NAME OF TAKES.

BEVENING TELEGRAPH SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.] Peressure, February 26. We have not had a glimpse of the sun here for a week; but, nevertheless, we read with some astonishment of the snow storm which has visited the East, and, in fact, all around ns, without deigning to pay us its respects at all. The weather has been cloudy, but there has been no falling weather.

Business, which has been dull of late, has commenced to brisk up a little; and, like Micawber, we are looking for something to turn up daily. Some twenty-five or thirty of the iron furnaces are out of blast at present, swing to a difficulty between the employers and workmen—the former wishing to cut down the prices, and the latter declining to work for anything less than they have been receiving. This state of things cannot continue much longer, as the spring orders have already commenced to arrive. Some of the glass-blowing establishments are also closed, and quite a number of the coal mines are idle, on account of a strike among the miners.

Considerable indignation is manifested here on account of the conduct of the Legislature in defeating the Connellsville Railroad bill. The Pennsylvania Railroad comes in for a share of the abuse, as it argued that that corporation was instrumental in defeating the bill. The old charge of corruption and bribery is brought forward, and the Eastern members who voted against the bill have "red-hot coals" heaped upon their heads by the business men of Pittsburg; and it's not much wonder. At present there is no outlet to the East from Pittsburg, save by the Pennsylvania road, and every piece of merchandise must necessarily pass over that road, or go by way of Wheeling to reach Philadelphia, Baltimore, or Washington. This, of course, is a complete monopoly of the business of this section. The Connellsville Company desires to extend their road to Baltimore, and thus give to Pittsburg another avenue of internal commerce. So bitter has this feeling against the Legislature become, that some of our people are going so far as to advocate the formation of a new State, to be composed of all the counties west of the mountains. This idea is a little extravagant and impracticable, but it nevertheless goes very far to illustrate the feeling which is prevalent in almost all circles of society.

A matter of considerable pride with our people just now is the building of a large double-deck side-wheel steamboat. She is called the Great Republic, and will be finished about the middle of next month. She is the largest boat every built in this section; and as she is built entirely of Pittsburg material and by Pittsburg workmen, she attracts considerable attention. I visited the boat at her meorings on the Monongahela, yesterday, and in justice to her owner, Captain Donaldson, I must say she is the finest craft I have seen west of Long Island Sound.

The Trinity Episcopal Church, Rev. Dr. Swope, near the corner of Sixth and Smithfield streets, has gotten up a choir which for novelty is a little ahead of anything in the State. Nine boys, whose ages range from five to fourteen years, assisted by a powerful organ, supply the music for the church, and they do it well. The boys sing with more force and volume than one would suppose who never heard them, and the effect is excellent. Each little "shaver" has his role, and the novelty of the thing, together with the good music which the boys render, attracts numerous strangers to the church. It is New England fashion, and a very good one.

A matter which concerns our Philadelphia visitors considerably is the fact that our street ears run on Sunday, and our grog-shops are closed; while in your city it is vice versa. It is seldom, if ever, that you see any rowdyism in this city or the environs on Sunday; and our people use the cars for attending church. and would not be without the accommodation. The newspapers all appear to be in a flourishing condition, if I may except the Evening Journal, which breathed its last on the 22d. Another evening paper will take the place of the Journal in the course of a few days. It will be called the Evening Advocate, and be published by Mr. Pollock, the present owner of the Soldiers' Advocate. It will advocate the interests of the workingmen, and Mr. Pollock is confident of success. A new magazine is also on the tapis, which will be published quarterly, by Mr. O'Dyer. Mr. O'Dyer has secured some of the best talent in the country, and his magazine will no doubt be a readable one. The enterprising and clever publishers of the Morning Dispatch intend issuing a Sunday edition of their paper next week. Other literary "concerns" are talked of, but as they may end in talk, I forbear mentioning them. The willingness with which men launch into the publishing business here is astonishing; it is a wonder some enterprising book publishing house don't start. While speaking upon this subject, let me mention that one of your Press Club men is here, and efforts are being made to start a Press Club. We want one. Next month one of the largest Fairs ever held in the State west of the Alleghenies will be held here, for the benefit of the Soldiers' Monument Association of Allegheny county. The site for the monument has been already purchased, and the Association believes, with the money to be derived from the Fair that they will be able to erect a very large and beautiful shaft to the memory of the departed heroes who now lay buried in the many grave, yards of the South. The object of this Fair is a good one, and I feel confident that the patriotic citizens of Allegheny will contribute largely to the good cause.

