COOPER & CONARD, NINTH AND MARKET. There are few things more pleasant to contemplate in the development of a large city, than substantial evidences of the success of her enterprising and deserving business firms. Indeed, in a very important sense, the life of a great city is involved in the vitality of her merchants. To chronicle the indications of mercantile prosperity is therefore always an agreeable duty.

The old corner of Ninth and Market streets has long been associated with the selling of dry goods. It is to-day for all practical purposes a new corner; but its uses remain unchanged in kind, though greatly augmented in degree. The proprietors, Messrs, Cooper & Conard, belong to the indomitable athletic school of business men, who take no account of obstacles except to render them subservient to increased success; and having just completed one of the finest improvements in that section of our city, the present is a fit time for some remarks upon the bistory of this establishment.

Messrs. Cooper & Conard commenced business at this locality in the spring of 1852, in one room fronting on Market street, naving small show windows and old-fashioned porches over the doors. Their store then was what would now be called a contracted, badly lighted, and poorly ventilated place. Their first progressive step was to add a basement for the storage and sale of domestic goods, and modernize the windows, doors, and front generally, which was then acknowledged to be a decided improvement. Soon they felt the want of a cloak and shawl room, which they obtained on the second floor. But the march of trade again straitened their premises, which eventuated in their obtaining possession of the whole of the original building. This they continued to occupy for a number of years, making the most of its facilities. But again enlargement became a necessity, to prepare for which Messrs. Cooper & Conard purchased the property running back to the next street, giving them a Ninth street front of 120 feet.

On the lot thus secured, they commenced the erection of a new and substantial business edifice in July last, the interior of which is now receiving its finishing touches. To their old store of fifty feet by twenty-two feet, they have thus made a seventy feet addition, making the entire premises twenty-two feet by one hundred and twenty feet, the whole being three stories high, with a well-furnished and admirably lighted basement. The new structure, just completed, is as beautiful and substantial a specimen of brickwork as our city affords. The very best mechanical talent was secured to superintend its erection, and we believe nothing has been omitted to render it a complete business editice. Its internal arrangements anticipate every want for the convenience of customers and clerks, and in the construction of counters, shelving, staircasingswhich are a mixture of walnut and ash-together with the means of lighting, warming, and ventilating, no expense has been spared nor labor slighted to make a building which should be adapted to all the requirements of the firm, whether it be for carrying on the business of retailing, wholesaling, or jobbing.

In some respects this structure is a model. All the water from the roof, waste water, waterclosets, etc., are conducted into the sewer at Jayne street; the light throughout the building is uniform and excellent, which is of the utmost importance to purchasers in selecting goods; and the easy access to every part of the house will be appreciated by all as a convenience, and by the lazy as a luxury.

The basement of the building is divided into three rooms or apariments, the principal of which is about seventy feet long, and is better lighted than are many first floors. It is devoted principally to the sale of Blankets and Quilts.

The first, or ground floor, is in one entire room, 120 feet in length (and a most beautiful and attractive salesroom it is), devoted wholly to the sale of cloths, cassimeres, domestics, and dress goods.

Ascending by two easy flights of stairs to the second story, we find two distinct departments in both of which this house excels, viz.:-Cloaks for Ladies and Boys' Clothing-the south end being devoted to the former, and the middle portion as a salesroom for the latter. The northern part is a separate room, 22 feet by 36 feet, and is used as the cutting-room, and for taking orders for ordered work.

The third story is occupied in manufacturing garments that are exhibited for sale in the second story.

The present stocks of goods offered by this firm, in all their departments, are in keeping with their enlarged facilities for selling them. In one respect, we may state that the temporary delay to which they were subjected by this improvement has been of decided advantage to purchasers. Instead of buying their goods, both imported and domestic, at the usual time, they were compelled to wait for the completion of their warerooms, and the result has been in their favor by a very large percentage, as nearly all kinds of goods have suffered a material decline from the opening prices of the season. Messrs. Cooper & Conard are hence enabled to sell dress goods, such as plain and plaid poplins, French merinoes, mourning goods, cloths, cassimeres, flannels, imported goods generally, and all domestic woollens, at a reduction in prices which buyers will appreciate. They deserve credit for giving their customers the beneuit of this reduction, instead of turning it to their own advantage, as they might have done; and persons who have waited for the completion of these improvements in order to patronize their favorite store, will thus find a suitable compensation for their patience.

