STATE OF EUROPE.

LETTER FROM PARIS SPECIAL CONTINENTAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE EVENING TELEGRAPH

Paris, January 22, 1867. The Crewning of the Edifice.

Though the public in general is far from underrating the importance of the step which has just been taken by the Emperor, it cannot be concealed that the wishes of the nation at large are not completely satisfied. Reflection will no doubt serve to show its practical value, but for some days past hope had risen so high in the public mind that the first impression will be one more akin to disappointment than to satisfaction. The right of address, conferred by the decree of the 24th of November, is completely suppressed. We would have preferred that it should have been allowed to remain for the first session of each Legislature. But however that may be, the right of interpellation and the presence of the Ministers in the Chambers does not appear to us to be a compensation for the absence of all discussion on the address.

We have no grounds, as yet, for forming a judgment respecting the limits within which the right of public meeting will be permitted. A bill on this subject will have to be laid before the Legislature. The honor of taking the first step belongs to the Emperor, and we shall see whether the legislative body will give a liberal interpretation to the purpose of the sovereign. Are we to believe that the sole change which will be made in the laws respecting the press will be the transfer to the Correctional tribunals of the repressive power hitherto wielded by the Government? That a journal should not be liable to be warned, suspended, or stopped by a simple administrative act is, without doubt, an important concession; but if these powers be transferred in their whole extent to the tribunals just named, the press will have before it an irresponsible judge in the place of one who was accountable to public opinion, and its material condition will not be really changed. Does the Government intend to maintain the necessity for ministerial authorization, the deposits of caution-money, and the fiscal duties which weigh upon journals? On the explanations which may be given upon these different points, and the practical appli-cation which may be made of the principles laid down in the Emperor's letter, will depend the final impression which public opinion will retain respecting these important measures.

The New Bill on the Press in France. The first corollory of the new constitutional reforms in France will be the presentation to the legislative body of a bill on the press. We learn that this is already being drawn up, and will be submitted immediately to the examination of the Council of State. The probability is that the principal provisions will be taken from the act of the 22d of March, 1822, which also submitted offenses of the press to the Correctional jurisdiction. The modifications which are to be introduced into the legislation on the press will doubtless have, for consequence, to suppress the previous authorization at present required for starting a political journal. In conformity with the Emperor's letter, a bill on the regulation of the right of meeting is being actually drawn up. It is expected to be shortly laid before the Council of State, in order to be submitted to the Chambers in the early part of the session, at the same time as that on the press.

The Russian Paternal Government. The Government of St. Petersburg is now holding down poor Poland with an iron hand. Our correspondent in Warsaw writes us that, since the rupture of diplomatic relations between Rome and St. Petersburg, and the breaking up of the Concordat which subsisted between Russia and the Holy See, the Catholic clergy of that country are in an extremely difficult position. There is no longer any question of the free exercise of Roman Catholic worship; and the assertion may be made without exaggeration that, from the bishops down to the country cure, the entire clergy are placed under the surveillance of the most intermeddling police in Europe. The schismatic clergy, with which the Russian Government has infested the country, cannot declare that sermons should be preached in the Catholic churches whilst they are forbidden in the Roman Greek Church.

In every discourse from the pulpit the Muscovite clergy and the police send out political allusions, and threaten the preachers with exile to Siberia. A cure of the district of Sandomiez quite recently informed our correspondent that the head of the police in that town had just prohibited a priest from preaching on the Sabbath, if he did not wish to be sent to Warsaw in chains. Whoever knows how profoundly the Catholic faith is rooted in the hearts of the Polish people, will easily understand how greatly this system of violence has excited public opinion against the Government of St. Petersburg in the kingdom of Poland.

M. Rouher and the Holy Sec.

The latest accounts from the Holy City inform us that everything is quiet in Rome, which is a source of uneasiness to the Cardinals, as it is well known that the Democratic committee is actively at work. The French Minister of Foreign Affairs has sent a note to the Holy See, urging it to abolish the custom house barriers, by means of an arrangement with the King of Italy, and to secularize the Government completely in the provinces of Frorinore Velletri, and Vertubi; moreover, to grant greater freedom to the municipality of Rome.

