EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, August 25, 1866 .- Delestee to the Loyal Southern Union Convention are quested, on their arrival, to call at the headquarof the National Union Club, No. 1105 Chesnut treet, and register their names. They will consider the building at their entire service during their residence in this city.

Citizens of Philadelphia anxious to extend their hospitality to our Union brethren of the South will please report at once how many gentlemen they can

It is requested that during the session of this Loyal Convention of true Southern Union men, our fellowcitizens shall display the Union flag from the shipping, public buildings, business places, and private residences generally.

French Duplicity With Regard to Mexico. IF the report that the Emperor Napoleon has agreed to delay the withdrawal of the French troops from Mexico until the 1st of January next, and to assist Maximilian with stores from the French magazines in reorganizing another army, shall prove correct, explanations will doubtless be demanded by our Government. The Emperor has already definitely promised us that the withdrawal of his troops shall commence at a specified time. If now he pretends, upon one pretext and another, to prolong their departure, and in addition to furnish Maximilian with munitions and stores for the reorganization of another army, it is high time that our Government should put its remonstrances into a shape that will at once command respect, There is no point on which the American people are more unanimous than in regarding the so-called Mexican empire as a sham and a fraud.

Its establishment, under the peculiar circumstances of the case, was a direct and premeditated insult to the United States. The Monroe doctrine, whether abstractly right or wrong, had long been the avowed policy of our nation. Advantage was taken of our embarrassment by the Rebellion to coolly set us at defiance in the matter, and the project of establishing the Mexican empire, under a scion of European despotism, as a counterpoise to our growth and influence, was unblushingly avowed. Nor is it at all doubtful that the wily French Emperor meant to secure Mexico as a convenient base of operations against us in assisting the Southern Confederacy, had a favorable contingency for such a movement arisen. We pocketed the insult for the time being, as we did others from England, and went ahead with the work of putting down the Rebellion; but we have not forgotten the course of the French Emperor, nor are we likely to. He has agreed to withdraw from Mexico and to leave Maximilian's empire to stand or fall on its own merits with the people of Mexico. If he shall fulfil his promise in good faith, we shall probably leave the "empire" of Mexico to work out its own destiny; but if there is to be a prolongation of French interference, and an attempt to create new armies for the subjugation of our neighbors, then it will be quite time for Uncle Sam to settle up accounts as to this Mexican business from the start.

In this connection, the news received this morning of the recent seizure of an American vessel by a French man-of-war, on the pretext that she was loading guano without a permit, and her detention at Mazatlan, assumes unwonted interest. We are glad to see that Admiral Thatcher, commanding our squadron, has sent a couple of war vessels to inquire into the matter.

We might also allude to the rumor that sufficient French vessels will be sent to Matamoras to enforce Maximilian's blockade. Such a step would almost surely involve us in a war with France. We cannot acknowledge the right of French vessels in behalf of another power to institute a blockade to shut out our commerce from Mexico.

It is quite evident that this whole Mexican business is getting into a delicate and complicated condition. The entire difficulty is owing to the want of candor and straightforwardness on the part of the French Emperor. Without his support Maximilian's empire must come to an early and disgraceful end, and Napoleon can give him no additional aid without breaking faith with the United States.

The New Jersey Special Session.

As we announced a few days since, Governor Ward has called a special session of the Legislature of New Jersey, to meet on the 10th preximo, to elect a renator and adopt th Constitutional amendment. We are sincerely glad that such an action has been decided upon. The success of the coming contest in the State over the river is at least extremely doubtful. The Union party are hopeful and determined, but the long adherence of New Jersey to the Democratic party, and the small majority by which the hard-fought battle last year was won, place her among the doubtful States. Should we fail we would lose a Senator, to which we are justly entitled, and prevent the adoption of the Constitutional amendment, which, by all the rules of right, ought to come before the present Legislature.

