prisoner, under the cover of darkness, escaped, and swam across to the city. He then went to

The messenger of the firm of Andrews & MeDonald having occa-ion to stop at a store at

The man then agreed to take the horse, but arranged matters so that Wirks would have to pass a certain place in going to get his money.

Whilst doing so he was recognized by Officer Dehaven as a notorious horse-thief, and was arrested. He had a hearing before Alderman Beitler, who remanded him to the authorities

THE IMPEACHMENT QUESTION.

CONTINUATAL HOTEL, PRILADELPHIA.

To Congress:-Avoid the impeachment question-more dangerous to the republic than the firing upon Fort Sumter-and your now sustained position will be supported by the entire pe ple. Impeach the President, and your power will depart like a shadow through the just, active hostility of the President's friends, and the majority of your own party opposed to an impeach nent. I was opposed to the policy of radical states.

wen for the freedom of the slave through the policy pursued during the war of sword hostilities, believing it only just, if the war must convinue, to confine it to a vindication of the Union under the Constitution, and when conquerors to free the slave through a universal amnesty, gradual emancipation, remuneration policy, The victory over the South, the failure of the President to secure peace when in his power, with an unwise call of the 14th of August politician Convention, caused my opposition to him, while, in connection, the clear vindication of the favor of the people to your policy, led to my late advocacy, here and in Europe, of your policy, as the only legitimate power in America. I was actuated in this course by a patriotic desire to do what I could to sustain the Government of our fathers, founded upon the will of the people. The people elected President Johnson to his position. I have no idea, therefore, as an American citizen, to calmly look on preparations for an impeachment of that President, for as indispensable violations of the Constitution as was necessary by your body, now ratified by the people.

The Union exists-the Constitution existsthe Republic exists. The people elected you, elected the President, for the purpose of protection and making peace-that, then, is your duty, not to declare States territories, but to make a peace in the States; not to impeach the President, but to correct him, thereby, in the one case, destroy the Union, destroy the power of the Constitution; and in the other case, secure a renewal of the war, for while you will, and have the right to maintain your power, so has the President the will and right to maintain his, as he believes.

May you have wisdom to act in a legitimate concert with the people, remembering that they govern through you. Let it be admitted that the people, in confirming your power, condemned the President's policy-but that is all they did do. They did not declare him an unconstitutional President, nor a constitutional usurper. The people then demand of you moderation-to secure a peace and to avoid a bloody conflict. The President, under your power, is powerless-yet more powerful than even you. with the shield of the Constitution as his protector.

The people are not forced to protect the policy of any President; but they must, to save the Constitution and the republic, protect the President, if necessary, at the point of the sword, While, therefore, the President should be opposed in his policy, through the now declared will of the people, yet he should be, and must be, protected as President.

As for myself, I hereby declare my purpose, that if the President be impeached, from that moment I will be one ready to join that portion of the people who will rise up to sustain the President during his term of office, or until the subject be referred to the people.

"Honor to Whom Honor is Due."

It is proper that I should, in a few words, state have no personal interest in the communication I offer you, and that my sole opject is to commend an actor blended justice and benevolence which this day came under my observation in this city.

But to the subject-matter. Prior to the break ing out of the war a well-known citizen of Mo had insured his life for a series of years in the Knickerbocker Life Insurance Company, of New York, then and now having an agency in obile. He had renewed his premium from time to time, but his last renewal expired in March 1862, at a time when the Company had no acting agent in Mobile, and, owing to a total absence of communication between the Company in New York and the party insuring, no renewal of the policy was made, nor any premium paid after that date.

Some seven months thereafter, the gentleman in question died, leaving a widow and four children similarly circumstanced with most of us in these days of wrecked fortunes and pecuniary distress; but upon a recent application on the part of the widow and guardian of the children to that estimable gentleman, Erastus Lyman Esq., of New York, President of the Company, and his Board of Directors, suggesting the fact that the deceased husband and father (owing to an absence of communication) could not have renewed the policy which he had previously renewed from year to year, and but for this fact would doubtless have renewed again, Mr. Lyman, on behalt of the Company, forwarded the widow and guardian the original amount of the policy (five thousand dollars), less the premium due March, 1862.