A Military Execution in Paris. A great sensation has been caused in Paris by the execution of the two Corsican soldiers, Ciosi and Agostini, for the murderous attack in a wine shop on a man named Vitte, at Champerret, some weeks since. They were both shot, a few days ago, at Vincennes. After hearing Mass in the chapel, Closi asked for a morsel of bread and a glass of brandy, and both culprits were supplied; the former also smoked a cigar on his way to the place of execution. Agostini's fortitude failed him at the last moment, and he had to be bound to a post on the ground. Ciosi maintained his coolness to the last, confessed his guilt, and said he was ready to die. At his request, his eyes were not bandaged. At the first shot both men fell dead.

Severity of the Winter in France.

The weather has been extremely severe in France for the last fortnight. From Havre we hear that the cold there has been intense, Unusually large numbers of birds visit the towns from hunger and cold, and they become an easy prey to sportsmen. A covey of partridges also alighted in the town, before Bougse, and two were captured. At Rouen, for the first time during a week, no snow fell, and under the influence of a warm sun during the middle of the day, a thaw took place. The streets, however, afterwards become all the more dangerous, and numerous accidents occurred.

"THE ROOSEYS."-Messrs. T. B. Peterson & "THE KOONEYS."—Messrs. T. B. Peterson & Brothers have for salean admirable little work, entitled "The Rooneys." It is a satire on the Democratic aristocracy of New York, and is not only well conceived, but executed with a fund of humor which does credit to the author's comic fancy. We feel assured that all lovers of the ridiculous will be delighted with the adventures of "Alderman Rooney." The following verses are samples of the rich flow of humor.—

A LATE CONFEDERATE SOLDIER AND HIS WIFE N TROUBLE,—William Wilson resides in the state of Delaware and the town of Milford, State of Delaware and the town of Milford. During the war he was actively employed in the Rebel ranks. Peace returning, he returned, but not liking the location of his former home, he moved into the State of New Jersey, near the town of Hattonfield. Here he became acquainted with a young woman, an inmate of the family of Mr. Joseph Lippincott for over eleven years, and in time married her, when both left again for Delaware. About one week ago the dwelling of Mr. Lippincott was entered by forcing open the kitchen door, and clothing and jewelry taken to the amount of $500. Wilson and his wife having been seen in the neighborhood suspiciously, were fully believed to be borhood suspiciously, were fully believed to be the perpetrators of the theft. A SALE OF VALUABLE OIL PAINTINGS, -A rare opportunity for the purchase of valuable paintopportunity for the purchase of valuable paintings is now offered to connoisseurs at the sales rooms of Mr. B. Scott, Jr., No. 1929 Chesnu street. The sale will commence on Thursday evening, at 7½ o'clock, and will be continued day and evening until the entire collection is sold. Among the most prominent of the paintings is a beautiful landscape by G. F. Bensell, A marine piece by E. Ohrne is remarkable for its depth of coloring and the bold, free conception of the storm at sea. As one looks at the tion of the storm at sea. As one looks at the picture he can almost see the ship tossed in the surging mountains of water. A moonlight scene by T. Moran needs no encomiums. Those who have seen any of his paintings know what they all are. The above are only selected at random. It would require a long article to give the collection one-half of its due, and we can only say to our friends, go and see them.

A TUSSLE BETWEEN THE ROBBERS AND THE A TUSSLE BETWEEN THE ROBBERS AND THE ROBBED.—Yesterday a number of young men, six in number, entered the dry goods store of J. B. Greene, at Franklin and Spring Garden streets, and snatched a piece of cloth and twenty-two dollars in money. They were spied by the owner, who immediately gave chase down Spring Garden street, in which direction the thieves went. He soon came up to George Brown, about 19 years old, and getting him by the threat, attempted to arrest him. The other five throat, attempted to arrest him. The other five then turned upon Greene, and beat him in a dreadful manner, but fied on the appearance of reinforcements. Throughout the tussel, Mr. Greene, with commendable courage, kept fast hold of Brown, and when the tussle was over, took him to his store, while word was sent to Officer Fish, who lodged him at the Station House. Alderman Massey held the offender in House. Alderman Massey I $500 bail to answer at Court.

