CAMBEN AFFAIRS.

A NICE LITTLE ROW OVER THE RIVER - "STRONG DRINK IS RAGING"-MAYOR BUDD PUTS DOWN ROWDYISM, AND LOSES HIS JEWELRY IN SO DOING-THE EFFORTS OF THE CAMDEN OFFICIALS TO ENFORCE THE SUNDAY LAWS. -The authorities of Camden are at last making streamous exertions to enforce obedience to the laws, more especially to those which are in-tended to secure quiet on the Sabbath. For this they deserve all praise, and it is only to be regretted that they did not commence their sections operations at an earlier period. For be it known that rowdyism for a long time was rampant in Camden. This was particularly the case of Sundays, when Philadelphia was accustomed to pour forth upon the devoted shores of Jersey the most disorderly element of its popu-

The police force of Camden has been, and still is, entirely too small to cope with this rowdy element. They were not too few in numbers, however, to strike successfully at the root of the evil, and this they have done by enforcing the law which prohibits the sale of spirituous liquors on Sunday. The good work commenced couple of months ago, and the good results which have followed are mainly due to the zeal and activity of Justices Cochran and Cassiday. At the present time, we believe, there is not a single saloon in the city to which access can be had on the Sabbath. Since this has been the case, the rowdy element of Philadelphia has found Camden a very dull town on Sunday, and so they have discontinued their visits for the

But Camden has a rowdy element of its own, which is still disposed to make trouble. Five gentlemen belonging to this free-and-easy fraternity yesterday afternoon started out in search of adventure. Between 4 and 5 o'clock they arrived at a saloon on Market street, below Second, kept by Jacob Hornef. Admittance was demanded and refused. Whereupon the five oold boys commenced an assault upon the door, which they carried vi et armis. On effecting an entrance within the spiritual precincts, they resolved to vent their wrath upon the pro-prietor for his having kept them out in the cold so long. As they were thus amusing themselves, Mayor Budd reached the scene of the conflict, the noise of which had attracted his attention while seated in his parlor, a few doors distant. The Mayor, with no gentle grip, laid his hands upon the most demonstrative of the five. This was re-sented by the latter in an attempt to knock the Mayor down; but his Honor warded off the blow, and by a discreet rejoinder stretched his assailant upon the floor. The discomfited gentleman gathered up his prostrate form and be-took himself to the street, followed by his four companions. Two of the latter then set upon the Mayor, but their attack resulted in their getting into the custody of the latter, and being marched off to the Station House. They there gave the names of Murray and Lober.

Having secured his prisoners, Mayor Budd telt for his watch to ascertain the time, but found only the dangling remnant of the chain. The watch was worth about $200, and in addition to this a valuable ring which had been attached to the watch-chain was also missing.

The three desperadoes who escaped from the saloon were then sought out by Marshal Campbell, in company with several other officers, was ascertained that two of them were at their boarding-house, on Front street, above Elm. The house was surrounded, and Marshal Campcell entered the front door just as the fugitive emerged from the rear. One of them, Seaman by name, stumbled into the arms of Officer Ayers. "English, Junior," by which title the other is known, fell into the hands of Officer

Officers Gilbert and Johntry in the meantime proceeded to Centreville, where the fifth rowdy resided, and found him safely bestowed in bed for an innocent nap. He made a hasty toilet, and followed the officers to the Station House. This individual's name is George Wiley, and his reputation is that of being an old offender.

The five have a hearing to-day before Mayor Budd. There is no doubt about their committal, and as the Court is now in session, they will be tried at once and receive their just

THE LANDLORD AND TENANT BILL .-At a meeting of the oitizens of Camden held s short time since, the following resolutions were adopted in reference to the new Landlord and

To the Members of the Senate and House of To the Members of the Senate and House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the law approved Aprili 6, 1866, is an oppressive enactment, because it gives the tenant up to the tender mercies of the landsord, who, if an unjust man, has under this law power arbitrarily to disposess his tenant in six days, if the said landlord elects thus to receive his rent, or in one month it the tenant rents by the month.