We feel confident that on the total vote we will have a majority, but the science of "jerrymandering" has so divided the local districts, that even a majority of five thousand might not secure us a majority of the Legislature. At any rate there is no reason for risking the spoils by fighting another battle before we appropriate those which we have already in our hands. The only obstacle in the way of our triumph last April was the defection of Mr. J. M. Scovel. That obstacle has been removed. Quiet meditation has shown that gentleman what was his duty, and we feel confident that he intends to fulfil it to the

His support will secure the adoption at once of the smendment. Of that there is no question. In regard to the election of a senator, we are willing to see all personality sacrificed, and any good, staunch Republican selected for the post. Let all the records of the last caucus be burned, and the whole question gone over again. We care not who may be the choice, so that he is a true and faithful, as well as a tried member of our great party. Let every one who goes into the caucus be bound by its results, and whoever its wisdom selects, we have no doubt will be fully able to fill with honor the seat once occupied by Frelinghuysen, Dayton, and Stockton. By the call of the Governor all our truits of victory are garnered, the field is cleared, and we made ready for another fight and another victory.

A Significant Speech by Wade Hampton. THE tone of sentiment at the South is just now a matter of very general interest to the public. It has been asserted that the Southern people accept the platform adopted by the late Convention in this city. So far as we have observed, there is not a single recognized organ of Southern opinion that does not repudiate all those portions of that platform which touch the vital principles of duty and true allegiance to the Government; and especially do they repudiate those portions of it which allude to the late Rebellion, and the part therein borne by the soldiers of the Union. Their universal position is that the cause for which the South fought was just and right; that in no proper sense was it a Rebellion; and that they incurred no guilt or loss of honor by their endeavors to overthrow the Government of the United States. They accept the result" just as an army does when it can no longer contend against its opponents. But there is not a word to show that they would not again strike for the "lost cause," as they call it, if they saw an opportunity affording a reasonable prospect of

In this connection we publish a remarkable speech from one who more correctly, perhaps, than almost any other man, may be assumed to represent that element of the Southern people which furnished the brains to the late Rebellion. At a meeting held recently by the soldiers of Anderson District, for the purpose of forming a soldiers' association, General Wade Hampton was waited upon by a committee, and in response delivered the following speech :-

"BROTHER SOLDIERS OF ANDERSON :- I deem myself fortunate that accident has given me the pleasure of meeting with you to-day, and of participating in the audable objects contemplated by your meeting, and that pleasure is greatly enhanced by seeing around me many of the brave men whom it was my good fortune to command during the agr. These tain regions gave to the armies of the Soute some of our best soldiers, and it is due to them that I should eciare, wear 1 do here with infinite gratification that I had in my ranks some better, brayer or more devoted than the men of this and the adjoining districts. In your presence I desire to tender to them my heartfelt thanks for their conduct as so diers. They have the proud consciousness of having performed their duty to the State, and this will be some compensation to them for the result of the war. And, brother so diers, whilst we acquiesce in the result, let us not admit that the of it was unjustifiable or wrong. Laccept the terms upon which we laid down our arms, in inith, and it is our duty to observe these terms fa to mily; but whast I do tors, I shall never say that we had not right on our side—I shall never hold my State as guilty or her sons as traitors. The cause is not to be judged by success or latture. Success does not inevitably make right, or truth, or justice, nor does lailure atways imply evil, wrong or falseitood. justice of a cause always insures success Poland, Hungary, and Ireland would not now groan under the heat of the oppressor, nor would the South be resuced to the sad condition in which she finds herself to-day. But sad as is the condition of our beloved land, we must not forsake it. She has need of all her sons.

