-The following account of one of Bishop

Whitehouse's Episcopal acts in Sweden is trans lated from the Stockholm Aftonbladet: -"CONSECUATION OF THE NEW ENGLISH CHURCH. This solemnity, which look place yesterday, commenced at 10 o'clock in the morning, when Bishop Henry John Whitchouse, assisted by four English clergymen, wearing their proper vestments, entered the church, and proceeded along the nave to the chancel, reciting the twenty-fourth psalm, the Bis and clergy reciting the verses alternately. Bishop then took his place on the right side of the Bishop then took his place on the right side of the altar; on the left the Archbishop Reuterdahl had also a place provided for him, and seats on the left side of the chancel were appropriated for the Bishops of Sundberg, Bring, and Fiensburg. Bishop Whitehouse received the instruments of donation, which, after being read, were laid upon the altar. Standing then before the altar, the Bishop invoked the blessing of Ged on the sacred work, after which he offered up prayer, parily kneelingland partly turned towards the congregation. The reupon one of the Buckus priests. gregation. Thereupon one of the anglish priests, the Rev. R. H. Blakey, stepped forward and read the deed of consecration, which was also laid upon the altar. We learned thereby that the church was to be called after St. Peter and St. Sigiried (an Arch-bishop of York and the great apostle of Christianity in Sweden). After this ceremony the usual morning service was then proceeded with. Portions of Scrip-ture appointed for the day were read, and hymn 242 from the English Hymn Book ('Hymns, Ancient and Modern') was sung.

"The epistic for the day was taken from 2d Cor.
vi, 14-17, the Gospel from St. John ii, 18. After the Creed had been read in English, the Archbishop rose and repeated the same translated into Swedish, which is almost word for word the same as that read in our churches every Sunday.

"The Nicene Creed, the common symbol of both churches, translated from the same Latin source into words singularly similar in sound, was repeated at the same time in both languages by all persons present, each in his own tongue, the Archbishop leading in Swedish. After the one hundredth Psalm had been sung, the Bishop delivered a most eloquent sermon, which showed him to be possessed of a most spirited eloquence and powerful delivery. After the discourse and after the prayer for the Church Militant, with aspecial thanksgiving offered.
Archbishop Reuterdahl, who, in the meantime, had assumed his full Episcopal vestments, came before the altar, and delivered to the congregation a short address in Swedish, founded upon the words of the Prophet Isaiah, chap. i, 2: 'Come ye and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the Control Leach, and He will teach as a first service. God of Jacob, and He will teach us of His ways, and we will walk in His paths.' Kneeling before the altar be offered up a prayer and pronounced the final benediction over the congregation."
