BATTLE IN PARAGUAY.

Another Desperate Engagement Between General Mitre and the Dictator Lopez -Heavy Lesses on Both Sides-Four Thousand Paraguayaus Said to Have Fallen-The Allied Loss Smaller but Still Serious-Complete Defeat of the Paraguayans - Rejoicings in Buenos Ayres, Etc.

BURNOS AYRES, May 29 .- Yesterday morning, at 3 o'clock, the Atlado, a despatch steamer, ar rived in port, bringing from the seat of war only one letter, and that was from Senor Don Mariano Cabal, a contractor for the army written

It appears that the efforts of General Mitre to bring on a general engagement, in order to gain better ground for encampment, resulted in a bardly contested oattle on May 24. The field of battle was between Estero (marshy creek) Bellaco and Estero Blanco, and tasted from balf-past eleven A. M. til. 5 P. M. Of the allies the Brazilians were chiefly occupied, and the vigor and bravery of both sides are without a parallel in South American warfare.

The allies had within call thirty thousand men, but how many were engaged does not yet appear. Of Paraguayans there were said to be twenty thousand, and Mr. Cabal wites six thousand Paraguayans were left dead on

The Paraguayans, taking advantage of the creeks and marshes, had very strong positions, and they fought with desperation. Their cavalry dashed up in the faces of the allied artillery, and sabred the men at their guns. A letter from the allies says:—"Our loss was by no means insignificant." There are reported taken by the allies six cannon, several banners, and many prisoners.

At this writing I cannot vouch for the accuracy of the details. But it seems certain that there was a general engagement on the 24in; that it was also a destructive battle, most likely both sides. The attack was made by the allies. The news is so trustworthy that the whole city had an uproar of excitement. Rockets, cannon, and flags demonstrate the general rejoicing that one step more has been taken in this slow and costly war.

RIO JANEIRO, June 7.—A few hours after the departure of the United States mail the English packet from the river Plate arrived here, with dates from Montevideo to the 30th ultimo. From this source information was received of a battle won by the allies, involving the loss of several thousand Paraguayans placed hors de combat. The battle took place on the 24th ult., and the brunt of it again fell on the Brazilians, under General Osorio.

THE BATTLE.

On the 20th the General-in-Chief moved his whole army to the borders of Estero Bellaco, where the Paraguayans had fortified themselves. A cavalry charge, and a few Brazinians and Oriental battations ordered to attack, were sufficient to dislodge the enemy from this point. The allies, having crossed the Paso of the Estero Bellaco, made some reconnoi sances on the 21st and 22d, and prepared everything for an attack.

General Mitre had ordered the assault of the enemy's intrenched camp to take place on the 24th. Before, however, any movement was made on that day, at halt-past 11 in the morning the enemy, with his whole power, attacked the lines of the allies in three columns, consisting of over wenty thousand men, commanded by Barrios, Resquin, and another general, probably Diaz.

FIERCE ONSET OF THE PARAGUAYANS. The allies acknowledge that the enemy fell on them on the centre and flank with extraordinary bravery, bringing eight battalions of infantry and eight of cavalry in the centre, the same number on the left, and about one-half on the right flank. From the very beginning the battle along the whole line became general. Although the salined artillery poured a murderous fire into the advancing Paraguavan columns, still the latter attempted to broak the line at different points; and, is this attempt, such was their fury that the light became a hand-to-hand one in a tew minutes-their cavalry dashing up to the mouths of the cannon of the allies.

A Paraguayan column of three thousand men even had the audacity to get in the rear of the allies, but they were repulsed by a Brazilian division. The Orientals and Brazilians, occupying the centre and the left flank, suffered the most; the Argentines on the right, had a smaller number of the enemy to contend with, and embraced the opportunity of redeeming them selves from the opproblum case on them at the commencement of the struggle through the flight of four hundred of their cavalry before the Paraguayans, who charged them nearly to Itapiru, about three miles to the rear of the DEFEAT OF THE PARAGUAYANS.

After four hours' hard fighting the Paraguayans withdrew, beaten and routed, to their fortified camp.

LOSSES ON BOTH SIDES. The estimated losses on the side of the Paraguayans are set down in round numbers at four thousand killed and from two thousand to three thousand wounded and prisoners, while the Brazilians out down their loss at only three hundred killed and six hundred wounded. It is true, the Brazilians acknowledge that the riental battalions were much cut up. The allies lost a great many superior officers. Generals Osorio and Paunero were wounded, the former baving a horse killed under him. fleeing Paraguayans could not be pursued by reason of the bad ground, abounding in swamps, thickets, and lagoons.