On learning these facts I obtained a copy jot the letter from the guardian, acknowledging receipt of the funds, and hand you the same here with for publication. Such acts of generous justice and Christian benevolence carry their own reward, and need no comment, nor the per need not write their praiset-

My Dear Sir-Your esteemed favor of the 9th inst., covering copy of your letter of same date to my triend in your city, indicating the action of the Knickerbocker Life Insurance Company in the matter of the widow and children of ______, late of this city, is received, and to simply acknowledge its receipt, and commend the Board for its action in the premises, would be doing less than the grateful tears of widowhood and orphanage demand at my hands. It becomes a source of regret for me to admit that, in the sordid age in which we live, the motives and principles of self-interest and of justice to others, too seldom go hand in hand or, in other words, we are too little prone to an observance of that golden rule, "Do unto others as we would they should do unto us," even in personal intercourse between each other; but when this divine principle is illustrated on the part of what, in law, is termed a soulless corporation, it puts to blush "man's inhumanity to

AMUSEMENTS.

ADELAIDE RISTORI.-The great tragedienne appeared as "Medea" in Baltimore last night, to a very large and fashionable audience. Her success was complete, and the applause was fremendous. Ristori will play "Medea" at the American Academy of Music, in this city, on Monday evening, December 10th, proximo.

We are informed by Mr. De Vivo, Mr. Grau's agent, that the sale of tickets for any or all of Ristori's great representations will commence at Trumpler's, Seventh and Chesnut streets, on next Monday morning, December 3. Subscriptions for the season will be received at Trumpler's, on Friday, Saturday, and Monday next,

Every person should see Ristori. She is without doubt the greatest tragedienne now living. Miss Kate Field, the accomplished critic of the New York 2ribune, says that "she is a senius and an artiste combined in a pure woman, such as the world has never known before."

My contract with Mr. Wheatley confines the represen atton of the piece, under his auspices, exe usively to Niblo's. New York, where arrangements have been made for its continuance through the entire season. Even if this were not the case, its withdrawal in the face of nightly receipts exceeding $2500 would not be very probable. Very truly yours,

Author of The Biack Crook. [Of course we stand corrected. We gave the item of rews objected to, publicity, because it came from what we conceived to be good authority. It had already been announced in New York city as a fact that The Black Crook would be shortly produced at our Academy of Music, in the public prints,—ED.

TELEGRAPH. NEW CHESNUT STREET THEATRE-"THE LONG STRIKE."—The new piay was proqueed last night, and was a complete success. It may be set down as the "hit" of the season. The house was very full, and the enthusiasm was extraordinary. Of the piay we need on y mention that it is Mr. Boucleanly most masteric down that it is Mr. Boucleanly most masteric down that it is Mr. cault's most masterly dramatization of Mrs. Gas-keil's cher d'œuvre, 'Mary Barton," a story that is still very , opular. The scenery is exceedingly fine. "The murder in Fuller's lane" being superior, for artistic beauty, naturalness, and excitement, to any that we have natura ness, and excitement, to any that we have ever witnessed. The "felegraph office" was a so ad-mirable, and the reading of genuine news despatches from all parts of the world was received with much applause. This is especially a Philadelphia enter-prise, and is worthy of the encouragement it is wouchsafed.

Mr John E. McDonough plays the "John Bull Barrister" in excellent style. It is his best part. Miss Jose Orton, Mr F. F. Mackay, Mr. Woolf and Mr. Lennox were all good, as usual, and assisted Mr. McDonough in making The Long Strike a success. The Long Strike will be repeated this evening. THE FESTIVAL TO-NIGHT .- National Hall . on Market street, above Twelith street, has been secured for holding a festival this evening, towards defraying the cost of erecting a building for the use of the orphans of our soldiers and sailors, by the Northern Home for Friendless Children. An excellent supper will be provided, and addresses may be expected from several distinguished speakers, including Bishop Simpson, Rev. Dr. Beadle, Rev. Mr. Hutter, Rev. Mr. Crowell, and MacGregor J. Mitcheson, Esq. The untiring efforts of the ladies connected with this enterprise entitle them to the liberal co-operation and assistance of our citizens, and we speak for them a liberal response to their appeal. The price of tickets is only two dotlars.

THE GERMAN HOSPITAL. -On Thursday next, 29th inst., Thanksgiving Day, the above new and deserving charitable institution will be formally opened for the reception of patients. It is situated at Twentieth and Norris streets and was known during its occupancy by the Government as the Turner's Lane Hospital. The following well-known German physicians have been elected as its medical stati:—Doctors Henry Tiedeman, Albert Fricke, Julius Schrotz, Emil Fisher, Carl Beeken, Theodore Demme, Joseph Koerper, and Julius Pstzky. The resident phy-sician is Doctor August Culman. Patients will be admitted without regard to nationality, creed, or color. The public is invited to attend the opening in the atternoon, at three o'clock.

