Schenck's Senweed Tonic.

This medicine invented by Dr. J. H. Schenck. of Philadelphia, is intended to dissolve the food and make it into chyme, the first process of digestion. By cleaning the stomach with Schenck's Mandrake Pills, the Tonic soon restores the appetite, and food that could not be eaten before using it will be digested Consumption cannot be cured by Schenck's Consumption cannot be cured by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup unless the stomach and liver is made healthy; and the appetite restored, hence the Tonic and Pills are required in nearly every case of consumption. A half dozen bottles of the Seaweed Tonic and three or four boxes of the Mandrake Pills will cure any ordinary case of dyspepsia.

Dr. Schenck makes professional visits in New York, Boston, and at his principal office in Philadelphia, every week. See daily papers of each place, or his pamphlet on consumption, for his days for visitation.

THE ARMY OF THE TENNESSEE.

Annual Meeting for the Officers-Inte-resting Proceedings.

CINCINNATI, November 14 .- The Society of the Army of Tennessee was called to order by President Rawlings. After prayer by the Rev. Mr. McCarty, Colonel Dayton, the Secretary, read the proceedings of the preliminary meeting at Raleigh, North Carolina, April 14, 1865, and also of a subsequent meeting.

The Constitution defines the object of the Society to be to preserve those kindly and candid technis that distinguish the officers of the Army of Tennessee, and contributed so largely to the success of its arms; and also to reciprocate fra-ternal affection in acts of brotherly love towards those of the Society or their families who may be in need of sympathy or aid. Any officer of the Army of Tennessee who has served honorably entitled to membership, and all officers of other armies can become honorary members. The Society is to hold an annual reunion

Every officer is expected to be present at each reunion, or address a letter to the Secretary communicating such facts about himself as may be interesting to the fraternity.
On motion, Generals Belknap and Howard, and Colonels Peckham, Kinder, and Garber, were appointed a committee to nominate officers for the ensuing year.

At the request of Colonel Peckham, the Secretary stated that the number of officers, who were members of the Society, thus far registered to-day, was 130; that the number at the last banquet was 250, all of whom were anxious to co-operate with the Society, and he had no doubt there were 500 who would become active Generals [Force, Wood, and Giles A. Smith were appointed a Committee to propose amend-ments to the Constitution, and frame By-laws, after which the Society adjourned until 25

Mozart Hall is fully decorated for the occasion. Across the stage is the motto, "For God, our Country, and the Right;" while stretching from the ceiling and floor are the names of all battles participated in by the Army of Tennessee. All around the hall are numberless flags, including many of the old regimental colors borne in

The business of the afternoon meeting was confined mainly to the reading of letters from officers who could not be present, including those from Generals Sherman, Hancock, Meade, Howard, Sheridan, Schotield, and others.

After a discussion as to the propriety of admitting private soldiers to membership, and the appointment of a committee to report on the subject to-morrow, the meeting adjourned To-night a public meeting was held at Mozar

Hall. Generals Rawlings and Noyes delivered A poem, written and delivered by Thomas Buchanan Read, closed the proceedings.

AMUSEMENTS.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The last Bateman Concert came off inst evening with great colat. The nouse was uncomfortably full, and the audience was really e artists aconitted themselves sa isfactorily, and were encored ad nauscam, we should think, but they took it all in good humor. General George Gordon Meade and lady occupied seats in the parquette circle, and were the objects of considerable attention.

(reneral John W. Geary Governor elect of Pennsylvania) and lady were seated in a proscenium box on the left of the auditorium. Upon entering he was introduced by Mr. Nisbet, and the audience rose en masse and gave the Soldier Governor three cheers in true American style. The proscenium box opposite was occupied by Mr. John Brougham and Mrs. Dan. Bryant.

THE METEOR HOAX. Star-Gazing Extraordinary-A "Gay and

Happy" Party at the Fairmount Park -The Stars Wouldn't Come Down. The announcement by the learned prophets of great meteoric shower to take place on the hight of the 13th or 14th of this month, caused a little stir all through the country. There are so many who can remember the great shower of 1833, that their descriptions of the wonders of that time gave a keen edge to the anticipated pleasure of the recently expected display. It is probable that no people were ever so thoroughly interested, and so on the qui vive to see any spectacle, as our citizens were to see this one. But, alas! all their pleasant anticipations have been baulked, and everybody is settling down to a keen disgust. The question has, over and over again, been asked:—"Have you seen any meteors falling?" A dumb but expressive notion of the head would be the only answer.

