A. R. Thomas, M. D., Professor of Anatomy in the University, then addressed the graduates substantially as follows:—

substantially as follows:—

Gestlemen Graduates:—By the ceremonies Justclosed, you have been inducted into the ranks of the medical profession. You have received the hignest honors of your Alma Mater, and from this day you are to be numbered with the Alumni of the Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery. Our relation of teacher and papil is this day dissolved: and now, by the appointment of my colleagues, devolves upon me the office or welcoming you to our ranks, of oliving to you the right hand or fellowship, of charging you with the duties and responsibilities you are about to assume, and of saying to you the last, the parting word.

You have passed the regular examinations, and you have passed the regular examinations, and you now hold the authorized certificate of your fitness to practice the healing art. You are no longer students of a medical institution, but are instead possessors of its highest medical degree. Ere long you will be called upon to apply the principles, to use the knowledge acquired in your collegiate course. Then knowledge acquired in your collegiate course. Then you will realize that to the enlightened, conscientious physician there is, and can be no such thing as "inishing studies—completing an education." Then you will find that, instead of having attained the summit of medical science, you have been but cuilling a few flowers around its base, and learning how its rugged steeps may best be climbed. When you remember that medicine and its cognate sciences are but in their infancy, that in the direction of each lie vast realms yet unknown, but discoverable, awaiting only the daring of genius, the tireless energy and the unflagging enthusiasm of lofty intellect, to enter and possess, will you not be provoked to a noble, a generous emulation in the pursuit of knowledge? Will you be content to abide where you are when the spirit of the age ever cries onward and upward?

Our science is eminently—might we not say preminently?—progressive?continue then to be students, industrious students you must be if you would be worthy of the name of physician, if you would not fall behind in the march, if you would not anfer continual defeat and life-long disgrace. It is imperative that you prosecute your inquiries not only with a view to keep up with the discoveries being made in this and in the Old World, but that you lose not what you have already gained. For, as the magnet gains more and more in power by being judiciously employed, but by lack of use grows feebler, and finally loses its reculiar properties entirely, so intellectual power dwindles, and medicinual acquisitions fade away in a course of sluggish ease and supine inactivity.

Medicine is a liberal study. As you have seen, it is nowledge acquired in your collegists cours ou will realize that to the enlightened, cons loss its peculiar properties. And intellectual acquisitions lade away in a course of sluggish case and supine inactivity.

Medicine is a liberal study. As you have seen, it is not marrowed down to the petty limits of dosing, as many seem to think, but embraces the widest scope of intelligence; makes every department of knowledge its tributary; compels each and every science to become its torch-bearer, whilst it searches the recesses wherein ite hidden the mysteries of the life and growth, of the health and disease, of the cure and death of the microcosm man.

A study so vast and varied should beget in its devotees not only untiring zeal in its; pursuit, but also promote expansion and reedom of thought, and induce the largest liberality of views and feelings. With this fixed estimate of the catholicity of Medicine, the Institution from which you go out to-day was founded, and its curriculum made as comprehensive as that of any like healting this side of the Atlantic. It aims at thoroughness as well as comprehensiveness. It seeks to lead the pupit from the primary, the fundamental, to the higher and more complex, grounding him on the demonstrable, while familiarizing him with the speculative; encouraging him to think for himself, and urging him to a dispassionate exercise of his own judgment instead of a service of the own judgment instead of a service of the own judgment instead of a service of the own judgment instead of a perpite. With no little pleasure and pride, we reflect that you go out from us uncommitted to any dogma, untrammelied by the dicta of any school, but teaches its pupils to accept from each and all whatever will bear the test of examination. It desires to make its prospective practitioners scientific, rather than empiric. With no little pleasure and pride, we reflect that you go out from us uncommitted to any dogma, untrammelied by the dicta of any system. It has been our aim to instruct you carefully in the demonstrably true, to make you theroughly acquainted with the fundamentals of medical then judge for yourselves.

Having adopted the views which to you seem most reasonable, you are counselled to the exercise of the largest liberality towards others who may conselentiously held different opinions.

Demand for yourselves, therefore, the follest freedom, but remember to extend to your professional brethren all that you claim for yourselves.

brethren all that you claim for yourselves.

