A BOLD EXPLOIT.-About 1 o'clock last Tuesday morning some twenty persons, disguised as gentlemen, were observed in front of the residence of Mr. L. W. Wallazz, at Twenty-first and Wallace streets. Soon after their arrival they were seen to make their way into the house, closely watched by two policemen. Upon entering they discovered that the occupants of the house had been absent at the theatre, and from a programme found in the parior, it was evident that they had been in or parlor, it was evident that they had been in or near "Sleepy Hollow," and being in consequence wrapped closely in the arms of Morpheus, the strange visitors proceeded to devour all of the eatables and drinkables in the dwelling, and soon after became so boisterous (by singing various German, Italian, and English ballads) as to arouse the occupants of the sleeping apartments above them. They made their escape, and, it is believed, took nothing of value away except several overcoats, line hats, jewelry, watches, and the like, all of which they seemed to think belonged to them. No arrests were made, but the policemen recognized several notorious persons in the party, and promptly informed Lieutenaut Loveaire of the evenis of the evening, and the names of the parties recognized. The Lieutenant would have visited the scene himself, but was prevented from doing so by a sudden attack of chronic corpulence. Among the "professionals" noticed were Major W. P. Delaney, Professor Albert Roberts, Dr. James N. Bedloc, and nearly all of the members of the Philadelphia Vocalists! Club

Just before departing, these midnight warblers had the boldness to sing, while upon the sidewalk, Schubert's beautiful serenade, "Dear Angel, Sleep Well." This was so well executed that the policemen could not find it in their hearts to make any arrests, and so these wicked young men are still at large.

IMPROVEMENT ON NINTH STREET.-In passing through Ninth street, from Arch to wards Market, our attention was attracted to a very ment. It was No. 21, occu pied by Mr. J. H. Bergenski as a French nower emporium. The building is faced with unc pressed brick, is four stories in height, nnished in modern style. The store itself has two very handsome place-glass bulk windows, which give a fine, cheerful appearance. The interior is light, and handsomely fitted up with black walnut cases and fixtures. The gas fixtures are from the establishment of Cornelly Baker & Co. The building itself belongs to Mr. J. Kates. The improvements foot upa total of $12,000. In addition, Mr. Borgenski & going to have a large prismatic light put upon front of the building, that can be seen for a long distance.

PREPARING FOR THANKSGIVING .- John Williams and Frank Wood were interrupted in their travels, yesterday morning, at Forty-first and Market streets, by Officer Kelly, of the Six teenth District. They had in their possession two large bags, whose corpulency seemed to indicate a large amount of contents, and which the two handled with a most affectionate care. The bags were serzed and opened, and what a sight for hungry eyes! Turkeys and chickens in profusion. Neither could a rational tale unfold as to obtaining proper possession of such an amount of forage, and they were both taken to the Station House, and this morning had a hearing before Alderman Allen, who committed hem to suswer the charge of larceny. It apreared from the evidence given at the hearing that the plunder was stolen from a farmer in Belaware county, and the two prisoners will be remanded thither for trial.

BRUIAL ASSAULT .- A man by the name of Lewis Chinsky was arrested on the charge of committing a brutal assault upon a little boy, named Kennedy, who lives at No. 3326 Market It appears that the boy was one or a number who congregate around the glass-house in West Philadelphia, and annoy the workmen. Chinsky, who is foreman of the glass works, being enraged at some fresh aunoyance, ran out and, it is said, struck and kicked Kennedy (who is only about ten years old) in the head, indicting a severe bruise on the side of his bead, and a cut on his lower jaw. The arsault took place last Tue-day. This morning he had a hearing before Alderman Beitter, when the boy's mother and several of the witnesses of the affair testified as to the facts in the case. He was held in $1500 ball to answer at Court.

ANOTHER DEAD INNOCENT .- Early this morning, a dead new-born male child was found at Eleventh and Pearl streets. It was taken to the Fourteenth Ward Station House, and the Coroner summoned to hold an inquest. Hardly a day passes without our having to record a similar case to that of the above. Infanticide appears to be on the increase among us, or, at east, is more openly perpetrated.

