FIRE IN A SAW-MILL, -About 3 o'clock on Saturday afternson a fire broke out in the drying-house connected withithe extensive sawmill owned by Mr. Thompson, and situated at the northeast corner of Twelth and Pleasant streets. It is situated on Buttonwood street. It is built of brick, and is about twenty-five feet high and thirty feet in depth, and very compactly constructed, being lined with iron later. plates, devoid of any means of ventilation, with the exception of two small windows and a chimney. It adjoins a large four-story brick building used by Mr. Thompson as a place to store dried timber. The drying-house contained a large quantity of lumber, closely packed. It was with the greatest difficulty the firemen could get at the flames. The fire made an immense smoke, but no flames were visible. It burned with great stubbornness for several hours, and it was not until late in the evening when the fire was got completely under. The flames did not reach further than the drying house,

Woods on Fire.-Passengers by the afternoon train from Atlantic City, on Saturday, state that the woods are on fire several miles north of Elwood, New Jersey. Send drafts, post office money orders or greenbacks, with address or town, county and state carefully written, as every certificate is fully registered.

THE PHILADELPHIA TELEGRAPH. It seems needless to particularize the great catures of this pian. Its purpose is a most caudable one, and each subscriber, through the mavnitude of the workings, receives a full courve of the money, besides the receives a full equivalent for his money, besides the enances of obtaining a most valuable prize. The plan is not a mere gift bumbug, but has the patronage of many leading cluzens and artists of Chicago, New York, and bumbughis. THE PHILADELPHIA PRESS.

rality can scarcely be reckoned among them. When rality can scarcely be reckoned among them. When, in addition, we state that the purchaser of every share will receive more than the value of that share in the engraving which is immediately presented to him, we cannot but believe short as the time may appear which is allotted to the disposal or the shares that it will be ample to justify Mr. Crosby's friends in their confidence in public sympathy, public taste, and public speculative shrewdness.

THE I HILADELPHIA BULLETIN.

The grandeur of this scheme consists in the value of the premiums offered. No Art Union in the world has ever yet chered such works as Bierstadt's 'Yo semite Vailey." Hart's 'Woods in Autumn," and Meyer's "recognition," to those who receive premiums Indeed, the works of art to be distributed are three hundred in number, of which the first seven alone constitute an aggregate value of $48,000. The first premium is the largest ever offered at any rate upon this continent—this is the Opera House itself, originally built at a cost of $600,000, and of which the stores, studies, and offices alone produce a yearly rental of $30,000. In addition, the purchaser of every share will receive more than the value in the engraving presented to him. Short as the time may lappear alloited to the disposal of the shares it will justify Mr. Crosby's frien-s in their confidence in public sympathy, public taste, and public speculative shrewdhess.

THE PHILADELPHIA NORTH AMERICAN.

It may be conceived of what a character this Art Association is, when among the three hundred works of art his proposed to distribute there are seven of the aggregate value of $48,000, while the first premium is the opera thouse itself, whose actual cost was over 500,000, and the rental of the stores and studios attached to it amounts to $30,000. In addition to this the purchaser of every share or number of shares receives engravings to the full value of his purchase money, among which are such noble specimens of art as Huntington's "Mercy's Dream" Schussele's "Irving and his Friends," and the splendid chromo-tint from Cropsey's "American Autumn."

THE PHILADELPHIA SUNDAY TIMES.

As will be seen, Mr. Crosby has submitted his plan to the best men in Chicago, and they gave if a cordial and unhesitating endorsement. The plan does not propose that a few members of the association shall receive a few girm, and the great majority none. On the contrary every member gets a gift which is very near the equivalent of the money which he invests.

THE PHILADELPHIA MERCURY.

The inducements offered are, however, enormous. The shares are simply five dollars each, yet each share entitles the holder at the very instant he purchases it to an engraving of its full value, or that of the several shares he may purchase.

THE PHILADELPHIA TRANSCRIPT.

The friends of Mr. Cresby, of Chicago, have displayed that courageous boldness in organizing the grand scheme to draw him out of the involvements caused by his too speculative spirit in building the Chicago Opera House, which is ordinarily the certain precursor to success. Of course, there is always some doubt entertained respecting the linierity of such an association; but we are traiffed to say the names of the Chicago members of the countil ce to superintend the distribution of premiums stand so high in the mercantile and business world, that no rational presumption can be found against the success of the enterprise.

THE NEW YORK WORLD

A new Art Association has been formed by a company or prominent citizens of New York and the Western cities, for the purpose of compensating Mr. Crosby for the loss of the magnificent fortune speet by him in his generous and praiseworthy attempt to establish the opera in his native city. The chances are only 85 each, and the premium is the magnificent Opera House Lisei full of the choicest gems by the greatest names in American art, the suiking costing in itself over $5.00,000 We commend the object of the association to every citizen who is capable or desirous of rewarding the generous and magnificent spirit displayed by Mr. Crosby in his munificent liberatity.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

This enterprise for the relief of Mr. Crosby from the difficulties to which he had rendered himself liable by building the Chicago Opera House has at length taken a tangible form and comes vividly before the readers of our columns. It bears with it the endorsement on the leading citizens of Onleago, and what is almost of as much importance the indorsement of the principal artists of the three great Eastern cities. The indorsement of his principal sellow-citizeens may be accepted as a guarantee of the zood faith of the enterprise, while that of the printers may be received as testimony that he is benefiting art.

THE NEW YORK EXPRESS.

Seriously, the scheme is a most royal one. The Crosby Opera House—the first premium—is worth more than hair a million of dodars. The rental of its offices, stores, and studios amounts to $30 600. The value of the first seven paintings reaches $48 600. At the same time, the names of the Chicago members of the Committee for awarding premiums are a sufficient guarantee for the periect legitimacy of the drawing, such as has never before been offered by any association of the same natura. They might serve as a piedge for the honest distribution of hair a state, if it were nossible to expose it to the chances. As it is, they constitute a guarantee for Mr. Crosby, which he could have earned by mothing but a life of unimpeached integrity, in his arduous scheme.
