A Glorious Day for Louis Napoleon -"Venice is Free"-Austria Beaten Everywhere in Germany-About the "Needle-Gun"-The Cry of Peace-Napoleon Will Not Leave Austria in the Lurch-The Cholera at Amiens-Celebration of "the Fourth" in the French Capital, Etc.

[EVENING TRLEGRAPH SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.] PARIS, July 6, 1836.

Never since there were monarchies in Europe has there been so glorious a day for a monarch as the 5th of July for Napoleon III. I cannot say that I have much sympathy for the man who, in 1852, deprived France of liberty, but I cannot help saying that this page in the history of Napoleon III is finer than all the volumes of the history of Napoleon I.

Paris was yesterday decked out with flags, and in the evening the principal establishments were brilliantly illuminated. The cry was,

" VENICE IS FREE !"

But the Italians have no hand in the victory. Victor Emanuel was beaten at Custozza, and Garibaldi lies wounded. The conqueror is Napoleon III, who, without even stirring from Paris or firing a single shot, has obtained results only to be expected after a grand battle.

The Moniteur (official paper) yesterday morning informed us "that the Emperor of Austria, after having shown the world that he was in no fear of Italy, and requiring all his forces against Prussia, gave up Venetia to the Emperor of the French to do what he liked with it." The enthuslasm caused by this piece of news was immense, when it was known that Austria demanded the mediation of France. There was an immediate rise in the tunds at the Bourse vesterday. The Bonapartists are triumphant, Austria has been defeated overywhere. Beaten on the 27th, 28th, 29th, and 30th ult., vanquished at Gitschin on the 2d inst., she lost on the 4th the battle of Sudowa, which had been so many days locked forward to. Benedek left 40,000 soldiers hors de combat on the field of battle, and one hundred and nine cannon and 20,000 prisoners fell into the hands of the Prussians.

This Austrian army, which we had so much trouble to conquer in 1850, has been driven like chaff before the wind by the Prussians. It was impossible for the Emperor of Austria to keep the Quadrilateral, which required more than two hundred thousand men to defend it. He preferred giving up what he could not keep, and withdraw an army with which he may yet be able to make head against the Prussian invader. Besides which, public opinion in Austria was in favor of the cession of Venetia. It must not be thought that the Austrians are discouraged by their late defeats. The success of the Prussians may be mainly attributed to the

which was invented by a Frenchman, Monsieur Ducanturier, formerly a pupil of the Ecole Polytechnique. It was submitted to almost all European powers, and generally condemned. It is capable of firing six shots in a minute. which generally strike the legs or the chest.

In the recent engagements between the Austrians and the Prussians, the former were shot down at a distance of a hundred yards from the latter. It appears that this weapon is still more formidable than the rifled gun which did such havoe in 1859.

The morning papers have struck up to the tune of peace.

presided in this fele of liberty in a country which | Probable Capture of Lamirande, the French has lost its own by its own fault.

A grand banquet was, a tew days ago, given to M. de Girardin, who, notwithstanding his sixiy-two summers, is as fresh as ever. This banquet was to celebrate the hundredth performance of his play of Le Supplice d'une Femme, The most charming actresses of the Theatre Francaise were present.

It is only eight days ago that a political banquet was given in the very same salon. It was there that Prince Napoleon made a speech, in which he showed his hatred to Austria. JOAN OF ARE.

A committee has been formed under the pa. tronage of the town council of Rouen, to collect subscriptions for the purchase of the donjon of the castle of Philip Augustus, where Joan of Are was submitted to the torture, and to raise a monument to her memory. That course of proceeding has met with unanimous support, and the humblest of the patriotic contribute to the object. The tower will be preserved and the monument raised-a worthy homage being thus paid to the memory of the heroine who released us from the English yoke, and secured the triumph of our imperilled nationality. The Emberor, sympathizing in this proiseworthy act has subscribed 10,000 manes.

Rossuth and the Huugarians.

