INTERESTING IFFMS.

Probable Abdication of Brigham Young.—A Salt Lake City despatch reports that Brigham Young intends to retire temperarily to a distant station in Utah, and leave the management of Mormonism to his son. Should the junior Young manifest executive ability, he will be formally installed as a successor to the Prophet, and the abdication of the latter may become permanent. It is very probable that the Mormon elders are seriously easting about for a auitable successor to their leader; but if Brigham Young's son should prove competent to fill his father's place it will be something remarkable. Brignam Young, apart from his & attitien, is a man of extraordinary ability and fact, and his personal influence has imparted a degree of sta-bility to Mormonism that it could carcely have attained without him. The Mormon leaders know this, and are shrewd chough to desire to prevent the collapse that is likely to occur in case of Brigham's death, by selecting a com-petent successor in anticipation of that event. Brigham Young is now an old man, and although endowed with wonderful vitality, cannot, in the ordinary course of nature, be expected to survive many years. He may keep the Mormons together during his lifetime; but after that -if not before—not the Deluge, but the Pacific Railroad through Mormondom will break down the system of exclusiveness, and cause an influx of new ideas that will probably be fatal to poly-gamy. Pending this, the efforts of enthusiasts to let Federal soldiers loose upon the Mormons, for the honor of morality and religion, is a very questionable policy. Christianity is competent to devise a better way of dealing with the Mormore than by murdering them. To say the lemt, the Mormons have a strong point against our foreible in reference, in the prevalence of "the social evil" in our great cities. When we have reformed our morals in this respect, we shall have carned the right to interfere, and by that time Mormonism, by the operation of natural asencies, will be added to the long list of exploded fanaticisms, A New Way to Protect Safes .- A new English invention is described as a "safe-protector." It consists of a small apparatus, fitted in the upper comer of a safe and near the door, performing the functions of a gas-meter. An ordi-nary pipe affords a supply of gas which passes through the protector into a large iron pipe running from the safe to a lamp in the street. This iron pipe is an air-chamber, and serves to contain a gas-pipe, which is preserved by means of a drill-proof coil of steel wire. The lamp is intended to be of unusual appearance, and to give a very brilliant light. The mechanism of the protector is strong, but even a blow on the top of the safe will disconnect the supply of gas and put out the light. The same result would be effected by any tampering with the door or the pipes. In large cities, where safes are numerous within small areas, it is contemplated to employ a special watchman, who would, of course, immediately detect the absence of the external signal.

A Good Charity.—There is in England a charity apown as the "Patriotic Fund," for the benefit of the families of soldiers who have fallen in battle. The last report shows that nine thousand widows and orphans are placed on the books, and there are in receipt of reliei at this time three thousand four hundred widows and three thousand children, of whom one thousand are maintained and educated in boarding institutions. The total amount of subscriptions to December, 1865, was £1,460,201. The annual expenditure is £86,000.

Dry Chinamen -While Western Europe has en drenched with rain throughout the summer, it appears from the latest accounts that they have been eleven months without either rain or snow at Pekin. This is in China a great public calamity, which is sought to be averted by fasting, prayer, and expiatory ceremonies. In the summer of 1864 the drought was so great that the Emperor himself made a vow to tify his conduct and be more anxious for the welfare of his people."

Are Stimulants Necessary?—The "model village of Scorton," situated between Lancaster and Preston, England, which contains neither a public house nor a beer shop, has just been subjected to a tearful scourge in the shape of typhus fever. During the past nine or ten weeks the epidemic has been raging with more or less virulence. There have been eighty cases md ten deaths.

Romantic -- Isaac Taylor emigrated from Engmenced by blacking boots, got a small farm in Michigan, engaged in the Wisconsin lumber trade, and became rich. From his own expenience of orphanbood, he formed the determination to found an orphan asylum. This his widow has just done. The endowment is nearly $150,000. The asylum is to be situated at Racine.

The British Museum .- Mr. Edward A. Bond has been appointed to the post of keeper of the department of manuscripts in the British Mu-seum. Mr. Bond has for several years occupied the position of assistant keeper of the department, as well as that of Egerton librarian, and is well known to be one of the first authorities of the day on all subjects connected with manu-

The Rebuilding of Portland.—About a thousand buildings are in course of erection on the burnt district of Portland, or are under contract. master mason has four hundred and fifty men in his employ, and the pay-roll of all the hands in the burnt district amounts to $75,000 per week. The streets have been widened and straightened. squares laid out, and the section generally much improved.

The "Round Table."—A recent number of this journal announced the retirement of Mr. Sweetser from its management. Some other changes have been made. We hear that Mr. R. H. Stod-dard, who has excellently done a great amount of work for the Round Table, in its literary department, has no longer any connection with that Paper —The quantity of paper used every year in England represents a weight of two hundred and twenty millions of pounds. France uses one hundred and ninety-five millions of pounds: while the United States of America, with a much smaller population, consumes more paper than England and France put together-namely, four hundred and forty millions of pounds.

Medical Students in London.-The entries at the eleven metropolitan hospitals in London are this year above preceding sessions. In the October session three hundred and sixty-two new students registered their names at the Royal College of Surgeons, making a total of one thousand and twenty-seven now pursuing

The "Industry" of a Brigand—Lefteri, the famous brigand, has made his fortune, and now desires to make his peace with the Porte. He has proposed to quit the country, if he may be allowed to do so, with his "property," taking refuge in Hellas, where he proposes to enjoy the fruits of his industry as a good subject of

King George. Charitable Bequests.—The late Joseph W. Patterson, of Boston, made the following bequests to benevolent institutions:—To the Baltimore Orphan Asylum, $5000: to the Humane Impar-tial Society and Aged Women's Home, $5000: to the Manual Labor School for Indigent Boys, $5000; to the Maryland Tract Society, $5000; to the Aged Men's Home, $5000.

"Sabbatarianism."—Most of the clergymen in Norwich, Ct., have signed a circular protesting against the practice of having funerals on the Sabbath, believing that it is an evil, inasmuch as it involves much servile work, and, therefore, when not necessary, it is a clear violation of the fourth commandment, keeping from the house of God those who might otherwise attend.

A Monument.-The Journal des Etrangers of Nice says that a monument is to be erected, by Single says that a monature is to be erected, by subscription, to the memory of the Czarewitch Nicholas, outside the gate of Villa Bermond, where he died. The design is the broken shatt of a column, at the base of which lie the imperial crown and sceptre.

Immense Profits on Beer.-Englishmen drink much beer, and also pay much money for it. A Manchester paper says that a hotel and restaurant keeper in that city asks £24,000 for the good will of his business; his profits are £4500 per annum, and the profit on the sale of beer is 180 per cent. and on stout 200 per cent.
