TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1866.

The Negro Question, and the True Issues of the Hour.

Ir is amusing to see with what persistency the Democratic leaders insist upon lugging the negro issue into all of our political contests. For the last five years, there has not been an election of any kind in which they have not made this subject the chief topic of their discussions. It is their political stock in trade. Without it, they would be obliged to shut up shop at once. From the election of a President down to that of a pathmaster, the one great issue with this "flerce Democracy" is the negro- or, to use their own choice vernacular, "nigger" suffrage and "nigger" equality. If you take up a Democratic paper you find nothing in it but dismal diatribes about the "nigger." If you go to a Democratic meeting, you hear nothing discussed but the everlasting "nigger." If you engage a Democrat in political conversation, you are regaled with nothing but the dreadful "nigger." The "nigger" is first, last, and middlemost. He stands them in stead of argument, wit, logic, invective, or sense. He is their poetry and oratory, their eloquence and their song. In a word, he is their sole issue.

And what is more amusing is, that this foolish exhibition of the lowest style of demagoguery is kept up year after year. At every election the old bugbear is brought out as though it were something new-the old scarecrow, as though we had never seen it before. We are always just upon the eve of some terrible catastrophe from the colored gentleman, provided the Union party succeeds. Negro suffrage is predicted as sure to follow every Republican victory. It was so when we elected Curtin three years ago. It was so when we elected Lincoln two years ago. It was so when we elected McMichael, in this city, one year ago. At that last election our walls were placarded with bills bristling with black horrors (on paper) that were sure to follow a Republican triumph.

But somehow the people "don't scare worth a cent." Although our Democratic orators stand and, with tears in their eyes, warn the people regularly at every election, of the terrible and certain fate that awaits them, the people go right ahead and vote the Union ticket as usual. One would think that this old story must get a little stale after awhile. All those that can be frightened by this bugbear are already in the Democratic ranks. Intelligent and sensible Democrats must themselves get heartily sick of a farce that is so thoroughly "played out."

Our advice to our Democratic friends is to try something else for a while. The negro question don't pay. The truth is, the issues of the hour are vastly more important than the question of negro suffrage, which is not an issue at all. It is true that there are many persons who think that a man who is virtuous. intelligent, honest, pays his taxes, and obeys the laws, ought not to be deprived of a vote simply on account of his complexion. Indeed, we know of two of the present Democratic candidates for Congress in this city who have privately avowed themselves in favor of allowing the colored citizens of Pennsylvania to vote. There are many intelligent Democrats who do not hesitate to express the same sentiment. So, too, there are some good men who think that women ought to be allowed to vote. Even so great a philosopher and statesman as John Stuart Mill, of England, is of this opinion. But the question of suffrage is not now what we have to deal with. It may become an issue at some future time. When it does, then is the proper time to meet it. But the great questions we now have to settle are those which grow directly out of the Rebellion. It remains to be seen whether we shall reconstruct the Rebels or they shall reconstruct us. It is to be determined whether or not we live under a Government of laws, and whether the great popular branch of the Government, the law-making power, shall be preserved in its constitutional integrity. What good will suffrage do anybody if the people, through their representatives, are not to have the privilege of making the laws? The constitutional sagremacy of Congress, as the law-making power in the Government, is the great issue which looms above all others in this contest. This must be settled before we can tell whether the suftrage is to remain of much use to any of us. "Will you have a president or a king?" was the substance of one of Mr. Seward's questions during the late Executive tour. The peeple are going to answer that question at the polls this fall. Until this great question is settled, all others must be adjourned.

Let our Democratic friends, if they would be men among men, cease their silly talk about the negro, and gird up their loins tor the real contest that now agitates the country. Let them beware of so conduc ing the canvas on their part that a decent man shall have to forfeit his own self-respect by taking part with them.

CHIEF COINER OF THE MINT.-Yesterday afternoon A. Loudon Snowden, Esq., was appointed Chief Coiner of the Mint, and not Colonel William A. Gray, as has been reported. Holding as we do the opinion that all important offices should be filled by promotion, and not by political appointment, we endorse the selection of Mr. Snowden. He has been for many years connected with the Mint, and understands thoroughly the duties of his new position by practical experience in a subordinate capacity. The duties are deli-cate and responsible, and it is better that an experienced hand be secured than any new select on made.

