ADEL DIVIA POTALS DECEMPTED DO 1000 THE DAILY EVENING TELEGRAPH .- PHII

WASHINGTON.

f WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 .- The Interior De partment has received a telegram announcing the death at Council Bluffs of General Samuel R. Curtis, one of the Commissioners appointed to inspect the finished work of the Union Pacific Railroad. He was actively engaged in the late war.

It is expected in official circles that Lieutenant General Sherman, after visiting St. Louis, will return to Washington, to report in person the particulars of his recent visit to Vera Cruz.

The United States Supreme Court, in a cause from the Circuit Court of the Eastern District of Louisiana, dismissed the appeal for the want of jurisdiction. It appears that the amount in controversy did not exceed two thousand dollars.

The Commissioner of Customs has received information of the conviction, in the United States District Court of the District of Michigan, of nine persons for smuggling. They have not yet been sentenced.

The Currency Petition.

Petitions are circulating throughout the country for signatures, praying Congress to refrain from the passage of any act authorizing the curtailment of the national currency, or having in view the return within a limited time to specie payments. This movement, it is known, is in opposition to the policy of Secretary McCulloch, who maintains that the country wants more labor instead of more currency. The Secretary has returned to Washington today, from a visit to West Virginia. He has given up the intention to proceed north, not having any business to call him thither at present.

A Present to the President,

The President has received from James Lyons, of Richmond, a cane made of a piece of the old frigate Constitution. The inscription on the gold head of the cane compliments Johnson as "the restorer of the Constitulion."

Disbursing Officers.

It having been represented to the Treasury department that the officers of the United States charged with the disbursement of public money have in some instances made deposits of such moneys with banks or bankers, or others not authorized as depositories of public moneys, General Spinner, the United States Treasurer, has published certain provisions and requirements of law for the information of such officers and other parties, from which it is seen that deposits of public moneys may be made only as follows: Deposits of collections or receipts of all public moneys, by all kinds of United States officers, with the Treasurer or an Assistant Treasurer of the United States, except the receipts from customs, as hereinafter mentioned, with a national bank, designated as a depositary, under the provisions of the National Currency Act, and with no others.

Collectors of Internal Revenue are required to deposit their collections in the particular depository indicated to them by instructions from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Collectors or deputy collectors who deposit with banks, bankers or others not authorized as depositaries render themselves amenable to the penalties prescribed by the law.

Deposits of customs duties, being in coin, can be made only with] the Treasurer or Assistant Treasurer, or such other public officer as has been designated as a depositary of the United States. National banks that have been designated as depositaries of public moneys are not authorized to receive deposits of coin.

Deposits of disbursing officers may be made with the Treasurer, or an Assistant Treasurer of the United States, or with a depositary specially authorized for that particular purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury, under Cabinet meeting, and being disengaged, he determined to make good use of his leisure moments by obtaining interviews with the leading Radical members of both Houses of Congress, and conversing with them freely upon the subject of the constitutional amendment, and the prospects of the admission of South Carolina her rights upon its adoption.

Colonel Weatherly succeeded in making the acquaintance of several of the leading Radical Senators and Representatives, with whom he conversed freely, and was assured by them that the constitutional amendment was the ultimatum of Congress to the southern States, that its adoption by them would remove all obstacles to their being admitted to representation in Congress.

Colonel Weathely had a subsequent inferview with President Johnson, to whom he had been informally deputized. We learn that the interview with the President was of some duration, as well as free and candid, during which he expressed the hope that the southern States would remain firm in their position as regards the constitutional amendment, and steadfastly reject it, believing it to be an advance step to the inauguration of a despotism. In doing this, he said, he hoped they would be guarded in their reasons assigned for its rejection, and avoid any language that might, by any possi-ble means, be tortured to give offence to the opposing party.

The President feels confident from a recent decision given by the Supreme Court that he will be sustained by that law-abiding body, and that in a short time a returning sense of reason will point out some middle ground between the constitutional amendment and the projected territorial scheme, upon which our country may become united, when peace will again smile upon us with all its blessings.

The Storm.

A severe gale has been blowing all day from the northwest; weather cold and clear. There was a slight fall of snow early this morning.

From Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Dec. 27 .- The trial of the al-leged murderers of the soldier on Christmas night has been in progress all day before the bench of magistrates, and will occupy all tomorrow. The testimony is far from conclusive as to who fired the shot, and none of the parties on trial can be convicted on the evidence as far as developed. It is definitely ascer-tained in proof that the affray originated in the soldiers cheering for the Union and Lincoln, while the policemen, off duty, cheered for Jeff. Davis.

A feeling of intense bitterness exists be-tween the soldiers and the policemen which threatens blocdy consequences, on the first substantial provocation. The commanding officers participate in the feelings of the soldiers.

William Stuffans, a well known German citizen, while intoxicated at a ball given by the Aureagonia Lodge, at the Council House, last night, stepped from the open balcony of the second story, dislocating his neck, and causing his speedy death. He will be buried this afternoon, with all the honors of the Lodge.

NASHVILLE, Dec. 27 .- For some time past, many agents of houses in western and eastern cities have been selling goods here by sample. To-night the City Council passed an act prohibiting this, unless the parties shall first pay $300 for annual license, and shall give bond in the sum of $5000, with two sureties living in Davidson county, conditioned on making an accurate monthly exhibit, recording their sales and paying a duty thereon of ten per cent.

many a hope had been raised of his forming an attachment which might throw some interest around his existence, and ward off the enumi-which was killing him by inches. But the conviction that the opportunities thus afforded him were but snares of the enemy to set a spy over him in his most unguarded mo-ments, kept him on the watch, and he neve-once yielded to the temptation. But the mo-ment came for him as it comes for all men. He become struck with the struce and beauty of his ment came for him as it comes for all men. He became struck with the grace and beauty of his landlady's niece, a girl in sh from the woods, whose picturesque costume and simple manners flattered both his artistic and moral taste, and soon became deeply enamored. To this girl he told the whole story of his life—the temptations which had been offered him—the aspirations in which he induced the bones he entertained which he indulged, the hopes he entertained. His entire existence underwent a change. To one being could he unfold the secrets of his heart, and the restraint which had been killing him was overcome at last.

