On Tuesday morning, about 3 o'clock, a party f men were engaged in moving the household of men were engaged in moving the household goods of J. Dever, from a house about two miles from Ellisburg, in Delaware township, near the Burlington county line, to a place near Woodstown. The party had assembled at the above-mentioned nour in order to have an early start. While the wagons were being loaded two of the drivers, one named William Kelley and the other Davis Kelso, got into an sitercation about being the best man to work. Kelley remarked that "he Kelso) was not half a man to work." Whereupon Kelso waxed wroth, and pulied out a knife and made a cut at the other, but the knife, striking a bell which was around his body, glanced off.

was around his body, glanced off. Kelley then hit Kelso between the eyes and felled him to the ground. Pleking himself up, he made another lunge at Kelley, and this time entered the stomach about four inches below the navel, and, taking an upward direction, made a wound about a foot in length-the made a wound about a foot in length—the bowels protruding. The man immediately fell to the ground. Those in the house, hearing the rumpus, ran out and took the wounded man into it. He had not been there more than five minutes before he expired. The house, in the meantime, had been surrounded by the neigh-

Incantime, had been surrounded by the neigh-bors, so as to prevent the escape of Kelso. When the Constable went into the dwelling, Kelso refused to leave, saying "He would cut any man who dared to take him." He was sitting beside the deceased when the officer addressed him. Kelso got up and went out of the door as if to escape, but those outside imme-diately closed around him, and the officer coming up caught him by the back of the neck, threw him down, put handcoffs on, and with coming up caught him by the back of the neck, threw him down, put handcuffs on, and with the assistance of another, carried him to a wagon, which was in waiting, and took him to Camden County Jail. The inquest on the body of the deceased was held by Squire Fowler, at Ellisburg, yesterday, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the facts. Kelso acknowledges that he did the cutting, and says Kelley beat him. He exhibits signs of penitence, and is no doubt extremely mortified at having killed a fellow-being. Kelley leaves a wife and several children to lament his untimely end. children to lament his untimely end.

A RESUME OF THE "BURIAL GROUND" CONTROVERSY, WITH OTHER MATTERS THERETO CONTROVERSY, WITH OTHER MATTERS THERETO APPERTAINING.—The final examination, with reference to the accumulation of evidence for and against the proposed sale of the Lutheran Cemetery, bounded by Eighth, Vine, Franklin, and Race streets, took place yesterday. Both parties are now anxiously awaiting the case at the Common Pleas, the arguments then to be set forth, and the final decision. We propose to give a brief resume of this con-set forth, and the final decision. We propose to give a brief resume of this con-troversy, from its inception three years ago. In the early part of 1864, the German Lutheran Church Council, composed of officers and mem-bers elected from the congregation, determined bers decided from the congregation determined by vote to sell certain properties belonging to the Church corporation, including a slice of 110 feet in depth from the west front of this burial ground, for the purpose of liquidating an out-standing debt against the corporation, which was productive of great evils. Agreeably with this action, a petition was presented, in Febru-ary, 1864, to the State Legislature, praying for the privilege of disposing of these properties. This was refused. In October of the same year, a second petition was presented to the Court of Common Pleas, which granted its prayer in part, by appointing an examiner to take testimony for and against the cemetery. This was done, and the examiner reported against the sale; but the Court overruled this, and directed another, the last examination, which has just been concluded. Now the arguments in the case are as follows:

-The Church Council, and that part of the con-gregation who desire the disposal of the ground, enter a plea to the effect that funds are neces sary for the liquidation of the Church indebted-ness. To meet this argument, the opposition give evidence that the income accruing to the corporation from ground rents, real estate, in-terest, etc., amounting to about $19,000 per annum, can be so judiciously put to use that the whole debt can within ten years be paid off, whole debt can within ten years be platon, leaving a yearly margin fully sufficient to meet the contingent expenses of the Church in all its efforts. Secondly, the Council set forth that money is needed to extend the sect, to build church edifices nearer the outskirts of the city, to establish schools, thus giving the denomina-tion schered a foundation and a more entertion abroad a foundation and a more enten-ive influence. This, again, is met by the affirmation that money could be quickly raised from the sale of other real estate, without any sale from the cemetery, which would be amply sufficient to meet all demands in this direction. The oppo-

