The Official Despatches Concerning the New Orleans Riot.

THE morning papers publish in full the official despatches concerning the late terrible riot in New Orleans. Many of these had already been made public. The chief interest of the public will fix upon the despatches of General SHERIDAN, not heretofore published, except in a garbled form.

Not to trouble our readers with a full repetition of the desputches, which we have already printed, we will make a brief summary of the affair in historical order.

The first despatch is to the President, under date of New Orleans, July 27, from VOORHEES and HERRON, informing him that Governor WELLS had ordered writs of election for vaca cles in the Convention. The second is from the same parties on the 28th, giving an account of the mass meeting addressed by Dostik and other Unionists, informing him of the action of the Grand Jury with reference to the members of the Convention, and their contemplated arrest, but that it would be impossible to serve a civil process without the certainty of a riot, and winding up by inquiring-"Is the military to interfere to prevent process of court?" This question was evidently suggested from a fear that General BAIRD, the officer in command in New Orleans, might not consent to the breaking-up of the Convention.

The reply to this from the President, under same date, is, that "the military will be expected to sustain, and not to obstruct or interfere with, the proceedings of the court."

On the same day, the President telegraphs to Governor Wells, demanding of him by what authority be had called the Convention together. To this Governor Wells replies that he has not called it together, but that it had been ordered to convene by the President of the Convention, in accordance with a resolution of that body, empowering him so to do.

On the same day the following despatch was sent by General BAIRD to Secretary STANTON:-

"Hon, FDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War :-A convention has been called, with the sanction of Governor Wells, to meet here on Monday. The Lieurenant-Governor and city authorities think it the delegates. I have given no orders on the subject, but have warned the parties that I could not countenance or permit such action without instructions to that effect from the President. Please instruct me at once by ic egraph.

(A. BAIRD, Brevet Major-General."

There was no reply made to this, except in so far as the President's despatch of the same date to VOORHEES and HERRON may be considered a reply to it.

On the 30th, the President telegraphed to ANDREW J. HERRON, the Attorney-General of Louisiana, as follows :-

"You will call on General SHERIDAN, or whoever may be in command, for sufficient force to sustain the civil authority in suppressing all illegal or un-lawful assemblies, who usure or assume to exercise any power or authority without first having ob-tained the consent of the people of the State. If tained the consent of the people of the State. there is to be a convention, let it be compose delegates chosen tresh from the people of the whole State. The people must be first consulted in reference to changing the organic law of the State. Usurpation will not be tolerated. The law and the Constitution must be sustained, and thereby peace and order.

ANDREW JOHNSON."

The same day the President received the tollowing despatch from Lieutenant-Governor VOORHEES:-

"To his Excellency President Johnson:—Convention met. A riot broke out in the city. So far the police has the upper hand, Several white and colored persons killed, Called jon General BAIRD for assistance, which is cheerfully tendered. Intense excitement. Convention broken up. "ALBERT VOORHEES,

"Lieutenant Governor Louisiana." Also, on the same day, the following from Major-General Francis J. Herron, a Union officer, whose graphic account of the riot has already been published :-

"The President of the United States:—We are in the midst of a terrible riot, caused by the assembling of the Convention Owing to the mixed condition of affairs among the State officers, I see no hope of quiet without you give us a military Governor. Can-not General Grances be sent here? "F. J. HERRON.

"Late Major-General U. S. A."

General BAIRD also, under the same date, sent the following despatch to the Secretary of War :-

"To the Secretary of War: A serious riot has occurred here to-day. I have been in tuli consultation with the city authorities, and have kept my troops well in hand for such an emergency. The riot commenced unexpectedly, and before the troops could reach the scene of action a number of persons were killed and wounded. I have felt compelled to were killed and wounded. I have felt compelled to declare martial law, and have appointed a military Georare martial taw, and have appointed a military Governor of the city. All is quiet now. Several prominent gentlemen connected with the Conven-tion are killed or wounded. "A. BAIRD, Brevet Major-General."

General BAIRD, the same day, also sent a second and more lengthy despatch to the Secretary of War, giving full particulars of his own action in the premises. In this despatch he says:-

"The police, aided by the crizens, became the assailants, and, from the evidence, I am forced to besaliants, and, from the evidence, I am forced to believe, exercised great brutarity in making their arrests. Finally they attacked the convention hall, and a protracted struggle ensued. The people inside the hall gave up. Some who surrendered were attacked afterwards and brutally treated Quite a large number were injured; I caunot now say how many—Governor Hahn, Dr. Dostie, dr. Fish, and, perhaps, other members of the Convention among the number. On the arrival of the troops I soon cleared the streets, and quiet was restored."

He also regrets that he had received no reply to his despatca of the 28th asking instructions.

On the 31st General BAIRD sends despatches to the Secretary of War, to the Adjutant-General, and to General Howard, all of similar tenor, concerning his declaration of martial law. On the same date Attorney-

General HERRON telegraphs the President that BAIRD has declared martial law and suspended processes for the arrest of the members of the late Convention. The President telegraphs to BAIRD the next day (August 1) to interpose no obstacle in the way of the civil authorities; and he also telegraphs VOORHEES and HERRON to know whether the civil authorities were conferred with by BAIRD before declaring martial law, etc., to which they reply, pronouncing martial law "wholly unnecessary."

