Communication. To the Editor of The Evening Telegraph:-

Sm:-I find the time is drawing nigh for the nomination of candidates for the different offices in the gift of the citizens of Philadelphia. I feel deeply interested in the nomination of Recorder of Deeds. For this office there is a name before the people, a gentleman of high standing, and one who has given more credit to our city than any one man, and one who has done more in assisting our brave boys who went forth with willing hearts to detend our glorious old flag. This man is William M. Cooper, of the Cooper Suop Refreshment Saloon. He was the first to start in the noble work of feeding the soldiers as they passed through our city. It was at the Cooper-shop saloon that the Soldiers' Home was mangurated. It is due to Mr. Cooper to stale that he gave up his business and sent a portion of his men and boys to the front, and furnished them with arms in defense of our country. Mr. Cooper has sacrificed his all upon the altar of his country, and it is now for the citizens of Philydelphia to honor him who took the leading foart in doing so much honor to the city of Brotherly Love. Mr. Cooper was identified with the old-ine Whig party, and the Cooper Snop Refreshment Saloon. He was was identified with the old-ine Whig party, and was a firm supporter of William Henry Harrison and Henry Clay. Respectfully. S.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

TFor Additional City Intelligence see Third Page.]

THE FATE OF A FALLEN WOMAN, -One of to-saddest cases of suicide which we have ever beer called upon to record, was committed on Mon day last, by a voung lady of this city, under circumstances of the most distressing character. It appears there was a picnic at Delta Grove, on the banks of the Rancocas creek, a short distance above Delanco—a p-ace that has recently become the resort for rowdies, blackless, and courte-ans. Among those present was a Miss V—, resuling in the north-eastern section of the city, whose attract ve countenance, genicel dress, and general prepossessing ap-pearance, indicated that she was not only a stranger to the reckles- scenes of convivality and dissipition which are constantly occurring at the piace, but that she had been the associate of the educated and refined. And such had been the case. Miss V—, at a late hour in the afternoon, in com-pany with another lady and a gentleman, accepted an invitation to take a short boat trip on the Rancocas. After proceeding for some distance, and incu ging in many peasant jokes, she arose and said to ner companion that she had lived one enough, and at once plunged into the creek never to be seen alve again. Her remains were found floating near Bridgeboro on the following day, and were taken to that village. As she was "unknown" were taken to that village. As she was "unknown the Coroner took charge of the body, and had it interred in the poor ground adjoining the Methodist Church of that place. A day or two afterwards, however, her father, who is a gentleman of considerable wealth and influence, had the body disintered, and recognising it as his "jost" daughter, allowed it to be some interred. allowed it to be again interred in the same spot, in the same pauper pine box that is charitably fur-nished at the cubic expesse for such bodies as are unclaimed. The history of the young girl is indeed a sad one. She was a benutiful girl, and well edu-cated, naturally vivacious and joyful, but she was enticed from her home, and her future career is briefly told Abandoned by her parents, despised by her other relatives, shunned by her former friends and acquaintances, deprived of her once happy and comfortable home, and donied the counsel and assistance necessary to cheer and attract her from the wrong path, is it any wonder she led a brief life of shame and found a hariot' grave? She was the unfortunate victim of perfidy, of wrong, of neglect. To her may be applied the stanzas of Cunningham :-

"Such was the gir, and oh! her look Bore witness to the hell within; Study that face—you read a book Stamped with the wretchedness of sin.

"And yet upon her haggard face "And yet upon her haggard face
Would some lines wake a sudden grace;
A mild r beam would warm hir eyes,
A blush upon her cheek arise,
Which seemed to say, that in her breast,
By demon spirits long posses t.
Virtues with vices rare y link'd
Lay pent and sara ggling—not extinct."

DIVINE SERVICE AT THE WIGWAM .- Yesterday, in respon e to a call in the daily papers, there was a rather large congregation gathered in the Wigwam. As early as quarter after after 9 they commenced to assemble from all directions. Before half-past 10 the place was nearly half init. As we sat there we could not but think of the change that had come over the place. But three days before, and that lofty roof had quivered with the thundering shouts of an excited mass. Now everything was changed. The services, which were of a very interesting character, commenced by the singing of hymne muchle to the consistent after watch there hymns suitable to the occasion, after walch there very impressive discourse delivered by the was a very impressive discourse delivered by the Rev. Mr. Manship. In the afternoon there was a prayer-meeting he d at 3 o'clock, and at 4 o'clock there was Divine service by Rev. Dr. Lands, of Kentucky. Both morning and af ernoon the service was well attended in spite of the trifling discomfort of the showers that sprinkled the congre gation somewhat Altogether it was a very impre-sive occasion, and the only subject of regret is that there was not sufficient notice given to the public and there were not sufficient means or conveyance to and from the Wigwam,

FUGITIVES FROM JUSTICE. - Benjamin Henry (colored), who, in connection with Michael Griffen was arrested some time ago on the charge of Griffen was arrested some time ago on the charge of stealing a horse, wagon, and harness, was arrested again on Saturday atternoon, together with a colored man named Samuel Davis who had gone Henry's bail. Davis bad no property.