THE LAST .- To-morrow there will be a splendid game of base ball played upon the Athletic grounds, between members of the Athletic, Atlantic, of Brooklyn, Keystone, Camden, Backelor, and Eureka Club, of Newark, N. J. The game has been arranged by the members of the respective Clubs in honor of the memory of the late Frank Frazer, over whom it is proposed to erect a monument. All the great players have volunteered, and will play in positions calculated to display their peculiar skill. The game of to-morrow will close the season, and on that account will be doubly interesting.

BADLY BURNED,-Yesterday afternoon Annie McCall, aged twelve years, was very badly burned by her clothes catching fire. She and her companion had built a bondre to warm themselves, on a vacant lot, at Coates street and Pennsylvania avenue, and were playing around it, when her clothes caught fire from the blaze, and before they could be extinguished she was badly burned about the face and body. She was taken to her home at Twenty-sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue, where she lies in a very critical condition.

FAIR.—The ladies purpose holding a fair for the sale of useful and fancy articles for the benefit of St. Andrew's Lutheran Church, to be held at the hall, northeast corner of Broad and Arch streets, commencing Monday, December 3, and continuing during the week.

FALL AND WINTER OVERCOATS IN GREAT VARIETY.

A MAN RAT-KILLER-BRUTAL SCENE AMONG "THE FANCY."-Some time since we were induced to visit a rat-match in the were induced to visit a rat-march in the corthern portion of our city, and, under the guidance of a "knowing one" prominent in sporting circles, found ourselves in front of an ordinary looking tavero, a three-story brick house with a tall sign-post.

On entering the bar-room there was nothing to distinguish it from a hundred similar piaces, except that behind the usual tumbler and ecanter-loaded counter running along side of the room there stood, not a hirsute bar-tender, but a remarkably pretty and modestlooking young girl. Neatly dressed and smil-ing, the presented a strange contrast to the vulgar rowdylsm by which she was surrounded. It was a painful thought that she must have had long experience, young as she was, thus to encounter unagashed the brutal language and still more brutal looks of the raffians she served with drink. The greater part of the company, in the intervals between rinks, crowded around a stove in the middle of the room-most of them could be recognized at a glance as sports, gamblers, sharpers, and pumps; there was also a sprinkling of students from the medical colleges, and one or two officers from a ship-of-war in the harbor. The proprietor of the house, a thickset Englishmen, seemed well acquainted my conductor, for he not only furnished tickets for our admission to the coming fight, but offered to take us up stairs to see menagerie. We accepted the offer, and climbed up to the attic, which smelt badly enough, but not so bad as the bar-room. Here there seemed to be dogs of all sizes, ages, shapes, and hues. The proprietor produced two or three pet puppies for our admiration, dilated on the superiority of his dogs, and then led us down stairs again to the rat-pit, which was in the cellar, probably for security from the attacks of the

It was a dark, dirty place: rough plank seats rose in tiers from the pit in the centre to the mouldy, snail tracked walls, with here and there gas-light sticking out in a vain attempt to enliven the dreary den. The rat-pit itself was circular, about six feet in diameter, with a fence round it to keep the rats from jumping out. The bottom was covered with sawdust. The seats soon filled, and then a bull-headed little man, dressed in fighting trim, shorts and tights, jumped into the ring and informed us that he was disappointed in the non-arrival of a cele brated dog he expected from New York, but in order that we might not lose our sport, should be put into the ring, and he would either match a dog of his own against them, or kill them himself, just as we pleased. The majority of the crowd seemed delighted at this, and howled out a request that he would kill them himself.

A boy then brought in a large bag, and, holding it by the corners, emptied two dozen big ship rats out of it into the pit, pretty much in the style that Professor Anderson shakes out his egg bag. The unsightly animals ran round the pit for a few seconds, trying to jump over the lence, or find some other mode of escape but, failing in this, they collected in big black ugly masses, with their little eyes shining like beads. The rateatcher then jumped into the pit, and knell on one knee in the middle of it. A confederate stood outside, holding a stop watch, and all at ouce gave the signal to begin. Then came a horrible spectacle. Quick as light-ning the man plunged his hand into the mass of rats, seized one by the back and carried it to his mouth—then a squeak and a crunch, and the lifeless carcase was tossed aside with a broken

As soon as the rats found what was going on. and that there was no escape for them, they attacked the man, climbing up on his thighs, but he was too quick to let them get higher; he kept both hands busy, and looked as if he was a magician, pulling a constant stream of dead rats from his mouth. Before as long as it na-taken to tell it, the bottom of the pit was covered with dead bodies. One or two territied survivors were caught and killed, and then, amid acclamations of delight from the audience the man jumped up, felt his lip, which had been bitten once or twice, pul'ed the rat hairs from between his teeth, and washed away the taste with a glass of liquor. Such a description need no further comment.

AN OLD STORY. - A rather backneyed story of wife desertion came before R corder Buen yesterday atternoon. It appears that Adams Idell, who was in business in Cincinnati became acquainted with a lady in that place. her in 1851 happily until 1860, when they both had occa-sion to go to Canada to see some relatives of the wife. On going home again she took her niece back with her. Idell, it appears, became enamored of this niece, and she reciprocating his passion, they fled away together, and the injured wife lost sight of them until a few days ago, when she received word that the guilty couple were living together in this city. followed them here, and had her husband arrested yesterday on a charge of adultery and desertion. The case went before Recorder Encu, who, after hearing the facts of the case, held Idell in the sum of $1000 bail to answer.

SLAP-JACKS .- For the past few months the boys and many young men around town have been in the habit of using what are called slap-lacks. They are made of strong clastic cord and a piece of leather, which contains the missile intended to be thrown by the elasticity of the cord. They throw stones and bullets even with almost the force of a bullet from a gun, and with great accuracy. They are dan-gerous weapons, and are the cause of a great deal of mischief. Yesterday a couple of youths wern amusing themselves with one of them in the neighborhood of Seventh and Zane streets. After breaking a few windows, one of them sent a stone through the window of a passenger car that was passing, and struck a lady in the face, injuring her severely. One of the youths, named Matthew Cummings, was arrested, and taken before Alderman Godbou, who held him for a further hearing.

RESULTS OF GETTING ON A SPREE. -James Merrill and a quondam triend of his went on a spree together. They both got into a hilarious state of intoxication, and swore eternal friendship. Their oaths were soon broken, however, for Merrill soon after left his friend, and struck off into parts unknown. leaving him to fight his own way through troubles. The consequence was that the friend lost his watch, gold chain, and pocket-book containing $3. All this happened in the early part of last week. Last night Merrill was arrested, and on searching him the band that had been around the stolen pocket-book dropped out of one of his pockets. It was a very peculiar one, and was at once recognized.

All the rest of the stolen property had been spirited away to parts unknown. Merrill had a hearing before Alderman Hurley, who com-mitted him in default of $500 bail.

MEAN THIEVES .- John Maloney, aged 13 was arrested yesterday on a charge of larceny. It appears that Maloney is one of a gang who are in the habit of intercepting the children going to and returning from the public schools a Second and Pine streets, and emptying the pockets of whatever of value they might con Their operations were conducted in old-fashioned Schuylkill Ranger style, until the police got wind of their proceedings, when their operations were stopped. Maloney was arrested at Third and Pine streets, and had a hearing before Alderman Butler, who held him in $50 bail to answer the charge of larceny.

FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER, Commonwealth vs. Wharton E. Harris and Becjamin Harris. In this case the detendants are charged with forcible entry and detainer. The lacts alleved by the prosecution are: —On the 20th of May, 1868, William B Johns, the prosecutor, rented from a John Weish the premises No. 237 North Waler street, as tenant from year to year, paying $800 a year. He continued is the occupancy of the missing paying rent promptly and estimaterial. pr. mises, paying rent promptly and satisfactorily to the land ord, renting the basement to a sub-tenant, and getting along very well until January 13, 1836. On that day a fire broke out in the store, damaging it so much that all but the basement was unit for occupancy. He then loczed up the place, leaving his fire-proof, containing money, papers, and other valuables to the store, fully intending to resume possession of the place when it should be sufficiently required.

Soon after this the place was advertised for sale, and purchased by Wherton E. Harris. Mr. Weish introduced Mr. Harris to Mr. Johns, stating that he (Mr. Johns) was the present tenant, a very good one, too, and thought he would be liked as such by Mr. Farris. The purchase was made by Mr. Harris on the 17th of April, 1868. Mr. Johns' term of tenancy did not expire until May 20, 1868, so that Mr. Harris purchased subject to Mr. Johns' right as tenant until 1867.

On the 21st of May last, Mr. Harris went to the store, broke open the lock took possession, and employed workmen to repair the place. Mr. Johns said nothins to this, but even gave his permission for the completion of the work. He after wards put a new lock on the door, and resumed business. Then again Mr. Harris went into the back door, and barricaded the front so as to prevent any entrance.

and barricaded the front so as to prevent any entrance.

Again the went one morning to the store, found the pavement tuil of barrels of melasses, the front door open, and watchmen guarding it. He had these barrels rolled out of the store, and again took possession. On the next morning he was arrested, and has not since had access to the premises, or to his fire proof. On trial.