Resolved, That we are willing to abide by the old Resolved, That we are willing to abide by the old law as it stands upon the statute-book.

Resolved, i hat the recent law discriminates for the landlord and against the tenant, in this, that the landlord can arbitrarily demand that the tenant shall give up possession of his house upon any notice "equal to the number of days between the days of payment of rent;" thus fixing and limiting the tenant's term of holding possession, as was never done by any previous enactment.

Resolved, that as the said law was surreptitiously passed the last day of the session, we pray that it may be repealed at the next session of our Legislature. the landlord and against the tenant, in this, that lature.

A committee—consisting of James M. Scovel (Chairman) and Edward Dougherty, North Ward; William Shima and Reading Holloway, Middle Ward; Samuel W. Haines and Charles Ayer, South Ward—was appointed to proceed to Trenton, and urge the repeal of this obnoxious law.

AT HIS OLD TRICKS .- Sullivan, who has made so many unsuccessful attempts to escape lately, and who was so heavily ironed in consequence, on Saturday worked a brick in the corridor loose with his foot, and a brother prisoner rubbed the head of the rivets almost off, when he became frightened and informed the Sheriff, who had the rivets repinced by stronger ones. GRAND SUPPER.-The "Sons of Malta" anticipate giving a grand supper this evening at Morgan Hall. The proceeds are for a charita-

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

[For Additional Local Rems see Third Page.]

THE WEATHER.-Our city yesterday wore a true winter aspect. Early in the morning snow commenced to fall, and from that time until noon the flakes fell sifting through the air, and now and then, by some little puff of wind, blustered into faces and into open doors and through open blinds, drifting into alleys, and covering all accessible objects with a thin mantle of purest white. The mow fell to a depth which afforded fair sleighing, and the jingling of merry sleigh bells were often heard, from early morn

The air was mild, but somewhat chilly, periodically striking through the thickest of clothing and making the body shiver with its contact. About 5 o'clock in the afternoon, signs of rain were apparent, and a fine mist fell for some

This morning the aspect of the streets was not so inviting. The "snow devils," put into active use by the railroad workmen, piled snow and dirt along the tracks, and salt was freely used. The walks have been effectually cleaned of their snowy covering on all the principal

Sleighers are making the best of the present time, by using every manner of vehicle on run-ners to be found, which will be actively engaged even until the snow has nearly disappeared, and they scrape over the rough pavement.

A BIG HAUL AT A DISORDERLY HOUSE .-For some time past the "Grant House," kept by a man named Alexander Pleiffer, at No. 125 N. Seventh street, near Cherry, has been com-plained of to the authorities as a nuisance. Last Saturday night, about half-past 10 o'clock, a squad of policemen surrounded the place and arrested some fourteen or fifteen of the revellers who had been holding an orgic within. The proprietor and four men and ten woman were arrested, and marched off to Alderman Godbou's office. After hearing the circumstances of the case, in which it was alleged that the house was a common resort for street-walkers and disorcharacters, the proprietor was held in $1000 ball to answer for keeping a disorderly house, and the others fined and held to bail to keep the peace.

AN ELDERLY JOKER.-Andrew McBride. sged fifty-five years, was arrested last Saturday night for mistaking somebody else's property for his own. It appears that about 11 o'clock that night he was discovered by a policeman in the act of removing a sash from one of the windows of old Moyamensing Hall, when he was arrested. He was asked what he was doing, when he replied that he had purchased the aforesaid sash, and was taking it away. He turthermore had in his possession a quantity of lead pipe, which had been also obtained from the building. He accounted for the possion of the latter very facetiously:—"The Gov-ernment watchmen take the pipe, and I have as much right as they have," Aldermau Luiz dit not see it in that fight, and sent the funny old fellow to prison, in default of $600 batl, to reflect on the absurdity of his position.