But to the subject of our story—Young America always goes into enthusiasm upon every new attraction that strikes upon his vision, or upon every project that has for its chief merit novelty. The approaching fiery rain from heaven was too good an opportunity for having a trolic to be lost. Accordingly, a party of some twenty-five young people, ladies and gentlemen, arranged a sort of picuic or gipsy party to pro-ceed to Fairmount Park and wait for the stars to come down. Shortly after dark they started on their excursion, and a merry party they were. There were blankets and shawls and all manner of appliances that could conduce to the comfort of the fair enthusiasts and their cavaliers. Edibles were in abundance, and, we may as well say it, drinkables were also; and there was much among the latter that was stronger than water. The party went to the Park, and sat down to await in patience the eventful hour when the portentous shower should make its appearance. In gay chat, and in laughing good humor, they sat through the first hours of the night. Many a strange and ghostly story was told under the influence of the weird shadows of the trees, and the ghostly whisperings and the wailing of the wind through the branches. With a sort of half-shuddering, half-pleased look, the fair faces would be turned upwards, in hopes that the stars would soon come down. But, as hour after hour passed, and the story lost its interest, and even the brilliant strokes of wit could not raise a laugh from the tired and wearied mind, when the sharp raillery of the more wakeful and mischievous could hardly provoke a repartee, there were many half-discouraged ones who wished heartly that a less gorgeous roof was over their heads than the star spangled canopy of heaven.

As midnight came and passed-as the "wee sma' hours" of morning began slowly to appear, there was many a nid-nodding, and some malicious persons of the party have distinctly said that most musical sounds were heard in the direction of some of the fair ladies. But as such an imputation is a reflection upon the sex generally, no reasonable man held such an idea or a moment. One o'clock-two o'clock-three o'clock-and still the tired watchers of the night at their posts saw the "twinkling stars" laughing at them. Another hour drags its slow length along, and four o'clock is tolled. The bells are now ringing, and the sleepers are roused. The jaded heads are raised. All jump upon their feet and gaze around at the expected signal. "Do you see them?" "Do you? do you?" is asked eagerly, each one think-ing his or her eyesight is not to be relied on. But all have to come down to the sad reality that the meteors were non est. And oh, the looks of disgust and disappointment that were exchanged between the star-gazers! We pity he man who prophesied the expected wonder. We question whether he would have a spare lock of hair left in his devoted head, or a bone that would remain whole, after they had done with him. The crest-tallen and disheartened seekers after aerial wonders kept up their vigils until the grey snades of morning began to brighten up the eastern horizon, and then departed to their homes, mentally resolving never to believe in modern propagts or pro-

THE APPROACH OF CHRISTMAS .- The fancy goods trade is opening promptly, in preparation for the Christmas holidays. It is already lively, and the demand promises to increase call for expensive articles, from the rich diamonds of the jeweller down to toys for children, will be fully equal to that of last year, even if it does not exceed it-a certain sign that money continues plentiful and the disposition for free expenditure remains unchanged, articles distinctively know as "fancy goods" in wonderful variety, and often of elegant design. The prevailing fashion—if the large amounts of imported stocks may be regarded as the standard of an accurate judgment—calls for ornaments in cut jet and silver filagree. The demand for these articles is so great that the stock in some of our largest importing houses is already exhausted, and new invoices are on the way from Europe. The jet goods made in Paris are principally pendants, cut in a variety of beautiful and fantastic forms. The bulk of the fits gree work is of Genoese manufacture. The jewellers and general dealers are importing comparatively small amounts, merely to give variety to their heavier and more valuable stocks of The capital invested in the taucy goods trade alone is greater now than at any former period, and the brisk demand from buyers who can afford to gratify refined tastes insures quick sales and large profits in this line of business. as well as in the more extensive operations of the dealers in gold and silverware and expensive jewelry. We notice among the novelties of the season a curious collection of fancy boxes finished in all kinds of wood, costly snuff-boxes with mechanical singing-birds, cigar vases of ingenious device, an extraordinary array of ornamental fans, and other knick-knacks which are of no particular use, but still are exceedingly pretty. The dealers in these goods will tempt gift-buyers into timely preparation for the coming Christmas.

