WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1866.

The Victory.

WE congratulate our readers upon the glorious victory achieved yesterday by the Republican party. We rejoice over it not as a mete partisan victory, but as a triumph of the people, a victory and a vindication of the popular element in our Government.

In Pennsylvania we have elected our entire State ticket, our Legislature, which insures a United States Senator, and have re-elected every Republican Congressman, with a gain or two and probably three Congressmen.

In Chie we carry everything by increased majorities defeating Pendleton for Congress. the Democratic nominer for Vice-President he limitana we carry our ricket by about the mainties of 1866.

In lowe we carry the entire State and Conpressumm Discrees by splendid majorit'es.

The magnitude of this great triumph must he measured by the forces we have had to common against. It is not merely a victory pose the Democratic party, but it is a victory page that party reinforced by President Johnson and his course influence. We have fought the humbe against the whole power and patronsee of the Federal Administration. We have magnitud against the treachery of those whom our own hamds had armed with power. We have had nothing to rely upon but the intelligence and incorruptible virtue of the masses of the people. We have triumphed through the might of our principles.

The general result as to Congress is most gratifying. So far as heard from, we have not tost a man, while we have probably gamed three or four memb rs. The indorsement of their Representatives by the people is complete, emphatic, overwhelming. The popular verdict against "My Policy" is unmistakable and authoritative. The supremacy and integrity of the popular branch of the Government are maintained. We are happily saved from that threatened monstrosity of usurpation, an illegal, bogus, and revolutionary organization of the lower branch of Congress.

So far as our own State is concerned, she has done nobly. The Democracy, reinforced by the Federal Administration, made the most desperate efforts to wrest from us the the control of the State. The close Congressional districts were worked up with an energy borrowed from desperation. In spite of all their efforts, we have more than held our own. We gain on Congress, and we secure the election of a sound and honorable Republican in place of that renegade and turn-coat who has so long misrepresented us in the United States Senate. Our majority is decreased somewhat in this city, it is true. but the party as a party is stronger and firmer than ever before. Twenty-five hundred votes measure the entire strength of the "bread-and-butter brigade" in our midst. The party has been purified, but not weak-

Looking over the whole ground, and considering the nature of the influences brought to bear against us, we have cause for great rejoicing over the good work done yesterday. It was a Waterloo defeat to the Democracy. It was their last desperate attempt to retrieve their shattered fortunes. They must now go out of sight as an organization. They fought not so much for victory as for life.

The people of the "mighty North" have again spoken. Will the President listen?

Who We Have Lost.

NOTWITHSTANDING the heavy losses of the Republicans in the Navy Yard Wards, we have lost but a very few of our candidates. Nichols, in the First Senatorial District, is defeated; but that result was brought about by many personal influences as well as political; and the peculiar attitude of the opposing candidates in regard to the Senatorial question, makes such a defeat bardly a loss for the party. General McCandless is the least objectionable Democrat that could have been selected.

In the Second Legislative District, William S. Gregory, Democrat, is elected-a gain for that party. So also in the Fifth, William B. Hood is chosen. The result in these two districts can cause no surprise, as the whole patronage of the Government was turned against them.

It will thus be seen that, notwithstanding the desperate efforts of the opposition, backed by all the patronage of the Administration, we have lost but three votes in the Legislature, and we had some twenty odd to spare.

What Our New York Contemporaries Think.

THE New York Tribune, after a careful estimate of the returns, and of the special despatches placed at its control, estimates our majority for GEABY to be from 10,000 to 20,000, and claims that we have carried only our own members and General Cake, It concludes its leader with the salutation:-Well done, Old Keystone. New York will double your majority."

The New York Times gives us the State by from 20,000 to 25,000, and also nineteen members of Congress-a gain of three over last election; and, speaking of the West, adds:-

"Thus far we have nothing from the West, except a vague assertion that, in Eastern Ohio, the Republican gains are considerable. There can be little doubt that the results are Pennsylvania over again, and that most of the gains are on the Republican side. As for Indiana and lows, the news will be only the realization of estimates all inclining to the strengthening of majority now almost overwhelming.

The New York World concedes the election of General Geary by 15,000 majority, and also acknowledges our gain of General Cake, It, however, takes heart because of the Demoeratic gains in Philadelphia, and because of the slow manner in which the returns come in. It says :-

"The results of the election vesterday are too meagre for one to state positively the full result in each State Moreover, little reliance can be placed upon the first despatches that are recrived, since they pass through Republican bands, and are doctored by them to suit them-selves, as was done in the case of the Vermont and Maine elections last month. But the news, meagre as it is, indicates Democratic gains everywhere. The very paucity of reports received last night augurs well for the Democrats, for had the radicals achieved a victory, they would have spread the news far and wide at

The New York Herald gives us the State by 15,000 to 20,000 and deduces the conclusion

"Altogether we think the results of yester-day's elections may be pronounced sufficiently decisive to call for a new departure by the Ad ministration and the Southern States in favor of he Constitutional amendment of Congress now before the States for their ratiocation. The gains of the Democrats in the comparative popular vote in such cities as Philadelphia and Cincinnati reveal the assistance drawn from the Administration; but the general drift of the copular current outside of the great cities indicates more clearly the predominant public senti-

Our Victory and the Unionists of the South.

THE result of yesterday's vote will cheer the hearts of the struggling, depressed, and overborne Union men of the South. It will show them that they are not forgotten by the great Union party of the nation. It will encourage them to hold fast their faith in free principles, and to labor for their final recognition and triumph in the South. Let us hope, too, that it will give them better protection at home. The late Rebels may as well understand first as last, that the era of violence and misrule at the South must come to a close. Men must be allowed to express their sentiments there as well as elsewhere, without molestation. The victory of yesterday means "reconstruction" on the plan of free schools, a free press, and free discussion. Let our Southern brethren conform to the situation at once.