Suspicion of Arson, - Fire-Marshal Blackburn made a thorough tuvestigation about the fire in Frankford on Friday night, in which the mattress factory of Mr. Oliver C. Phillips was burned. Two parties, Frank Reimer and John Outer, were arrested upon suspicion of having been the guilty parties who set fire to the place. A short time previous to the breaking out of the fire they had been seen bumming around the neighborhood of the fire and in the engine-house of the Decatur Fire Company, The factory was in the rear of the engine house and immediately after the fire was discovered they ran out of the house, each with a fire-horn in his hand. After they were arrested they had a heaving before Alderman Holmes, who held them for a further examination.

CONJUGAL TROUBLES .- Peter Held is the same of a man who, it is alleged, treats the wite of his bosom in a most shockingly neglect ful manner. It appears that Peter had a wife and couldn't keep her, or rather wouldn't keep her. He has been in the habit of leaving her for months at a time, returning only to beat and abuse her, and without contributing in any way to her support. It is alleged that he went to her residence. No. 417 Everett street, last Saturday evening, and after quarrelling tor some time, he threatened to kill her. She called a policeman and had him arrested and after a hearing before Alderman Toland, he was held in $500 bail to answer.

"HUMMEL'S GRAND MASS."-"Hummel's Grand Mass," in B flat, was very excellently and artistically performed at St, Mary's Church yesterday morning, the talented choir, under the directorship of Professor Dos Santos, achieving quite a triumph in it. Mrs. Schimp! Miss McCartney, Mr. Martinez, and Mr. Winterbottom were the soldists on the occasion, and the chorus, which included several distinguished amateurs, was very effective. Altogether, it was the best performance of "Hummel's Grand Mass" we have had in Philadelphia for some years, and its repetition would prove most ac-ceptable to all lovers of good music, capably and forcibly executed.

SHOPLIFTER. - Caroline Turner being naturally of a benevolent turn of mind, relieved Mr. McFettrick, who keeps a store at welfth and Shippen streets, of a piece of flannel, containing thirty yards, last Saturday night. It is supposed that she wanted it for the ourpose of making drawers for the natives of Boorraboola Gha, or for some other beneficent institution in that vicinity. However, Caroline could not convince Alderman Tittermary of her purity of motives in taking the flannel, and he sent her below in default of $1000 bail to answer in due time the charge of larceny.

A Young Forger,-William Hazel, a young colored boy, residing with his mother at No. 708 Stewart street, was arrested last Saturday night, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. It appears that his mother goes out to work, and does not collect what is due to her until it amounts to a sum that would make it desirable to do so. William having more wants than he had money, forged an order to obtain some of the money due his mother, and by that means got about $10, which he appropriated to his own use. He had a hearing before Alderman Tittermary, who committed him to answer.

SNEAK THIBF. - Augustus Fisher was arrested at Fourth and Lombard streets last night, charged with larceny. Augustus is but a young lad, though old in sin, and has been for some time past engaged in purioning un-considered trifles from his father and from other persons. His operations were finally put a stop to and he was escorted to Alderman Butler, where the case was investigated. The Alderman sent Augustus to the House of Refuge, where he will have plenty of time to reflect on the error of his ways.

A DISHONEST SHIPMATE,-It has been as-erted that a man who would rob a shipmate too low a man to be called a thief. Johnson, who has been employed on a monitor is charged with the mean offense of robbing one of his shipmates of $13 and some clothes. The theft was accomplished last Thursday, and the victim made complaint, and had Johnson arrested on Saturday night. He had a hearing before Alderman Butler, who held him to answer the charge of larceny. CORNER LOUNGING .- Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather yesterday, there was quite a number of these ornamental additions to our street corners arrested. Lieutenart Fuller made a sweep of about twenty of them, and gave them a chance to obtain an introduction to Alderman Lutz. That gentleman, however. made them pay for it by fining them and holding them to keep the peace. PASSENGERS FOR THE SOUTH AND SOUTHwast, to make prompt connections and quick time, should ask for tickets via Annanessic line. This line is now carrying the great United States mail. No detention by ice. Elegant state-room sleeping cars in all night trains. Office of the Company is No. 629 Chesnut street.

