In pursuance of a resolution in the platform of the last Democratic State Convention, the Democratic State Executive Committee appointed the delegates at large from this State. The District delegates are appointed by District Conventions. As far as the returns have been received, the following list is the delegation:-

VALLANDIGHAM'S notoriety is of so universal a character, and his public life has been so marked, that any comments upon it would be superduous. He is a native of Ohio; is a lawyer by profession. He has served in the State Legislature, and has edited a newspaper for a number of years. He was elected to Congress as a Representative in 1857, and served three terms. He was arrested for a virulent attack against the prosecution of the war, in 1863, and, on account of his rather ambiguous sentiments and luke warm patriotism, was banished to the South, and went to Canada by the way of Bermuda. During the period of his exile his friends contested the election for Governor for him, but were defeated. He subsequently returned, and served his constituents by taking part in the Chicago Convention of 1864. Mr. Vallandigham is looked upon, by most of the conservative delegates, as a malcontent, and a man whose presence will not redound very greatly to the credit of the Convention. PENDLETON is also a native of Ohio. He is a lawyer by profession, and has been two terms

Robert Flint. Eldredge, Lot Clars. S. A. l'easa. . George Reed, Doolfrile is a native of New York, in which State he was born in 1815. He held the office of District Attorney of Wyoming county, New York, for several years. In 1851 he removed to Wisconsin, and was chosen Judge of the First Judicial District of that State in 1853, but resigned in 1856. In 1857 he became a United States Senator, a position which he still holds.

His political status is familiar to the world, RANDALL, the originator and prime mover in the forthcoming Convention, has figured so extensively in print of late that no mention of his official and political position is necessary. The Conservative Republican delegation of this state, with two such earnest men as leaders, will be one of the strongest and most influential in the Convention. Mr. Randall's influence and knowledge as a member of Mr. Johnson's Cabinet will also tend greatly to strengthen him on any ground he thinks it best to assume.

GALLOWAY and BROWN, however, have publicly repudiated the Convention, and Bergen and Mills refuse to accept the appointment.

ELDRIDGE, who is the only man of note in the Democratic delegation, is a native of Vermont. He removed first to New York State, and in 1848 to Wisconsin. In 1854 and 1855 he was u member of the State Senate, and in 1862 became a member of the lower House of Congress.
