French Forcest, of the Late Rebel Navy. The telegraph announces the death at Washington yesterday of one of the oldest naval officers of the country. French Forrest was a middy of the United States Navy in 1811, and though entering the service after Farragut and others not less distinguished, ran ahead of him in the line of promotion, and reached a captaincy eleven years before Farragut did. He resigned his commission as captain to take service in the Rebel cause, but, much to his disappointment, was given no higher rank. He was detailed as chief of the ordnance and detail office, and served in that bureau until near the close of the wher he was sent to command a boat, not a ship, on the Alabama river, just in time to surrender it and himself at discretion.

James Brewster, of New Haven.

The famous carriage manufacturer of New Haven, James Brewster, died in that city on the 22d inst. He may be said to have built the Hartford and New Haven Railroad. Besides, he gave New Haven an orphan asylum, her first respectable building, largely endowed Yale Col-lege, and was engaged at the time of his death in building the New Haven and Derby Railroad.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

Court of Quenter Sessions Allison, P. J. This Court was occupied to-day with the disposition habeas corpus c ses, and the transaction of mis-laneous business. The Common wealth ex relatione Thomas Shoridan vs Withelmina Pienyer, Annie Lorca, and Emma Elchorn. The case was thus:—Early on the morning of October 29 Mr. Sheridan was at his stall in the market at Eleventh and Fitzwater streets. These girls were quarrelling, and without any cause began calling this old gentleman abusive names. Mr. Sheridan took these girls before an Alderman, on a charge of using violent language, and had them bound over to keep the peace.

The girls then went to another Alderman, swore they were not at the market on the morning of October 29, and had Mr. Sheridan bound over to answer a charge of perjury. Mr. Sheridan tuen went again to an Alderman, proved their statements went again to an Adderman, proved their statements raise, and had them bound over to answer the charge of perjury also. Mr. Sherican did a better part of the talking. After he had made a short story very long, the Court discharged both parties. His henor Judge Ahmon and to Mr. Sheridan, "As you say, I have no doubt you are a very old man, and a very respectable critizen. But never mind what women may say; they can talk very orten when men can't." Mr. Sheridan answered. "Thankee, your Honor; may ye's long reign on that beoch. when men cant." Mr. Sheridan answered. "Indice, your Honor; may we's long reign on that bench, arab. It does this ould heart good to see ye's there." He then departed from Court with a most wonder-rully broad grin on his face.

This morning, E. W. O'Brien addressed the Court in reference to the case of Stephenson, Walker, Parsen, and Davis, stating that Mr. L. C. Caveidy, for defendants, had said be invended to demur-or move to quash, and that he now asked the Court to call upon the defence to take some action in the case. This is an old case, and has been before the Court several times on habeas corpus. The defendants are charged in the bill of indictment with conspiring to cheat and defrand in the Monomolia Oil Company. Mr. Caveidy answered that the act of Assembly declared that he had a right to demurany time before a jury had been sworn to try the case; and that no officer had the power to make him do so now. The Court, of course, supported Mr. Cassidy, and the matter was for the present dismissed.

Cassidy, and the matter was for the present de-missed.

Samuel Mintord was heard on a charge of the larceny of small sums of money, on different occa-sions, from the store of Thomas Owens. Minford, an old gentleman, had been employed in the liquor house of Mr. Owens, Sixteenth and Market streets, and, the allegation is, was seen to take several lots of money out. He was remanded for trial before a jury.

In the case of James Wetmore, alias "Mysterious Jimmy," convicted of a charge of assault and battery with intent to commit a larceny, a motion for a new trial was made by Christian Kneass, Esq., on the following reasons:—The verdict of the jury was against the evidence, and therefore illegal, and defendant is innocent of the charge. The motion was granted and rule made absolute,