The career of this house from the start has followed the Excelsior motto-"Onward and upward." The crisis of 1857, and the universal stagnation of 1860, interposed a temporary check to their progress, but entailed no retrogression. Their mode of transacting business is straightforward. Every want of their patrous is coarefully studied and met. The classes of goods they keep cover a wide range, though it we were obliged to name a special feature in this regard, it would be that their stock excels in what are termed medium grades-those adapted to the great mass of the people. This does not hold, however, with reference to their cloths, cassimeres, and domestics, in which their stock is unsurpassed by any other in the city. Their facilities for buying goods at first hands are unusually good; and as they buy mainly for cash, and attend the best sales, of French goods more particularly, their prices are uniformly moderate. We observe that in poplins, reps, and other fashionable dress fabrics their prices are now lower than the same articles have sold at since the fall of 1862.

But we will leave our readers to visit this enlarged and greatly improved establishment, and decide upon its additional merits for themselves.

"CREDIT SYSTEM" OF LIFE INSURANCE. Missrs. Peck & Hillman, agents of "The Connecticut Mutual" at Troy, state in the Baltimore Underwriter of October, in their "reply to undeniable facts," that no assessment of premium notes has ever been found necessary. This statement is so notoriously incorrect, and evinces such "inexcusable ignorance," or something worse, that it becomes proper to refute it by a further statement of "undeniable facts."

The Connecticut Mutual did find It necessary to assess premium notes four times within the last six years. It was done in settlements with policy holders in 1860, '61, '62, and '63. That there shall be no misunderstanding upon the subject, I give the settlements made in those years upon a policy which they issued in January, 1856,

An assessment of 20 per cent, upon the notes was necessary to make up the difference between a 40 per cent. and 50 per cent. dividend. These four settlements were as follows:-Premium Note, $59; Cash Premium, $59; six per cent, interest on ($236) four outstanding notes, $14.16, and $12.00, the "excess of note over dividend," an assessment of a little more than 20 per cent. upon the premium notes for four years; making the cash payments of those years, $85.16 annually, instead of $59. Whenever desired, these settlements will be substantiated by the statements that were rendered by the Company, Notwithstanding the assertion of P. & H. that 'no assessment of premium notes has ever been found necessary," it seems to have been necessary to assess them 20 per cent. per annum, no less than four times in tour years.

As justice requires an equitable distribution of the "divisible surplus" among the members, it is presumed that the settlements of those years were all made upon the same basis: if they were not, so much the more discreditable.

P. & H. have shown either "inexcusable ignorance" or a want of vicacity.

FACTS VS. FICTION. "Corporations Have Souls."

From the Berkshire County Eagle. Under this head, the Philadelphia press are justly commending the Equitable Life Insurance Company for consenting to pay a claim on a Policy, where the party had been insured for years. The premium coming due on Monday, October 15, the assured party drew his check for the premium on the 13th, but it was not presented until the 16th, when it was known the party was dangerously ill, of which illness he scon died. The agent declined to receive the premium, and the matter was referred to the Company. The secretary replied:—"We are certainly not legally bound to receive it, but as the parties appear to have acted in good faith, we prefer to incur the loss rather than take advantage of their neglect." The Policies of the Berkshire Life Insurance Company of Pittsfield, Mass., are not liable to any doubt or question in a case of this kind, as they are all non-forfertable, and what is granted as a favor by the Equitable, is granted by the Berkshire as a matter of right, Equity and contract with the assured, and secured by the Policy itself. Policies issued by this Company are not for-feited by the non-payment of premium, but are continued in force for a period of time proportioned to the value of the Policy at the such non-payment; as fully explained in the pamphlets and circulars to be had free, of the Company or any of its agents.

CITY INTELLIGENCE

[For Additional Local Items see Third Page.]

A RIVER PIRATE.-For some time past the suspicions of the Harbor Police have been aroused by the appearance of a small batteau which made its appearance morning after morning at very unseasonable hours. By close myesligation they found that Ernest Schreider, who had charge of the batteau in question, was in the babit of carrying iron and other substances in his boat. Very early on Saturday morning was stopped at Green street wharf, on the Delaware front, as he was proceeding with a load of railroad iron. He refused to tell where he had obtained it, but said he had purchased it. Not being satisfied with such an explanation the officer took him in charge, and after a hearing before Alderman Toland, he was held in de fault of $600 bail to answer.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF (?)-Three roughs. giving the names of James Hoyle, Henry O'Neill, and Jackson Brown, were arrested on a charge of malicious mischief on Saturday afternoon. It appears that the three prisoners had entered house No. 404 Noble street, by breaking in a door, and had gone through the entire place-ransacking and setting things at sixes and sevens in an extremely disorderly manner, and putting the house in a state that would set an orderly housekeeper crazy. They did not take anything, however, as far as has been ascer-They were arrested and taken before Alderman Toland, who held them each in $800 bail to answer the charge of malicious mischlet.

