The emptyment of impertantile honors and unfading joys in His Father's house. But, before doing this, we would have you to understand that we can only follow Him where He has gone.
We cannot follow Him to the theatre, the opera, the ball-room, the billiard-saloon, or the race-course; for He did not go there. We cannot follow Him in smoking eigars, chewing! tobacco, drinking intoxicating liquors, dancing, playing checkers, dressing extravagantly, or engaging in vain and foolish conversation; for in these He never indulged we have can of the present day, such as the Mohamedra pilerimases to Mecca, the Koman Catholic penace, the linkin is prinking of the Fedobaptist, or the substitution of the axions seat or 'mourner's bench,'' as means of ''getting religion.'' instead of that hearty obedience to the authority of the king of kings required by the Holy Spirit of the toousaics who, on the e-erememorable Pontecost, theta do the inventions of men, the unsilting of the spirate down in a spory of soll 'Men and brethren, what shall we de!'' If preneters of the gospel were continually seeking the way of itle would have do the inventions of men, the unsilted by the Holy Spirit of Christ, instead of the inventions of men, the multitude that are continually seeking the way of itle would have do the linking to the spirit of Christ, instead of the inventions of men, the subject of book the state of the st

Wesley, and nearly all other learaed Pedobaptists, confess it. 3. As soon as Christ had been immersed the Devil began to tempt him. No sooner has the Christian enfered upon his new life than his great enemy begins his efforts to reclaim kim to his dark dominion, out or which he was celivered when he was trans-lated into the kingdom of God's dear Son. But J. sus successfully resusted every temptation. If we would "come off more than conquerors through Him that has loved us," we must follow Him in the manner in which He resisted temptation. When Statan appealed to his appetite, He said, 'It is written that man shall not live by tr. ad a one, but by every word that proceedeth cut of the mouth of God." When His love of riches and dominion was appealed to He said, 'It is written, thou shalt worship the Lord thy god, and Him only shalt thou serve." Woren His vanity was appealed to He said, 'It is written, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God." Thus, by the use of "the sworg of the Spirit," He put to flight the use of "the swora of the Spirit," He put to fight His preat enemy. Thus by its use we successfully repel his assaults. But to be able to wield this instrument we must 'let the word of Christ awell in us richly in all wisdom.'' But Jesus also resorted to prayer as a means of resisting temptation. When tempted to resentment, as when He heard that Johu was beheaded; or vanity, when all men sought Him; or discouragement, when he saw wealth and influ-ence and power arrayed against him, He would rethe to some solitary place and pray. He sometimes even spent whole nights in prayer. Follow Him in this, acd you will surely triumph. We should fol-low Him in His unselfish interest in others. It is low Him in His unselfish interest in others. It is said of Him that "He went about continually doing good." We have not space to follow the speaker in his discussion of this part of his theme. After the sermon ended, the speaker proceeded to hear the contession of candidates for baptism. He stated that he did not feel at liberty to impose any other conditions upon persons asking to be baptized than that imposed by the Holy Spirit, which is simply to contess with the mouth the fact on the heart in the Lord Jesus. He then the fact of the set of stand up and make "the the faith of the heart in the Lord Jesus. He then requested the candida es to stand up and make "the good contession." This each one did, in the hearing of the entire audience, in these words:--"I believe with all my heart that Jesus Christ is the Son of God;" after which they were led into the beptistry and gently buried into the watery grave and raised to walk in newness of life. This was an occasion well worth witnessing. The exercises of the even-ing were enlived by the singing of several heart-cheering songs of praise, in which the whole congre-gation engaged. The services in this church are always free, and strangers are made to feel at home.

A SHARP OPERATION.—A rather odd case was heard on Saturday before Alderman Beitler, at the Central Police Station. George Johnston and John Lazaros were the detendants. John keeps a drinkery in Sixth street, near Arch. Johnston claims to be agent for the Tremont brewery. The charge was, that the two con-spired to swindle a man named Jones, who lives in Walting. in Watkins street. The prosecutor bought a gold watch of Richard Walker, for which he paid $00. Some time alter the purchave John-ston called at the house of Jones, in company with a man whom he represented to be a con-stable, and asked to see the watch, saying that Walker had stolen it.

Walker had stolen it. The watch was shown, Johnston declared it to be his, and threatened to arrest Jones for buying stolen goods. At the same time he insisted that the watch should be returned or the value of it handed over. To stimulate Jones to a speedy corclusion, Johnston said Walker had been arrested and locked up at the Central Station. arrested and locked up at the Central Station. Jones requested time to reflect upon the matter, and after Johnston and the reputed constable had left, he sent a friend to the Central Station and one to the house of Lazarus, to find out if Wilker had been arrested. When Lazarus was questioned about it, he told the same story as Johnston had done, and, in addition, that he had been arrested by George Smith, detective officer. This story was a tabrication, as Walker officer. This story was a tabrication, as Walker had not been arrested. Defendants were each held in $1200 bail for their appearance at Court.

TWO LARGE FIRES-SIMULTANEOUS DE-STRUCTION OF A LARGE BREWERY AND BURNING OF A MALT-HOUSE.-Shortly after 9 o'clock last evening a brilliant light sprang up in the north-western section of the city, and an alarm of fire was quickly sounded. The fire proved to be the extensive lager-beer brewery of Gustavus Bergner, situated on Thompson street, between Thirty-first and Thirty-second streets. The main structure was of stone, three stories high, and one hundred feet deep and fifty feet wide. It was almost entirely destroyed, together with the contents, consisting of valuable machinery, apparatus, and fixtures. 5000 bushels of mail and 2000 bushels of hops were burned, and 2000 barrels of lager beer were entirely runned. The fire s attributed to accidental circumstances, and the entire loss is estimated at $100,000, upon which there is a partial insurance in the Royal and other companies. Scarcely had the bells done ringing for the above fire when the multhouse of Messis, Francis and William S. Perot was discovered on fire. The structure is situated in the rear of No. 314 Vine street, and extends back to New street, covering an immense area of ground. The fire originated in a new wing of the building nearest to New street, and in a short time the capola was on fire, thus creating a considerable light. The firemen were promptly on hand, having been on the qui vite by the other fire, and quickly proceeded to the place. Two of the kilns were destroyed, and a considerable amount of water was thrown into the building. It is impossible to approximate the loss, as a great amount of grain was domarad but some of the amount of grain way damaged, but some of it may prove of some value.

The main building had a fire-proof, fortu-nately, and it remained intact from the fire, but much water found its way there. Mr. Perot in forms us that some portions of the building have been standing two hundred years, and this is the first fire that ever occurred there.

The church adjoining the malt-house was in danger at one time, but by the exertions of the fremen it was saved. The light from both fires illuminated the heavens in the northern section of the city, and produced an impression that an immense conflagration was raging.

DANGER OF INTERFERING BETWEEN MAN AND WIFE. - Edward O'Neal, residing at the Miners' Arms, on Water street, above Dock, was arrested on Saturday night, on the charge of stabbing a marine with a pocket knife. O'Neal, it is alleged, was ill treating his wife, and the marine interfered. Two severe cuts were in-flicted, one in each thigh. Alderman Butter committed O'Neal for trial.

CORONER'S INQUESTS .- The Coloner held an inquest on Saturday upon the body of a woman named Annie Bradford, who was found dead in a house in Seventh street, below Bed ford. A verdict of death from intemperance and exposure was rendered. A similar verdict was rendered in the case of a colored woman, who hved in Spafford street, below Bedford.
