LETTER FROM PARIS.

[EVENING TELEGRAPH SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.] Paris, October 15.

The Empress Carlotta. The mental derangement of the Empress of Mexico is still the general topic of conversation in the French capital. We have received more complete details on the sudden insanity of the Belgian princess. Our Roman correspondent writes us as follows:-

"Her Mexican Majesty is not so much to be blamed as it would appear. Her obstinacy and her most extraordinary conduct towards the Hely Father must be attributed to a nervous malady, from which she has been suffering for some time past.

"We now hear in Rome, from those persons in attendance upon the Empress, that her nervous excitement has of late been such, that it has been necessary to keep the strictest watch upon her, for fear of her committing some rash act. Yesterday morning she went to the Vatican, without giving Antonelli any previous notice. as the Roman Court etiquette requires. However, his Holiness consented to receive her, notwithstanding the irregularity of her conduct. As soon as the young Empress was ushered into the presence of the Pope, she threw herself at his feet, and declared to him that she was the victim of diabolical persecutions; that her enemies were desirous of putting an end to her days; and that attempts had been made to poison her at the Hotel de Rome, at which she was then staying. She went on to assure the Holy Father that she was afraid to touch food of any kind. Pope Pius, with his usual gentleness, did his utmost to console and comfort the unfortunate Princess. He ordered that a repast should be prepared for her at the Vatican, where she spent the rest of the day.

"When night came efforts were made to persnade her to return to the hotel, but to no purpose. She kept constantly repeating that if she left the Vatican she would fall alvictim to assassins, and that she only telt safe in the presence of the Pope. As her Majesty seemed determined not to leave, the Pope ordered apartments to be prepared for her, and she has since then been an inmate in the Vatican. She refuses to be attended by her ladies of honor, but is willing to receive the attention of ladies entirely strangers to her."

A further letter informs us that the Count de Flandres, her brother, has arrived, and will reconduct her to Miramar as soon as the state of her health will permit.

The news from Mexico is getting worse and worse, and confirms what I have so often written, that we have in France never known the truth respecting the anfortunate expedition in the country of the Aztecs.

Italy for the Italians. The last Kaiserlich will soon have left Venice, and Venetia will be called upon to say whether it is willing to receive Victor Emanuel as its king, in common with the rest of Italy. The Italian Government had hardly received the news of the signature of peace, when it hastened to communicate the intelligence by telegram to the municipalities of Venice, Verona and Mantua, and the following replies were sent to the President of the Council of Ministers. From Venice-"The Manicipal Representation thanks you for the immediate communication of the good news. The City of the Doges forgets her griefs at seeing her long aspirations accomplished; and at length free, she cries-Long live united Italy, the King, and his Gov-

Verona replies in these words: -"We have received the news of the conclusion of peace, and we respond with joy-Long live united Italy." Letters have just reached us that Garibaldi returns to the island of Caprera, the state of his health requiring extreme quiet. He has sent in his resignation of commander of the volunteers, which has been accepted by the King.

The Sicilian Insurrection.

The condition of Sleily appears to give rise to fresh uneasiness. The insurgent bands driven from Palermo have taken to the interior, and an animated discussion has arisen between General Cadorna and the archbishop of that city. In a letter written to that prelate, the General. accuses the monks and priests, and even nuns, of having had no hesitation in placing themselves at the head of the rebels to excite them either to rapine or pillage. He reproaches the Archbishop with having done nothing to put a stop to the excesses of these unworthy ministers of the sanctuary, and asks how it happened that he, whose mission is peace and alliance, did not interfere amongst a populace intoxicated with robbery and murder. Monsignor Naselli, in his reply, repels the responsibility which it is wished to place on the Sicilian clergy.

The Saxon Premier.

The desire of the Emperor of Austria to take the late saxon Premier into his service has given great umbrage at the Prussian Court. Herr von Beust is the only diplomatist able to cope with Von Bismark, and it is well known that he is the inveterate hater of the Hohenzellerns.

The Reorganization of the French Army. The Government of the Tuileries is now much occupied with the reorganization of the army. It is the wish of the Emperor to be able to call out one million of men at a very short notice. The matter will be discussed in the Legislative Assembly.

At Biarritz the weather during the last four days has been be iful—so we hear from our correspondent. The Emperor, whose health is perfect, finds the air, we climate, and the tranquility of this watering place to suit him admirably. Twice at the end a last week, in the afternoon, his Majesty drove the carriage, with the Empress and some of his a carhold. He alighted at some distance from to. town, and walked the rest of the way through the fields. The last of his excursions was to

Opening of the Italian Opera in Paris. Nobody with any pretensions to fashion in Paris can think of not being abonne to the Italian Opera House. The reopening of the Salle Ventadour is always an event.

The impressario has, contrary to his custom. opened the season with his best singers. The first evening he gave us the Somnambula, with Patti, and the second La Norma, with Mad'ile Lagura. The spoiled child of the Salle Ventadoor must have been rather surprised at the not over-enthusiastic reception she has met with this year. However, the enchantress did her utmost to deserve the plaudits of the audience. She sings her finale, with such grace and such effect, that the public at last gave her a salvo of applause, such as it was wont to do last year.

Signorina Adelina must, however, not trifle with the public. For the last three years she has been treating us to pretty much the same kind of dishes, and it is high time that she should change her repertoire, if she does not wish to tire the public, who have so often gone the round of It Barbiere, Linda di Chamounix, and Don Pasquale.

The bills already inform us that the Hispano-American prima donna will, next week, attempt something different from her general style, and will perform the part of the young wite of the "Medico Crabattino," in the lively opera of Crispino e la Comare.

Our Opera Comique has again taken up the popular opera of Le Eonge d'Une Nuit d'Ete; or, a Midsummer Night's Dream. The charming Mad'lle Cabel has again appeared before the Parisian public. Her voice is as fresh as ever. She has found an excellent auxiliary in the new tenor, Lherie, who promises to be one of the leading tenors of the day.

The pretty little theatre Les Bouffes Parisiens has been reopened under the leadership of William Ugalde, who for so many years delighted the habitues of the Opera Comique in La F'ee aux Roses and Le Caid.

A new piece has been brought out at the Gymnase, by the author of the well-known La Famille Renoiton. It is called Nos Bons Villageois, and has been a great hit. Sardou, the dramatic author, is decidedly a lucky fellow, for this is his eleventh piece which has been well received by the difficult-to-please and fickle public of Paris.