A VIOLENT YOUTH .- James Catheart, aged 18, took a walk last evening and stopped at name-rous places where he refreshed and strength-ened the inner man. Not only did he do this, but he imbibed freely exciting bevorages, so that by the time he got on to a Lombard and South streets car, at near Seventeenth and South streets, he was about half boozled. On his entrance to the car its former-peace was changed to disturbance, for young Catheart cogninenced to break the windows, and when the conductor attempted to put him out, beat him so badly that he was unfit for further duty. Cathcart was arrested and taken to the lockup. The Superintendent of the road this morning lodged complaint against the offender, the conductor being unable to appear, and Alderman Luiz held him in $1200 ball for a further hearing.

ATTEMPT TO KILL IN A ROW BETWEEN TWO ATTEMPT TO KILL IN A ROW BETWEEN TWO
"TARS,"—Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock,
George Chism, aged 28 years, and Samuel Mason, each employed on two schooners then lying at the North Pier, No. 15, got into an dispute about some trivial matter, and Mason, becoming effended, exhibited it by choking
and otherwise blackening the face of Chism.
Chism, enraged at this, shook off his antagonist, went down into the cabin of the schooner on which he was employed, and issued therefrom with a blunderbuss, which he fired at Mason, the buckshot with which the blunderbuss was
of Mason. Chism was arrested by Officer Oakes, of Mason. Chism was arrested by Officer Oakes, and held to await the decision of the doctors as to the condition of Mason, who was taken to the Episcopai Hospital, in a critical condition.

Case of Bigamy .- In these times when everything is so dear (?) and there are breakers shead, one would suppose that most ordinary mortals would be satisfied with one woman to help spend what he makes. But an individual would be satisfied what one would be spend what he makes. But an individual named John Sinen was up before Alderman Williams this morning, charged with appropriating two of the gentler sex to his own use. The first or true wife was the complainant in the case. "She was not willing to share her "apple-faced" lord and master with Mrs. S. No. 2 and appeared aganist John. Some time ago 2, and appeared aganist John. Some time ago we noticed both of John's marriages in the same edition of one of our daily papers. When before the Alderman this morning, John looked decidedly downish, and no doubt thought he had got even more than he had bargained for. He will have a further hearing in the case.

STEALING WASH-CLOTHES, AND COMMITTING AN Assault.—John Ward, aged 37, entered the yard of a dwelling in Cherry street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets, and took down wash-clothes, towels, linens, etc. He was down wash-clothes, towers, linens, etc. He was caught in the act, and was arrested. When being taken to Aiderman Tunison's Office, a colored woman, who had discovered the theft, was walking a little ahead of the officer and prisoner, when the latter stepped forward a lit-ile, and with his unfettered hand struck the colored woman a blow on the head, knocking her down. Upon being questioned as to the cause of his violence, he replied that he was now satisfied, and he did not care if he did go to He was held in $500 ball to answer at a further hearing.

His name is Thomas Knowles, aged ten years. He is the one who fired the first shot. Two others were some time ago arrested. Alderman Tunison held him in default of $600 ball. BEFORE THE COMMISSIONELE—CONFECATION OF COUNTERPEIT STENCILE.—In a case before the Commissioners this morning of an establishment using counterfeit stencils to evade the tax, the United States Collector testified:—I went to Granite street, to a liquor store, Mr. Lavens proprietor, and asked Mr. Anderson, who is in the employ of Mr. Lavens, and during the absence of the Marshal for the arrest of the latter, for the stencils of the establishment. Ho seemed greatly agitated, and said he would find latter, for the stendils of the establishment. Ho seemed greatly agitated, and said he would find them; and when stooping down to look under a shelf, I pulled a counterfelt stendil out from under his vest. This stendil was marked C. McCall, U. S. Inspector. Prior to September, 1868. I asked Anderson where he got it, and he said that he got it from a Mr. Allea, a counterfelt stendil custer. Mr. Anderson is held under bonds to answer. bonds to answer.

The persons' names are George W. Kressler,