You know that in years that are just passed, you regarded it as your highest duty to stand by your coters. So now it is your duty to stand by your State. Her colors are native to the must, and to us stand or just with her. Give her all the aid you can, and it she sinks at least let us so down with For these reasons I have discouraged emigra tion. I believe it is our highest daty to assist in the re-establishment of law, order, peace; to help the widows and orphans made by the war, and to endeavor to raise our prostrate and bleeding country. We may not be able to do much to yards alleviating the suffering and sorrows of our people, but we can at least take our share of them, and thus highen the general burden by distributing it among us all. To the accomplishment of these objects—the highest that patriotism can inspire, I invoke your earnest co-operation. It will require all your energy, all your strength, all your endurance, to restore hope to our people or vitality to our State. "We can expect nothing from the G vernment of the United states, whatever party may be in power. The Convention at Pulladelphia—where the North and the South, burying the past, were to re-establish liberty, equality, fraternity—has dec ared one p at-form upon which the Conservatives propose to enter the next canvass. In the declaration of princ oles which compose that platform, I see it announced that the brave soldiers and sailers who suppressed the Rebellion are entitled to the thanks of the nation that the deet incurred in that holy crusade is to be sacred, and that all Confederate debts are null and void. We pension the man who forged our fetters; but the soldiers of the South-men with empty sleeves or on crutches, such as are seen around me now-are to be branded as outlaws, repels, and trastors. No fostering hand of a paternal government soothes or cares for their widows and orphans. The country and the government for which they fought, like their hopes, are dead, and they are thrown on the cold charity of the world. It is our duty to open our hearts and our hands to our brave disabled soldiers, and care for the families of those who fell in our defense. Whatever may have been the result of the cause in which they tell, remember that they died for us, fighting, as they honestly believed, to make us free. They offered up their lives a willing sacrifice for their country, and shame upon the man who would not beip these who have lost their all in our behalf. I shall never turn my back upon any brave soldier who stood by his banner to the last. though that giorious banner may be forever juried

> " There's not a man to wave it, And there's not a soul to save it.
> In the blood which heroes gave it.

'Tis true that we have but lirtle left to us; that we ar ...npoverished; but we can at least share our pittance with those who have lost all. pittance with those who have lost all.

"To record the names of those who fought for us; to perpetuate the history of the gallant troops given by our state to the common causa; to extend aid to those who are disabled, and to those whose protectors fell in the war, are the noble purposes of your proposed association. I wish you God-speed in this good work. I congratulate myself that I have been permitted to participate in these holy objects, and I prap that God may bless them to the fullest extent of your wishes. I thank yeu, centiomen, for the courtesy you have extended to me, and for the kindness with which you have received us."

Our City and County Nominations. THE Nominating Convention of the Republican party of P. ila elphia have placed balore the people a ticket unexceptional in the character of the gentle nen presented for the r suffrage :-

For Judges of the Court of Common Pleas-Hon. Joseph all'son, Hon. W. S. Pierce, Hon. F. C. Brewster. For Coroner—Samuel Daniels.

City Commissioner - Captain Henry Conner. Clerk of Quarter Sessions-John G. Butler. Receiver of Taxes-Richard Peltz. Prothonotary of District Court-James McManus.

-We can safely challenge any party to produce a ticket on which are found more upright, conscient out, and patriotic men. Our judges have, two of them, proved their efficlency on the bench, while the third, in the difficult office of City Solicitor, has exhibited legal ability of the highest order. The remainder of the ticket are all well-known citizens, against whom there cannot be breathed a word of reproach. We have no man on our ballot this time whom ten thousand honest citizens must scratch. Every patriotic citizen who adheres to our party, as well as every man who desires to see thoroughly able and honest men in office, can vote the whole city ticket without a qualm of conscience at the thought that he has sacrificed for party purposes his sense of right.

Grant and Farragut.

Some of the partisan journals are endeavoring to make political capital out of the presence of General Grant and Admiral Farragut in the Presidential party on the Chicago trip. This is ill advised. These distinguished officers are present in their official capacity, by the virtual command of the President as commander-in-chief of the Army and the Navy. They have studiously abstained from uttering a word that can by any ingenuity be construed as bearing upon party politics. Their presence has no political significance whatever.