RUMORS AND REPORTS.

It was expected that another battle would be fought on the following day, namely, the 25th; but it does not seem to have come off; for if it had another steamer would have probably arrived with the news by this time. Some bul-letins published at Buenos Ayres report the Paraguayans as retreating to Humaita; but this must be received with caution, as the Paraguayans have always been represented as retreating when they have not stirred an inch.

THE ALLIED FLEET. This arm of the allied service arrived in front of Curupaity on the 20th ultimo, but did not go higher, as the Magi, one of the steamers, got aground. Before this fort the Paraguayans had planted a stockade, behind which they placed a few flatboats armed with heavy artillery. It seems that, on the following day, the Magi was towed off, and that Visconde Tamandare had completed his reconnoissance of Curupaity and arrived at the conclusion that the obstructions presented by that fort will be easily removed and destroyed in a few hours.

ALARM IN CURUPAITY—SUPPOSED CASUALTIES. On the arrival of the fleet in front of Curupaity the slarm was given, and a canoe was seen to leave the shore and board a large schooner anchored in the channel. A few moments after, this vessel went down, as is supposed, by the bursting of a torpedo, for the reason that any other obstruction at that place would be useless, as there are fourteen feet of water in the channel. Two of the buoys that went adrift when the vessel sunk were picked up by the Brazilian iron clad Barroso, and found to be made of tin, and of immense size. Two long tubes were also seen from the vessels of the fleet. They had the appearance, from their position, of being connected with some other internal submarine invention

THE MINISTRY AND THE WAR PINANCES.

There is very little general news to report The strength of the ministry was tried in the Senate on the 5th instant, on the subject of a loan of $5,000,000, when the ministry won by a vote of afteen in a house of about forty mem bers. The loan is not a foreign one, but is confined to Brazil, and is to be or is taken at ninety, at six per cent. THE WEATHER.

Cool weather prevails, and the public health is all that could be wished.

LETTER FROM THE FIELD BY AN EYE-WITNESS. From the Buenos Ayres Nacion Argentina (extra)

The people of Buenos Ayres will rejoice at the news of the brillian; and occasive victory achieved by the allies near Estero Bellaco on May 24. The hordes of the enemy have been completely anni-hilated. We have received the following letter from our worthy friend Senor Don Mariano Cabal, to whom the honor is due of having first communicated the news of the victory of the allies through our columns to the people of Buenos Avres:-

FIELD OF VICTORY, May 24, 6 P M.—To-day we have triumphed over the despot of Paraguay. Our victory has been complete and decisive. Six thousand Paraguayans have been slain by our brave solsand Paraguavans have been slain by our brave sol-diers. We have taken a large number of prisoners, and captured four pieces of artifiery and a number of flags. The battle lasted from balf-past 11 o'c ock in the morning till 5 in the evening. The Brazilian army, with its worthy commander, took the principal part in the fight, in which our losses, to say the least, must have been considerable. General Sampayo and Commander Peychoto—both Brazilians—are wounded, as also some other officers of note, whose names at present some other officers of note, whose names at present I do not remember. Colonel Rivero, and Commanders Pozolo and Bassavibaso, of the Argentine army, are killed. The Paraguayans fought with the army, are killed. The Paraguayans fought with the greatest bravery, their cavarry charging our infantry, and advancing even to the cannon's mouth. Alas! what a pity that these brave men should have sacrificed their precious lives in such a oad cause! I can positively assert that the loss of Argentine officers does not exceed that which I have given above, for I was on the field while the battle raged, and visited the various corps. You will perceive, therefore, that my account must be correct and trustworthy. I congratulate you and all my friends in Buenos Ayres on the spiendid triumph of our arms, and pray you to accept the compliments of yours, obediently, Mariano Cabal.

CITY INTELLIGENCE [For Additional Local Items see Third Page.]

THE CHOLERA QUESTION-THE WHOLE TRUTH IN THE MATTER-WHAT CAME IFROM ABO-LISHING THE "GROG" RATION IN THE NAVY .-During the past few days the city has been some what disturbed by reports of the appearance of chloerafin our midst. We have taken the time and trouble to siit the matter thoroughly, and are prepared to state that there exists as yet no cause whatever for a panic in that particular direction. This morning we visited the Navy Yard, and learned, from a conversation with Captain J. P. McKinstry, commandant of the United States steamer Chatta. acoga, the facts in regard to the report of the appearance of the disease on board that vessel. They are simply as follows:-

Since the abolition of the grog ration in the navy, a commutation of five cents per day in lieu of it has been granted the seamen. A tew days ago, on receiving this commutation money, a number of the crew, thinking themselves bady treated in being deprived of their bitters, resolved to enjoy some of the luxuries of the season in spite of opposition.

