How "Despetism" is Working at the South.

ONE of the great objections urged by the De mocrats against the Reconstruction law, was that it was a despotic measure, calculated to oppress the people. Well, that measure is now being actively carried out, and where do we find the oppression? Is it in the fact that citizens who have heretofore been unjustly excluded from the ballot-box are now permitted to exercise the elective franchise? Is extension of the suffrage an act of oppression? Is it in the punishment of criminals who have hitherto gone unwhipped of justice? Is it in such orders as these of General Sickles protecting the poor and famishing against the extortions of the covetous and unfeeling?

The truth is, that for the last sixty years justice has not been so faithfully administered In the South as it is to-day under the Reconstruction law. Never before was Southern society so thoroughly under the restraints of civilization and Christianity. Never before have her whole people been in such peaceable and concordant relations towards each other. Never before were so many of her poor and ignorant being educated and elevated. For the first time in her history the South begins to respond to the vivifying touch of free institutions.

These are the practical workings of the great measure of Reconstruction, as contrasted with the predictions of demagogues and partisans.

The Business Prospects of the Country. THERE can be no good gained by deluding ourselves with the idea that the business of the country is in a prosperous condition. It would be idle to deny that the usual amount of trade has decreased. The fact is palpable to every thinking man, that the trading interests of our country are in such a condition as to justify the greatest anxiety and the utmost caution. We had hoped that the business depression under which we are suffering did not extend throughout the entire land, but from journals in all sections we see proofs that in many portions of the country the state of business is far worse than in the City of Brotherly Love. The fact that there has been within the past year a general decline in all classes of mercantile interests, as well as in the various departments of home industry, is attested by the visible decline in the internal revenue. By means of this tax we have secured a sure barometer, whereby we can judge of the condition of business interests in all parts of the country. Taking the first year as a standard, we are enabled to compare the rise or fall of enterprise and business success by the returns made in each succeeding year, and by comparison we have proof of general prostration. The tone of all the New York journals indicates the condition of affairs at the metropolis. Another excellent index is afforded us of the state of trade in the West. We take, for instance, the statement of the organ of the Illinois Democracy, the Chicago Times, In a recent number it says:-"Business here continues very much depressed, with no immediate prospect of relief, notwithstanding it was hoped that the opening of spring would bring the farmers into the city numbers. It is now feared, however that the farming population are contenting themselves with their purchases made during last fall and winter, and are practising economy to a greater extent than for a number of years back. In the meant me the New York, Chicago, and St. Louis runners are scouring the country in every direction, offering goods by sample on long credit, thus forcing sales upon merchants, and, as a consequence, flooding the country with their wares, at a time when the demand for them is more limited than usual. On the other hand, the manufacturing interests are unusually depressed, their profits diminished and the amount of their sales lessened. A greater number of persons than usual also are to be found in the streets out of employment. In fine, a distrust of the future on the part of all, from the large capitalist to the small real estate holder, appears to be the main fea-ture of financial and commercial affairs. No prudent man appears inclined to enter into new engagements. The merchant only buys for immediate consumption. The manufac-turer works his establishment in the most eco-nomical manner. The prudent banker connomical manner. The prudent banker contracts his loans and discounts.

Lest this picture should be considered as overdrawn, because of the political sentiments of the Times, we append an article from the principal radical paper of the Northwest, the Chicago Tribuns:-

"The attempt of those who have embarked in The attempt of those who have embarked in all manner of speculative enterprises to realize their investments and hold the same in cash, is but a prudent measure to avert the crushing effects of the storm, should one come. There is an unhealthy condition of things proceeding from all this. The annual strife between landlords and tenants has an extraordinary inten-sity in all parts of the country this season. Capital trembles as it looks into the future. Labor is demanding an increase of wages in the face of the impending panicand prostration. Never was there a time when the man of large means was there a time when the man of large means should so hesitate and weigh well the probabilities of the future before embarking in new enterprises, and never was there a time when those who live upon their carnings, be they great or small, should so retrench their expenditures in every possible way, to be able better to meet the impending difficulty. It may be that the country will escape a season of financial disruption and disaster, but it may not escape it. Those who are hesitating to embark with their capital in real estate and improvements, may well consider whether they are likely to obtain any compensating return upon that investment during a season of financial disaster, and a consequent return to actual disaster, and a consequent return to actua