He remarked in conclusion:—
Gentlemen:—You have chosen, and are about entering on, a profession of the most exaited dignity. Be worthy of the profession! Be generously emulous of each other, and of your Assendapian brethren, in all that is noble, just, and good; but shun perty rivairies, illiberal prejudices, and unfair dealings. Exhibit practically the catholic spirit of your Alma Mater, and let the professional leakousy with which medical practitioners are so often, and too justly charged, find no lodgment in your minds. Remember that your influence in the community where you may settle, may be powerful either for good or evil. And see to it, that by cultivating your moral with your intellectual nature; that, by the pority of your life and integrity of your character, you place such an example before the young as shall be worthy of their emulation, and that you exert a purifying influence wherever you go. Forget not your Alma Mater, but bear her always in kind remembrance; and exhibit your files affection and gratitude, not only in laboring for her interests, but by such magnanimous conduct as shall prove you deserving sons, and not unworthy of her maternal pride.

And now, as our separation draws near, permit me her maternal pride.

And now, as our separation draws near, permit me and now, as our separation draws acas, per an acas, particles again to tender you our most cordial congratulations, to again welcome you to the ranks of our profession; and that you may be encouraged, that abundant success may attend your labors, that great good may be accomplished by each of you, that nonor, emolument, and happiness may crown each and all of you, is the earnest prayer of both my colleagues and myself, as I bid you all this last farewell.

bid you all this last farewell.

Professor W. Paine, M. D., Dean of the Faculty, likewise addressed the audience briefly, stating that what is now the Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery was organized in 1848, and chartered by the Legislature of Pennsylvania in 1863. In 1863 it purchased the Pennsylvania and Philadelphia Medical Colleges, and in 1864 the Penn Medical University. It now stands as the representative of all these, and sluce 1860 has been thoroughly reorganized, the museum very materially enlarged, and the course of medical interially enlarged, and the course of medical in-struction greatly extended. The number of matriculants at the present session is between three and four hundred.

REAL ESTATE SALES.—We are glad to see that Messra. J. M. Gumney & Sons, the well known real estate agents of No. 508 Walnut street, are about commencing the sale of property at auction, at the Merchants' Exchange. Hearty competition in this branch of business cannot but result in the mutual benefit of both buyers and sellers. A great deal of the most desirable real estate in the city passes through the bands of the Messra. Gummey, and this branch of their business will undoubtedly receive an additional impulse from the establishment of their auction sales. The first of these is advertised to take place at noon on the 18th of March, on which occasion several valuable properties, desirable either for occupancy or as an investment, will be disposed of. REAL ESTATE SALES .- We are glad to see pancy or as an investment, will be disposed of,

Quite a number of claims were presented, examined, and acted on. Among the rest were the following:—The young Men's Central Home Mission, situated at No. 619 Bedford street. The estimated value of this institution is $7000,
The building is used exclusively for charitable purposes, yet is subject to taxation.

The House of Reinge for white and colored children, which is used exclusively for the purposes indicated in their charter, presented their claim. The property is assessed at $103,000, and the estimated value is $250,000.

The Philadelphia Society for the Establishment and Support of Charity Schools have a large number of properties that yield a rental of nearly $6000. Beck's School House, which is situated in Catharine street, near Sixth, and is one of the properties of the Society, is assessed at $3000, the estimated value being $15,000. It is at $3000, the estimated value being $15,000. It is a free school, and its immediate support is de-rived from the real estate owned by the association. The value of the exempted property from which they have derived a revenue of nearly $5000, and which has been hitherto exempt, will now be subject to taxation.

The public schools conducted under the charge of the Society of Friends, acting under a charter granted by William Penn in 1697, presented their claims. Their schools are free to all, except the members of their own sect. They have a number of properties, which are assessed at $48,000, and which yield a rental of $6050 a year. They have, besides, a number of well-secured round-rents, the assessed value of which is

THE WEATHER YESTERDAY AND TO-DAY .-The weather yesterday was not of that agreeable nature which all had hoped would introduce, attend through, and ursher out the ever-memorable "Iwenty-second." It was not pleasant, nor wasit cheering. The late fall of snow which nor wait cheering. The late fall of snow which old winer sent us, as a reminder that he had not yet made his demise, tended not to heighten the enjoyment of all engaged in yesterday's celebration, but it had no sooner covered our streets, when it was greeted with a general thaw, caused by artificial and natural effects, and the fact was self-evident to all who were without. The general aspect of the sky gave no pleasure; the air was damp, like unto that which precedes a rain; periodically a ray of sunshine would light up the streets and send a cheering hope to the heart, but it was of short duration, and the condition of the walks and highways equalled tha which so excited public feeling equalled the which so excited public feeling about three weeks ago. The weather tended, withal, to dampen, to some extent, the ardor of the patriotic, during the celebration of yesterday.