Another one of those monster 20-inch guns which have made the Fort Pitt Works famous throughout the world, will be cast at that foundry to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

The Temperance question is being agitated considerably here, and the labors in the cause meet with very fair success. I am inclined to think that this question will have a great deal to do with the next campaign in this State. But those who live the longest will know the most, and I leave the question to be decided

A grand sculling match between two champions, one a Pittsburger, the other a stranger, comes off in a few weeks, on the Allegheny. Knowing ones say it will be a very exciting race, and that the stakes are heavy.

Miss Charlotte Thompson is doing Romeo and Juliet, and other Shakesperian roles, at the Fifth Street Theatre. Fred. Aims, formerly of Casino notoriety in your city, is here managing the Varieties Consolidation Troupe. The "Varieties" is quite a favorite, and does a fine business.

James E. Murdoch, the well-known and talented elecutionist, gives three lectures here this week, under the auspices of the Mercantile Library. He opens on Thursday night, with "Shakespeare and the Bible." Murdoch will no doubt have a fine reception.

FROM WASHINGTON THIS AFTERNOON.

[SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.]

Washington, February 27. The Military Bill. The veto of the Military Government bill will not come in until to-morrow. There is a great pressure upon the President to sign it, and gos-sip has it that he has twice taken up his pen Collector for Boston.

There is a great rush here of Boston politi-cians, scrambling for the Collectorship of that port. Among the contestants are Judge Russell, ex-Governor Clifford, George Ashmun, General Couch, and General Devens.

Governor Swann.

The secret of the refusal of Governor Swann to give up the Governorship of Maryland per agreement, is that he has learned that the Senate Judiciary Committee will probably report adversely upon his claim to a seat in the Senate after the adjournment of the Maryland Legislature, and that Governor Cox will then appoint Mr. Creswel to the Senatorship, Startling Rumor. There is a report affoat at the Capitol this morning that General Grant has said to-day that the President will sign the Military Government bill. The best information is, however, that the veto will come in to-morrow.

The Tariff Bill. Mr. Morrill is pressing the Tariff bill, but there is no hope of perfecting it this session. The House Ways and Means Committee made two hundred and seventy-five amendments to the Senate bill, and of these only nineteen had been considered up to 1 o'cleck this afternoon. If defeated this session, it will go over until next January, as there is no probability of its peing taken up in the hurried short session of Washington Correspondents' Club. Washington Correspondents' Club.

The regular correspondents of the various journals represented in Washington met last night at the Capitol, and organized a "Washington Correspondents' Club," for the purpose of promoting a higher degree of journalistic esprit de corps, and to enable them to maintain their position in a manner corresponding with the high rank of their profession.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Colonel L. A. Gobright, Washington agent of the New York Associated Press; First Vice-President, George W. Adams, of the New York World; Second Vice-President, J. B. McCuillagh, of the Cincinnati Commercial; Secretary, Crosby S. Noyes, of the Philadelphia Eventury, Crosby S. Noyes, of the Philadelphia Eventure.

McCullagh, of the Cincinnati Commercial; Secretary, Crosby S. Noyes, of the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph: Treasurer, L. L. Crounse, of the New York Times. Executive Committee:—W. R. Shaw, of the Boston Transcript; James R. Young, of the New York Tribune; W. W. Warden, of the Baltimore Sun; B. K. Elliott, of the New York Express; and J. Walton Fitch, of the Boston Post. The membership will comprise yearly thirty gentlemen all rapples tolographs. nearly thirty gentlemen, all regular telegraphic correspondents, residents here.

Prospects of the Reconstruction Bill at the Executive Mansion.

It is the general belief in all political circles that the President will send in a mild veto of the Reconstruction bill, affirming in the most positive terms his own unalterable opposition to the policy of the bill, but intimating that, if it is the legislative will of the country and it becomes a law, he will cheerfully and fathfully execute it as such. This is the general belief, indeed, there are none whose source of information is worthy of credit who think otherwise.

There are those who hope otherwise, and their strong wishes that it should be so, almost become faith that there will be no veto. Senators and Representatives and others on both sides of the question are calling on the President to urge upon him the wisdom of their views, but so far he has committed himself to none—not even to those who have hitherto been gazetted as his political and personal friends.

The most that can be extorted from him is, as above stated, that if the bill embodies the representative will of the people, it shall be executed if it becomes a law. To a Republican member of Congress from the city of New York, whose voice is potential in matters of finance, because of his vast business interests and relations, the President expressed himself as much pleased with his call, and thanked him heartily for the free expression of his views, which he stated should receive the gravest consideration.

This Representative appealed to him, in behalf of the business and monetary interests of the country, to approve the bill, or, at least, so to word his veto message as not to produce a panic in the country from fear of serious hostility between the two branches of the Government.