CHARGED WITH MISDEMEANOR.-Another case of receiving stolen goods, knowing them to be stolen, was up before Alderman Toland ves terday afternoon. It appears that on the night of the 12th, some persons, unknown, entered schooner William Walton, lying at Pict No. 12, on the Richmond front, and stole riggin; etc., to the amount of $100. Officer Myers, o the Harbor Police, receiving notice that the stolen goods had been disposed of to a man named William Shattan, in Poplar street, below Beach, went there with a search warrant, and found the stolen goods stowed away in a secre place. The proprietor of the place was arrested and had a hearing before Alderman Toland At the hearing it was found he had bought the goods for less than one-third their value. He was held in $800 bail to answer.

A RAILROAD ACCIDENT .- Between 12 and I o'clock this morning, as the cars on the Tenth Eleventh Streets Railway were passing Tenth and Reed streets, an unknown man, very much intoxicated, and lying upon the track was run over, and badly injured about the head He was taken to the hospital. No blame attached to the driver or conductor. They wer both arrested, however, until the matter shall be investigated.

A House Tumbles Down-One Man KILLED AND ANOTHER BADLY WOUNDED.—In the rear of No. 229 S Second street there is a large tenement house, the property of Mr. Peter Ritmyer, in which five families have been residing.

The building is in such a shaky condition that a portion of it fell some time since. This morning, about 10 o'clock, as Mr. Ritmyer and an assistant by the name of Charles Holman were engaged in repairing the rear wall, it fell to the ground with a crash.

Mr. Holman was buried beneath the ruins, and when taken out was dead. Mr. Ritmyer was likewise wounded, but it is believed not seriously. Holman was twenty years of age, and resides at Tenth and Parrish streets. A considerable excitement was created in the neighborhood by the event. An eager crowd of people assembled, at the peril of their lives; but the police promptly took possession of the narrow court in which the house was situated, and prevented all improper persons from en-

The court which the house faces is only about five feet in width, while the alley leading to it from the street is not more than two feet and a half in width. Within these narrow limits the home lives of five families have been

As might be expected, the fall of a portion of the house created a great consternation among the tenants who did not follow it to the ground. Still, when our reporter was at the scene of the disaster, the women, who were leaning out of the windows, refused to leave the building until their goods were removed. This will be a difficult matter, on account of the narrowness of the court. In the meantime the persons remaining in the building are exposed to conderable danger.

A CORRECTION.-We published the follow-

Ing item in our edition of Tuesday:—

Larchies—A man by the name of William Hartman was arrested yesterday afternoon charged with robbing one of his companions of a little loose change. It appears they were all "jolly companions" together, and were annoying the peaceably disposed people in the neighborhood of Fiteenth and Cariton streets, when the police appeared on the scene, and arrested Hartman and one or two others. One of his companions charged Hartman with having robbed him of a small quantity of change, and upon searching him it was found on his person. He had a hearing before Alderman Hutchinson, who held him in $800 bail to answer.

The real facts of the case were that Mr. Hartng item in our edition of Tuesday:-

The real facts of the case were that Mr. Hartnan was kindly endeavoring to assist the drunken roughs, when they charged him with the theft. The charge was withdrawn, and Mr. Hartman was acquitted of all blame in the matter. He is a man of unblemished character, and the charge was wholly without foundation. The money in his possession was some he had drawn from the Mint, where he had had it deposited for some time past.