This morning we observed a change. The air was cold and chilly: the sky wore a winiry aspect. But to pedestrians this change is probably more welcome, since it is accompanied with a better condition of our public walks.

CHURCH OF THE REDEMPTION, TWENTY-SECOND AND CALLOWHILL STREETS.—With pleasure we direct attention to the advertisement in another column. The pastor of this church, Rev. George A. Durborow, is well known to residents of the northwestern portion of the city as having been a faithful and devoted missionary in that well an for the last twenty wars. He has been been a faithful and devoted missionary in that section for the last twenty years. He has been most untiring in his labors in the great cause of evangelization, and in the long course of his ministrations has endured trials and privations such as ministers are seldom called to encounter. But God has prospered the work of his hands, and from the humble lecturer in a school-house he has become the pastor of a large and interesting congregation. The church has, through the munificence of a few friends, been recently greatly freenes of a few friends, been recently greatly enlarged and improved. The interior is now finished, and is truly beautiful. The exterior will be completed as soon as the weather may permit. It will be reopened, according to notice, on to-morrow, and three services will be held by distinguished divines of this city. There is a small dark of some two thousand There is a small debt of some two thousand dollars remaining, and it is the intention to raise, if possible, sufficient on that may o pay it off.

We warmly commend this enterprise of the substantial sympathics of the friends of par re-

THE Proposed Strike by The confidence of the 1st of March, when a live y time may be anticipated. The journeymen have an efficient organization, all the members of which are piedged not to work for less than four dollars per day after that date. In the fear that journeymen from ther sections of the country will come into the city and underbid them, they have issued a familiesto, stating the present condition of affaits and requesting all their fellow-craftsmen of the United justing all their fellow-craftsmen of he United stors and Canadas to keep at a distance for the present.

AN EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENT.—In spite of the general stagnation that exists in business circles, there are those who are not content to walt upon opportunity, but compel opportunity to walt upon them; who in times when all manufacturing and mercantile affairs are flat and at a stand-still, will force the public to acknowledge their efforts to meet their wants. The enterprising firm of F. Gottleib & Brothers. who occupy the premises Nos, 64 and 63 N. Second street, as carpet warehouses, merit par-ticular attention in this respect. For many years past they have occupied the place as a carpet and furniture warehouse. Lately they reinquished the furniture department to Messrs, Glazier & Wittfield, and have carried on the carpet and oil-cloth business exclusively. Their wholesale house is at No. 64, where the latest styles of carpets, oil-cloths, etc., are always to be had at manufacturers' prices. They have just completed their retail store at They have just completed their retail store at No. 08, This new store has been entirely rebuilt at a cost of from $15,000 to $20,000. The first floor is 18 feet wide, and extending adepth of 165 feet. The front will be finished in imitation of brownstone. It is lighted by seven chandeliers from Cornelius & Baker's establishment. During the day the light from the open modern front and the three large skylights shows everything to the best advantage. The basement is thing to the best advantage. The basement is also fitted up in good style. The woodwork is painted with Chinese gloss, and the walls are calcimined. The flobring is of battens, jointed is true as the finest cabinet-work. Messis, F follielb & Brothers have constantly on handall kinds and qualities of carpets, from single in-grain to the finest tapestry velvet and Wilion and all patterns of oil-cloths, rugs, etc. etc.

A CERTAIN CURE FOR LEAKY ROOFS .- Are there any among our numerous pairons who are afflicted with that greatest of household evils—a leaky roof; who are greated every time it mins with miniature streams coursing down the walls in every direction, or dropping from the ceiling: who must of necessity place pans and bashs and pais all over the floor, where-with to catch the water as it filtered through the roof; and who, because of this evil, concunic that staying at home on a rainy day, and covered with a leaky roof, is a penance most grievous? There is but one remedy whereby this defect can be overcome, and that is to do away with the old shingle roofs, and get one of modern invention, utterly impervious to water, and on which the rain has no effect. Messrs, Reckless & Everett, No. 302 Green street, have Reckless & Everett, No. 302 Green street, have given immense satisfaction in putting on new roofs. THE MOST ELEGANT I HAVE EVER SEEN .-Letter from Mrs. General Grant,—Washington, D. C., October 24, 1866.—Grover & Baker S. M. Co.—Gentlemen:—It affords megreat pleasure to bear witness to the excellence of the Family Sewing Machine manufactured by your Company. I have had one of them in my family for some two years and from what I have had one ome two years; and from what I know of its workings, and from the testimony of many of ty triends who use the same, I can hardly how anything could be more complete or give better satisfaction.

