[COMMUNICATION.]

To the Editor of The Evening Telegraph :-

PHILADELPHIA, July 12 - Dear Sir: - Please "FRILADELTRIA, July 12 — Dear Sir: — Please allow me space in your columns to say a few things in regard to the "Singular Case" which appeared in your local columns of to-day. I only wish to ray that, in due time, I shall expose to the public one of the most infamous cases of "black mail" which ever startled any ject of charity, is were many other indigent temales, during last winter, in connection with the oharitable institution with which I am connected. After the severity of the winter passo charitable institution with which I am connected. After the severity of the winter passed away her frequent appears for nid were denied, as ours was an institution for the benefit of poor children. Not long after this notes were addressed to me demand-ing moneys, and threasening injury to my charac-ter if the demand was not met. It has but re-cently appeared now this injury was to be in-flicted. To numerous threasening notes I have paid no attention. No two of the notes were in the same handwriting, but all from the same source, and all demancing money-first beginning with two and all demancing money-first beginning with two hundred collars, and reaching up as high, hualy, as two thousand dollars! All these were accompanied two thousand do lars! All these were accompanied with threats of injury to my character.

with threats of injury to my character. Recently, a note was received stating that if I would pay $1000 it would "save me." Paying no attention to this, the next proceeding against me was that detailed in your columns of yesterday. The whole t assaction is most infamous, and I only ask of the pub ic the exercise of that charity which is due from man to man, until I make these things appear before the proper tribunal, before which I have chosen to appear rather than succumb to a villanous effort to extort money. Evidence is to a villanous effort to extort money. Evidence is abundant, and attainable, which will enable me to establish my innocence of the base charges made by the perjured victim of a conspiracy most infamous. In order that the Home for Little Wanderers may not suffer under these circumstances, I have ten-dered to the worthy Board my resignation of the office of Superintender; and my resignation of the coffee of Superintenden; and must gratefully ac-knowledge the sympathy shown me. I beg of the chartable public to raily to the continued suppor-of the institution, whose interests lie near my heart, and which its friends will not allow to suffer Respectfully, e.c., W. D SIEGFRIED.

CITY INTELLIGENCE [For Additional Local Items see Third Page.]

COMMENCEMENT OF THE BOYS' CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL .- The Semi-annual Commencement of the Boys' Central High School took place this morning at the Musical Fund Hall, which was crowded to its tull capacity by an intelligent and fashionable audience, among which the fairer sex. as usual, held the greater sway. For a wonder, on a Commencement occasion, the morning was cool and pleasant, and the large audience were thus privileged to enjoy to the fallest extent the intellectual treat of the day.

The Central High School, although not ranking by name among the colleges of this country, is essentially an institution of a collegiate character, and has justly attained a high reputati n, not only throughout this city, but the State and country. Being local in its organization, and all its students necessarily residents of the city, the people of Philadelphia are more interested in its success that in that of any other educational institution in our midst. For this reason the semi-annual Commencements are always looked forward to with a great deal of pride and anxiety on the part of its friends and patrons.

The Commencement helo this morning was by no moans unequal in point of interest or success to preceding ones. The young centlemen who favored the audience with their views on the general topics of the day were, it is true, somewhat given to the sophomorical style of eloquence; but this is a characteristic of the youthtul student's mind, which, after contact with the sharp corners and rough edges of the world soon wears off Tazen altogether, they were fully equal to the general run of orations on college occasions, and the style of the compositions and manner of delivery showed careful and anxious preparation on the part of the orators, and a conscientions criticism on the part of their instructors.

The first thing in the order of exercises was a performance of the mesitable brass band. A college commencement without martial music would, indeed, be a strange anomaly. But at it was the re-nowned Germania Orchestra that officiated on this occasion, it was a matter of no regret to the automoe. After prayer, by the Rev Wilham I. Eva, the in-troductory Address was delivered by Chfford P.

Mr. Herzness was therefore to be considered the most conuent member of his class. He certainly exhibited more maturity and cultivation than most of the orasors of the day. Addressing himself first of all to the Board of Con-of the orasors of the day. Addressing himself first of all to the Board of Con-trol, he turned next to the Faculty, and then to the graduating class, reviewing the connection they had enjoyed so long with each other, and building all good-by. The occasion was indeed an impressive one, and Mr. Herkneis dud it full justice. He had scarcely reined to his seat, amid a shower of bouquets and brief rounds of applanes, when some one in the audience called on Professor Maquire for a speech. As ne continued shouting "Maquire," the sudience was thrown into a turnult, mistaking the words for those of "Fire! Hre!" Ladles mace an mistant rank for the door, and gentlemen, more anxious to know the direction in which the danger isy, quickly mounted the seats look-ing cagerity here and there to catch a glumbse of the dread devouring element. In the meantume, the band had icommended upon their farewell effusion, and for a moment everything looked as though a "scene" was about to be enacted. But fortu-nately the mistake was soon discovered The sudence, however, having made a fair start for the door, still struggled on, deaf ior the the attractive uproar of the Germanna. for the door, still struggled on, deaf for the time to the attractive uproar of the Germania. The hall was cleared in quick time no one thinking of, much less stopping to listen to, the customary benediction benediction.