AN UGLY CUSTOMER.-John Ward was arrested on the stereotyped charge of assaulting an officer. John had been indulging in the fra-grant distillation of old rye, and was in a state of evation that rendered him oblivious of the rights and privileges of others. In fact, he was acting in an extremely disorderly manner, in the neighborhood of Frankford road and Laurel street, when an officer tried to quiet him. But John would not subside, and the officer underook to arrest him, but "caught a Tartar." essistance of a citizen was called, and John ought them both, tearing the citizen's shirt literally), and beating the officer. He was aken down, however, and lodged in the Station House, and from the oce taken before Alderman Shoemaker, who held him to answer in the sum

SAD ACCIDENT-CHILD FATALLY BURNED. -Yesterday several children were playing around a bonfire of light wood and shavings which they had started on a vacant lot on the north side of Market street, near Thirty-sixth. One of them, named Mary Reinick, going too near the fire, her dress caught, and in an instant she was wrapped in flames. A man passing by attempted to quench the flames, but not having rufficient presence of mind to adopt the proper means, was unsuccessful. The engineer of the West Philadelphia Steam Fire Engine then rushed over to her, and throwing off his coat, wrapped her in it, thus putting out the flames, But the poor child was so badly burned that she not expected to recover. Her parents live in Market street, below Thirty-sixth.

RIVAL PUBLICANS .- John Higgins and "another man" keep taverns in the neigh-borhood of Thirteenth and Callowhill streets. For some time past the two parties have been at daggers' points from mutual jealousy of each other. For awhile this ill feeling vented itself in curses not loud, but deep, Finally, Higgins' ire could not remain bottled up, and he threw some stones through his rival's win-dow to the detriment of his glass ware. Higgins was arrested at his residence, No. 1222 Oxford street, at an early hour this morning, and was taken before Alderman Massey. After a hear-ing in the case, he was held in $800 bail to

A FREE FIGHT .- At a very early hour this this morning, two roughs got into a fight at Thirteenth and Callowbill streets. They fought struck each other, and finally clinching, both came to the ground together, and rolled over and over in the desperate encounter. Lieu tenant Spear, who happened to be in the vicinity, ordered their arrest, and when arrested. crowd gathered around and endeavored to rescue them. The police were very resolute, however, and held on to their prisoners. The worst one of the two, Pat. McGlinchy, was held by Alderman Mussey in $800 bail to answer at Court for assault and battery on an officer.

A COOL ROBBERY .- About noon yesterday a person doing business at the tannery in Twenty-first street, above Cherry, stepped for a moment into the office, leaving his horse and wagon standing outside. A young scamp pamed wagon standing distance a young stand plants Peter Curry jumped into the wagon, and drove of with it. Pursuit was immediately made, but Peter whipped up his horse, and trotted away from his pursuers. He then, after distancia them, jumped out, and was afterwards arrested at No. 543 North Twenty-fifth street. He had a hearing before Alderman Pancoast, who held him in $600 bail for a further hearing to-day.

RECEIVING STOLEN GOODS .- James Saston was arrested yesterday on the above charge, a No. 308 Shippen street. It appears that he i suspected and charged with receiving the cloth suspected and charged with receiving the clothing said to be stolen by Chambers, the pretended soldier's messenger. Saston, it is said, has been suspected by the police for some time past. A warrant was issued to search his house, but there were none of the goods found in it. Saston had a hearing before Alderman Tittermary, who committed him to answer.

Congressmen Gathering in Washington. Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EVENING TELEGRAPH.] WASHINGTON, November 15. Suit Against the Government for Imprisonment. In the case of William T. Smithson, the Rebei Washington banker, against Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, for trespass damages, laid at $310,000, in the suit instituted by Messra. Hughes, Denver, and Peck for the plaintiff, Mr. W. Y. Kendall has entered his appearance for the defendant, and, a plea of not guilty having been entered, the case stands for trial. It is not probable, however, that it will be reached at the present term of the Circuit Court.

The case excites great interest amongst parties imprisoned during the war, who propose entering suits in their own cases if the result in the Smithson case gives them encouragement.

Another Prize Fight.

The prize fight between English, of New York, and White, of Baltimore, is to take place on Wednesday morning next, on the Virginia shore, below Alexandria.

SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE EVENING TELEGRAPH. ! BALTIMORE, November 15 -Mrs. Kitty Barnum wife of the late David Barnum, of Barnum's Hotel. died yesterday, aged ninety-two.

All matters are moving harmoniously under the new Police Commissioners. There is an intense pressure for appointments. There are now indications that Governor Swuan will soon convene an extra session of the Legislature, the chief object of which is to declare the late municipal election in Baltimore was fraudulent, and to oust Mayor Chapman and the radical Counci'; also to smend the registry law, and either lega ise or annul the recent November election.