A SAFE ARRANGEMENT .- The National Bank of the Republic, on Chesnut street, above Eighth, has had workmen engaged, during the past ten days, in placing in position in its vault four ponderous burglar-proof safes, which work was completed to-day, and the bank now has one of the strongest, if not the strongest, lock-ups in the country. The safes were made expressly for the bank, and composed of hard-one of steel and errotalized white issue to said expressly for the bank, and composed of hard-ened steel and crystallized white iron, in solid mass, two and a half inches thick, and weighs over tweive thousand pounds. The vault in which these safes are placed was completed during the past year, and is itself a masterplece of impregnability; the floor, walls, celling, and doors being composed of immense sections of solid chilled and wrought iron, two inches thick, encased in heavy fire-proof masonry, and resting upon a massive foundation of granite slabs. The outer door of the vault is three inches thick, beyond this a pair of doors two inches thick, opening into the book vault, beyond this is an inner vault of chilled iron two inches thick, with a door of the same thickness. The four mafes are placed in this inner vault, and the money and securi-ties are distributed in them, affording greater security than if but one safe was used to con-tain all. The vault and safe doors are all protain all. The vault and safe doors are all provided with combination locks, without key or keyhole. The combined thickness of solid drill proof metal contained in the three vault and our safe doors is nineteen and a half inches. When it is considered that, in addition to all this precaution, watchmen are constantly em-ployed inside and outside of the Bank to guard it both day and night, it is difficult to conceive how greater security can be obtained.

JEWELRY STORE BROKEN INTO .-- ALL

THE TOOLS, ETC., TAKEN.-Last night, between 6 and 10 o'clock, the store of Alfred W. Ren-6 and 10 o'clock, the store of Alfred W. Ren-shaw, manufacturing jewelier, No. 413 Chesnut nut street, was entered, and ransacked in the most thorough manner. The burglars gained admittance by the aid of a deadlatch. All the manufacturing tools, excepting one small pair of pincers, a small amount of gold and silver, an ebony flageolot, and other articles to the value of about $200, were taken. A carpet-bag, filled with books, blank checks, etc., was emptied on the floor, and no doubt used to carry off the spolls, as it is missing. Everything in the room was unset in the search for valuables, but Mr. was upset in the search for valuables, but Mr. Renshaw had taken care to remove some of the valuable articles to his room, not having a safe. This loss in tools, etc., is quite severe on Mr. Renshaw, who is a young man, and had but just set up in business. Suspicions are entertained as to whom the perpetrators are.

a woman about forty-five years of age, who has been in the habit of depredating upon various places at which she has been employed, was arrested at Third and Race streats, at midnight, arrested at Third and Race streets, at midnight, on a warrant issued by Alderman Williams. Last November Emma was employed at the house of Mr. John Myers, No. 905 Arch street: while there she stole from Mr. Myers a quantity of clothing and $40 worth of nair-braid. From Miss K. Warffuel, a young lady boarding there, she stole $14 in money, and nearly all her underclothing. It is said that she has been doing that sort of thing for some time past, and a number of parties have been thus ytetimized a number of parties have been thus victimized She was held for a further hearing next Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

FORGERY .- A young woman, named Mary McMullen, aged twenty-three, yesterday pre-sented a check of $40, and bearing the forged signature of a Mr. Todd, living in Second street, and who keeps an account at the bank. The receiver at once mistrusted by the appearance of the paper that all was not right, and questioned the woman. She said that it was a check given by Mr. Todd to her father, for whom she was collecting it. To other inquiries she said that some man had handed it to her. These prevarications exciting suspicion, she was arrested, the paper identified as a forgery, and , the paper iden Miss Mary was committed by Alderman Beitler to answer at Court.