We cannot doubt the truthfulness of this account. One comes to us from a free-trade the other from a protective paper. One is a conservative, the other a radical; one is for contraction, the other inclines towards inflation. In view of this state of the case in the great workshops of our capitalists, it is well for them to look well ahead into the future, and embark only in such investments as will ren | nessee.

der their capital available on call. We have breakers ahead, and, like wise seamen, we advise every man to reef his sails and be prepared for any possible emergency. We do not think that a financial panic is imminent, but it is possible; and the surest way to not only avoid its occurrence, but also to be safe, should it occur, is to act the part dictated by prudence, and be prepared for its coming.

"Territorial Arithmetic."

'DESTINY' is a word which, as applied to European politics, has no meaning. When, however, it is used in regard to the steady march of the United States to the acquisition of the entire American Continent, it at once presents in a very clear light the steady policy of the American Government since its foundation. Without wavering, it has been the constant tendency of every Administration to secure all North America to the United States. The success which has so far been achieved is such as to encourage us in the future, and points to the steady working out of the "inevitable destiny" of the Continent. Beginning at the peace of 1783 with only 820,680 square miles, we added 889,579 by the purchase of Louisiana, 66,900 by the acquisition of Florida, 318,000 by the annexation of Texas. 308,052 by the Oregon treaty, and 550,455 by the Mexican treaties. The Commissioner of the General Land Office in 1860 estimated the land area of the States and Territories at 2,943,257 square miles, or, including the Indian Territory, 3,010,277 square miles. The area of the Russian possessions in America is computed at 481,276 square miles. The annexation of Russian America will swell the grand total of square miles embraced within the United States to 3,491,553. In less than ninety years the United States has increased its territory over fourfold. If we quadruple our size every century, how long will it take to absorb all the American Con-

The Death of George L. Stearns.

WE regret to see the announcement of the death of George L. Stearns, of Massachusetts. Mr. Stearns was known to a very large number of our citizens as one of the most active workers of late years in the anti-slavery enterprise. He was a man of large wealth, which he used with an unstinted hand in the furtherance of benevolent objects. In the early days of the Kansas struggle Mr. Stearns was the powerful and efficient friend of her people. His name is remembered there with great affection. He was an intimate friend of John Brown's, and probably knew more of that old hero's plans and purposes than any other person.

Of late Mr. Stearns has contributed powerfully to the cultivation of a proper public sentiment on the suffrage question, by the publication of his paper call the Right Way, which was circulated gratuitously in large numbers all over the country. The death of Mr. Stearns is a public calamity, for such men are rare in any age or time, Suffrage in Jamaica.

HALLOW Writers of the conservative school think they make a serious point against suffrage for our colored citizens by appealing to the case of Jamaica. We might make out a much more serious point against suffrage for white citizens by holding up to view the case of New York city. There has been no such failure in government anywhere else as that in New York city under Democratic rule. If Jamaica proves black suffrage to be a bad thing, New York city proves white suffrage to be a worse thing.

Truth is to be arrived at by no such process as this. The condition of things in Jamaica is owing to a variety of causes, familiar to all who are acquainted with the history of that island, and is not at all chargeable to the exercise of the right of suffrage by its citizens.

Crop Prospects.

It is very cheering to read that the prospect for large crops this season is good all over the country. Wheat is said to be especially promising, and the extraordinary price which it has brought for the last few months cannot fail to have induced the sowing of a much larger breadth of land than usual.

Nothing would go so far to help the country out of its present financial difficulties as a bountiful supply of breadstuffs. The present exorbitant prices of flour and meat are an almost insurmountable obstacle to a return to lower prices in other departments. With cheap food, everything else would tend to lower rates instantly and inevitably.

VALLANDIGHAM SPEAKS .- The cheering and warming influence of the Connecticut election has enabled Vallandigham to crawl out of his hole, and give a feeble hiss. He forgets that the meagre result in Connecticut was only achieved by shelving all Copperheads of his style, and nominating an Abolitionist; and that even in Kentucky the Vallandigham stripe of politicians are so obnoxious that they have succeeded in dividing the Democratic party, and putting two tickets in the field in opposition to the Republicans. We trust that Val. will keep on writing letters and making speeches. The Republicans could even afford to get up a ten-cent subscription to enable him to do so. We need a fossil specimen like him in the political museum of the country, to remind us of what Copperheads really were during the war.