Address of Thomas J. Durant, Esq. To-NIGHT, in accordance with the request of a number of our leading citizens, Mr. Thomas J. Durant, of New Orleans, will deliver an address to the citizens of Philadelphia from the balcony of the Union League House, on Broad street, on the condition of Southern society. We have had so many sugar-coated reports of the dove-like harmony existing in the late Rebel section, and at the same time so many narratives of brutal butcheries, that we want to hear a true report from the lips of one who is well qualified, by years of tried loyalty, to speak to loyal hearers. All our citizens should make it a point to be present, and give such a welcome to Mr. Durant as will show where the sympathies of the good city of Philadelphia lie.

The Southern Loyalist Convention. THE delegates to the Convention to be held in this city next week are already beginning to arrive. Present indications are that the assemblage, counting the welcoming delegations from all parts of the country, will be the largest ever convened in the United States. New Jersey, Delaware, and Maryland are sending mass delegations-numbering hundreds. The great welcoming mass meeting Wednesday, to be held in front of the Union League House, will be a grand affair. The finest orators in the country will address it. Everything betokens a great success.

The National Bank of the Republic. WE are glad to understand that the National Bank of the Republic has been reorganized, that a number of our richest citizens have united to once more set it in working order, and that W. H. Rhawn, Esq., has been chosen President. We must congratulate the Bank on its choice. Mr. Rhawn has been tor years identified with the Central National Bank, and also with the Second National Bank, and is thoroughly tamiliar with all the details of business. He is a high-toned gentleman, and eminently fitted for the post of President. We predict for the "Bank of the Republic" a most successful career.

CONCERNING THE LOYAL CONVENTION .-Previous to the assembling of the recent Johnson Convention in this city we prepared with great care and labor an article giving a bistory of the movement, complete lists of the delegates, and sketches of the leaders.

The public appreciated our enterprise on that occasion by making an almost unprecedented demand for our paper. Believing that it will be even more acceptable to a majority of our citizens, we are now preparing, and shall publish to-morrow atternoon a similar article on the Convention of Southern loyalists which meets in this city on Monday morning next. It will be as full and as accurate as it is possible to render such an article, and will well repay perusal.

SECRETARY SEWARD'S SILENCE. - The peculiar reticence Mr. Seward has thus far maintained during the Presidential tour to Chicago is worthy of remark. His afterdinner speech at Delmonico's in New York was intentionally light and bantering. That is not the way Mr. Seward talks when he has anything to say.

BY ORDER OF THE COMMITTEE.

THE UNION STATE CENTRAL COMmittee of Penns Ivan a, to the Patriots of the south, greeting: Phliadelphia, August 16, 1866.—The Union State Central Committee of Pennsylvania send greeting to their brave Union brothers of the South and extend to them a hearty welcome, on the occasion of their meeting in this city on Yonday, the 3d day of September paxi. September next.

History turnishes no parallel to the patriotism, courage and fidelity of those men who, from the beginning of the Rebellion to the end, fought the good fight and age, and fidelity of those men who, from the beginning of the Rebellion to the end, fought the good fight and kept the faith.

The question to be decided is whether loyalty is to be proscribed and punished in the persons of patriots like these, or treason rewarded and hopored in the persons of the guilty authors and agents of the Rebellion. Shall the loyal masses or the baffied and defeated traitors govern the country! In these geent issues all are vitally concerned and our Southern compatries have instinctively turned towards the soot whence the Great Charter of American Liberty was first modalized, and propose, within the sacred shadows of independented like, to renew their vows of indelity to the principles of that immortal creed, and to take counsel with their Union friends.

On behalf of the loyal men of the Commonwealth of Fennsylvania, this Committee hereby gratefully extend a cordial we come to these patriots and triends from the couthern states. All who come will be received with open arms and warm hearts.

The Union men of the entire Commonwealth are copilally and earnestly invited to come here and honor it eccasion with their presence, and to enable all to confer together upon the present and future of our impiriled country.

It is also suggested and recommended that our friends from other. Sin es send delegations here on this important occasion, not to sit in Convention, but to cheer and co operate with these tried champions of liberty from the South.