The machine I have is one of the most elegant

I have ever seen, and was presented to me by friends who purchased it at the Sanitary Fair at Philadelphia, in 1864. Very truly yours, etc., Mrs. U. S. GRANT.

WE CALL THE ATTENTION of persons living in the country to the advertisement of Ferris & Co. As many are about making their arrangements for the coming summer, we would re-commend, if they wish the comfort and luxury of a good light, one of their Automatic Gas Machines. They are no experiment, as many of our first citizens will attest who have used them to their entire satisfaction. We have seen them in practical operation, and can en-dorse their merits. For the last three years they have been putting them up in private dwellings, colleges, churches, convents, manufactories, public buildings, rolling-mills, etc., and they give universal statisfaction to those using them. By calling at their office references will be given and any explanation in regard to the machine required.

Two or three Colds in succession will, with many constitutions, securely establish the seeds of Consumption in the system, thus converting what was originally a simple, curable affection, into one generally fatal. While ordinary pru-dence, therefore, makes it the business of every one to take care of a Cold until it is got rid of intelligent experience fortunately presents a remedy in Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, thoroughly adapted to remove speedily all Coughs and Colds, and one equally effective in the primary stages of Consumption, Asthma, and Bron-chitis. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared only at No. 242 Chesnut street.

THE GREAT FEATURE OF HUMPHREYS' HO MCCOPATHIC SPECIFICS is that each remedy is a specific for some wel-tknown complaint or dis specine for some wei-iknown complaint or disease, so that a person in buying a case may obtain the particular Medicine required for any ordinary complaint. Thus thousands, at a trifling expense, have been cured of long standing troublesome diseases, upon which they have expended hundreds of dollars in vain. See the List of Remedies in another column. MEDICAL ELECTRICITY. Latest and Most Important Discoveries in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases.

DR. S. W. BECKWITH'S ELECTRICAL INSTITUTE,

No. 1220 WALNUT ST. During our investigations in the treatment of disese in its various forms by the agency of electricity, we have obtained very many valuable and startling facts, which, added to the previous though limited information, possessed by other and less fortunate operators, place us beyond all previous knowledge of this mysterious agent. During the course of our practice we have treated and cured, through the knowledge thus gained, many thousands, and by means of our new discoveries have established ourselves as the most successful Medical Electricians in this country or Europe.

Electrical investigation has proved that the human body acts on the principle of the galvanic battery. The brain, mucous and serous membranes, the skin, tissue, and fluids constitute the negative and posttive torces, and every action, whether mental or physical, is the result of these antagonistic forces. Disestion, respiration, circulation, secretion, and exerction are due solely to electrical influence. there is a polar action established throughout the nervous system which connects with every part of the body, establishing and preserving a proper balance of the electrical element which constitutes ealth, and a disturbance of which causes disease. There are strictly but two conditions of diseaseone of inflammation, or positive: the other weak, debilitated, negative-and as electricity contains these two conditions in the action of the positive and negative currents, all we have to do is to neutralize the disease and restore proper, healthy Among the chronic diseases in which electricity has been, and is easily being by our agency, of the greatest utinty, a core being rapidly effected after the faiture of all other means, are:

1. Epilepsy, Chorea, or St. Vitus' Dance, Paralysis (Hempiegia), Neuralgia, Hysteria, Nervousassas, Palpitation of the Heart, Lockjaw, etc.

2. Sore Throat, Dyspepsia, Diarrhoa, Dysentery, Obstinate Consupation, Alemorrhoides, or Piles, Misous, Flatulent, and Painter's Conc, and all affections of the Liver and Spiech.

3. Catarrh, Cough, Induciza, Asthma (when not the Liver and Spiech.) caused by organic disease of the heart), Broncattis, learnsy, Pleared nis, or Khoumatism of the Chest, Consumption in the early stages.

4. Cravel, Diacetes, and Kidney Complaints.

5 Rheumalism, Gout, Lumbago, Stiff Neck.
Spiral Curvature, Hip Diseases, Cancers, Tumors (thote last named always cured without pain, or clusters in any Loren). plasters in any formit.

6 Lierus Comp.nints, involving a mal-position, as Prolapsus. Antroversion, Retroversion, Inflammation, Ucceration, and various other affections. For information desired upon other diseases, application may be made at the office, or by letter.

Mrs. BECK WITH has entire charge of the Ladies Department, and all delicacy will be used towards those who entrust themselves to her care. In temale diseases, it is universally successful in her For the convenience of those desiring information we give (by permission) a few names of persons among the best business men and others or this among the best business men and others of this city and elsewhere, whom we have treated and cured:
