The Adjournment of Congress.

Congress adjourned on Saturday to the 3d day of July next, at which time, if a quorum be not present, an adjournment will be made to the time of the regular meeting in December. Several important measures were passed during this session, among which are the Supplementary Reconstruction bill; the Joint Resolution for furnishing certain arms and equipments to the State of Tennessee; Joint Resolution for the relief of the destitute in the Southern and Southwestern States; Joint Resolution suspending all proceedings in relation to payment for slaves drafted or received as volunteers in the military service of the United States; an Act to increase the force in the Patent Office; and many others of minor

The wisdom of providing for this special session has been abundantly manifested. Had it not been held, the great measure of reconstruction would have been left in a most confused and unsatisfactory condition. It has now been perfected, and is being peacefully and triumphantly put into operation.

The policy of providing for a session in July is a wise one. In the present position of publie affairs, it is well that the opportunity should be afforded to the law-making branch of the Government to interfere, if necessary, By July we shall be enabled to see whether the Reconstruction bill is being executed in good faith. If not, Congress can apply the Despite all the maledictions that have been heaped upon this and the last Congress by unscrupulous partisans and reckless demagogues, the record of their acts will stand in history as their complete justification. They have met a great crisis in the affairs of the nation in the spirit of exalted patriotism and rue statesmanship. They have rescued the country from perils which threatened to engulf it in ruin. They have been faithful to the great trust committed to them by the people.

Our Purchase from Russia.

THE treaty which was communicated to the Senate on Saturday by the President, and which provides for the purchase of the Russian American possessions for $7,000,000 in gold, is one which is prospectively of great advantage to the United States. We feel none of that enthusiasm which is inflating some of our contemporaries because of the immense size of the territory thus secured. The size has in the present case really very little to do with the value, for while the property is five times as large as the State of New York, its only available portion could be easily placed within the State of Connecticut. The reason why we feel confident that the Senate will ratify the treaty, is that we cut off an immense portion of British America from the Pacific Ocean, and make the acquisition of that portion still held by Great Britain certain at some future day. The difficulty which occurred in 1853 in regard to the possession of Oregon is still fresh in the popular mind, and we think that we are really gaining what was lost to us by treaty: for with America to the north and America to the south, what is to hinder us gaining that territory when we want to? The abandonment of the old cry of "fifty-four forty or fight" will thus reflect no discredit on the most enthusiastic advocates of American dignity; and by shutting out from the sea all of the British possessions, we do them an injury and thus benefit ourselves. We think that Sir Frederick Bruce had good cause to telegraph Lord Derby for instructions, as the decision materially affects the value of that part of our continent which belongs to Great Britain

M. JULES FAVEE delivered a speech in the recent Corps Legislatif that was almost revolutionary in its tone. He was continually interrupted by the President and the hirelings from the Government benches. Among other things, he stated that "the will of the Legislature was reduced to the will of a single man," and characterized the foreign policy of the Emperor as "unworthy of France." The fact that such freedom of debate was tolerated argues either for the entire stability or instability of the throne. Under the lead of Favre and Thiers, the mutiny, though weak in numbers, is a continual thorn in the side of the Government.

THE MINING TROUBLES AGAIN .- Additional trouble is reported from Sullivan and Luzerne countles with the miners, a portion of whom are on a strike, and attempting to force all others to stop work. The engine-houses and fixtures of some of the mines have been destroyed by fire.

We fear that the legislation in regard to these outrages is too much of the milk-andwater order. These troubles have become chronic, and there is no way of subduing them but by the strong hand. Leniency is out of place with such men. It merely encourages them to continue their disorder and violence.

THE SERMON BY THE REV. DR. NADAL, delivered yesterday at the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, will be found in full on our sixth page. The subject of this able discourse, "Charity the Sum of Religion," is one which should commend it to universal attention.

BRAUBBOARD ON THE RECONSTRUCTION BULL-General Beauregard, as will be seen from his published letter in our columns, gives in his submission to the Military Reconstruction bill lately passed by Congress. He thinks the suffrage of the freedmen "an element of strength for the future." No doubt it will be; but it will be an element of strength only for those who propose to do justice to them. It is a little curious how kindly most of the Southern leaders take to this suffrage feature of the bill, which is really the "great outrage" (if there be any) in it. We hear no more nonsense about a "war of races," which used to be harped upon so much.

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE certainly has its little peculiarities. It may be rich in its expressions, but it occasionally looks rather complex. The following title to a bill recently passed by Congress reminds as of the old doggerel :-

"Whether the crops will weather the weather, Or whether it will crop the crops," The lucid caption reads :-

"An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to amend an act entitled "An act to incorporate a National Military and Naval Asylum for the relief of the totally disabled officers and men of the volunteer forces of the United States," approved March 21, 1896."

