

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

For Additional City Intelligence see Fifth Page.

A SKELLSOMEWHERE.—A couple of young men came to the city to make some investigations into the contents of the sewers. They paid their respects to the Mayor, and asked his permission to enter the sewers, and by him were referred to the Chief Engineer and Surveyor. Accordingly, the officer was waited on by two young men, who desired information as to the size and location of the sewers, passing through the portions of the city inhabited by those who are supposed to wear diamonds and costly jewelry, and who are careless about such wealth that they allow it to run into the sewers. The Chief, before affording the information desired, referred the parties to the Chief Commissioner of Highways, as the officer having charge of the manholes leading into the sewers. The Commissioner has not yet been waited upon, and the probability is that the search has already commenced.

RECOVERY OF MR. RALSTON'S REMAINS.—What removing the debris of the warehouse No. 27 N. Broad street, lately destroyed by fire, the workmen found the body of Mr. Ralston, who was buried in that fire. The body was badly burned, the feet being burned completely off; the head was also detached from the body. The remains were removed to the stable of an undertaker near by, and the Coroner notified to hold an inquest. On Friday, however, the body was so far decomposed that it was impossible to obtain it. No knowledge of the origin of the fire could be obtained. The supposition was that some person or persons who knew of the gentleman having considerable money about him, entered the building, arrested him, and set the premises on fire to avoid detection. The Coroner's investigation will no doubt throw some light on the affair.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A man named William H. Brown, aged 26 years, residing at Thirteenth and Christian streets, and employed as a laborer at the new Horticultural Hall, Broad street, above Spruce, was struck by a load of lumber to the second story, when the sling containing the boards slipped, a quantity of snow being on them, and fell, striking Brown on the top of the head, fracturing the skull. Surgeon Neil was summoned, but before his arrival the man had ceased to breathe. The body was removed to the Fifth District Station House, Fifth and Locust streets, and Coroner Daniels notified to hold an inquest.

ANNIVERSARY.—The Seventeenth Anniversary of the Union School and Children's Home took place last evening at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Broad and Arch streets. Over one hundred of the children belonging to the Home sang appropriate hymns. The institution has received for the year $10,464.15, and expended $10,455.18, leaving a balance of $9.97. The report referred to the death of the late President, John P. Crozier.

HOSPITAL CASES.—D. M. Gray, aged 60 years, fell on the ice in Market street, below Fourth, yesterday, and fractured his hip-bone. He resided at No. 1133 Melan street.

PETER MCGOLACK, aged 28 years, a resident of 107 Third street, died of a heavy piece of rock falling upon it at that place. Both were admitted to the Pennsylvania Hospital.

AN INTERESTING REPORT.—The annual report of the Indigent Widows' and Single Women's Society was read at the Home, in Cherry street, below Eighteenth. It referred very feelingly to the deaths of Miss Jane D. L. Kane, who was Secretary for twenty years, and their late President, Margaret Hodje.

RIOTER PARDONED.—Washington Hamilton, who was convicted of taking part in the riot at Moyamensing avenue and Federal streets, in September last, and sentenced to one year's imprisonment, has been pardoned by Governor Curtin.

SECRET SOCIETIES AT THE SOUTH—Report of the Chief of the United States Detective Police.

The following is the report on the subject of secret Rebel associations, made to Congress by the Chief of the United States Detective force:—To the Honorable the Senators and Members of the House of Representatives:—Gentlemen:—On the 1st of September last, my attention having been directed by the Southern correspondence of the Tribune, and numerous other Northern journals, to the existence of secret societies in the late rebellious States, for the purpose of evading the laws of the Government of the United States, and keeping up a disciplined organization to be used as a nucleus in an attempt to overthrow the Government, as soon as the said States have sufficiently recovered their material strength, I communicated to his Excellency the President my impression, that there must in such a connection be organized a generally asserted and believed, and was instructed by him to institute a minute investigation into the matter throughout the whole of the Southern country.

Regular communication was kept up both by telegraph and mail with all the stations in the States above named, but nothing transpired until about the 1st of December, when reports were simultaneously received from Charleston and New Orleans, stating that, after a constant watch sustained with the most increasing vigilance for a period of two months, the agents believed they were at last on the right track.

Naturally it was supposed that the meetings of these secret societies would be held at the dead of night, and in the most obscure places, and the chief efforts of my agents were in accordance with this idea; but, as will be seen further on, this opinion proved entirely incorrect, and much valuable time and strenuous exertion were thus wasted.

By a strange coincidence, on the first day of December some members of the day watch, both in Charleston and New Orleans, mentioned to the agents at those places that they had regularly notified, from 11 A. M. to 4 P. M. every day, a greater number of persons than the population than at any other time. The agents verified this fact by personal observation the next day, and immediately telegraphed me as above stated. I then notified agents in other places, and an observance of any similar phenomenon in their departments.

In less than a week I became satisfied, from reports received from all the stations in the rebellious States, that the tradition of the day watch, wherever it might be, to which was attributed this afternoon commotion, were very extensive. On December 30, I had received reports from Charleston, Mobile, New Orleans, that a great number of the inhabitants of those cities assembled between the hours above named at private houses and at hotels, in cliques numbered usually five to a dozen persons, and that at all these gatherings, among the many subjects discussed, there was one which was common to all the meetings, but that it was impossible to discover this by listening at windows, or in order to obtain full information, to violate the privacy of families.

graph to such an extent that I have been unable to lay my report before your honorable body; but I am happy now to be able to relieve your minds of all fears as to the existence of any such societies. The most thorough and complete information assured me that there are no such societies, and that the subject universally discussed in the afternoon meetings of the Southern cliques was dinner.
