THE CHESNUT STREET BRIDGE. - Several months ago we were congratulating ourselves that this structure was rapidly approaching completion. At that time, indeed, a spasmodic attempt was made to burry up the work. It lasted a lew days, and then the man and boy asted a few days, and then the man and boy appeared on the scene again. Perhaps there never was any piece of work attempted that has been delayed as much in its completion as this bridge. Last Fourth of July the passenger cars commenced to run over it. In the month of September it was formally opened to the use of the public, and a dozen carriage-loads of officials of the city, and exects of the convergence. use of the public, and a dozen carriage loads of officials of the city and guests of the contractors passed over it in triumph. Then there was great jubilation in the city, and every one looked forward to its completion in September or October at most. But alas! for all human expectations, our hopes have been dashed down, and the unfinished bridge looks as if it were to remain an unfinished monument of Philadelphia's want of enterprise, until what has already been put together shall iall asunder.

The sneers of the press, the satires of our journalists, and the burlesques and jests of the negro ministrels upon the undertaking, are alike unheeded by those who have the undertaking in charge. The balustrading is in the same condition now that it was almost a month ago, and the footways are getting in a dilapidated condition before they are half completed.

For the credit of our city this work should be carried on with a greater spirit of enterprise carried on with a greater spirit of enterprise than has been shown. When finished, it it ever will be finished, it will be one of the finest monuments of mechanical and engineering skill that any of our cities can boast of.

A "QUB" 3" CASE.—Edward Mulligan was arrested a: charge of trying to pass counter-feit mone; ast evening. Last Saturday, it is alleged, he went to a place in South street, above Thirteenth street, kept by Thomas Smith, and after taking several drinks, offered in payment a counterfeit two-dollar note on the Glou-cester County Bank of New Jersey. The note was refused then, and Mulligan went away. Last evening, however, he went back to the same place, and, after drinking three times in succession, handed the same two-dollar counterfelt note in payment. The bar-tender took the note, and refused to give it back, alleging that he would not until Mulligan gave him good money. Mulligan then threatened to shoot the bar-tender, and made an assault upon him. The latter resisted him and put him out, when he returned with a confederate, named George Steinberg, and they both a saulted the bar-tender, who put them both out, and then calling the assistance of a policeman, had them arrested. On searching Multigan at the Station House, there were a ten and a five-dollar note and three fifty cent currency notes found upon him, all counterfeits. He had a hearing before Alderman Morrow, who held him in $1000 bail to answer the charge of passing counterfeit money, and held George Steinberg in $500 for assault and battery.

STEALING PIG IRON.—There were several pieces of pig iron found in a boat lying at the Spruce street dock yesterday, and which were supposed to be stolen. About yesterday noon the Harbor Police got upon the track of the thieves, and following it up, arrested Peter Axe and Frank Conner in Noble street, below Front, about yesterday noon. They had a hearing before Alderman Toland, who com-mitted them in default of $600 bail each on a charge of larceny. There is a great deal of this river piracy that is carried on in a small way by thieves who prowl about the river fronts during the hours of night and early morning. Several arrests have been made of late by the Harbor Police, and the practice is in a fair way of being ROBBERY OF HORSE FURNITURE. - A wagrant by the name of George Hunter was taken into custody yesterday, on a charge of larceny. It appears that he had in his possession a horse blanket, hood, and robe (woollen). The latter was of a very good quality, and had the letters "A L" upon it. When arrested he was trying to pawn them at a pawnbroker's, at Fifth and South streets, for greatly less than their value, which was not less than sixty dollars. He could not give a good account of where he had got them, and it is supposed they were stolen. The articles were taken to the Union Street Police Station, where they are now awaiting an owner. Hunter, who is a vagrant, was taken before Alderman Butler, by whom he was held in $800 bail to answer the charge of larceny.

A GALLANT RESCUE.-Last night, between the hours of nine and ten o'clock, a lad named Michael Casey, whilst walking along the edge of the whart at Spruce street, made a slip and fell into the river. The noise of the fall at-tracted the attention of Lieutenant Edgar, of the barbor police, who immediately went to his assistance and succeeded in getting him out, as he was going down for the last time. When aken out of the water he was in almost an ex-austed condition, but by the prompt applica-sion of restoratives he was revived to such an extent that he walked home with the assistance of Lieutenant Edgar.

MISCELLANBOUS CASES,-Jacob Ensk was arrested yesterday, charged with committing an assault and battery upon his housekeeper. Jacob is a respectable looking German, and told a plain, unvarnished tale that slightly resembled, in its general features, that of Joseph before Kirg Pharaob, and, like that historical parsonners, the law was against him. His story conage, the law was against him. His story con-flicted so materially with that of the principal witness that Alderman Clouds was compelled to hold him in $500 bail to answer at Court. His housekeeper alleges that he beat and kicked her.