MEETING OF THE AGRICULTURAL SO-CIETY.-The regular monthly meeting of this colety was held this morning at their room, Seventh and Wainut streets, President Hiddle

Seventh and Wainut streets, President Hiddle in the chair. The minutes of the previous meet-ing were read and adopted. It was moved, seconded, and carried, that the committee be authorized to subscribe for the agricultural papers the Furm and Fireside and Practical Farmer. Jobu Berry, J. B. Rainer, M. W. Birch, M. McElroy, George Ramson, and J. G. Libpincott, Esqs., were elected members of the Society. G. W. Poss, Albert C. Roberts, and Samuel Huston were proposed for membership. The Chairman of the committee on the sub-ject of potatoes remorted that he had received ject of potatoes reported that he had received specimens of potatoes from Thomas J. Enge, Londongrove, Chester county, Pa., who had Londogrove, Chester county, Pa., who had raised them on a mercer stalk, between two rows of monitors. Other specimens were re-ceived from the Shaker village in Chester county. Dr. McClure presented a specimen of a fence

Dr. McClure presented a specimen of a fence which he had made after a copy of the fence used in England for sheep breeding, which he recommended to the Society as cheap and dura-ble, and answering the purpose of a portable fence, which is often needed where persons have a flock of sheep which they desire to trans-fer to different parts of their farms periodically. Dr. Lewis Hall said during the last summer he had analyzed different manures that are sold in the Philadelphia market. He had taken great pains to ascertain the true value of the article. He did not feel htmseif antborized to great pains to ascertain the true value of the article. He did not feel himself authorized to name any individual manufacturer or vendor of the article in this city. I have before me the following specimens; the price is carried out:-The first one is valued at $60, it is really worth $38 per ton to the farmer and no more. Another article is sold at $56, its real worth is $40, and so on through the seven articles, and the mean of the seven articles you will find $41 per ton, including the Chincha guano, which was sold at $100 per ton. There is no subject with which we are acquainted that is of imwith which we are acquainted that is of imwhen a farmer raises a crop, and takes it to market to sell, it must be examined by some one appointed by the city for that purpose. From a pound of butter to a barrel of flour, it must pass examination, or be forfeited; but the farmer must buy his manure with which his produce is reared, and pay a double price for it, and no questions asked. I submit for conside-ration, whether it would not be advisable to have a committee appointed to memorialize nave a committee appointed to memory and and our Legislature to pass a law by which all arti-ficial manures, including guano, which I do not consider an artificial manure, shall be examined by a regular agricultural chemist, and have his stamp upon it, branded as to the real value for the farmer before it is sold.

the farmer before it is sold. [The Doctor was requested to read the seven kinds of manures to which he had referred, which he did as follows:—Rep ]—1. Super-phos-pate of lime sold for \$80, worth \$38; 2, also super-phospate of lime, sold for \$56, worth \$40; 3, burned ground bone, sold at \$60, worth \$37:50; there is very little ammonie in it to many burned ground bone, sold at 500, worth 53.50; there is very little anmonia in it, bones are burned so much before that they cannot be ground without losing about  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. 4, Peruvian guano is sold at \$100, worth \$49.50. How do we manage to analyze guano to find out its real worth? We simply calculate how much ammonia there is in it. This is calculated at ammonia there is in it. This is calculated at at 12½ cents per pound. Then we find how much phosphate there is in it, and we value that at 1½ cents per pound. 5, Saldanho guano, sold for \$45, worth \$20.79. 6, Tuffoo, sold for \$15, worth \$6.80.7, Poudrette, sold for \$20, worth \$14. Drs. Hall Konnedy and I Morran Kannedi. brs. Hall, Kennedy, and J. Morgan Kennedy, Esq., were appointed a committee to prepare a memorial to the Legislature of the State to ap-point a Commissioner for the inspection of guano and artificial manure. Adjourned.