The sentence is perfectly correct and allowable, but it strikes us that such "an act" hath more than three branches, "to act, to do, and

DESTRUCTION OF THE LINDEL HOTEL .- The lestruction by fire of the Lindel Hotel, in St. Louis, is really a public calamity. It was the largest and finest structure of the kind in the country, and one of the finest in the world. The building of it was commenced nearly ten years ago, and it was finished about the time of the breaking-out of the war. It was a great military resort during the war, and did a splendid business. Its original cost was $900,000, and it could not now be replaced, probably, much under $1,500,000. It is doubtful whether it will be rebuilt.

THE PAY OF ARMY OFFICERS .- A paragraph that originally appeared in the New York Tribune, and which is being extensively copied n the newspapers throughout the country, relative to the present pay of officers of the army, gives a very exaggerated statement of the amount of salary received by them. For the purpose of correcting this error, the following statement of the pay belonging to each grade has been carefully prepared, and represents the amount per annum received in each ij	grade after deducting the income .ax:-

	A general receives	16,465.10
١	A lieutenant-general A major-general	7.958*85
	A brigadier-general	5,513-50
	A colonel	3,068 20
	A major
	A captain, cavalry	1,909-15
	A captain, foot	1,738-15
	A first lieutenant, foot	1.597+10
2	A second lieutenant, cavairy	1,538 93
r.	A second lieutenant, foot	一直 1000 円、町里
	I This inclines the additional new ve	thorn lase

This includes the additional pay voted by the Thirty-ninth Congress, which lasts for two years from July 1, 1866.

For every five years' service as an officer in any grade an addition of $109.50 per annum is made. Officers who are not on duty with troops, or who are not furnished with quarters in kind, receive in lieu of them a certain sum per month, which varies in different localities. The amount is based upon the rate of rent and the price of fuel.

About one-seventh of the officers of the army, by the nature of their duties, receive the latter allowance; and in a large majority of cases it is found to be not an equivalent to the quarters and fuel furnished by Government.—National Intelligencer.

A Rare Opportunity to Invest. GARDALE SKATING PARK AND PHYSI-CAL INSTITUTE OF PHILADELPHIA.

INCORPORATED MARCH 29, 1807. CAPITAL. .8100,000

The title of this Institution is very suggestive and easily comprehended. It relates to physical culture expressly directed to the object of giving strength. health, and vigor to the bodily organs and powers-It is unnecessary to enter into an elaborate disserta-tion on this subject. Its great importance has been the theme of scientific elucidation from time immemo-rial. It has been recommended by the press in America and Europe; it has been urgently advocated by the medical faculty; and it must necessarily address itself at once to the common sense of man-kind generally.

address itself at once to the common sense of markind generally.

This Association proposes to effect this purpose in an extensive and attractive form, and therefore the earnest attention of the people of Philadelphia is solicited to give the project respectful consideration.

There are many thousands of residents in Philadelphia who would enjoy health if they had the means at hand to make physical labor a pleasant pastime. This is the object which this institution is especially organized to accomplish. To individuals of sedentary habits this creanization must prove an invaluable blessing, and that person who assists in establishing it will earn the proud title of benefactor of the human race. It will be strictly founded upon ethics, and thus contribute to elevate the standard of a promiseuous people, and bring them under the refined influences of moral society.

race. It will be strictly founded upon ethics, and thus contribute to elevate the standard of a promiscuous people, and bring them under the refined influences of moral society.

The Park is located in the northwestern part of the city, within a short distance of private improvements, and it is rapidly increasing in value. It formerly belonged to the McMahon estate, and in later years it was known as the Botanical Garden of Bernard Duke, its original title, that of Oakdale, has been restored by its present owner. It is a well-shaded park, extending from the township line to the track of the Philadelphia, Germantown, and Norristown Railroad Company in a southwestwardly and somewhat diagonal direction, from east of Eleventh street to west of Thirteenth street. a distance of one thousand three hundred feet. It is bounded on the north by Lehigh avenue, and on the south by Cumberland avenue—Huntingdon avenue, a wide thoroughfare, upon which is erected the Episcopal Hospital, intersects its centre at right angles with Twelfth street. The Park contains ton acres and ulnety-two perches, with the privileze of one-half the township line road to a distance of four hundred and twenty feet eight inches. To reach it is about ten minutes', walk from the depots of the Tenth and Eleventh Streets and Fourth and Eighth Streets Passengor Railroad Companies.

It is very probable that the tracks of these companies, as well as those of the Thirteenth and Fifteenth Street Company and North Broad Street Company, will be extended to and even north of the Park in a very short time. Private improvements in the vicinity will be pushed ferward with vigor during the coming summer season. The cars of the Philadelphia, Germantown, and Norristown Railroad Company pass the Park, both up and down, and the establishing of a regular station here, which will be simply in accordance with the progress of improvements and public accommodation, will furnish additional facilities for reaching the Park from northerly or southerly sections of the clity.

First, It is proposed that a Skating "Rink" be established that will accommodate several thousand persons at one time. This will be erected upon the same principle as those in Canada.

Second. It is proposed to arrange an artificial skating lake to be used in the spring and autumn seasons, when the graceful exercise of skating may be considered beneficial. This department will be entrusted to celebrated artists, who will arrange it in a style that will be at once attractive, appropriate, and commendable. The ordinary skates can be used on this artificial lake at all times in the year.