MISCELLANEOUS POLICE CASES .- Mary Ann Graham was arrested yesterday, on the charge of passing counterfeit money, at a place in Suffolk street. She was taken before Alderman Butler, who, after a hearing in the case, committed her in default of $500 to answer. John Doughterty, who is said to be unruly when in his cups, got on a high horse yesterday afternoon. He is said to have "raised Cain" in the neighborhood of Eighth and Shippen streets to the great scandal of that quiet and orderly neighborhood. Not yielding to moral suasion, he was arrested and put in "quod." He was committed by Alderman Tittermary on a charge of malicious mischief.

Annie Gilhouse was taken in charge by the police for harboring a man's wife. Annie lives at Passyunk road and German streets, and is a widow, having lost her husband a short time since. He was killed in a row, it is said. Yesterday morning the husband of the woman Annie was secreting got a warrant out for her arrest, and had her taken before Alderman Pot inger, who committed her to answer the charge demeanor. The bereaved husband found and obtained the lost partner of his joys, and went off reloiding.

BREACHES OF ORDINANCE.-There are many cases of breaches of ordinances coming up before High Constable Clark every day. up before High Con-table Clark every day.
Although that officer is very liberal in his interpretation of the ordinances, and tries to be as lenient in the discharge of his duties as is compatible with the public interests, yet there are many aggravated cases that have to be brought under notice. Jacob Brown, who has been for some time buckstering fresh meat tarough the streets, was brought up with a round turn, in North Second street, yesterday, and taken before Alderman Toland. After a hearing in the case, he was held in $500 bail to answer. Adolph Doluman, who keeps a small place at No. 1210 South street, was also arrested for a breach of the sign ordinance, in putting out his goods beyond the limit allowed by law. He goods beyond the limit allowed by law. He was taken before Alderman Murrow, and fined. This is a nuisance that is to be met with anywhere along the line of our business streets.

STEALING HARNESS,-Andrew Moore is said to have done a rather neat thing in the thieving line of business yesterday. It is alleged that he walked into a stable at Fifteenth and Callowhill streets, kept by a Mr. Young, and taking the harness off of a horse that stood in there, he took himself off with his plunder in the most nonchalant style. He was arrested at Twelith and Vine streets, and the harness was recovered by the proper owners. He was escorted to the office of Alderman Massey, and was introduced to that magistrate in a very informal manner. After a hearing in the case, Moore found that he had got more than he bargained for, as he was held in $1000 bail to auswer at Court the charge of larceny.

TILL-TAPPER.—A young scamp named John Wilson was arrested this morning for robbing the money-drawer of a small store at No. 848 South Front street It seems that watched his opportunity, and, sneaking in be hind the counter, opened the drawer and abstracted its contents. Just at that moment however, his lucky star failed him. He was ob-served and attempted to escape, and, as he ran, threw away his ill-gotten gams. His pursuers, however, were better trained than he was, and caught him before he had gone many steps. was taken before Alderman Tittermary, who after hearing the facts of the case, committed him to answer.

WHAT'S IN A NAME ?- A man giving the terribly suggestive name of Hugh Murder was arrested last night at No. 1515 Bodine street, for committing an assault and battery upon Officer Irwin, of the police. The affair occurred on last Saturday night, when the officer attempted to arrest the prisoner, who turned on him, and then a friend of the pri-oner's re-cued him. He managed to clude the police until last night, when he was arrested at his residence. He was taken before Alderman Shoemaker, who com-mitted him, in default of bail, to answer.

A FEMALE PROFESSIONAL. - Elizabeth Mason, a colored woman, was arrested yester-day on a charge of larceny. It appears that she had stolen a number of dresses and, had taken them to "her uncle" to convert into greenbacks. The detectives got on her track and arrested her at Tenth and South streets. When arrested she sion. At the hear ing it was alleged that she had pawned some silver which she had stolen, and which was identified by the owner. She was held for a hearing at the Central Station this afternoon.

