ing of steam fire engines through the streets, as follows:-"The reckless manner in which some of the steam fire engines are driven through the streets of our city in times of alarms of fire, is still a just cause of complaint, and your Board would take this opportunity to reafilrm their well-defined position on the subject: and in the future, as in the past, they believe the best in-terests of the volunteer fire department will be served by refusing to grant any relief to an en-gineer or driver who may be injured by reason of his own careless or immoderate driving."