They therefore invested their means in new potatoes, bringing on board the vessel a dozen barrels filled with immature specimens of that vegetable, about the dimensions of hickory nuts. These potatoes were a rare treat for men who had been kept on salt junk and hard tack for a long time past; and so, with the proverbial indiseretion of Jack Tars, some of them gratified their appetites to an enormous extent. The result was quick and sure. A number of the men were taken down with diarrhosa of the most violent character. In the course of a couple of days four of them died, and two more lingered at the point are considered entirely out of danger, although still very weak, their entire re-covery being much retarded by the extreme heat of

When the effect of this imprudent indulgence in unripe vegetables became known to the offithe ship, Captain McKinstry, by advice of the Sur-geon in charge not only refused to admit any more of them on board, but ordered what remained to b cast overboard. This interference with their enjoy-ment of summer luxuries aroused considerable indignation on the part of the crew, but they took good care to express it in an orderly and becoming anner, no disturbance whatever resulting.

The crew of the Chattanooga numbers about three hundred and sixty men, all told; and these, with the exceptions above noted, are all in the enjoyment of excellent health. Now that the substitute for the extinct grog ration has been denied them, the nubli eed indulge in no further alarm on their account,

With regard to the cases of cholera reported in the city proper, there is in all probability no more cause for alarm than in the above. During yester-day and the day before, four supposed cases were reported to the Board of Health, two of them haveng resulted [angle]. ng resulted failally.

These reports were made by the physicians who had been in attendance upon the patients, but from their descriptions of the symptoms exhibited by each case, the Sanitary Committee of the Board are quite well assured that they were nothing more than violent and tatal attacks of diarrhosa or cholera It is a noteworthy fact that the supposed cases thus far reported are situated on the outskirts of the city, in the northern and western sections, and in localities that are extremely fithy.

A committee of the Board of Health have visited the two cases which did not result tatally, and are expected to-day to report the facts in full as they ascertain them.

The lesson to the public which these several cases of disease convey, is a very simple one, but none the less imperative in its teachings. Let every one avoid mmature and unripe fruits and vegetables and the fate of the gallant but thoughtless tars of the Chat-tanooga will be spared them; and let everybody, moreover, keep clean in their persons and surroundings, and they will fare better in health than their dirty neighbors of the suburbs.

KREP CLEAN!—Filth is an abomination in in the eyes of God and man. And when it adheres to the persons of human beings it is even more abominable. In truth, we much prefer to associate with a cleanly beast, rather than with an unclean specimen of the genus homo.

In this sweltering weather especially, when we are periodically disturbed by vague rumors of cholera and other epidemics, whose chief and unfailing source is filth, its presence on any of our rellow-creatures is particularly obnoxious.

We advise all wise have thus rendered their com pany disagreeable to persons of careful habits, to take a bath without delay.

If they have not the proper facilities in or near their own residences, and are likewise indisposed or unable to fee any of the bathing establishments or unable to lee any of the bashing establishments which abound throughout the city, we can state, to their great joy and profit, that the free bathing rooms of the Central soup Society are opened to day for the season, and any one who is disposed to take a dip in this fiethesda, can of a surety become clean, if not whole

The baths are situated on Cherry street, at Nos. 709 and 711, and are open bereafter early, except Sundays, from 12 o'clock to 9½ P. M. for men, and from 12 ill 7 P. M for women. The bathers at this establishment should not lorget to carry with them a supply of towels and soap. If the soup Society furnish the water free, they are surely doing a preat deal, and no one has cause to complain of the want of other appliances. clean, if not whole

In a profession of such limited size as that of journaism, and one in which the lives of its members are so intimately blended, the removal of any one by death leaves a perceptible void. But when the deceased is the light and life of the social c'role, is one whose virtues are evident to all, and whose heart is open to every kindly impulse, who is ever with us, and whose thoughts we share, and whom we love, his loss is a lasting sorrow, and the absence of his genial face will ever be

Elliott forciby wrested Barker from the custody of the officer, and was enabled to make his escape out of the house, and, as was stated, to Canada.

was enabled to make his escape out of the house, and, as was stated, to Canada.