MAN SHOT .- Last evening a party of men got on one of the Port Riemmond cars, and commenced acting in a very disorderly man-ner. They picked up the straw on the floor and ner. They picked up the straw on the floor and threw it at one another, and pushed each other around, much to the annoyance of the other passengers. They had been attending a wedding party of a brother-in-law of one of the party, named Donnelly. A gentleman in the car went on the platform to see if he could catch a glimpse of an officer, and have them arrested. At the corner of Seventh and Cherry he saw Officer Mahan; he called to him, and the parties seeing him approaching, decamped. They ran through Entaw street, the officer fol-lowing, when one of them pulled out a pistol lowing, when one of them pulled out a pistol and shot a man named Burrow through the shoulder, the ball lodging in his back. He was shoulder, the barr longing in and the men got taken to the hospital. Some of the men got taken to the nospital, Some of the men got off, but Mathew Hannan was arrested. The names of the rest are bonnelly, Kanan, Patrick Toner, and McLear. One of the parties is not known. They will all be arrested soon, and the one who fired the shot discovered if possible.

SPECIE BASIS MINING COMPANY, -- The follow-ing editorial from the Evening Butletin is of in-terest to those engaged in mining speculations:--At the close of our civil war a number of en-terprising gentlemen sent out an exploring expedition to investigate the rich mining terri-tory of Arizona. They engaged the services of a practical engineer, with a corps of twenty natives, who traversed carefully all that section of country. On the receipt of his report, they finally made choice of the and which forms the groundwork of the Specie Basis organization. The title for the same was obtained from the United States, and the deeds therefor are duly recorded on the books of Mohave county, accord-ing to law. They were governed in their selec-tion by many considerations. The first was that it was further to the southward than other mines previously developed, and the theory of

to by many considerations. The first was that it was further to the southward than other mines previously developed, and the theory of geologists is that the metallic vertex radiate from the centre of the earth or the equator; the nearer, therefore, the proximity to that centre the greater their value. This theory is fully confirmed by the richness of the mines in Mexico and Peru. Secondly, the climate was so mild that fabor could be carried on without in-terruption for all the tweive months of the year. Thirdly, the size chosen was within fifteen to twenty miles of Hardyville, a snipping point on the Colorado river. This, in view of the weighty material to be transported, was indis-pensable; as by the Colorado, navigable for steamboats and barges, an uninterrupted water communication was at all times within their reach direct to San Francisco. Upon the basis of this property, thus judiciously selected, the specie Basis Mining Company was organized, with a capital of $5,000,000, divided into 500,000 shares at $10 each. shares at $10 each. None of this stock is for sale; but the Direc-

Working Capital, and to rely mainly upon the negotiation of their loan. The manner in which this loan is to be nego-tlated presents f-atures at once noval and unique in their character. It is secured by a mortgage on all the Company's property, now acquired or which may be acquired, made to John E. Potter, Esq., of this city, mortgages in trust for the security of the bondholders. The certificates will be issued for $100 each, with compons attached, and bear interest at the rate of seven and three-teutus per cent, per annum of seven and three-tenths per cent, per annum, payable semi-annually. The $200,000 bonds are offered to subscribers in five lots, subject to different conditions. #### The Wool Interest.

In the Globe report of the closing debate on the tariff, in which Senator Sherman is made to do injustice to Mr. H. N. Slater, of Worcester, Massachusetts, who was alluded to, Mr. Sherman was ouoted as saying that Mr. Slater man was quoted as saying that Mr. Slater wanted to get his wool duty free, and that he extolled in the highest terms the tariff of 1857, which admitted wool free of all duty, regarding that as the most admirable system that could be devised, because it enabled him to buy his arti-cles without any tariff duty. This, so far as Mr. Slater is concerned, was a mistake, as that gen-tleman has simply expressed his belief that toe present tariff, with the higher duttes imposed last summer on low-priced wools, is the best last summer on low-priced wools, is the best adjustment that can be made between the manufacturers and the wool-growers.

