party, and the young journalist then imbibed ideas in politics to which he has ever since stood steadfast. He threw all his talents into the scales, and by the vigor of his style, and the happy facility with which he changed from grave to gay, he soon achieved a reputation. But all the ability of its staff could not sustain the Register. It was ten years ahead of its time. Had it been published in 1865 in stead of 1855, it would have been the foremost paper of the day. But justice, unaided by capital, could not continue to oppose tyranny, and the Register was discontinued.

Upon its death, Mr. GRIRR became connected with the Public Ledger; but desirous of improving his prospects, he moved to the West. Having purchased a farm near Palmyra, Mo., he settled in that then young region, and commenced the publication of a paper. Adopting at once firm views in favor of freedom, and opposing all efforts to force slavery upon the Territories, it is no wonder that he became an object of both fear and hatred to the semi-Rebel population in which he lived.

Upon the breaking out of the war his home was burned, his fields laid waste, and he subjected to the persecution which was meted out to Union men. It was by such hardships that his good health was impaired, and he returned to our city in 1864. He became at once attached to the editorial staff of The Evening Telegraph, which position he retained until the day of his death.

Mr. Grier was a member of the Masonic fra. ternity, and connected with the Palmyra Lodge of Missouri. He was a regular attendant on the Presbyterian church, to which denomination he belonged, and was attached to the church of the Rev. Dr. BRADLE. Just previous to his death he informed a friend that during fifteen years he had not omitted to attend divine service, on the Sabbath, more than three or four times. He was one of the carliest members of the Press Club, serving for some months as a member of the Board of Directors. Two weeks since, while too unwell to attend, he was elected Corresponding Secretary, in spite of his positive

He was a man who went through the world none, and living in peace with all, combining with rare intellectual powers a goodness of heart and a purity of disposition, his character was one too seldom met with, and one which to meet with is to love. During a long friendship with our deceased brother, we have never heard him utter one word in disparagement of another, or cast a slur on any man.

Eager always to detect the good, and passing by lightly all the dark spots of life, he brought a genial glow wherever he went, and he was a a welcome guest at every circle. As an editor he was conscientious, careful, and able; writing with equal facility the heaviest leader or the lighter description. Entertaining firm convictions, he never allowed his prejudices to interiere with his duties, and was as near as we can imagine a model journalist. Ever courteous, ever smiling, ever willing to do his whole duty. firm in his friendship, without guile, and of most decided talents, we know of none whose loss we would mourn more sincerely, or whose death leaves a vacuum in our newspaper circles more difficult to fill.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.