The horse had been stolen from Charles B. Bittle, the wagon from James Tomilison and the harness from Henry H Lodge, all residing in Longacoming, Camden county, New Jersey, and had been stolen on the 10th instant. Henry and Davis were arrested at Seventh and South streets, and after the barries this morning, was committed by Alder the arrested at Seventh and South streets, and after the hearing this morning, we're committed by Alderman Fletcher, to await an order from the Camden authorities. They were both professional thieves, and had hardly been two weeks out of the Tren'ou Penitentiary, where they had been serving a term of two years. They both live in the negro settlement of Snow Hill, just back of Camden.

WHO STOLE THE HAM?-Michael Quigley is fond of ham and eggs, but his purse is very slen-der. Whilst he was in the market house Saturday der, Whilst he was in the market house Saturday morning, there came floating up to his nostrils the seductive odor of a ham. It was too much for Mike. He could not resist its attractions, but seized upon the savory ham and bore it away in triumph. But "there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," and before he had a chance to taste a morsel of the said delectable prize, he was ignominiously arrested and conveyed to the lock up. This morning he had a bearing before Alderman foland, who committed him in default of $800 to answer.

AN OBSTREPEROUS " JEHU." - Thomas McClo-key, halling from New Jersey, and dealing in vegetables, got into a difficulty on Saturday morning. Thomas had a wagon load of corn under his charge, and not being satisfied to wait until the street was clear, he put his horses at full speed in the neighborhood of New Market and Noble streets, and came into violent collision with divers vehicles. He was arrested in his reckless career and taken to the Station House. Alderman Beeker committed him in default of bail at a hearing this morning.

STEALING A TOW-LINE.—Peter Murray was arrested about 4 o'clock this morning in Girard avenue, below Fifth street, under very suspicious avenue, below fifth street, under very suspicious circumstances. He had in his possession a tow-line, nearly new, which he said he had bought for a dollar. The line is worth at least ten dollars and is now at the Tenth District Station douse, Tenth and Masier streets, awaiting an owner. Murray is a vagrant without any fixed residence. He was computed by Alderman Shoomaker in default committed by Aiderman Shoemaker in default

PUGNACIOUS CUSTOMERS. - James Teague and George Stonemetz were arrested in the neigh-borhood of Tenth street and Girard avenue, on the charge of interiering with an officer making an arrost. An officer had arrested a man for disorderly conduct, when Teacue and Stonemetz attempted a resoue. Teague had a "billy" on his person, but rescue. Teague had a "billy" on his person, but did not use it league was committed in default of $1000 bail, and Stonemetz was held in $800 bail to answer, by Alderman F.tch.

A TERRIBLE FELLOW .- Conrad H. Hopp A TERRIBLE FELLOW.—Conrad H, Hopp is a German of warlike and lager-beer propensities. Last Saturday evening he got particularly brave, and made a desperate assault on a small child, catching it by the neck and choking it. The child was a weak little thing only four or five years old. A brave man that! The affair occurred at Tenth attreet and Girard avenue. Hopp was arrested, and this morning he had a hearing before Aldorman Shane, who committed him in default of 8500 bail.

CORNER LOUNGING .- This is a nuisance that is becoming a crying evil. There are numbers of young men who, without any apparent means of support, hang around the corners of streets insulting passers by. There were a number arrested vesterday at the corner of Noble and Front streets, which is a favorite haunt of these rewides.

THE COLLECTORSHIP OF THE PORT.— There appears to be considerable mystery about the movements of the two gentlemen who are contesting movements of the two gentlemen who are contesting for this position. There was a meeting proposed at the Custom House this meruing at II o'clock, to settle the matter, but ox-Governor W. F. Johnston failed to make his appearance. It is rumored that in case the present incumbent refuses to vacate, Mr. Johnston will take an office elsewhere and go on with the duties of the office. On the principle that two heads are better than nove, perhaps the duties will be all the more satisfactorily performed.