General Grant openly pronounces for the Congressional Reconstruction bill, and has stated to some of the President's friends, high in authority, that he wished the President would sign the bill.

Claims of Massachusetts.

The Commission, consisting of Hon. Judge Verplank, of Buffaio (N. Y.), and Mr. Colher, of Philadelphis, have been in session in this city since Thursday last, upon the claims of Massa-chusetts for coast defense, the whole claim for which amounts to about $250,000.

Presidential Approvals.

The President has appeaved of the resolution to extend aid and facilities to citizens of the United States engaged in the survey of the Ishbmus of Darien. It authorizes them to be furnished by the Secretary of the Navy, so far as he may be able to do so without prejudice to the naval service, and without additional expense to the Government.

The reading of the journal being concluded, Mr. Stevens moved to suspend the rules to enable him to introduce a joint resolution relative to the restaurant of the House. It provides for proposals being raceived by the Clerk on March 12, 1867, and been islly thereafter, and for the renting of the premises by him on filing sureties, etc. the rent to be handed to the Treasurer of the Soldiers and Saitors' Orphan Home, and the House to retain control over the subject. The rules were suspended, and the joint resolution was passed. passed.
Mr. Kasson, from the Committee on Uniform Coinage, etc., asked leave to report the bill to establish assay offices at Denver, Colorado, Charlotte, N. C., and Dahlonega, Georgia, but; Mr. Ancona

Mr. Rice (Mass.) moved to appropriate $45,000 for re-pullding one wing of the Marine Barracks at Washbuilding one wing of the Marine Barracks at Washington.

Mr. Scofield opposed the amendment, and said that when he looked at these ever increasing appropriations he could see why it was that the House had passed a bill the other day for the issue of one hundred millions of greenbacks.

Mr. Kasson also opposed it, and Mr. Rice made a statement to show the necessity of the appropriation. The amendment was rejected.

Mr. Maynard (Tenn.) moved to insert a proviso that the American Nautical Almanac be printed at the Government printing office, and that the entire expense of preparing it for publication be $25,000, and no more.

Mr. Rice (Mass.) suggested that the work was now printed at the Government Printing Office. hr. Maynard argued that the appropriation should printed at the Government Printing Office.

htr. Maynard argued that the appropriation should be increased from $15,000 to $25,000.

On motion of Mr. Knykendall, $10,000 was appropriated for the naval station at Mound City, Illinois.

From New Mexico.

From New Mexico.

ST. Louis, February 27.—The Democrat's Junction City, Kansas, correspondent says that Governor Arny, of New Mexico, has just arrived from Santa Fe. A heavy snow had fallen Governor Anny reports that the Indians on n New Mexico. the plains are disposed to be peaceable, but those in Arizona and New Mexico are on the war path, and have committed a number of murders during the past month. The military camps on the Membres river have been broken up, and the troops compelled to leave. Five settlers were killed, and stock valued at over $20,000 driven off.

All the settlers and miners on Membres river have gone to Mesilla for protection. One hundred and seventeen horses and mules were stolen from Mesilla in about three weeks, and about the same time 800 sheep were driven away from a point on the Pearce River. Fifteen hundred Indians left the reservation near Fort Goodman, on January 21st, for New Mexico, where they will, doubtless, depredate on settlers, and commit murders and other outrages.

Three men were killed near Los Creuz, January 20, by a party of Mexicans from the vicinity of La Os, while campaigning.

The Apaches made an unprovoked attack on the Moquin village in Arizona, and carried off a woman and eleven children and two head of stock.

The Indians on whom these outrages were committed call themselves Christians, and are non-resistant, but through the exertions of Governor Arny the woman and seven children were restored to their friends, and all their stock was restored.

FROM BALTIMORE TO-DAY.

The Position of Governor Swann-The Reasons for his Present Action-The Unionists' Convention. SEPECIAL DESPATCH TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.]

BALTIMORE, February 27.—The gubernatorial muddle at Annapolis remains in vexatious mystery, the excitement increases, and indignation intensifies. The whole secret of Swann's retusal to resign is, the strong indications that be would be refused his seat in the United States Senate. Such is his and his friends' interpretation of affairs in Washington.

There are also suspicions that some cunning pretending friends, but secret enemies, ambitious toget him out of the way, have frightened him into a resignation of the Senatorship, that one of their partisan favorites may get the position of Senator. The prevailing belief is he will not resign the Governorship, or if so, not until he is sure of admission to the Senate.

The unconditional Unionsts' State Convention is in session here to day, and very largely attended. The members are in renovated spirits.

Rev. Charles B. Tippett, a prominent Methodist minister, died of apoplexy here yesterday. Numerous pockets were picked at Annapolis yesterday.
