The Era of Discussion.

WE are evidently entering upon an era of discussion, in which the fundamental principles of republican government, and their actual realization in our laws and institutions, are to receive a more thorough exemination than has ever before been given to them. In the columns of the press, in public meetings, on the lecturing platform, we find this great work of discussion going on. We rejoice to see it. Doubtless many foolish things will be said, many extravagant speeches made, many impracticable theories broached; yet from all some truth will be evoked, and the general result will be to increase the intelligence of the masses on the vital questions of the hour.

Truth can endure discussion, so that we are always glad when society begins to wake up, and look about it and inquire. Error, on the contrary, cannot stand the light. Its refuge is in darkness and intellectual and moral stagnation. We care not how bitter a man's prejudices may be, if he will only read and think and investigate, he will become more liberal in spite or himself. The greatest foe to true progress is indifference-that sleepy, sluggish habit of the mind in which men do not care enough for either truth or error to make any effort in their behalf.

We are especially glad that the topic of suffrage is being so widely discussed. The time is favorable for R. The elections are just past, so that men may advance their true opinions without immediately endangering their party organizations. It would have been impossible before the late elections to have induced the Chicago Times and the Boston Post to speak out upon this subject as they have done since. Now is the time for every man to contribute h's mite to the proper solution of this great problem. What we need most of all is for men to speak out their real sentiments. If a man thinks universal suffrage is impracticable and dangerous, let him say so. If another thinks that an intelligent test should be applied, let him speak out. If a third believes in a property qualification, let him show the grounds of his belief. It a fourth tainks that the color of a man's skin should determine the matter, let him, if he can, bring forward his reasons for it. If still another believes that women as well as men onght to be allowed to exercise the elective franchise, let him say so. Let us have, then, this whole question discussed from its very foundation and in all its aspects. Such a process is in accordance with the theory of our political system. It is the people forming an intelligent judgment upon a political question, with reference, not to partisan issues, but to its real merits. The great trouble with many of our people is that they cannot look upon a question of this kind in anything but a partisan aspect. But this is a time, and a favorable time, to throw aside partisan feelings, and to settle a great question, not upon the shifting sands of a temporary expediency, but upon the eternal rock of principle.

Hence, we welcome this era of discussion. Let the good work go on. Let thought meet with thought, and idea grapple with idea. Let men bring their old and darling prejudices to the light and examine them. Whatever cannot stand the light must be cast aside. Let the fires of discussion be heated hotter than ever; truth, like gold, will only be purified thereby. Whatever cannot stand the test must be consumed.

Our Relations With England.

THE Atlantic cable recently tayored the public with a despatch from London, that the Paris correspondent of the London Post said that the relations between England and the United States would soon be critical.

Against this assumption of a newspaper correspondent we may place the following extract from the speech of Earl Derby, at the Lord Mayor's banquet in London, on the 9th instant. After adverting to the war which had raged in this country, and expressing his hope and expectation that we would soon surmount all the difficulties growing out of it, he added :-"And, gentlemen, I may be permitted to say, that it in the course of that dreadful war, which has so long devastated that country, any questions may have arisen between that and our country which have produced the slightest amount of unpleasant feeling. I have a confident expectation that the two Governments, proaching these questions in a spirit of mutual forbearance and kind conciliation (loud cheers). will arrive at such a solution of those qustion as not only to remove all remnants of bitter ness, but place on a better foundation than ever our relations with that great country, to which we are bound by so many ries of interest and regard. (Loud cheers.)

The London Times says this was the most important point in Earl Derby's speech, and that it contains an intimation that a proposition for the arrangement of all differences between America and Great Britain with respect to the Alabama claims would be favorably entertained, and that the duties of neutrals in maritime war might, if necessary, be reconsidered. There can be no doubt that England is both willing and anxious to come to a fair understanding about the Alabama claims, and that all predictions of "critical relations" between the two countries, founded on that subject of differ ence, are baseless. We shall have no trouble with England unless it is deliberately sought by ourselves as a counter-irritant against home troubles.

Political Dynamics.