[SPECIAL DESPATOR TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.] BALTIMORE, November 8-1 P. M.-The case of the new Police Commissioners and the Sheriff is now being argued before Judge Bartol, and 18 likely to occupy the Court all day.

The prisoners' counsel contend that they committed no offense, violated no law, and therefore were not amenable, and were not required to give security. The counsel for the State contend that they violated the public peace, incited to riot, endangered the peace of the city, and must be held amenable to law as other citizens who so offend. The court-room is densely packed, but all is quiet.

On Sunday, October 21, the Emperor started from Mexico for Orizava, whither he went protessedly for his health, and to enable him to receive news from the Empress more frequently and quickly. But it is generally understood that although the journey may have been under-taken originally for these purposes, it will result in his reaching the coast and embarking for Europe. His health has suffered much from fever and ague contracted at Cuernavaca. The sad news of the Empress' calamity has completely prostrated him. GENERAL CASTELNAU. the aid-de-camp of the Emperor Napoleon, and special commissioner from France to Mexico, arrived in the capital Sunday night, October 21. He met the Emperor Maximilian at Ayoti, on the road near Mexico, and, after salutations, each went his respective way. No official communication appears to have passed between them. Maximil an is reported to have declined communicating with the General on the astates the country until his return to Mexico. It is very doubtful if General Castelnau has much ousiness to transact with him. coming of this commissioner has been waited in Mexico with the createst interest and even anxiety. Everything is adoat there, and all are waiting the development of the new policy whatever that may be. Some say that Bazaine will be at the head of affairs, others say Castelnau, others Juarez, or Santa Anna, or Orlega, under American protection. Every one has he say about the future of this poor country, out no one seems to know what it will be. THE CONDITION OF THE COUNTRY is quite as bad as it well could be in every aspect. The finances are expansied. The crops of barley and Indian corn, the mainstay of the people, are short. Corn is worth tweive doilar-"carga" of four bushels in the capica. The neighborhood of the city and the country generally is overrun with bands of guerilias, professedly Liberals, but in practice bands and cuttbroats. A band under one Antonio Perez took possession last month of Apram, a village fifty miles from the capital, sacked the house-, carried off some of the inhabitants for ransom, and tinisued by violating the best women of the town in the public squae-under the direction of their leader. At the same place they stopped the work on the rail-way to Vera Cruz, and took two of the loco notives used in the construction to hold for ran som, demanding $2000. The main road to Vera Cruz is infested with these guerilla bands, in some cases numbering no less than a thousand men, who commit robperies and violence on all alike, be they French Mexicans, or Americans. On the night of Oc-tober 22 they entered Paso del Macho, the present terminus of the railway from Vera Cruz to Mexico, and stole 200 mules from under the noses of a French garrison. The mules belonged to Santiago Smith, a well-known American, who has a large capital invested in the business of transporting freight in Mexico. Speech by Governor Swann at Baltimore -He Congratulates the Citizens of Baltimore on the Result of the Election in that City, Claiming it as a Justificatien and Endorsement of His Course.

BALTIMORE, November 7 .- There is universal loy among the conservatives at the complete trumph they have gained at the election, in spite of the efforts of the radical party. One ces nothing but shaking of hands and congratulations on all sides. The radicals are quite crestfallen. As Governor Swann was proceeding along Baltimore street a little after 10 o'clock this morning, a large crowd collected around him, and, with loud cheers, accompanied him to the Exchange. The Governor entered the office of the Internal Revenue Department, and the crowd, which soon filled up the space be-tween the Exchange and the Post Office, clamored loudly for a speech, cheering justily for the Governor and groaning for Mayor Chapman and Judge Bond. After repeated calls the Governor ascended the staircase amid enthusiastic cheers, and addressed the crowd in the following terms:-

