The Result of the Battle.

THE smoke and tumult of our civic contest have not yet sufficiently divided to enable us to tell exactly what are our losses and what our gains. But one fact is clear above all the din and confusion, that the banner of the radical party floats on the field, and that we are the victors. What officers we have lost, and what strongholds we have taken, can only be guessed at in many localities. We will, however, with the light afforded us, seek to map out the results.

In the State of New York, the great focus and centre of Democratic assaults, we must say that the fruits of the battle are extremely uncertain. Although our friends are sanguine of the re-election of Governor Fenton by a small majority, yet it is useless to deny that the fearful majorities against us in the cities have a most discouraging effect.

The gains in the country are almost certainly sufficient to counterbalance the terrible odds in the towns. The New York World grants the election of Fenton by a small maiority. We may therefore feel pretty certain that the State is ours. The Congressional delegation stands at present 21 Republicans to 10 Democrats. By a strange system of balancing up accounts, we have lost three members and gained three members. Among the gain is General Charles H. Van Wyck, a member of the Thirty-sixth and Thirtyseventh Congresses, and a gentleman of ability. The Democrats elect John Morrissey to a seat.

Massachusetts has done better than our wildest anticipation. We stated yesterday that we would be satisfied with forty thousand. She has given us over seventy thousand, and a full delegation, among whom is General Benjamin F. Butler and General N. P. Banks.

The greatest joy, however, must be felt over gallant little Jersey. To her belongs the banner, as she has fought most nobly of them all. She has elected a Republican Legislature, and has secured us a Senator in place of the late William Wright. She has elected both the present Republican members, and given us two more. The delegation now stands 4 Republicans to 1 Democrat. "Jack" Rogers is defeated, and John Hill elected in his place. G. A. Halsey, in the Firth District, is the other gain. Well done, New Jersey! She has forever redeemed herself. Henceforth she will stand in the foremost rank of the States which have declared in favor of progress.

We have lost Delaware, or, rather, we have failed togain the State. It has Mr. Nicholson a radical feeling in that body. I took deter-mined around against it. The radical element sought to strike the word unite out of the ordi-nance regulating the school fund, thus placing the benefits of that fund within the reach of negro children: I opposed that proposition. This fund had been provided years ago for the education of the white children of the State, and they had a vested interest in it. Thousands of children orphaned by the war had to be and they had a vested interest in it. Thousands of children orphaned by the war had to be educated at the public expense, and to have divided this fund with the negro pipulation would have seriously embarrassed the State in its landable efforts to place the benefits of a common school system within the reach of those who are wards of the State, and whose fathers lie dead upon the field of honor."

Now Let the Tempest Cease.

THE fight is ended. The contest has been a bitter one. Each party has done its best to win. The people have decided in favor of Congress. Now let both parties accept the decision in good faith. Let all the acrimonious spirit of partisanship be laid aside. Let us so act as becomes servants of the popular will. The good of the country demands this result. The continuation of excitement will only be productive of evil. The decision is final, irrevocable, and all further opposition is factious and unpatriotic. The New York Times, in a sensible editorial this morning, says :--

"Now that the fall elections are over and the "Now that the fall elections are over and the verdict of the people has been rendered upon the great issues of the hour, we trust that the acquiescence of all parties in the result, and the obliteration of all the acrimonious feelings en-gendered during the contest—which Europeans credit us with at the close of our political cam-paigns—will be even more complete than upon any previous occasion of like character. The canvass, in some localities at least, has been exceedingly bot and angry, and, in more than one part of the country, we have had threats of disturbance on a large scale. There has been a great deal of very violent language, and there great deal of very violent language, and there have been very alrocious charges and counter-charges, while partisans of the more ultra stamp have tried to rouse and inflame the baser feelings of the basest portions of the community. Inere is nothing now to be gained by continuing this sort of thing, so, for the time being, we shall have an end of it.

have an end of it. "A good many people, and not a few news-papers, will teel ashamed, or ought to feel ashamed, at the part they have played. While there is now opportunity for them to repent and perform penance, there will also be an op-portunity for the allayment of those passions which they have attempted to work up. "Intelligent foreign observers have frequently predicted the preasing down of popular in-predicted the breaking down of popular in-stitutions in this country, from the intense ex-citement induced and the deep passions aroused by our off-recurring elections. There are certain characteristics of our recent elec-tions that have a more damenous and threaten-ing amenorance than an threatening appearance than anything in our pre-vious experience. There have not only been threatenings of a resort to violence in many quarters, but actual preparations for it, not merely in Maryland, but in several of the Western States. Our escape from outbreaks has certainly been a narrow one, and must be attributed to the influence of that conservative good sense which has so often asserted itself in times of peril, and which has hereto'ore saved us from so many dangers. It is to that influence we must look for safety in the future, in times when passion threatens to overthrow reason."

I ITERATURE .- We publish on our sixth page to-day, a number of "Literary Re-views," and other interesting matter, which will repay perusal. Among the books reviewed is Algernon Charles Swinburne's "Laus Veneris," which is attracting much attention on both sides of the water.

as its member now, and he will continue so. We regret the result, but it is no loss in our numerical strength.

In Maryland, although the result at first looks so dark, yet, when inspected, it amounts to but little. Although at last election we secured the success of three members, yet the desertion of Phelps made the vote two Republicans to three Democrats. We lose, therefore, but one vote, that of John L. Thomas, Jr. The loss of Creswell in the Senate is counterbalanced by the Senatorial gain in New Jersey, while the gain of two members in Jersey leaves us still a balance of one gain in our tavor.

In the West the House will stand the same as it did before. There is neither a gain or loss in any district.

There comes, however, a light out of the distant West, and a voice to cheer the loyal heart from St. Louis. John Hogan, the personal friend of the President, the caterer to the Executive tour, the satellite and most obnoxious of all the Copperhead members, has been defeated. We breathe freer now that the air is no more tainted by the presence of this most malignant of Rebel sympathizers. We can now make our count of how the next House will stand. The following are the Republicans :--

This is but a rough estimate, and we may be slightly in error, although it is impossible that we are more than one or two wrong on either side. We have, therefore, the necessary two-thirds vote in the House and in the Senate. The vote stands the same as it does at present-36 Republicans to 14 conservatives. Glory enough for one day's work !
