THE DAVIS FAMILY.

The Residence in Canada-How the Correspondence of the Chicago Tribune.

OTTAWA. C. W., September 27.—After the late war the Davis family, excepting Mrs. Davis, went to live in Canada, and they still live there. At the head of this family is Mrs. Howell, the mother of Mrs. Davis, and with her is a younger sister of the latter, who is unmarried. The Davis family consists of two boys and one girl, pays family consists of two bygs and one girl, all joung, the eldest (a boy) not being over fourteen years of age. With Mr. Davis there is a young child, not included in the above list. Mrs. Howell is a tall, stately old lady of about sixty years of age. She has brilliant black eyes, good features, and looks; a little sallow from age. Her hair is grey and still thick, and she wears nothing on her head. This gives her an air of dignity and simplicity. In manner she is very affable and plain. Miss Howell, whose first name is Margaret, is a tall young lady of about twenty years of age. She has dark eyes, good features, and a clear olive complexion, with dark brown hair. In manner she is pleasing, and there is a strong resemblance between her and her mother. The leoks of both ladies are quite Southern. adies are quite Southern Master Jefferson Davis is a fine boy of about fourteen years of age. He is tall for als age, and well made, with dark hair, dark eyes, and good features. His skin is a rich brown, like that of all his family. He is now at college in Lennoxville, Canada East.

Miss Margaret Davis is a girl of about eight

Miss Margaret Davis is a girl of about eight years of age, with eyes black as sloes, and brown hair and good features. Her skin is a rich olive, like that of Miss Howell, her aunt. She is now at school in the Convent of "The Sacred Heart," near Montreal.

The last of the family to notice is Master Wilham Davis, who goes by the name of "Willy." He is a boy of four years of age, with grey eyes and light hair, and features promising to be aquiline, like those of his father. He is deaf, so that one has to shout to him in speaking. that one has to shout to him in speaking.

The first place in Canada that the family went to was Chambly, a small town and military post on the Richelieu river, about twelve miles from Montreal. At that place they lived for some nonteal. At that place they lived for some time, in a quiet way, almost incognito. They next went to live in Montreal, and there they are now in that city, in which they may see a good deal of life if they are so disposed.

A few visitors came to see the family. They were late officers of the Rebel army, one named Colonel Johnson, a second, Colonel Sutherland, and a three Cartie.

and a third, Captain Richardson. All are men of the class of gentlemen in the South, and de-ported themselves as such in their visits to the family of the fallen chief.

The feeling of all the family was bitterly against the United States Government.

One day Miss Howell was found in tears, and her mother told the lady with whom they were living that they had received some bad news. They had learned that they were $5000 less in funds than they looked for, and this had rendered their pecuniary affairs very siralt. Miss Howell left this change very much, and for some time did not get over it. Like all women of high spirit, she could not brook the idea of living in indirence—sne who had been reared in the lap of luxpry. It was certainly a sad mis-fortune for any lady.

A short time after this the family left the house they were living in, in which the charge for living was small, to go to one where it was still smaller, alleging the poor state of their finances as the cause of the change. They also said they would have to discharge Mary, their servant, in order to economize as much as lay in their power.

The next piace to which the family went was a house on Maustield street, in the upper part of the city, but they did not long stay there, and then went to live in the east end of the city, in a house on the North side of Viger Square, formed by Dubord street. Here they live at the present time. The house is a new stone one, and kept in good, neat style, though there is no luxury about it.

The family go to the Church of England services. At first they went to the Cathedral, and next to Trinity Church, which is on the North west corner of Viger Square, and therefore quite close to the house in which they now dwell. A very good man officiates there—the Rev. Mr. Ban-croft, who is a native of one of the Northern States. In December last, Mrs. Howell was daily on the lookout for her son Jefferson Howell, who was a lieutenant on board the privateer Shenandoah, and when the telegram telling of his arrest at Portland, the old lady felt very sorrowful. He was coming on to Montreal to join the family circle, and they looked forward to a happy reumon, with him in the midst, to tell of his adventures, but ex-Lieutenant Howell, instead or coming to a new home, was taken to a comfortless prison—there to await the fiat of the law.

Mrs. Howell, in talking of Canada, said she was afraid it would be taken by the United States, or if not taken, annexed. She likes the ideas of caste that prevail in the province, and thinks that in this the people are like those of the South, who dislike the freedom of manner and equality that is in the North.

So enthusiastic is Miss Howell in war matters that she has with her a rag of a color taken from a United States regiment, the rag stained with blood. This thing, which is a singular one or a young lady to keep, she looks upon with

LETTER FROM GENERAL HURLBUT. Major-General Hurlbut sent the following letter to the Chicago Tribune, dated Belvidere, Illinois, September 26:-

I inclose you extracts from a letter recently received by me from the interior of Louis'ana. I cannot give the writer's name or address because of the danger that would result to him. He is a man of high character, a prominent officer in one of our Illinois regiments during the war, and of very calm judgment. He writes

"It will be a hard time for Northern men down here if you let the fall elections go against Congress. The eyes of both parties are turned towards the North, and neither can conceal their anxiety as to the result. If the Maine election is the key-note, then bring out the 'Star Secretary Burney's the control of the contro Spangled Banner, and it will meet with such a reception as will astonish these people who believe they are so powerful at home. All we wish to know is whether treason or loyalty is to be honored and rewarded by the great American honored and rewarded by the great American people, and you will see a great party spring up here who will be in sympathy, and work in harmony with the Republican party of the North; but it is useless to expect men to organize a party when their persons are in constant danger. I hope and pray you may succeed, and this toul spirit be rebuked that would pull down our brightest names, mar our noble history, and elevate in their place the heroes of wrong and the records of treason. Work on, and give us the records of treason. Work on, and give us what we fought to obtain—the right to live wherever the American flag floats, and freely proclaim our political principles,"

This is but one of many like it in tone and character which comes to me. The success of this campaign must secure these rights.

Nomination of Genery Twitchell for Congress in the Third District.

Bosron, October 5 .- The Republicans of the Bosron, October 5.—The Republicans of the Third (Boston) District this evening nominated Genery Twitchell, President of the Worcester Ratiroad Corporation, as a candidate to the Fortleth Congress, in place of Hon. Alexander H. Rice, who would not accept a renomination.

"DRUID."-It now appears that Mr. C. C. Flint, Chief Accountant to the Paymaster at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, who recently absconded from Norfolk, Va., taking with him some twelve or fifteen thousand dollars of other people's money and somebody else's wife, is the same individual who, over the signature of "Druid," used to write, in the early years of the war, correspondence for the New York World from Baltimore, and who, in 1864, transferred his unpatriotic effusions to the Daily