The defence denied that Elliott interfered at all with the efficer, that the prisoner got away without any intervention of his, and alleged that Elliott afterwards, when the prisoner had escaped, escorted the officers through the house, that they might see for themselves that the bird had flown. The jury convicted.

William Lynch was charged with receiving a horse knowing the same to have been stolen. The horse was the property of one Hargraves, and was alleged to have been stolen by James Whaley. It was known to have been in the possession of the defendant after it was stolen, and he admitted having sold the animal to a third party. On trial.

WASHINGTON, July 13.

Senate. The joint resolution giving the right of way through the Military Reservations to the Union Pacific Railroad was passed.

Mr. Guthrie (Ky.) reported from the Finance Committee a bitl indemnifying the States for war expenses.
Mr. Williams (Oregon) made a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Senate had defeated the bill to reannex Alexandria to the District of Columbia. Mr. Willey (W. Va.) introduced a bill providing for the restoration of the Southern States to the right of representation, which was ordered to be printed.

Mr. Wilson (Mass.) offered a resolution calling upon the President for information in his pos-session as to the murder of twenty-three Union soldiers at Kingston, N. C., by order of the Rebel Generals Polk and Picket, in June, 1864. Mr. Johnson (Md.) objected, and its consideration was deferred, under the rules.

House of Representatives: Mr. Mercur (Pa.), from the Committee on the District of Columbia, reported back the House bill to incorporate the National Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphan Home. Read the third time and passed. Mr. Kuykendall (Ill.) from the Post Office Committee, reported back the Senate bill di-recting the Postmaster-General to allow the accounts of A. T. Spencer and Gordon S. Hubbard for carrying the mails between Chicago and Mackinaw, etc., from 1854 to 1859. Read the third time and passed. The amendments of the Senate to four House

Pension bills were taken from the Speaker's table and concurred in. The amendments were Mr. Woodbridge (Vt.) introduced a bill for the relief of the St. Alban's Bank, of St. Alban's, Vermont. Read twice and referred to the Committee on Banking and Currency. It authorizes the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to suspend the collection of duties or taxes accrued or accruing from October 18, 1864, to July 1, 1866-On motion of Mr. Stevens (Pa.), the House resolved into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, Mr. Raymond (N. Y.) in the chair, and proceeded to the consideration of the bill making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government for 1867. Mr. Laffin (N. Y.) moved to strike out the paragraph appropriating $60,000 for publishing the first volume of the Medical and Surgical History of the Rebellion, under the direction of the Surgeon-General, and to substitute therefor a paragraph appropriating $20,000 for preparing such a history for publication. He argued that the work should be done at the Government printing office, or if not, that private publishers would publish it at their own they were only furnished with the materials.

At the suggestion of Mr. Wilson (Iowa), the original paragraph was modified by inserting or the words "at the after the word "publishing," the words "at the Government printing office." The subject gave rise to considerable discussion, participated in by Messrs. Laffin, Stevens, Bingham, and Kasson. The amendment was rejected.

Mr. Price (Iowa), moved to strike out the paragraph, and argued that the publication of the book would only be for the benefit of a few professional men as not one man in a hundred would understand anything about it. Mr. Stevens (Pa.) opposed the amendment, but said he would not undertake to answer the argument of the gentiemen from Iowa, for it was the most extraordinary speech that ever came from an enlightened man.

Mr. Conkling (N. Y.) spoke of the invaluable character of the work, and said that, unless Congress was to drop altogether the business of printing books; this was eminently a book that should be printed at the public expense. Mr. Banks (Mass.) spoke in favor of the appropriation, and said he had been informed that if the information embraced in the work had been known to the faculty before the war.

the additional saving of lives that it would have effected would have amounted to twenty per The amendment was rejected, there being but 10 ayes, which, Mr. Price remarked, was more than the number of just men that could be found in Sodom. (Laughter.) On motion of Mr. Humphrey of the Committee on Commerce. A paragraph was inserted appropriating $35,000 for the enlargement and repair of the Custom House and Post Office at Bangor, Me. On motion of Mr. O'Neill, from the same Committee, a paragraph was inserted appropriating $10,000 for additional station houses, lifeboats, etc., along the coast of New Jersey, between Sandy Hook and Little Egg Harbor, and $5000 for repairing and lighting the light-house at Tucker's Beach on the coast of New