CORONER'S INVESTIGATION.-The Coroner this morning held an investigation in case of James Lukens, who was shot on the 21st o December, and died on Saturday, the 13th

Washington Quigley sworn-On Friday nigh before Christmas we were up to the bar of the botel, Second and Lombard streets, and in came Lukens, and said some of them had been talking about him; I said to him, "Jim, there is no such fellows about here;" I was then leaning over the bar, and shortly after there was a pistol shot fired; I then saw Smith go out of the door; Lukens tried to get out of the door, and Mr. Gilbert caught him; he (Lukens) made a remark that he was shot; he fell on the floor, and we carried him into the room and sent for the doctor; he was then taken to the hospital and there died on Saturday. The shot came from the direction where Smith was standing; Smith was not in the bar-room when Lukens came in, but came in afterwards; I didn't hear them have any words; I didn't see him fire the pistol; but he was behind the smoke; Smith was not arrested at the time; Lukens was asked why be didn't have him arrested, and he said he had no charge against him; I judge the shot came from Smith because Lukens and he had had some previous difficulty.

Edward Hawkins sworn-I was down the cellar when the shot was fired; I came up, and Lukens was standing at the bar, and made a grab for the pitcher; I got the pitcher; he then attempted to run out of the back door, when Mr. Gilbert caught him; Lukens then exclaimed, "I am shot;" those in the bar-room said they didn't know who pred the shot. Samuel Gilbert sworn-I was there the night the affair happened; Lukens came in and up to the bar and said there were a lot of around here; Bankin turned to hit Lukens, but I caught him and took him away; he came back to the bar again, and I took him away; I had hold of him; I heard a pistol shot, and Lukens exclaimed "I am shot;" I didn't see Smith there at all.

John Farrel sworn—I was outside when it appened; didn't see anything of it; I heard a shot fired, but didn't see any one run out; I saw Smith go in the place. Washington Quigley recalled—I heard Smith say that he shot Lukens.

Isaac Vansciver sworn—I was in the hotel; beard the report of the pistol and saw Mr. Lukens jumping around on one leg and holding the other one in his hands; the pistol-shot came from the direction of the door.

Edward Wilcox sworn-I was in the place playing cards with another man; I heard a noise and looked up, and saw Lukens going towards Smith with his hand in his pocket; I thought he was going to shoot or cut him; then the pistol shot was fired; I saw the pistol fired by Smith we got a handkerchief and tied the leg pretty tight above the wound; I saw the pistol in Smith's hand; I saw Lukens afterwards, and he said "It was all right; he didn't want any iuss

Dr. Shapleigh sworn-I made a post-mortem examination of the body, at W. H. Moore's un-dertaker shop, Fifth and Arch streets; I found a gan shot wound on the right leg; the ball entered at the middle of the leg half way between the knee and the thigh, on the under side, passed inwards and outwards, wounding the femora artery behind the bone, and made its exit on the outer part or the leg, opposite the wound o entrance; the leg was enormously swol-len; the tissues werefilled with bloods matter; the swelling extended up over the hip; the leg below the knee and foot was in a state of mortification; the deceased came to his death in consequence of the gunshot wound described.

Officer Bell swern—I arrested Smith at Second and Meade street; he said he wanted to know what he was arrested for; I told him it was "in relation to this shooting;" he said something about, "self-defense," and they could not do any thing with him: he made no resistance.

Lieutenant Goldey sworn-Officer Bell came to the Station House, and informed me that Lukens was dying; Smith was brought to the Station House, and said that Lukens struck him. and he had had a stroke of apoplexy from it. William Smith sworn—A man came out of the hotel, and told me a man was shot; I asked if I could see the man; I went in the place, and some one said "he didn't think the ball went through his leg;" I picked the ball up.