Daniel Daley and John O'Kane were arrested at a late hour last night in the classic precincts of Seventh and Bedford streets, on a charge of malicious mischie'. They had a hearing before Alderman Tittermary, who committed them to

William Scealy was arrested at Second and Germantown road, on a charge of assault and battery. It appears that Scealy, who is quiet enough when sober, had got an evil "spirit" into him yesterday afternoon, and tried so use the knock-down argument upon a person who did not thoroughly scree with him upon a knotty point. He had a hearing before Alderman Shoemaker, who held him in $1000 bail to

It appears that Stewart walked into the man's store, and, whilst the proprietor was engaged in conversation with some other person, he put his hands into the meney-drawer, and the contents, to the amount of $50, stuck to his fingers. He endeavored to escape with his plunder, but the storekeeper happened to see him just as he the storekeeper bappened to see him just as he was going out of the door, and, making a rush, collared him and passed him over to a policeman. The latter escorted him to the office of Alderman Butler, who committed him, in default of $1500 bail, to answer at Court.

Dr. John B Rich. No. 111 East Tenth street, New York, a gentleman well versed in mechanical science, and one of the managers of the Fair of the American Institute, thus states his reasons for purchasing the Grover & Baker Machine for family use in preference to any other:—"First, in my judgment, the mechanism of the machine is the most simple of any that I had examined; and, from its general construction, the least liable to get out of order. The next consideration was the ease with which it could be adjusted to sew or perform any kind of work which is required in a family. The next consideration was the ease with which the thread could be applied, it sewing directly from the spool instead of having to be rewound on other spools or apparatus. Another consideration was the ease with which it could be managed by a person of ordinary capacity. Another consideration was the simplicity and ease with which the tension could be regulated. But the most important consideration was the kind of stitch the machine made, the elasticity and strength of which appeared to be the nost desirable for general family sewing."—Testimony before the Commissioner of Patents.

[SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EVENING TELEGRAPH.] Washington, November 20c

Movements of the President. President Johnson, and his son, Robert Johnson, who are both Masons, went on by the 6 A. M. train to-day, to Baltimore, to attend the Masonic celebration; consequently the usual Tuesday Cabinet meeting is postponed. About eight hundred Masons went on from this city.

Prize-Fight. The prize fight between Mike Carr, of this city, and W. H. White, of Baltimore, took place at 8 o'clock this morning, at Johnson's Spring, on the Virginia side, below Alexandria. The fight was decided in favor of White at the end of forty-one rounds, in consequence of a foul blow by Cair.

The time of the fight was thirty-six minutes. The first knock-down was awarded to Carr, in first round, and first blood to White, in third round. Much dissatisfaction was evinced by the friends of Carr at the decision of the referees, as the fight was going altogether in favor of Carr at the time the award was made. Carr's weight was 126 pounds, White's 128,

The seconds of Carr were Teddy Ryan and Johnny Clark. Those of White were Sam Collier and John Montgomery. The Masonic Ceremonies at Baltimore.

A SHOCKING SURPRISE.

A Lady About to be Married Receives the Bead Body of an Infant by Express. From the Chicago Times, November 17.

For a lady to have the dead body of a not yet full-grown infant brought per express into he room, and pay seventy-five cents for the luxury, is, under no circumstances, very pleasant; but to have it insinuated that the said little "corpus" is the fruit of illicit intercourse on the part of a man she expects to marry in a few days, if anything, aggravates the case. Such is the experience of a Mrs. James, the proprietress of a dressmaking establishment in room No. 38 Morrison Block, The facts, as developed, 'tis true, are horrible, but the story is "ower true."

On Thursday forenoon an express wagon wound its way leisurely down South Clark street, and came to a halt in front of the Morrison building, situated on the east side of the said street, between Washington and Madison streets. The driver as leisurely dismounted from his seat, and taking a small fourteen by sixteen inch box from the vehicle, he mounted two fights of stairs and stopped before No. 33. He knocked, and gained admittance. The lady knew him not, and he knew not me lady; but that made no difference. He had received orders to deliver the property to Mrs. James, room 38, Morrison building, and all he wanted now was his charges, amounting to saventy-five cents. his charges, amounting to seventy-five cents, which were paid, and bowing his adieu, he camdown stairs, again mounted his vehicle, and drove away as leisurely as he came.

Mrs. James was, of course, in a great desire to know the contents of a box so mysteriously delivered. For a moment she could not sur-mise who could have sent the same; but all of a sudden the mystery was apparently explained. Was she not to be married in a few days, and who but a lover would pretend to use such caution? It was, no doubt, intended for a surprise and magnificent wedding trousseaus danced before her sparkling eves. She procured a hatchet, and with trembling hands pried open the top. The sight that was presented spread a blush over her fair features. It was a steelplate engraving representing some rude heathen goddess in an amorous attitude on the back of a noble swan, toying in the waters of a beautiful

THE RESERVE TO

That was surely a strange present for a lover; but she could excuse it in him in these degenorate days, and she quietly put it on ene side. Next there came a layer of straw, which being nemowed revealed a glass jar. A jar! What could that contain to require such extraordinary caution? She could think of no suitable wedding present that required such a jar, and her wonder was increased. But hold! there was a slip of white paper pinned to the top, and something written thereon in a neat female hand. She read, and a stokening sensation overcame her. She lifted the glass jar from the box, and had barely time to place it on the table, before she fell fainting on the floor.