But as there must always be a demou at work upon the happiness of every mortal here below, so did the satisfaction experienced by the young Duc de Reichstadt soon come to an end. He Due de Reichstadt soon come to an end. He sho had ever shunned all gaiety, who had ob-stinately remed to attend all courtly feles, opera, ball, and play-finding his health and spirits much improved, must needs one night be selzed with an irresistible desire to see the ballet of the "Diable Boiteux," in which the cachuea danced by Fanny Ellsler, had become the aim and object of every conversation and of all the enthusiasm of the city. He went alone to the opera; he saw the dancer come for-ward to the tootlights with that swimming step which had won the hearts of all mankint; he gazed first in terror, then in donbt, then in horror and amazement, and sank slowly down horror and amazement, and sank slowly down senseless on the floor of the box where he was placed1

It was the dancer herself on whom his whole heart and soul had been bestowed. It was to her he had confided his most secret thoughts, The whole intrigue of the Court became re-vealed at once to his mind. He went back no more to the village, but retired again to the little student's room in the palace still shown as the place where he died, and could never be persuaded to behold even once again the traitress who had so imposed upon his trusting heart. No one but himself ever suspected Fanny Ellsler of any base intrigue—the pas-toral comedy had been played out in good part, and with the entire concurrence of imperial relatives. The end of the drama was a bright and glorious existence for the dancer; for the Duke, misery, despair, and death ! heart and soul had been bestowed. It was to the authority of section 1 of the act approved June 14th, 1866, and with no others.

The attention of public officers interested, and of banks, bankers, or others not authorized as depositaries of the public moneys, is specially called to the fact that all violations of the act of August 6th, 1866, and the acts amendatory of the same, subject the parties transgressing to severe pains and penalties under a conviction for felony. The laws are very stringent against all officers charged with the deposit and disbursement of money. Among other things they are prohibited from investing public money in any kind of pro-perty or merchandise. They cannot for any purpose not prescribed by law transfer or apply any of the funds. All such acts are declared a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, the offender shall be punished by imprisonment for a term of not less than one year nor more than ten years, or by fine not more than the amount embezzled, nor less than one thousand dollars, or by both: such fine and imprisonment to be at the discretion of the court.

The Charleston Courier.

The Charleston (S. C.) Courier of Tuesday, noticing the various newspaper reports about a South Carolina commissioner to Washington, says: It appears that, prior to the close of the session of our Legislature which adjourned on Friday last, a large majority of the members of the Senate consulted together as to the propriety of sending a member of that body to Washington to confer with the President on the probability of the State being restored to her place in the Union should she adopt the constitutional amendment.

After consultation it was decided that some good might arise from the pursuance of such a course, and one of their number was selected for the mission. The gentleman selected was Colonel J. C. Weatherly, Senator from the Marlborough District, who immediately proceeded to Washington and sought an interview with the President. Upon his arrival he CINCINNATI, Dec. 27 .- The weather is very cold, with the mercury fourteen degrees above zero.

Three persons in one family, named Baur, died from cholera on Monday, and two other members are quite sick, caused by eating diseased pork.

The Rushville and Connersville Railroad, from Rushville, Ind., to Connersville, was opened on the 25th.

Two men, named Richardson and Batchelder, have been arrested at Eaton, Ohio, on suspicion of an attempt to defraud a Life Insurance Company. They had buried a coffin at midnight, filled with broom corn seed, with the intention, it is supposed, of representing that the coffin contained the remains of a man named McFadden. The latter has not been found as yet. The affair is creating considerable excitement.

THE SON OF NAPOLEON BONAPARTE.

The search after the relics, writes a Paris cor-respondent, belonging to the Duke de Retch-stadt, King of Rome, has ended in the securing of several most interesting souvenirs, to be placed in the Napoleon Gallery of the Louvre, The life of this son of the great Emperor, who, according to the touching epitaph written by himself for his own tomb, "was born King of Rome, and died a Lieutenant in the Austrian service," was too short to admit of any very voluminous record.

The souvenirs now brought to Paris have been wholly furnished by the well remembered danscuse, Fanny Elleler, who lives in the strict retirement of a country life near the Hague, occupied solely in the cultivation of a certain species of rose, which she had brought to the highest perfection. By the fortune left her by Gontz, added to that acquired by her own un-dustry and talent, she is enabled to live the easy life of a chatelaine; and while her leisure time is occupied with the cultivation of flowers, her heart is fully occupied likewise with the cultivation of all her tender souvenirs of the Court of Vienna, and the place she once occupied thereat, with the full consent and approbation of every member of the Imperial family.

The story of the loves of the Duc de Reich-stadt is short and sad enough. Disgusted with the restrant of the life at Court, wounded by the position to which his birth had consigned him among the proud archdukes, his high-born relatives, he was wont to steal away into the country to enjoy solitude and the contemplation of nature, at little village near Vienna: The doctors had foretold that ituless some interest in life were offered to this sensitive mercous siste, at the lowest cash prices. A trial will secure your custom. JOHN A. WILSON. Successor to W. L. FOULE, PEILADSLEBIA, August 27, 1866. 9256m