A MEETING OF THE FRIENDS OF EQUAL RIGHTS.—An informal meeting of the friends of equal rights was held at No. 727 Filbert street, this morning at 10 o'clock, to consider the expediency of forming an Equal-Rights Associa-tion for the State of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Mott said she did not think it necessary to have any particular order, or to appoint a chairman, but to confer freely together, which suggestion was concurred in by those present. Susan B. Anthony said we are not only to make sure of the republican idea so far as the equality of races is concerned, but also to secure the equality of individuals throughout the republic In other words, the real republican idea is the equality of individuals. Our convention in Albany was the first which we have held since our or-ganization in May, and it was for the specific purpose of inaugurating a canvas of the State of New York, in view of the pending Constitutional Convention which is to be held next summer, and our plan of canvassing is to hold conventions and lectures and meetings throughout the entire State, to secure the organization of Equal Rights Clubs and Commit-tees in every city and village and school district of the State, and whose business shall to secure the circulation of tracts, and call lecturers to instruct them on this grand question. Beginning in New York city on the 6th or 7th of December, with our first convention, we expect to commence there, going into Brooklyn and then to all the principal cities of the State. propose petitioning the Legislature of the State. asking them to set the qualifications of voters, so as to secure the ballot to all colored men and women and white women, on equal terms. We want to secure the equality of all, white and black, and we want the women of every State to inaugurate a movement-to canvass own State-men or women who believe in equal rights—precisely as we are doing in New York. That is what we ask, and it is what I would like to see, the friends here this morning make this a committee to call the people of Philadelphia together, or of Pennsylvania, to call a State meeting and in augurate a Pennsylvania Equal Rights Associa-tion, which shall make its principal object the agitation of the right of ballot to all men and all women, on equal terms, without regard to color; because to-day, if we go forward and secure the ballot only to the black man, as it seems the only way that it will be secured. It is to be done by compromise, that is, the Republicans are going to make a Constitutional amendment, and guarantee to the black man the right to vote on equal terms with the white man, perhaps inserting the word "male" in the Constitution, which debars women, and we have no right to sit still and see it done.

Mrs. Mott said it was incumbent upon those assembled, additionally so now, to make an effort to secure the ballot for women.

The question of the right of women to suffrage was then discussed. A motion to appoint a committee to call a public meeting to consider the expediency of forming an association was carried unanimously A committee was then appointed, consisting of the following ladies and gentlemen: - Sarah Pugh, Lucretia Mott, Robert Purvis, Ellen Childs, Abby Kimber, Altred H. Love.

After appointing a Finance Committee to collect funds for the meeting, which is to be held some time in January next, the meeting adjourned.

AMERICAN ENTERPRISE.-We notice in an exchange an account of the great steel works of the Messrs, Krupp in England. The foundries and shops of the Messrs, Fairbanks & Ewing, which are located in St. Johnsbury, Vt., rival them in extent. The Company's buildings cover many acres, and give employment to over eleven hun dred men, with a monthly pay-roll of nearly thirty thousand dollars. They are now building large accessions to their works to meet the de mand, which is already far in advance of the supply, and is increasing. This Company, whose principal warehouses are in this city, and whose store is at No. 715 Chesnut street, manufacture all descriptions of scales, from the immense railroad turn-tables to the most delicate and sensi tive jeweller's and druggist's balance, that is acted on by a breath. They are all built upon the most simple plan that is compatible with perfection of accuracy. They also manufacture dry measures of all kinds of standard capacities. It is needless to speak of their scales, for taey have a world-wide reputation. The firm are now manufacturing a patent gas regulator, in-vented by Dr. C. M. Cresson. This regulator is intended to be used in public buildings and large halls, to secure a steady and uniform flow of gas. It is now used in most of our public buildings, and with marked good effect. In the Post Office alone, its use has saved to the Gov-ernment over 180,000 feet of gas in one year. Its operation can be seen at the store, No. 715 Ches-

PETTY CASES .- Thomas Kane, whilst on a drunken trolic, got into a difficulty with a citien at Seventh and Wallace streets, and Kane'd him last evening. The police, attracted by such a raising of "Cain," at such a late hour, proceeded to the scene of operations, took Kane in hand, and walked him to the station-house. This morning he had a hearing before Alderman Massey, who held him in $600 bail to answer the charge of assault and battery. Pat. McCormick, who is of a malicious disposi-

The proprietor having occasion to go down into his cellar, found the two secreted behind some barrels. He dragged them out, and found in their possession a quanti y of dates which they bad stolen. One of the boys had been caught in a like fix before, and is an old offender. They had a hearing before Alderman Massey, who held them each in $500 bail to answer the charge of larceny.