OKDINATION.-The formal ordination of Mr. J. P. Kellogg as assistant to the Rector of the Church of the Mediator, situated at the corner of Nineteenth and Lombard streets, took place this morning at 104 o'clock.

The church in question has been beautifully The church in question has been beautifully atted up, at an expense of $1500, by the liberality of the congregation. The walls have been recolored a light drab and the ceiling a light blue. The aisles have been recarpeted, and the pews have received new cushions. New windows have also been put in at the expense of the congregation. one of the congregation. The church is in a very prosperous condition, and is generally full to overflowing. Morning Prayers were offered by Rev. Dr. Brooks, and Rev. Pr. Appleton, the rector; the Litany by the Rev. Dr. Appleton, the rector; in-Litany by the Rev. Dr. Butler; the Anti-Com-munion by Bishop Vail, of Kansas, and the charge or exhortation by the same gentleman, which was in substance as follows:— I will detain you but is few moments in a few thoughts in release to the ordination of a thoughts in reference to the ordination of a deacon. The institution is not sufficiently anderstood throughout our parishes. He re ferred to the origin of the order of deacon, and said we must endeavor to carry out the spirit of this apostolic institution, He then gave a description of the duties of a deacon, saying his office was to visit the poor and to provide for their wants, and that when the congregation were called upon for contributions, they should respond liberally.

In conclusion, he bade him (Mr. Kellogg) God-speed in the great office upon which he is about entering, and prayed that Christ might give him strength, as he could accomplish nothing except through Him. The presentation and reception then took place.

A FREE FIGHT .- On Saturday evening there was quite a disturbance in the classi-cal region of St. Mary street. Several negroes got into a fight with each other. One of them, especially Sylvester Johnson, a fellow of herculean proportions, was making havoc with all who opposed him, and struck out from the shoulder, right, left, right, in scientific style. The street was soon jammed with a dusky crowd and things looked black and squally, when Office Durman forced his way into the thickest of the skirmish and undertook to arrest the biggest man. The latter, however, got a loade cane from the officer's grasp, and then shivered it in chivalric style over the latter's head.

But the gallant officer, nothing daunted, merely laughed at the tap, and immediately floored the giver, and brought him off in triumph. With the assistance of two others, five of combatants were arrested and escorted in triumph to the Station House. When they arrived at the latter place Johnson undertook to prove obstreperous, and Officer Durman gave him an exhibition of his strength that soon duced him to abject submission. After a hearing before Alderman Swift, Johnson was held in $1000 for assault and battery and carrying con-cealed deadly weapons, and the others were held in $500 for assault and battery.

A SHOOTING CASE,-Edward Manley was arrested this morning for shooting a man named Parker, last night, between the hours of 12 and l o'clock. The affair occurred in Shippen street, between Third and Fourth streets. Mr. Parke met three men there, and they stopped him, and some words passed between them. One of the men swuck at Parker, and Parker knocked him He got up, and, drawing a pistol, fired at Parker. The ball entered upon the left side of the mouth, and came out at the back of the neck. The wound is a serious one, though not necessarily fatal. The wounded man was taken to the Pennsylvania Hospital, and had his injuries dressed. He was afterwards taken to his home No. 1125 Charlotte street. The prisoner will have a hearing at the Central Station this afternoon.

A SAVAGE FELLOW.-Edward T. Duffy, whiist in a state of exhibitation induced by the application of whisky inwardly, was arrested for acting in an extremely disorderly manner, He was, in fact, making Rome howl in the neigh borhood of Seybert and Sixteenth streets, and he was arrested. He did not seem inclined to very quietly to his arrest, and in the struggle to get free he got the officer's hand in his mouth, and before it could be freed he had inserted his langs into it, causing a painful wound. Duffy had a hearing before Alderman Fitch, who committed him in default of $800 to answer the charge of assault and battery upon an officer.

ASSAULTING THE CLOTH .- Jabez Graham. who has the reputation of being extremety destructive to the essence of old rye, was ar rested yesterday morning on the charge of committing an assault and battery upon an officer of the police at Nineteenth and Perkiomen streets. It appears that Jabez had been on his daily bender, and feeting no doubt extremely happy, and most abominally drunk, annoyed the neighborhood with most unmusical howls. Not relishing such a free concert, Officer New man undertook to arrest him, when, it is alleged, he turned upon the officer and beat him. He had a hearing before Alderman Hutchinson. who held him in $500 ball to answer.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEDWNING .-George Cattell, who is the skipper of a canal boat-the Magnolia-came very nearly drown ing between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock this morning. Not heeding the old precept of before you leap," he tried to jump aboard his craft, lying at the Noble street dock, and missed his boat by a "teet, a feet and a half, or two feet," and went plump into the water. The noise of the splash attracted the attention of Officer Westcott, of the Harbor Police, who jumped overboard and rescued the gallant Captain, just as he was going down for the last time It was a gallant action, and the officer deserves