In coming here this morning I did not expect to be followed by so large a crowd of my follow-citizens. For the last two weeks I have been struggling in the interests of peace and or Constitution to secure the people of Baltimore their just rights. It became my duty, in pursuing the course I had marked out for myself, to remove the Commissioners of Police. (Loud cheers.) I have the right to do so under Constitution and laws of your State. I stand by that right. I do not mean to secode from the position I have taken. (Cries of "We'll keep you there.") The result of the election has verified all I have said. I have been charged with appointing registrars for the purpose of re-storing the right of suffrage to those lately in arms against the State and country. Our oppo-nents have appointed the judges in the election to sit as a board of control, and we have beaten them by our votes at the ballot-box yes terday, with themselves as judges of the election. They have been the registrars, and no gentleman appointed by me had any control. They have endorsed the loyalty of every man who has presented himself. (Loud cheers.) do not propose to make a speech; I have been struggling in the interest of peace to keep the military out of your streets, and prevent blood shed. (Cheers.) We have met them in their own house, and beaten them with their own weapons, (Loud cheers,) Now, gentlemen, will say to you that the city of Baltimore, and the conservatives, who constitute three fourths of the pepulation, have covered themselves with glory-(loud cheers) -because they have planted themselves on the Constitution and the laws of their State, and have gone through this exciting election without bloodshed and Too much praise cannot be given them. (Loud cheers, and calls for cheers for Tom Swann for United States Senator, which were given.)
I am proud to recognize that fact, and to give the citizens of Battimore credit for
it. I am proud to receive this ovation at the hands of men who have stood by the Constitu-tion. (Loud cheers.) This contest is won. We have achieved a glorious victory, the news of which is going to the North, to the South, to the East, and to the West-a victory that win prove to the whole country that we have been opposed to the invasion of our State by extrem ists and revolutionists, (Loud applause.) have extracted from the radicals themselves the admission that the Governor of the State has stood by the law. Now, gentlemen, you have done your duty, and are now in the ascendancy. (Cheers.) The governmental control is in your hands, and I am sure you will not abuse the power intrusted to you by people. The State will sustain you. The North, South, East, and West will applaud you, and you will cover yourselves with laurels that can never fade. You have not only been supported by those who once accused you of trampling on the laws of the State, but you have been pronounced loyal by the flat that has so a torth trampling. gone forth from their own office. (Tremendous cheers. Calls for cheers for Governor Swann, which we hearthy responded to.) And now, gentlemen, standing by the dag of our country, and by the President, who is struggling against those who would involve the country in another civit war-(loud cheers for Audrew Johnson)locking on the past, on the complications that have distracted and are convulsing the people of this great country, we are ready to indorse the principle of one of the great states men of this country. We will stand by that principle, and, it necessary, fall by it:—"Union and liberty, now and forever." (Tremendous cheer-After receiving the congratulations of the crowd on the result or the electron, the Governor refred into the office of the Internal Revenue Commissioners amid loud cheers.

"POLICY AND JUSTICE IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS." Lecture of Hon. George S. Boutwell-Negro Suffrage the Pivet Upon Which the Policy of Justice Must Turn-Congress May Abolish the Southern State Governments and Establish Territorial Governments. Etc.

Boston, November 7 .- Hon. George S. Boutwell delivered a lecture in the Music Hall this evening on political mariets, taking for his subeet "Policy and Justice in Public Affairs." Tue arst portion of his address was given no to a noting of instances in this country and in the Old World or policy in Government regurilless of justice and the injurious and fatal results attending its use.

From these experiences he thought that we should resolve that this Government should not be reconstructed except on a basis of absolute justice. In the work of reconstruction he argued that there are four classes of people to be considered, as the loyal people of the North, the Rebels of the South, and loyal whites and blacks of that section of our country. The constitutional amenoments which have been proposed by Congress protect the layal people of the North in reference to the equality there provided for in representation, and the security for the national debt and the exclusion of the Rebel debt. In speaking of the rights of the black people, which must be considered in the matter of reconstruction, Mr. Boutwell said the the pivot upon which the policy of justice mus-turn hereafter is the right of the negro to vote. That must be demanded. Peace in the South can only be brought about by the extension of the elective franchise.