PENNSYLVANIA ACADEMY OF FINE ARTS -In glancing over our advertising columns, we find that Mr. Schaus, of New York, will with draw his spiendid collection of French, German, and Belgian Paintings as early as December 8, and we hope that our moneyed men and connoisseurs will retain many of these exquisite torsion germs in our city. foreign gems in our city.

Getting un-manageable, he was taken into custody and had a hearing before Alderman Swift, who held him in $300 ball to keep the peace, and dismissed him with a reprimand on his promising never to do so again.

CARELESSNESS .- We call attention to the almost oriminal carelessness exhibited by the refer more particularly to leaving stores and buildings open through the night without any protection against the inroads of thieves or incendiaries. LAYING UP FOR WINTER,-James Carroll, a person of extremely limited pecuniary resources, went shopping, last evening, on Second street, and possessed himself of sundry pairs of stockings from a dry goods store, near Callowhill street, without consulting the pro-prietor's wishes in the matter. The latter had James arrested for the unbusiness-like proceed-ing, and taken before Alderman Toland, who after a hearing in the case, committed him in default of $800 to answer the charge.

FIRE.—This morning, about half-past 5 o'clock, the premises at the corner of Nicetown lane and Hart's lane was discovered to be on tre, and before the flames could be subdued the whole building was destroyed. It was owned by Dr. Rush, of this city, and had an insurance upon it. The loss will probably amount to about $3000. The house was empty at the time, and the fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

THE LATEST NOVELTY .- White shirts are to be superseded. A waterproof shirt-front has been invented. Its snowy pleats outrival linen, and never rumple. All soils are quickly re-moved by a damp towel. Thus one may travel to London and back without a change of linen. and the labor and expense of washing and ironng white shirts are no longer a necessity McCurdy, No. 44 S. Third street, is the manu facturer.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY. - A man, answering to the name of Florence McCarthy was arrested on a charge of larceny last evening He is charged by Mr. Lawrence, who keeps a tavern at No. 752 South Front street, with hav-ing robbed him of a small amount of money. The charge was heard before Recorder Eneu but for want of the proper witnesses in the case the defendant was held to bail for a further nearing to-day.

FALL OF SNOW .- Our citizens were greeted with a fatt of snow this morning. There was not much of it, however, only enough to give notice of its presence. The first fall was about 7 o'clock, and then a few flakes fell about half past 8. From the appearance of the weather, we may anticipate a still further and a still further and a larger fall of snow before twenty-four hours, SWORN INTO OFFICE,-This morning, Mr. Joseph Severns, a well-known newspaper man of this city, and formerly proprietor of the Argus, took the oath of office as Surveyor of this Port, a position to which he was recently appointed by Secretary McCulloch, on the recommendation of President Johnson.

MEETING OF THE MEMBERS OF THE BAR —A meeting of the members of the Bar was held in the Nisi Privs Court room at 12 o'clock M to-day, to pass resolutions in relation to the death of their feliow-member, John B Chapron
The Hon. William M. Meredith was elected to the Chair.

John M. Collins and Henry M. Dechert were elected as Secretaries.
Judge Ludlow said—Mr. Chairman:—I arise to present a series of resolutions for the consideration of this meeting. I shall attempt to say a few words before I read them, and although it costs me no ordinary effort to do it, yet my duty to the deceased.

as his triend, imperatively demands of me the per-formance of this work.

I have commanded myself to do this thing. This has been a sad year, are, to the members of this Bar, and especially to myself. You very well remember, sir, that before the first month of this year had elapsed, from my side was taken a man whom I honored, esteemed, and loved—the late President of the Court of Common Pleas.