GREAT RIOT AMONG FIREMEN-SEVERAL PERSONS SHOT AN EXCITING SCENE. — During the past week or ten days there appears to have been a disposition on the patt of the runners and members of some of the fire companies to create an outbreak, and during that time quite a number of serious re-suits have flowed from this course of conduct.

Another disturbance took place last evening soon after the fire in North Second street. It appears that the Shifler, Niagara, Franklin, and Weccace Fire Companies were returning from and Weccacoe Fire Companies were returning from the fire, when a fight took place at Second and Monroe streets between some usen who were siand-ing on the corner of these streets, during which bricks were thrown by some of the members and adherents of the Niagara Hose. There were no equipped people belonging to the Shifler or Weccacoe in the fight, the only equipped members being those of the Niagara and Frankin. During the melee, members of the Niagara Hose

The scene at one time was qui e alarming, and brought forcibly to the mind the scenes which were presented during the Movamensing riots, when our city became the by-word and reproach of our own as well as residents of other places. Chief Lyle has taken the matter in and will so that the antity parties are brought hand, and will see that the guilty parties are brought to justice and a just punishment meted out to them. The Presidents of the companies reported to have been implicated in the disturbance, were summoned before Chief Lyle this morning, when an investiga-tion took place, resulting in the exhoneration of all the comparies named, except the Niagara Hose, who rejused to be represented.

RUNAWAY AND ACCIDENT.—About elght o'c ock last evening Michael Marinnis, living at Third and Queen streets, while driving along Fede-ra: street, near Tenta, in company with a friend named Beatty, met with a serious accident, his firend also sharing a similar fate. It appears that a bolt which holds the carriage-tongue came out, striking one of the horses which Mr. Maginnis was driving. The animal imme-diately started off at a rapid rate, and ran as far as Night and Federal streets, where be came in contact with a tree-box, striking one of his legs so violently Night and Federal streets, where he came in contact with a tree-box, siriking one of his legs so violently that it was broken by the blow. The carriage was da-hed to pieces, and the two gentlemen named were thrown out and had their ankles iractured. They were subsequently removed to their residences, where the fractured limbs were reset. The horse was valued at a thousand dollars, and was highly prived by the owners. prized by the owners.

As is customary, it was composed in Latin. Net-withstanding that it was thus unintelligible to the mass of the audience, they paid the utmost atten-tion, and greeted the speaker hearthy when he re-tired, as well as when he appeared. The third honor, the Distorical Address, was delivered by Mr. Curtis N. Harris, who gave a short and tense sketch of the foundation and history of liberiy in our own country, closing with an apt poetical quotation. Mr. Harris' effort was very satisfactory to the audience, as was indica'ed by the continued che ers which followed him to his seat. The Scientific Address, ranking fourth in the order

The Scientific Address, ranking fourth in the order of honors, was next in order, being delivered by Mr John W. Millick. march of science was forcibly noticed, and gained for the speaker the approbation of his hearers. The first oration, which had no special designation of honor, was then delivered by Mr. John B. Colla-han Jr., his subject being "Oratory." After no-tions the importance and effect of this noble gift, Mr. Collahan proceeded to sketch the history of oratory, and the most notable possessors of it in ancrent and modern times. Although the Faculty of the High School had not designated Mr. Collahan as one of the "honor men," his oration was not unequal to those which had preceded him. The andience was then treated to an oration in German by Mr. Samuel N. Levi, his subject being "Education." Although but few could appreciate his words and sentiments, every one was pleased with his thorough earnesiness, and rewarded him accordingly.

CHOLEBA IN PHILADELPHIA.

Another Victim of the Disease.

It was reported this morning that a genuine case of cholera took place in this city this morning. The person who was the subject of this dreadful disease was named John Cox, who resided at Seventeenta. and Sansom streets. The victim of this disease came from New York yesterday afternoon, where he had been spending a few days, and atter refreshing himself, went to Broad street to witness the fireworks. He returned home, and after returing to bed was seized with spasms, swelling up and becoming much distorted in all his features. Death put an end to his intense suff-rings about 12 o'clock at night, when his remains turned black, giving evidence of the genuineness of the disease. A number of physicians visited the house this morning for the purpose of viewing the corpse. Much excitement prevailed in the neighborhood in consequence of the terrible manner in which the deceased came to his and.