The following proclamation has been circulated among the Magyar soldier, of the Austrian army in Italy:-Hungarians !- With the help of Italy's herole and houses King, in the sacred name of our country and God, the flag of Magyar independence is horsted anew, and it counts upon your service. Here is your place of honor and duty Austria is our enemy, not lialy. The true sons of our country have never found in Asis ria august but a hangman, a jatier, insuit and misory. Italy gave shelter, bread, and kindness to the basissed Hungarians, If the Maycars were to repay this double treat-ment by supporting Austria in her efforts to put down Italy's freedom, the curse of the just God down Italy's freedom, the curse of the just God would be on them. Italy a one has a right to Ve-neum. It is hers-her own offspring. Italy is for the Italians, Hangary for the Hangarians. Out with Austria from Italy, out with her from Hun-gary. Nature's law, justice, requires it. You owe no alleguance to the Austranas. You have been dragged to the batte field against your will, in vio-lation of the law, by arbitrary enforment. You owe Austria to find it. That perjured race has been excluded from Hungary's throne since 1840, by the excluded nom Hungary's throne since 1849, by th will of the liberated nation, and the law which pro-nounced it expulsed for ever warned all Hungarians to beware serving it under the penalty of treason. That law is still in vigor; it has nover been re-called. So, then, your faithfulness, bravery, and allegiance are only due to your country. Would you be descriters from your pational cause by remain-ing in the service of its mortal enemy? He is the runaway who stays with Austria to uphold her in toriuring, degrading, and rulning his own native land. Here or there, fight you must. Fight, then, for your country's good, not for the benefit of your lor your country's good, not for the benefit of your countr's oppressors. By crowding under our na-tional flag the war may be concluded soon, and cost less blood. By remaining under the Hapsborg flag you would bleed away for a long time, since the war would, by your very gallantry, be protracted indefinitely. Leave, then, those abhorred ranks. Come here, my brayes! There victory ifself is a curse for you. Here death itself is r.ch in blessings from your country. I await you And I call upon you also in the name of Grantaidi, who is with us ready to draw his glorious sword on behalf of Hungary, which will rise and break her chains. You must have a Magyar's heart still, in spite of the Austrian unitorm and servitude which keep down its beatings. In Hungarian hands which keep down its beatings. In Hungarian hands the very sword and bayonet must think. Behold, then, your occasion for reasoned and hearty action. Up, hasten to where the tri-color floats. There is glory and honor to be gained—your post is there. This appeal to your patriotism is made by me in write of the leadershue which our patron has on virtue of the leadership which our nation has en-trusted me with of old to achieve the cause of her independence. I call upon you in the name of God and the nation, and in the sacred name of our counind the mandal, and in the safe a manue of our conn-try I command you to leave the service of Austria, and to come here, where duty to Hungary awants you. Hurrah for the King of Italy! Hurrah for the Italo-Hungarian alinance! Hurrah (c/cm) for our country. (Signed) Louis Kossurm ountry. Our Candidate for Congress.

From the Lancaster Express. There is perhaps no man who has made for himself a more honorable record of unswerving fidelity to the Union cause, during the years of national peril, than Hon. William D. Kelley, one of Pennsylvania's ablest and most devoted representatives in Congress, Sixteen years ago we had the pleasure of ad-vocating his claims in a Philadelphia journal, and through that became intimately ac-quainted with the man. Then, neither he nor the writer occupied the same relative position to parties which we do to-day; but Judge Kelley was then the same in principle that he is now -a Democrat in the truest sense-an earnest advocate of equal rights for all men. Always the disciple of truth, it is not surprising our great national emergency found him a radical for truth is ever radical. Nor is it surpring that a manjof Judge Kelley's stamp should be found as unselfish among triends as he is fearless mong toes. Although his name is prominent among those mentioned in con-nection with United States Senator, he prompily waives all claims urged by his friends in his own behalt, and seconds our nomination of that old ploneer of freedom equal rights, Hon. Thaddeus Stevens and with that sincerity and zeal which characterizes all of Judge Kelley's public acts. In giving our great Commoner to the State at large, Lanacster county will not think the less of Judge Kelley for the graceful and just manner in Swindter.

Ernest Sureau Lamirande escaped from a Deputy United States Mirshal in this city on the 3d instant, and a reward of two chousand dollars was offered for his recapture. The Wash-ington Star of last evening says a toreigner, apparently an Italian, who has been stopping at apparently an Italian, who has been stopping at Willard's Hotel for several days, under the name of A. E. Burnette, was arrested in that city on suspicion that he was Lamirande. He was locked up at police headquarters. He appeared to be distressed by the fact of his arrest, and very measy when fold by the officers that they would inquire about him is back back. would inquire about him in New York. Tae officers left him in the ante-room, the cells being very uncomfortable. About four o'clock. Ser-geant Reed, sitting in the triat room, heard a four of the ante-room if another the series of the second seco fearful groaning in the ante-room, as if some one was in a dying condition. Entering the room he saw the prisoner lying upon the floor, his arms quivering, his legs drawn up, and his eyes rolling around wildly and desperately, as if he was in the agony of death. His body was hare, and just across the left breast was a scratch from which a few drops of blood had cozel. A surgeon was called, and after an examination of the wound, it was concluded that the apparent attempt to commit suicide was only a ruse. police sergeant said to him. "Look here, old fellow, if you don't get up we'll put you back in the cell." The prisoner took the hint, and immediately got up as well as ever, "barring" the wound. The detectives will hold nim until they receive a reply from New York with regard to him. - N. Y. Evening Post, 20th.