SHERIDAN's first despatch, August 1, is the one which has already been published. His second despatch is under date of August 2. and is the one which has hitherto been suppressed or mutilated. It is as follows:-

"U. S. GEANT, General, Washington, D. C .: - The "U. S. GEANT, General, Washington, D. C.: - The more information 1 obtain of the affair of the 30th in this city, the more revoluing it becomes It was not a riot; it was an absolute massacre by the police, which was not excelled in muraerous cruelty by that f Fort Pittow It was a murder which the of Fort Fillow. It was a marder which the stayor and police of the city perpetrated without the shadow of anecessity. Furthermore, I believe it was premeditated, and every indication points to this. I recommend the removing of this bad man. I believe it would be haited with the sincerest gratification by two-thirds of the population of the city. There has been a feeling of insecurity on the part of the people here, or account of this man, which is now so much increased, that the safety of life and property does not rest with the civil authorities, but property does not rest with the civil authorities, but with the military.

P. H. Shenidan,

"Major-General Commanding."

To this General GBANT immediately replied, ordering him to continue to enforce martial law, and to lose no time in investigating and reporting upon the riot. On the 2d General SHERIDAN again sent a despatch to General GRANT, giving an account of the state of affairs, and adding the following !-

"Unless rood judgment is exercised, there will be an exclus of Northern capital and Union men, which will be injurious to the city and to the whole country. I will remove the Military Governor in a day or two. I again strongly advise that some disosition be made to change the present Mayor, as I believe it would do more to restore confidence than anything that could be done. If the present tooyernor could be changed also it would not be

Two more despatches close the history. We would be glad to give them in full, but their extreme length prevents our doing so. The first is a despatch from the President, propounding a series of inquiries covering the entire ground maintained by the applegists and defenders of the Mayor and police. Sheridan's reply goes into a full history of the matter, which can best be summed up by saying that it fully confirms and substantiates his previous despatch in regard to the premeditated and murderous character of the riot.

Prussian Aggiandizement.

PRUSSIA is already beginning to realize the fruits of her recent victorious German and Austrian war. The announcement is made that, owing to the hostile attitude maintained towards Prussia by the kingdom of Hanover, the people of Electoral Hesse, Nassau, and the tree city of Frankfort, the King of Prussia has determined to at once destroy their independence and incorporate them into his kingdom. The poor blind and exiled King of Hanover is informed that he is expected at once to abdicate. This he is ready to do, but pleads, as does his wife, for the succession of his son. Prussia is inexorable, and the kingdom of Hanover vanishes for the future from the map of Europe.

A glance at the map will show that other considerations besides those of the assumed or real hostility of the people above enumerated must have influenced Prussia in this decision. The Rhine provinces of Prussia are now separated from the main body of the kingdom by these very countries that Prussia proposes to incorporate with herself. So, also, the provinces of Schleswig and Holstein, which have just been ceded to Prussia, are separated from her in part by Hanover. Prussia, too, as one of the great powers of the world, needs a free outlet to the sea, so that she may build up foreign commerce and establish a navy. This Hanover, with its extensive sea-coast and its three navigable rivers, will allow her

Nassau and Hesse-Cassel will open a free road to the Rhine and the French frontier-a consideration of no small importance with reference to contingencies that may arise in the future.

Hence, we see it is the interests of Prussia, as a great power, that determine these steps of territorial aggrandizement. The Confederation of North Germany means Prussia, and not much else. We shall not be at all surprised to find, ere long, that the people of Saxony are quite as hostile in Prussia's eyes as those of Hanover are now assumed to be. Then a similar fate will overtake them.

Probable Release of Jeff. Davis. THE New York Express of last evening announces editorially its belief that JEFFERson Davis will shortly receive his release, and once more tread the soil of the land whose destruction he so earnestly strove to achieve. It bases its statement on the ground of "the recent discovery of a correspondence between the supposed suborned witnesses before the Judiciary Committee." Upon this basis the Express and other friends of DAVIS are confident of securing his release on parole. We place but little falth in the story. The crimes of the chief Rebel-the Moloch and Belial combined-are too atrocious, and the feelings of all loyal men too intense, to admit of the belief that he would be trusted on his honor, when by the acts of a lifetime he has proved that he possessed no such article in his moral constitution.

"COMFORT FOR SMALL INCOMES." - We commence to-day the publication of Mrs. WARREN'S story-"Comfort for Small Incomes." It is at once practical and interesting, and can be read not only for entertainment, but also instruction. We shall continue it on each successive day, and probably publish the conclusion in our paper for Wednesday next. To those of our readers who enjoyed "How I Managed My House on £200 a year," we can confidently recommend our new serial.

THE CERTAINTY OF THE ELECTION OF JOHN COVODE.-All advices that come to us trom Westmoreland county indicates, beyond a question of doubt, that the Republican party will gain an additional member in the District now represented by Hon. JOHN L. DAWSON. The selection of Hon. JOHN COVODE, and his acceptance of the nomination, made the issue a settled fact. There is no man in Pennsylvania in whom the people have more confidence thon Mr. Covone. Of long experienc , fully versed in all the details of government, of most incorruptible honor, and a disposition at once tearless and consistent, he will be a tower of strength in Corgress, of which he may be already considered a member.

Forewarned .- Our Conservative revolutionists are setting along rapidly. In their view, we don't need a popular branch in the United States Government any more. The President is urged to suppress it by military force. We should then have no more trouble, as the same person who executes the laws would also make them. One of the organs of these revolutionists thus urges the President on:-

"It the Radical Congress have been guilty of all these crimes against the republic, it is time that they be disarmed and rendered impotent in the inture. If they have done what the President has said that they have done, they should not be permitted an opportunity to repeat their crune. At the next session they should be con-fronted by the Executive authority, and compelled to rel nquish their usuroed powers. It is not enough for the Executive to declaim against their treasonable and incendiary action; he should interpose the power that he wields, in-cluding, if necessary, the military power, to reduce them to subjection to the laws and the Constitution of the Republic "