Without suffrage there will be nothing but war and trouble. The white men of the Souta are and trouble. The waite men of the South are banded together in secret organizations against the colored people. There are two bitter enemies in the South—the whites and olacks—ready to rush upon each other. Collisions and serious outbreaks are to be avoided only by the extension of the elective tranchise to the black masses. This extension of the franchise will at masses. This extension of the franchise will at once divide public sentiment and the force of the South. We must also make these men citizens for commercial reasons. All the interest of business are centred in the freedmen and elevation of these people. Coming next to a discussion of the policy which the Fortieth Congress should adopt, Mr. Boutwell said two great ends must be brought about—first, universal suffrage. One way of obtaining this was by holding the States as they now are until, by their own motion, they do justice to the colored people. Congress may abolish the governments of these States and establish Territorial governments, and declare who shall and who shall not yoke.

This is most likely the result to which the action of Congress now tends—the destruction of those false Governments, and the formation of Constitutional Governments. The next object to be accomplished was the purishment of the President, if he should be found guilty of unconstitutional acts. If he was guilty of violating any of the laws of the land, the fecturer argued that he should be arraigned. For the purpose of showing that the President had violated exthat he should be arraigned. For the purpose of shewing that the President had violated existing laws, and that there were charges against him of grave foundations, Mr. Boutwell cited two instances. We know, he said, that he has appointed men to office who cannot take the oath of July, 1862, because they have sided and comforted the enemy; and oath of July, 1862, because they have sided and comforted the enemy; and again, that he has appointed men to office who, at the last session of Congress, were rejected by that body when offered for the very same offices in which he had placed them, and the law says that the appointments of the Executive must have the consent of the Senste. Mr. Boutwell, in his conclusion, predicted that if the Republican party did not accept the issue of universal suffrage before 1868, it would fall out of sight.

THE "GREATEST" GERMAN TRAGEDIAN-BOOK MIL DAWISON.-Last night the appearance of the aussence at the Academy of Music reminded us of the anatomy of the class of little precocious boys-# was extremely thin in the lower part, but fully developed around the head. That portion of the building occupied usually by the elite was nearly empty, but the seventa heaven, we mean tier, was well filled with the German portion of our population. Mr. Dawison played Shylock. As the actor was a German, and not familiar with English, he must have read a translation of Shakespeare's play, and it is possible that in the expression of the bard's rounded periods in German, the true idea of the Jew may have been imparted, Certain it is, however, that Mr. Dawison did not represent the Venetian money-lender in the true portraiture given us of him by Shakespeare.

a Judging from his paysiognomy, it is probable that Mr. Dawison belongs to the race of Judah, and a sympathy with his feelow-countrymen may have been the cause which has led him to represent "Shylock" as a great deal better sort of a rellow than we ever dreamed he could appear. He robbed him of his avarice, or his malignant hatred, of his worst traits of character, and gave us quite a gentlemanly, though eccentric old man, in place of the eringing, murde ing miser. When the personation of a bad man is attempted, we have no patience with the actor who from prejudice will distort the author and change the character. Edwin Booth and E. L. Davenport are ten times better actors than this toreigner, who is said to be ble "greatest German tragedian." Speaking without prejudice, we will say that Mr. Dawison is about equal to a good stock actor; and it he drew so immensely in Germany, we think it would pay for some of our "stars" to study the Teutonic tongue, go to the Fatherland, and make their fortunes. A dozen equally good actors can be seen at almost all of our German theatres, and we are filled with a dark suspicion toat the advent of Dawison is the ingenious attempt of some enterprising Yankee to palm off as a European celebrity some unknown nctor, who seeks to secure a netice in America which was not possible at home. If such crowds as we are told flocked to see him in New York really did go after him, we have a poorer estimate of their critical ability than any which we have formed before. He is really not worthy of a visit from any critical Pheladelphian,