THE WAR IS AT AN END they say. But I think they are going too fast. It is the Cabinet of the Tuileries which fans the flame now lighted in Europe. It thought that the Prussians would be beaten by the Austrians. The French military attaches following the Austrian army seemed not to have the slightest doubt of it. It was reckoned that Bismark, vanquished, would have demanded the aid of France, giving the Rhinish provinces in exchange.

The needle-gun has, however, turned the tables. Prussia is victorious, and, puffed up with pride, has no want of our aid, and will not think of giving an inch of ground to France; the German people would not hear of it. The victorious army of Bismark is on its way to Vienna, and will not like to see their laurels clipped. In case of a REFUSAL BY PRUSSIA OF THE MEDIATION OF FRANCE, what will the Emperor Napoleon do? In his letter addressed to M. Drouyn de Lhuys, dated June 11, he said that Austria ought to maintain its position as a leading power in Germany.

It is, therefore, not likely that after the generous conduct of Franz Joseph that Napoleon III will leave him in the lurch.

It is, at the same time, not certain that Italy will welcome the news of the cession of Venetia to France. The Cabinet of Florence. in answering the telegram from the Tuileries, stated that Italy was bound by a treaty to Prussia, and that it could not abandon its ally. There are still clouds on the horizon, and I am not so sanguine as to immediate peace. Our troops are not very far from the Belgian trontier, and there is great activity in the camp of Chalons. Our official papers are constantly attacking Belgium and its institutions, and the people of this free country are, I am told, not very easy as to the stability of their kingdom.

The fate of Europe is now in the hands of one man, the Sphynx of the Tuileries. Letters from Portugal and Spain inform me that a secret agitation is going on in both these countries to which our lord and master is not a stranger.

THE EMPRESS AT AMIENS.

The cholera is still hovering over France; it has left Nantes and other towns in Brittany for Amiens, in Picardy, where it is mowing down every day, with unsparing hand. In a population of 50,000, there are more than ninety deaths per day. H. I. M. the Empress yesterday procecded to the scene of desolation, where she visited and comforted the slek in the hospital. A clergyman and several Sisters of Charity have already fallen victims to the dreadful scourge. The Emperor was prevented from accompanying her Majesty.

What with the cholera and the war, there is not much room left us to talk of pleasure. Paris is now full of strangers, mostly Germans, who fly trom tatherland in order to avoid the horrors of war.

CELEBRATION OF THE FOURTH OF JULY IN PARIS. The Americans in Paris celebrated the anniversary of the independence of the United States at the Pre-Catalan. In the Bois de Boulogne the Star-spangled Banner was to be seen floating in the garden, which in the evening was splendidly illuminated. The bust of Lincoln , ing letter:-WASHINGTON, D. C., July 17.-J. M. W. I pray you not to present Mr Stevens as a local candidate. He belongs to Pennsylvania, and the story or his life-long devo-tion to truth and justice and freedom is among ber neckest treasures. His name will be dear to the com-ing generations of Fennsylvanians, as those of Ots als Adams are to the people of Massachusetts. I have been flattered by seeing my name connected with the Senatorial contest; but as a Pennsylvanian I would find more to aratify my pride in his election with the senatorial contest; but as a Pennsylvanua 1 would find more to statify my pride in his election without opposition in the Union party than in my own, at the end of a generous contest with worthy competitors. I hope, therefore, that you will pre-sent the name of the great radical, the great com-moner of the keystone State, to her people, and ask them to honor themselves by crowning his life-long devotion to their best interests with an uncontested election to the United States Senate. as it commenced to rain, a stroke of lightning struck one of the turrets on the tower of St. Thomas' Church in Elm street. The turret struck was on the southwest corner of the tower. The lightning entered the tower, passing tower. The lightning entered the lower, passing diagonally across it, and coming out between the wall and the edge of the roof on the front side near the tower and over the entrance to Sheffield building, tearing out and throwing down ten or fifteen of the stones in the front and the stones in the front wall for a few feet below the roof. In striking the turret the cap-stone, which consisted of two stones carved to a point, fell off and struck the roof twenty leet or more below, passing through the roof, making a large hole, and also making two holes in the floor at the head of the stairs, and knocking off the lath and plaster below. The siones were stopped by the floor, although they caused nearly as much damage as if they had gone through. In the tower the lightning tore the woodwork some, but did no great damage. Had it passed to the main body of the building below, the damage caused would have been very great .- Harford Journal. 18th.