Third, it is proposed to establish an apartment wherein parlor or wised skates may be used, so that learners may enjoy this exercise at home, after having obtained the requisite knowledge at the Institute. SPECIFICATIONS.

tute. Fourth. The skating "rink" of winter will be an Immense bathing basis in summer, having a capacity for accommonating a thousand persons at one time, in fresh water. Sait-water bathing, as strong as the solution can be made, will also be introduced, if the stockholders think it necessary. In this particular branch everything will be arranged to meet the just expectations of the pairons of the establishment, so that they can enjoy all the healthful influences of fresh or sait water immersion, without any annoynce whatever, Fifth, An apartment will be arranged for gymnastic exercises, and all new inventions, appro-printely recommended, of a purely scientine charac nastic exercises, and all new inventions, appropriately recommended, of a purely scientiac character, calculated to develope the organs and powers of the human frame—in fact, all the requisites of the gymnastic and acrobatic schools, will be established. Sixth, Ample space will be appropriated for baseball and cricket clubs.

Seventh, A well-rolled and safely guarded road or track for horses and vehicles will be prepared. This road will be one-half of a mile in extent.

Eighth, There will be prepared a lake of shallow water expressly appropriated to the use of the juveniles, similar to that in Paris and other European localities, where miniature boats may be salled; thus contributing to the pleasure of childhood's happy hours in a species of rational sport that must necessarily be attended with gratifying results.

Ninth, Everything recommended by eminent Professors of Science will always receive respectful consideration. If necessary, the institution will enlarge its dimensions, by and with the advice and consent of the stockholders, through their Board of Directors, as authorized by the act of incorporation, which permits the capital to be increased to twenty thousand shares.

The intrinsic value of the Park, with its present im-birectors, as authorized by the act of incorporation, which permits the capital to be increased to twenty thousand shares.

The intrinsic value of the Park, with its present improvements, is seventy-five thousand dollars. It is proposed to fix its nominal value at one hundred thousand dollars, and issue ten thousand shares of stock at ten dollars, and issue ten thousand shares of stock at ten dollars, and issue ten thousand shares of stock at ten dollars per share. Twenty-five thousand dollars of this amount, under the direction of the stock-holders, will be appropriated to perfect the improvements in order to effect the above-mentioned objects, thus bringing the real value of the Park up to the full amount of the capital. It is carefully estimated that the receipts of the institution will yield above all its expenses at issat six per cent. For the first year upon every dollar of investment; and though this should not be the case, the stockholder of even a single share will have the satisfaction of knowing that he has helped to form and build up a permanent organization that must be of necessity a blessing to the community, and eventually pay a handsome dividend. The solid ground of Oakdale Park guarantees a perfectly safe investment at once, with the prospect, almost reduced to a certainty, that every dollar thus invested will be worth two dollars within three years. It is not at all unlikely that the stock will increase ten fold in less than ten years.

Therefore it will be seen that the holder of one share to a certainty, that every dollar thus invested will be worth two dollars within three years. It is not at all unlikely that the stock will increase ten-loid in least than ten years.

Therefore it will be seen that the holder of one share of stock, which will cost only ten dollars, will very likely realize one hundred dollars for the same in the space of ten years, perhaps in less time. There are a lew public spirited gentement in Philadelphia who would invest to the full extent required, but the owner of the Park desires to arrange the preliminaries so that each of a large number of cilizens may have an equal opportunity of investing, even at so ilmited an amount as the price of a single share, thereby creating a more general or wide-spread interest in the institution than if its affairs should be confined to a small number of individuals. The shareholders will have a voice in perfecting the organization, and their instructions will be recognized and carried into effect by the Board of Directors or Managers whom they may select.

This is no wild speculation; it is not chimerical, like many of the coal oil organizations: it is not as insubstantial as gift opera houses, or gift anything else, but it is a perfectly safe investment in unincumbered real estate, located in a valuable and rapidly improving part of the city of Philadelphia. The incorporators, in a lew days, will be ready to issue the stock. The time and place will be duly announced to the public by circulars, and through the medium of the newspapers of the city.

There will be distributed in different localities of this city a number of circulars, each containing a copy of this prospectus, with space allowed for the recording of the names and residences of persons who wish to subscribe to the capital stock, stating the number of shares desired. The circular will state the date when the returns may be made, and the place to which they may be sent, or where application may be made in person. The circulars will be distributed in one day, so that the oppo

New York, April 1.—The Panama Star and Herald of the 23d ult says the steamer B. R. Cuyier, which was detained here on suspicion, and now sailing under the flag of the Colombian Government, under the name of Rayno, has received six torpedo-boats on board, and has started for Jamales.

The Star and Herald thinks the suspicion that she is a Chilian privateer is well founded, and that she will prey on Spanish commerce off Porto Rica and Cuba. It also says it is believed that the Colombian Minister at Washington has allowed himself to be imposed upon by a party of Chilian agents to enable them to evade the United States neutrality laws.