The Congressional and Legislative Contest. THE Democrats do not expect or hope to carry their State ticket. They gave that up long ago. Clymer is too big a load. His political record is too terrible, black, and damaging. He cannot carry even his own party strength. Thousands of War Democrats utterly refuse to support him. The soldiers unanimously discard him. They feel, as General Grant says, that it is an insult to ask them to vote for him. He was foisted upon the party by those blind, foolish, stubborn Copperhead leaders who bave "run the machine" ever since 1860. He stands no more chance of election than Vallandigham did in running for Governor in Ohio. The Democratic leaders know this, and hence their real fight is now being made upon members of the Legislature and upon Representatives in Congress in the close districts. To carry these they will trade off Clymer or anybody else on the State ticket. It behooves Union men, therefore, to be on their guard. This fight has reference to great national questions of the utmost importance. We are now threatened with the violent disruption of the popular branch of the Government. In the train of this menacing usurpation loom up all the horrors of intestine strife and bloody civil war. Let our efforts, therefore, be directed to where the real danger lies. The safety, peace, and honor of the country can only be secured by maintaining the supremacy of the Union party in Congress. Let no Union man, theretore, be drawn aside from the true issue. We must elect our Congressmen and we must elect our Legislature.

MESTING TO-NIGHT .- A meeting of the Republican party will be held to night at National Hall. Addresses will be delivered by Hon. John W. Forney, Hon. Wayne McVeigh, and others. It will amply reply all our readers

INFORMATION FOR THE PEOPLE. Proposed Amendment to the Consti-

THE UNION REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

"Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representa-tives of the United States of America two-thirds of both Houses concurring That the following Acticle be proposed to the Legislatures of the Several States as an amendment to the sensitiution of the United States enich when raified by three-tourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid as part of the Constitu-tion viz:—

"Article 14, Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the Uri ed states, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shad make of enforce any laws which shall abridge the privileges of immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

This section makes citizenship uniform in all the States, and protects citizens both North and South . for example, South Carolina must treat Penusylvanians with the same respect that she treats her own citizens.

"Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Incians not taxed: but whenever the right to vote at any election for President or Vice-President, and for the United States representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers, or the members of the Legislatures thereof, is denied to any male inhabitant of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other prime the zens of the United Sia es. or in any way abridged, ex-cept for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis or representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State."

This section fixes the basis of representation in Congress upon the population or the several States, with this provice, that where a State denies the elective tranchise to any of its qualified male citizens o 21 years of age (which any State is allowed to do under this section), that then its representation in Congress shall be proportionably reduced, thus regulating the representation in Congress by the number of voters in each State. Under the old Constitution, the South had three-fifths of all her slaves added to her free population to fix her representation in Congress; now that slavery is abolished she will have two-fiths more added thereto, and thus come back under the old Constitution with increased power, and would thus make the vote of one white man in the South nearly equal to two in the North, This is the reason why the Rebbis are now opposing this part of the amendment.

'Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress or elector of President or Vice-President, or ho.d any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or civil officer of any State, lo support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in maurrection or rebellion against the same, or giving aid or comitor to the enemies thereof; but Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds in each House, remove such disability."

The intention of this section is to give the officer.

The intention of this section is to give the offices to the Union men of the South, so that we shall have perpetual peace, and so that Jefferson Davis and other traitors like him shall never again control this Government, and thus endanger its liberties, If those leading Rebels should continue to hold the offices in the South, we shall have no peace, but, on the contrary, perpetual strife. They have done enough already. They should have no further say. Their children will succeed to the rights which they will lose by their treason; this is enough, in all conscience. This section, you will observe, applies those Rebels only who have heretofore held office and taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States; should any hardships arise thereby, Congress may grant relief by a two-thirds vote.

"Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including that incurred in payment of bounties and pensions for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned; and neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such oebts, obligations, and claims shall be held illegal and void."

This section will cut off all juture hope on the part

This section will cut off all future hope on the part of the Rebels of securing payment for their slaves or of the Rebel debt, and thus relieve our country from future sectional strife.