In his opinion, the increase of duties on wool-lens proposed by the bill now before the House, by adding some thirty to forty millions of dolars per annum to the cost of goods, would infact a serious injury upon the manufacturing interest, and would consequently injure the wool-growers. Such extravagant duties as are proposed would be evaded, and thus the revenue would do us no benefit, while the manufacturer and the wool-grower would be virtually leprived of protection.

sition, composed in part of late members and ontsiders interested, bring forth many argu-ments in support of their position. First, if the cemetery is sold, it will be an impossibility to identify the graves of deceased relatives and friends, in case of removal, as the headstones were removed in the year 1848, when the ceme-Also, that numbers of the graves were never marked by any kind of head-board, and consequently no proof the correct whereabouts can be obtained.

be obtained. Yesterday afternoon George Wagner, Presi-dent of the Church corporation, testified in evidence that, when the burial-ground was refilied and the headstones removed, stakes were carefully driven and carefully marked, were placed in the exact sections occupied by the stones, and that, after the refiliment, the exponents and head-boards were rightly renuments and head-boards were rightly replaced. He also says that out of every twenty graves but one was without any mark what ever; and when the new earth was laid on, it was smoothed above them, and their identifica-tion is forever lost. Now taking into conside-ration that there are interred 20,000 bodies, by the above statement 1000 are without any posi-tive mark. Looking at this fact in the abstract. it is questionable whether any class of people who know not where their relatives were in-terred, would consent to the removal of their bodies, their sacrilegious disturbance, or countenance any proposition to that effect. The Church Council, according to their peti-tion, do agree to disinter those bodies now lying n that part of the cemetery to be sold, and giv them a decent burial in a new lot opposite Laurel Hill. This is opposed because, the oppo-sition assert, the size of the ground will not permit of such decent and separate burial. The opposition offer another argument, which bears strongly on the case. Fersons not mem-bers of the Church, by the payment of certain sums, bought plots of ground for burial pur-poses. Certificates to this effect were lately poses. Certificates to this cliving full, complete, and everlasting ownership to such pur chasers, and the right to erect stones and monu ments over such plots, thus constituting all of such purchasers, in part, landholders of the whole cemetery. Section seven of the charter of the corpora-tion, which was granted in 1765 by William Penn, and confirmed in 1780 by the Legislature, says:-That the said officers of the church, nor their successors, shall not for debt, fine, or re-covery, grant, allen, or dispose of grounds, tene-ments, or messuages, by any means or in any ments, or messuages, by any means or in any manner to any person whatsoever. These are the main arguments in the case on both sides

In an article published in the Philadelphia Democrat (German), the other day, it was as-serted that this journal was the "champion" of the opposition, because in its columns were printed a great abundance of facts favoring the opposition, deduced from examinations before the lawful examiner; when this paper but made public the real facts in the case. It asserts, also, that the sale is necessary, because the debt of $80,000 is detrimental to the progress of the Church. The amount of this debt bears strongly on the final decision of the question at issue. Instead of being $80,000, according to the many petitions and affirmations, during the years past, the amount of the debt has mysteriously fluctuated from $48,000 to $55,000. The amount $80,000 has not yet been set forth in evidence. The article sets forth that this jour-nal considers the Lutheran schools controlled by this denomination as inferior to the English primary, when that fact has been one of the causes which led to the seperation in the Church, and a remote cause of this contraversy. The article in the Philadelphia Democrat disproves nothing, but concludes with a little blunt vulgarism, hoping, no daubt, thereby to give effect to the article, the contents of which are merely opinions, not