Time and again we have been called upon to follow to the grave members of this Bar—the aged, the middle-aged, and the young. Our last meeting was upon the occasion of the death of Mr. Benton. How apparently in the full vigor of manhood, and looking on, and taking a deep interest in these proceedings—little did I think that upon the occasion of his death, we wou dinext a semble; yet so I is immediate'y after graduation, as you very well know, sir, he entered your office, and there it is but proper for me to say he commenced the study of law, and laid the soundation upon which he was to build the legal supers ructure, and embodies the that time to the day of his ceath.

Mr Chapion was born in the sety, and after receiving the receiving and after receiving a set of the receiving and after receiving a set of the receiving and a set of the receiving a set of the receiving and a set of the receiving a set of the receiver a set of the receiving a ceiving the necessary preliminary education entered the University of Pennsylvania, and there remained during the full course, I mean for the period of four ears.

He practiced law constantly from the day of his admission to the Bar, in 1842, until I had almost said the day of his death. On Wednesday he stood in the Common Pleas within a few jeet of the bench. He was dead on Thursday morning at daylight.

bench. He was dead on Thursday morning at daylight. He practiced law until the day he died.
I can hardly speak of him as I ought to speak, or as he deserves. I cannot trust my-est to do so, but I will say this:—He was a gentleman—1 refined gentleman; he was a noble man, distinguished be the noblest characteristics, open-hearted, frank, generous, mants. "None knew him but to love him, or named him but to praise." As a lawyer, his learning was solid.

He was a modest man, and therefore did not like to enter into the rougher contest of the Bar, but in his office, as a councel or and as an officer of the Court, he performed his duties, as we all know, with uniform ability.

As far back as the year 1848 he presented a report to the Court of common Pieas upon a difficult—a then difficult and intricate question—in law, which met with the unqualified commendation of so able a jurist as Judge King.

As a lather he was kind and affectionate. As a husband he was tender. Be did all that any husband could do His children would watch for the music of the fall of his footsteps, and when he entered his house he entered a charmed, circle and the voice of joy and of gladness rang t_rough that house.

Now, sir, shall I say a word about him as a friend—my friends—as my friend for three and twenty years. Sir, his friendship was enduring: it was not the friendship which follows you in the supshine, but it was a friendship which clang to you—was anchored down by your side to the discrenees and in the riom.

Will you wonder when I tell you of the hear which his decease produced? Sir, I was addeep. At the break of day I was awakened by the cryfrom the street, "Mr. Chapron is dyine;" and when, in less than six minutes, with those with loved him dearly, I was at his side—oh! such a shoot, to find him upon the floor, and dead I cannot describe that soone. I shall so no farther.

We look around for consolation at such a time as this. I have sooked for it, but, sir, it is not to be found in an arm of flesh. The lofty, the sublime faith of the Christian can alone sustain a min in such a criss.

such a cris s.

I know, sir, that 'a heathen orator once stood at the grave of his daughter and exclaimed, "I hate the gods;" but, sir, we are actuated by a sublime Christian faith; a strong enduring faith—a faith Christian faith; a strong enduring faith—a faith which believes that whatever is, is ordered by the Supreme Being, and is right, and will submissively turn our streaming eyes to Heaven and exclaim, "Thy will be done." Sir, I offer the following resolutions:—

lutions:—

Resolved, That the Philade ph'a Barhave heard with interess serrow of the sadden death of lifeir fellow-member. Mr. John B. Chapron, a gentleman who, by his various attainments, modest worth, stering integrity, and solid legal learning, had established an enduring reputation, and where genral warmth of character and firm ritenessity had made him beloved by all who knew him.

Resolved That we offer to his bereaved widow and family is this hour of their distress our sincere aympathy.

Resolved, That we will wear the usual badge of mourning and attend the funeral.

Resolved That a Committee consisting of the officers of this meeting and five gentlemen of the Bar, to be appointed by the Chair, be requested to convey these resolutions to the following committee:

Judge Ludlow, Peter McCall George W. Biddle, Furman Sheppard H. C. Townsend

The meeting then adjourned.