A WHISKY CASE .- At a very early hour this morning, in fact, at the "weetsma" hour" of 2, one of the Deputy Inspectors caught one Bernard Sweeney in the act of distilling old ryc at Twenty-fourth and Brandywine streets. The deputy made a grab for his man, but the latter was too much of the eel order to be held fast, and escaped. An officer of the police, however, caught him and escorted him to the Station House, and from thence he was taken before Alderman Hutchinson. After hearing the tact in the case, he was delivered over to the Unite States Commissioner for a further hearing.

DISHONEST DOMESTIC. - Margaret O'Neil, employed at Tenth and Sarrard street as a help, was arrested on Saturday night, on a charge of larceny. It appears that Margaret was going to leave that night, and the suspicions of her employer being aroused, her "bandie" was searched, and a number of articles of small value, including a stave-pipe elbow, was found. She did not attempt to steal the stove. however. She had a hearing before Alderman Beitler, who held her in $600 bail to appear a

AN UNRULY CUSTOMER.-Edward Reed entered a lager beer sal on in Fifth street, above Prune, yesterday, and not being able to get what he wanted, he proceeded to smash thing gone rally, and glass-ware and light articles of turniture were soon at a discount. #### LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Maggie Baer Case.

Continued from our Third Edition. Officer Thomas Moore sworn—I saw the deceased at the theatre on the might of the occurrence; the lirst shot attracted my attention; the second I looked at the theatre on the hight of the occurrence; the first shot attracted my attention; the second I looked towards the towards the box and saw the prisoner with a pistol in his hand pointed towards the deceased; Officer Rice and myself got into the box and arrested him, and took him to the Station House; on the way to prison I asked him what he shot the woman for? He said, "because he loved her and was determined no one clse should have her;" also asked him if he hadn't been drinking that evening; he replied he had only drank one sods cocktail.

Cross-exam ned—There were some other people in the box; I didn't know them; I heard nothing said but what I have described.

Re-direct—my judgment is that he hadn't been drinking anvining; he appeared sober.

Officer Rice sworn—I was at the theatre on the night Maggne Baer was shot; I heard the shots: I saw the second and third shots fired; the pistol was saw the second and third shots fired; the pistol was pointed to the corner of the box where this young lady sat; I fell with him in the corner; I then took him to the Station House.

Question by his monor Judge Allison—Whom do you mean by the young lady? Answer—Maggie Baer. Cross-examined-I never saw either of the parties

Benjamin P. Sparks sworn-I was at the theatre benjamin F. Spark: sworn—I was at the theatre on the night of the occurrence; Maggie Baer was in the private box; I think some soldier was with her; I saw the prisoner there that night; he asked me to take a drink, but I declined; he asked me to let him go down to the box to see Maggie Baer; I was officer of the cheatre; I told him I could not let him go, as Mr. Aldson had given strict orders not to let any one go into the boxes; he said he only wanted to go down and bid her good-by, as he was going away; then foonsented her good-by, as he was going away; then I consented to let aim go; the boxes were in my charge, and he went down; he went into the box; whether the door was open, or they opened it for him, I don't know; in a moment afterwards I h and the report of a pistol; when I got to the box Officers Moore and Rice were in there, and had him in custody; I didn't know that he had a weapon when he asked me to let him go into the box; I knew nothing of his intentions; I think he had been drinking; I couldn't hay whether I had seen him that day or not; he was very quite; didn't appear to make any noise out of the road; I had see him at the theatre before, almost every night for a week, maybe less; he came in with a young her good-by, as he was going away; then I consented alpear to make any hoise out of the road; I had been him at the theatre before, almost every a ghadron a week, maybe less; he came in with a young fellow; I nover saw him in company with a woman before; I never saw him with Maggie Baer in the theatre belore that night; I have seen him with her on the street; I think both day and night; I have been at the "Red Robin," on Chesput street, corner of Hudson's alley, in the backnest; I saw Maggie Baer there; she was sitting there with other girls when I saw her; she was not a waitless, to my knowledge; I have seen the prisoner there; he wasn't attentive to anybody there any more than anybody else; he was there in their company, but not after a particular one that I know of; a man named Koons kept the place then.

Cross-exammed—Other men ment there and consorted with the girls besides the prisoner; when I set over to the box the prisoner told me that he nad done it, and wanted me to shoot him; I didn't hear the cry of "I ove her." The prisoner still manifests agins of insantry.