Fifty Republican Congressmen Elected, FIFTY Republican Congressmen were elected yesterday, with the chances in favor of two more. This is better than the most enthusiastic dared to hope. It hardly seemed possible, with the tremendous efforts brought to bear against the Republican members, that some of them should not fail of an election. The people have responded most nobly in defense of their faithful representatives.

Woollen Mill Destroyed.

Boston, October 10 .- The Arlington Mill, in Lawrence, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The mill was used mainly for the manutacture of woollen goods, and employed about 150 bands. The loss is estimated at $150,000, and is said to be covered by insurance.

-The theatre of the Sultan at Constantinople, which has lately been destroyed by fire, is described as naving been most beautiful, of the same form as our European theatres. The dress circle was reserved for the officers of the Court. On the first tier were a few boxes for the use of the diplomatic corps and of the Pachas. On the second and third tiers were large bathing galleries for the use of the ladies of the harem where, nuseen, the Sultan's wives could enjoy the beauty of the performance. Behind these galleries were magnificent salons, furnished in the most costly manner, in which the fair deni-zens of the harem could while away their time in eating sweetmeats or smoking their

-It is related in the Phare de la Loire that the Mayor of a commune having received a letter from the Prefect of his department, enjoining him to take all necessary precautions in case of the cholera making its appearance in his village, replied that he had already made every preparation. The Prefect, not content with this answer, visiting in person the above-named commune, and to his astonishment and dismay found that the worthy Mayor had caused as many graves to be dug in the churchyard as there were inhabitants in the viliage.

-Every year some fresh article of luxury becomes the rage in Paris. At the present moment aquariums are all the fashion, and we could name more than a hundred shops where no other article is sold. Among other noveltles which seem likely to become very fashionable in the capital are watches and chains made of hardened india-rubber, which closely imitates different sorts of wood. THE LOSS OF THE "EVENING STAR."

Only Sixteen Lives Known to Have Been Saved-Names of the Saved-List of the Crew and Steerage Passengers-Names of Women Supposed to be Lost—De-scription of the Vessel.

SAVANNAH, Ga., October 9.—The steamship Evening star, from New York to New Orleans, foundered at 6 o'clock on the morning of Octo-ber 3, 150 miles east of Tybee Island. All the passengers, excepting Mr. Frank Gerrard, of No. 51 Bond street, Brooklyn, Edward Larner and H. H. Harris, are lost. The third mate, Thomas Fitzpatrick, John Dempsey, John Camp-bell, James Howe, Chancellor Mason, crew, and Frank Gerrard, passenger, arrived at Fernandina, Florida, on the 7th instant, four days out, in an exhausted condition. Captain Knapp left the ship in this boat, which was capsized four times after the ship went down, when a piece of drift-wood striking him on the head killed him.

There is no hope or probability of any of the women passengers being saved, or any other passengers than those mentioned. Another boat, with Chief Engineer Finger, Purser Ellery S. Allen, John Lang, Frederick Shaffer, George Smith, John Rowland, John Powers, Dennis Gannon, Rowland Stephens, crew, and Edward Larner and H. H. Harris, passengers, was picked up on the 5th instant, at 5 o'clock, by the bark Fleetuing, Captain Laurig, Norway, from Belize for Southampton, England, and transferred to York to Apalachicola. They arrived at Savan-nah on October 8. The French Opera Troupe on board were all lost. The scene was dreadful beyond expression.

The Chief Engineer, Purser, and H. H. Harris, passenger, saved from the ill-fated Evening Star, leave for New York on the Virgo, to-morrow at 7 o'clock A. M.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT. Augusta, Ga., October 9.—The following additional particulars of the loss of the steamer Exening Star are from the Savannah News of this morning, and embrace the latest details of the disaster:-The steamer Evening Star on the 2d inst, encountered a severe gale, which commenced at 2 o'clock in the atternoon, when she was 180 miles east of Tybee Island. After weathering the storm some seventeen hours, she foundered at 6 o'clock on the morning of the 3d, with 270 souls on beard. Only 17 persons are known to

It seems that there were only three or four lifeboats on board, in one of which the Caief Engi-neer, the Purger, six of the crew, and two pas-sengers succeeded, after capsizing several times. in keeping afloat, natif they were picked up by the Norwegian barque Fleetwing, from which they were transferred to the schooner S. J. Wuring, and arrived here last evening.

The following is the list of those saved on the Purser's book:-Robert Finger, chief engineer; Ellery S. Allen, Purser: John Lang, water-tender: Frederick Shaffer, coal-passer: George mith, seaman; John Powers, seaman; Dennis Sannon, waiter; Rowland Stevens, waiter; Ed ward Larner, passenger; H. H. Hairis, pasenger. A second boat took sixteen persons from the steamer, among whom were the captain and third mate. The boat was capsized twelve or fifteen times. The captain was lost on the fourth time. This boat arrived at Fernandina, Sunday morning, with six persons and two dead bodies on board.

Only one passenger was saved in the third mate's boat. His name is Frank Gerard, whose residence is at No. 31 Bond street, Brooklyn.

The following are the names of the survivors in this boat:—Thomas Fitzgerald, third mate; John Dempsey, seaman; John Campbell, seaman; James Howe, seaman; Chancellor Mason, steerage steward; Frank Gerard, passenger. age steward; Frank Gerard, passenger.