THE Democratic journals have been trying to solace themselves since the elections by attempting to show that their party constitutes a real numerical majority of the people of the United States. The process by which they reach this assumed result is the very simple one of counting the Democrats for more and the Republicans for less than they really are. The Chicago Tribune has taken up one of these little calculations in political arithmetic, as given in the columns of the New York World, and thus exposes its falsity:-

"At the Presidential election of 1853, the eleven insurgent States poiled 903,450 votes—estimating 50,000 for South Carolina. The five non-secoding Border States poiled 429,735, making a total south of Mason and Dixon's line of 1,322,185 votes, which is nearly 600,000 less than the World's inflated estimates. The World sets down the vote in the South 1100 for the 1864 the Equally stars, read for the south nat 100,000. In 1864 the Republicans polled for Lan-coln in five Border States, 173 180 votes, or near y dont le the number assigned to that party in the whole South. The Republican majorities in the Northern states amount to 450,000, "After making the corrections of the World's loose

Total Copperhead and Rebel vote ...... 2 950,0 20

The Progress of Opinion. THE progress of opinion is seen at the South as well as at the North. In the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church, now in session at Memphis, an interesting discussion has been had as to the future status of the colored people in ecclesiastical societies. The Rev. Dr. Atkins contended that there was nothing in Scripture or the standard of the Church to prohibit colored persons from holding the office of Deacon, Presiding Elder, or Minister of God; and that in their Church sessions and assemblies they are entitled to a treatment of perfect equality. He contended that it was the Gospel that caste and prejudice would be broken down, and that anything that stood in the way of the Gospel should be destroyed. Others contended that innovations would surely result in miscegenation and negro equality. The general tenor of debate, however showed natural progress in the right direction. Important Mexican News. NEWS comes from New Orleans to the effect that the Emperor Maximilian has at last abdicated, leaving Mexico in the bands of Bazaine and Castelnau. The more important statement follows, that all preparations for the embarkation of the French troops have been summarily suspended. As the first contingent of French troops was to leave Mexico during November, this delay may form the subject of diplomatic correspondence between our own Government and that of France. It is probably only temporary, however, and merely to prevent a state of total anarchy from supervening. The Juarez Government will be re established as soon as Juarez himself can get to Mexico.

A Rare Opportunity.

WE see that our "Academy of Natural Sciences" has not yet got its endowment of one hundred thousand dollars, for which it has some time been laboring, although we are glad to learn that sixty-five thousand dollars of that sum have been secured. Here is a splendid opportunity for some of our Philadelphia Peabodys or A. F. Stewarts, if we have any, to do a grand work for the city, and at the same time render themselves immortal. Let some one of these gentlemen endow that institution with five hundred thousand dollars, give it an appropriate building, and make it the finest thing of the kind in the world.

A TEST CASE is to be made from Maryland to try the constitutionality of the Civil Rights bill, passed by Congress at its last session. The point involved is that of the reception of the testimony of colored persons, which is rejused under the laws of Maryland, in cases where one of the parties is white.

-Abstracts of sermons, preached by several clergynen of our city yesterday, will be found in our columns to-day.

The Cheyennes and the Smoky Hill Route
-Fresh Difficulties.

LEAVENWORTH, Kansas, November 24.—The Junction City Union says that the Cheyenne Council has been closed. It is reported that the tribes are concentrating at Big creek, on the Smoky Hill route, and their principal chief, Black Kettle, has told employes of the Overland Company that nothing has been said on any of their treaties about the Smoky Hill route, and that they should not be permitted to use it. The presents were distributed on the 17th Two settlers, named Fox and Belknap, while hunting on Buffalo creek, a tributary of the Republican, were met by a party of Indians, who acted in the abost friendly manner. The parties exchanged various trinkets, but as they were about to separate an Indian killed Fox. Beiknap killed the Indian, and then made his e-cape. The moccasins led behind were paculiar to the Cheyennes, Arapahoes, or Sloux, but the impression is that they were Pawnees or WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.-Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthms, Croup, Whooping Cough, Quinsy, and the numerous as well as dangerous diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs, prevail in our changeable climate at all seasons of he year: few are fortunate enough to escape their baneful influence. How important, then, to have at hand a cerain antidote to all these complaints! Experience proves that this exists in Wistar's Balsam to an extent not found in any other remedy; however severe the suffering, the application of this soothing, healing, and wonderful Balam at once vanquishes the disease and restores the sufferer to wonted health.

MR. JOHN BUNTO. of Baldwin, Chemung county, N. Y., writes :of Baldwin, Chemung county, N. Y., writes:—
"I was urged by a neighbor to get one bottle of the Bajsam for my wife, being assured by him that in case it did not produce good effects, he would pay for the bottle himself. On the strength of such practical evidence of its merits, I procured albottle. My wife at this time was so low with what the physicians termed Seated Consumption as to be unable to raise herself from the bed, couching constantly, and raising more or less blood. I commenced giving the Balsam as directed, and was so much pleased with its operation that I obtained another bottle, and continued giving it. Before this bottle was entirely used, she cased coughing and was strong enough to sit up. The fifth bot le entirely restored her to health, doing that which several physicians had tried to do but had failed."