The noise occasioned by the fail attracted the attention of some ladies living in the same portion of the building, who, on entering the room, found Mrs. James in a deep awoon. They attempted to revive her, but before this was accomplished they also observed the contents of the jar, and were hardly able to take care of themselves. But, in the course of time, Mrs. James revived, and the ladies, after regaining their composure to some extent, attempted a more careful examination of the contents of the jar, she were the set of the sense. This extraordinary disturber of female composure was the focus of a male child, about seven months old, preserved in alcohol, and on the slip of paper were these words, written in a next templete band:

'I am in search of P. Clark. Will my future stepmother tell me when slip of paper were these words, written in a neat female band:—

"I am in search of P. Clark. Will my future stepmother tell me where I can find him?"
The feelings of Mrs. James can be imagined when it is stated that this "P. Clark" is her affianced husband. After a lengthy consideration of the subject, as to what they should de with the strange and unnatural object, the ladies concluded to notify the Coroner, who subsequently took the contents of the jar in his charge.

The matter is undergoing a careful investigation by the authorities, but as yet the perpetrator of this disgusting and terrible outrage has not been discovered. Many are the conjectures as to the cause that impelled this inhuman action, and by some the hypothesis is advanced that "P. Clark" has caused the ruin of some unhappy creature, who, having procured an abortion, and hearing of his intended marriage, took this novel mode of conveying to his intended the fact that some other person had prior claims to his hand and affection.

This, however, seems too monstrous to be thought of for a moment, that a mother could make such an exhibition of her own offspring. Another fact may throw some light on the subject. A day or two since a paragraph in the Times mentioned that the Coroner had been notified of the presence of a dead body in room No. 38 Morrison building, and the notification asked him to remove it we some a seasible. He investigation is the subject to the presence of a paragraph of the presence of a paragraph.

38 Morrison building, and the notification asked him to remove it as soon as possible. He immediately proceeded to the room indicated—that of Mrs. James—but failed to discover the corpse. The same parties who gave this information are evidently at the bottom of the affair just related.

But where the fatus was procured is still a mystery. Mrs. James herself offers yet another solution of the mystery, but all is as yet mere surmises. The purpose was evidently to sever the engagement between Mr. Clark and Mrs. James, but the design will certainly be frustrated, as the latter has every confidence in the virtue and fidelity of her lover. The Coroner, who still has the body in charge, will hold an inquest to-Jay, when some additional light may be thrown on the mysterious affair.

OBITUARY.

Don Miguel, ex-King of Portugal. Don Maria Evanst Miguel, ex-King of Portugal, whose death is announced by the cable, was gal, whose death is announced by the cable, was born at Lisbon, October 26, 1802. He was the third son of King John VI, and when six years old followed his parents to Brazil, where, in consequence of his education being altogether neglected, he soon exhibited signs of the worst character. He returned to Portugal in 1821, being unable to read and to write. At the instigation of his mother, he placed himself at the head of the clerical and absolutist party. On June 2, 1822, he headed an unsuccessful insurrection against his father.

April 30, 1824), imprisoned the Ministers, and expelled his father, who owed the restoration of his rule only to the vigorous interference of the foreign ambassadors. Don Miguel, banished together with his mother, by a decree of May 12, withdrew to Paris, and later to Vienna, when ceremonies at the new Temple are now pro-he showed a great admiration of the policy of Metternich After the death of King John VI, the legitimate heir, Don Pedro, Emperor of Brazil, the throne of Portugal to his daughter, Maria La Gloria, whose hand, together with the title of Regent, he offered to Don Miguel. The latter accepted, and after long hesitation, consented to take an oath upon the Constitution. Soon, however, he dismissed the Cortes, and combined te get proclaimed King of Portugal by a part of the constituent Cortes. At the same time repudiated the plan of a marriage with his niece, who was prevented from landing, and compelled to repair to England. The partisans of Donna Maria were conquered, and only maintained at the island of Terceira. The brief reign of Don Miguel was signalized by the grossest abuses, and the army and the finances were in a most deplorable condition.

In 1831 the cause of Donna Maria again began o gain ground. The French allied themselves with Donna Maria and captured the entire Por-tuguese fleet. In 1833 England also declared against Don Miguel, and General Villaflor capagainst John Rigger, and General Villanor Cap-tured Lisbon, after a protracted struggle near the capital. Don Miguel, on May 29, 1834, signed the capitulation of Evora. Being forever exiled from the kingdom. Don Miguel went to Genos, where he issued a protest against the capitulation wrested from him by force. He capitulation wrested from him by force. He subsequently repaired to Rome, where the Pope recognized him as King of Portugal. Don Miguel never abandoned this title. On September 24, 1861, he married in Germany the Princess of Lowenstein-Wertheim-Rosenbe by whom he had three daughters and a son, Miguel, born September 19, 1853.