The following verdict was rendered by the ury:—"That the said James Lukens came to his death from a gunshot wound, at the hands of John A. Smith, on December 21, 1866, at the S. W. corner of Second and Lombard streets. Died, January 12, 1867.

NORTH PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.-The annual meeting of the stockholders of this company was held at noon, at the office on Walnut street.

Edward Browning, Esq., was called to the chair, and Edward Armstrong, Esq., was appointed Secretary.

s now in use. In order to better accommodate the through travel, four new first-class passenger cars and one mail and smoking car have been ordered, and two of the passenger cars and the mail car are now running on the road. One new firstclass ten-wheel freight locomotive has been added to the motive power since the close of the fiscal year.

A mortgage for $1,500,000 has been issued for the security of a loan bearing seven per cent, interest, for the purpose of laying a double track as it may be required, procuring additional equipment, for the payment of the scrip issued for back interest, and for suclother purposes as may be deemed expedient. A connection has been made with the Cor necting Railway. The Lehigh Coal and Nav-gation Company are finishing their road rapidly. ind, when completed, the North Pennsylvania road will have another connection with the

Lehigh and Susquehanna regions, Out of the net earnings a dividend of five on ent, in scrip, bearing no interest, and converuole toto the seven per cent. mortgage bonds of the Company in sums of $500, on and after May 1867, was declared. The report of Solomon W. Roberts, Esq., Chief Engineer and Superintendent, was next read. It rives a detailed account of the operations of be Company.

The report of the Treasurer was next read. The reports were all adopted and ordered to

BREACH OF ORDINANCE.-A couple enders of provisions were arrested by High Constable Barton, at Eleventh and South streets. for breach of the market ordinance. They had a hearing before Alderman Morrow, by whom, after expressing their innocence of any inten-tion to oftend the majesty of the law, and their intention not to do so in the future, they were STOLEN PROPERTY RECOVERED. - The musical instruments which were stolen from the store No. 1025 Chesnut street, the evening, by burglars, were recovered last Saturday evening. They were found at the place of a pawnbroker, who returned them when he was satisfied of the real facts of the case.

A DISHONEST NEWSBOY,-As a rule, the coops are an honest set of fellows, but must be one black sheep in every flock. One of the newsboys, named George Mack, got into couble last Saturday night by trying to swindle the cittzens in the neighborhood of Second and Mester streets. It appears that he has been in the habit of getting off papers by calling out "extree!" "extree!" in a very excited manner, to attract purchasers, and deluding his victims with the idea that he has got some fearful news from Baltimore or Washington, and so getting high prices for his old papers. One of our citi-zens upon whom this trick was played did not relish the joke, and had Mack arrested. He had a hearing before Alderman Shoemaker, and was held in $400 bail to answer the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

LIQUOR STORE ENTERED AND ROBBED .-The wholesale 1 quor store of Mr. William I. Givens, situated at the corner of Marlborough and Pelgrade streets, was entered on Friday evening last, and money and valuables amounting to $150 abstracted.

The thieves entered by a cellar window, and from there obtained an entrance into the storeroom above. The circumstances surrounding the robbery show plainly that it was the work of professional thieves, as they carefully arranged and left behind them two broken bank notes that were among the money stolen.

THE PHILADELPHIA AND LANCASTER TUBNITER COMPANY held their annual election this morning, with the following result: -Presi-dent, D. Rodney King; Treasurer, Joseph Perot; Managers, Henry J. Williams, Isaac P. Morris, Charles Perot, Joseph P. Smith, Effingham Perot, Horatlo C. Wood, George Gilpin, Alexan-der Siddle, Joseph S. Perot, Emanuel C. Reigart, John F. Long, Jesse Brinton.

[SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.] WASHINGTON, January 14. Another Prize Fight.

A crowd of the faney of this city are preparing to leave to-night, to be present at the fight between Collyer, of Baltimore, and McQuale, of New York, to take place to morrow morningabout ten miles from Harrisburg,

The Opinions in the Test Oath Case. Judge Field occupied an hour this morning in giving the decision of the majority of the Supreme Court, that both the lawyers' test oath and the Missouri test oath are unconstitutional, and consequently void. Judge Miller delivered a minority opinion that the oaths were constitutional. The bench stood five to four in both cases.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE MONONGALIA OIL GARE Court of Quarter Sessions-Judge Peirce. It will be remembered that this case, after pending for many months and terms, during which time it underwent many arguments, was at length called for trial upon last flursday. The length of the case being anticipated, preparation was made by discharging until this morning all other parties than discharging until this morning all other parties than those concerned in this case.

The trial was opened on Thursday, when we gave in full all the particulars that had at the time been given. On Friday the trial was not resumed, on account of the Park case in the Common Pleas, where his Honor Judge Pierce was sitting, nor on Saturday, in consequence of one of the jurors having been injured by a tall on the ice. The charge is talse pretenses and conspiracy

This morning the Commonwealth, whose case had not been closed on Ibursday, took up the examination of witnesses. Mr. Orr, one of the geatlemen who subscribed upon the strength of the representations of the West Virginia land being very rich in oil and only $80,000, stated that he took tion in oil and only $60,000, stated that he took one share. In the summer of 1865 he said Mr. Stevenson called upon tim in reference to the complaints made by the subscribers, and said that there was no cause of complaint, and wished to know what were the demands they made.

The witness answered that his demand was to be put on equality in the matter with Stevenson himself, and thought if he could receive back $790 of his money that would be done. Then that Mr.

Stevenson said that if the opinion of a lawyer secure to obtained, the companions of a rawyer cours to obtained, the companions would be acrefied that nothing was wrong; and he proposed to settle with him, nay, to give uim $2000, if he would get such an opinion and show it about among the subscribers. But this Mr. Orr declined to do.

Mr. Orr and Mr. Middleton afterwards began a civil sult grainst Stavagers and others and then

Mr. Orr and Mr. Middleton afterwards began a civil suit against Stevenson and others, and then Walker paid him $300, and a receipt or an assessment of $50; and then Stevenson said that he and Middleton were on more than an equality with himself and Walker. Mr. Orr said that he was not a prosecutor in this case on trial.

On cross-examination this gentleman said he did not enter complaint against these defendants. Stevenson, Walker, Farson, and Davis, nor did any one do so with his authority or consent; that at the time of the beginning of the civil proceedings Mr. time of the beginning of the civil proceedings Mr. Stevenson came to him and Middleton, and that the first demand was for $2100-$700 for himself and $1400 for Middleton; but that they finally agreed upon a smaler sum, and settled upon it.

The witness himself visited the oil territory, and reported it as good land, in his epinion.
He went to the land on the 26th of June, and made this report in the early part of July, 1835. Mr. John Middleton, being called and sworn, stated that he snew the defendants Stevenson Walker, and the others; and that, in consequence of a conversation held with another gentle nau, he went to Mr. Stevenson for the second time in Feb-rusry, 1865, and broached the subject of the oil lands. Mr. Stevenson told him of the lands, describing the vicinity and su roundings, telling him of the abandonment of salt wells, hithorto very lucrative, on account of the discovery of oil. Also, that the originators were about to get up the subscription of $60,000, and that he bimself intended to take several shares. The offer of showing by the witness that money was obtained from others than those mentioned the the bill being objected to by the defense, the Judge said, that if he had laid down the law in the first in-stance in such cases of lake 'pretenses, evidence of detrauding any parties whatever should be admis sible, as being connected with the case or transac-tion, for it would go far to show the intent of the defendants; and that, although the authorities are very strict and emphatic on that point, his faith in that doctrine was not much shaken, but according to the law such evidence was excluded.

This witness then went on to detail his subscription, dissatistaction, and complaint, as the preceding witness. The case is vet on trial.

Meesrs. L. C. Cassidy, Charles W. Brooke, and W. H. Ruddiman for the defense.

On account of this case the homicide case, intended to have been taken up to-day, was postponed. until Thursday next.