REPUBLICAN TRIBMPH IN CHICAGO. - The Republicans carried the municipal election in Chicago yesterday by a triumphant majority. It is a significant fact that nearly all the great cities of the country, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, etc., are Republican. New York, with its vast hordes of ignorant and degraded people, and with its diagraceful government, is Democratic.

Ms. Emerson Etherings has been nominated for Governor by the conservatives of Ten-

THE GEORGIA INJUNCTION CASE. - Subporns were issued yesterday by the Supreme Court for the attendance of Secretary Stanton, General Grant, and Major-General Pope in the Georgia injunction case. They are required to be in attendance on the first Monday in December next. Before that day arrives the great work of reconstruction under the recent law of Congress will have become an accomplished fact, which no decision of the Supreme Court will be able to reach. We may, therefore, expect to see the law of Congress on this subject fully carried out. Resistance is vain even if it were desirable.

Approvos of the discussion in regard to the ompulsory attendance at school of such children as are neglected or prevented by their parents, it may be stated that the Massachusetts Senate has passed a bill making it unlawful to employ any child, between the ages of 10 and 14, in any manufacturing or mechanical establishment, unless such child shall have attended school for six months during the year preceding such employment.

A PROCLAMATION.

The Alexandria (Va.) State Journal unearths the following proclamation from the ex-President of the exploded Confederacy, as a set-of to the new professions of confidence in and regard for the colored people which the Rebel politicians are so industriously making at present:-

THE PROCLAMATION.

The African slaves have not only been incited to insorrection by every license and encourage-ment, but numbers of them have actually been armed for servile war—a war, in its nature, far exceeding the horrors and most merciless atroexceeding the horrors and most mercites atro-cities of savages.

And whereas, the President of the United States (Abraham Lincoln) has, by public and official declarations, signified not only his approval of the effort to excite servile war within the Confederacy, but his intentions to give aid and encouragement thereto;

Now, therefore, I, Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States of America, and acting by their authority, do issue this my procia-mation, and by virtue of my authority as Com-mander-in-Chief of the Armies of the Confede rate States do order:

That all negroslaves captured in arms be at once delivered over to the executive authori-ties of the respective States to which they belong to be dealt with according to the laws

That the like orders be executed in all cases with respect to all commissioned officers of the United States, when found serving in company with said slaves in insurrection against the authorities of the different States of this Confederacy.

In testimony whereof, I have signed these presents, and caused the seal of the Confederate presents, and caused the seal of the Confederate States of America to be affixed thereto, at the city of Richmond, on the 22d day of December, in the year of our Lordone thousand eight hundred and sixty-two.

JEFFERSON DAVIS. By the President:— J. P. Benjamin, Secretary of State.

CLIPPED FROM THE DIARY OF A TRAVELLER OF THE INDIES.- Last eve, as the great red sun of the Orient cast its last keen, sweeping glances o'er its fair dominions, we sailed up the bright dancing waters of the "Bay of Pleasure," called in the native tongue "Ching-ar-ora," a literal translation of which is "Bay of Pleasure;" and it is fairly named, for a more delightful valley than that which bounds and husbes the gentle, gurgling waves of the Chingarora was never seen by the broad eye of the sun. The gentle ascent which extends far north of the bay is all blushing with rosy fruit, while the great fields to the south, at first glance, seem a slightly undulating sea; but in looking more carefully you discover this seeming expanse of water to be a broad field of luxuriant tobacco (called the Chingarora), gently waving in the balmy The natives are a tall, haughty, noble looking race, and are never without the inevitable pipe, from which issues huge columns of rich smoke and as one peers wisely at you, and puffs as be peers, you are somewhat comically and forcibly

WHAT IS DYSPERSIA! DYSPERSIA HAS THE FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS:

1st. A constant pain or uneasiness in the pit of the Stomach—Which is caused by a permanent contraction of the stomach upon the undigested food. It generally begins immediately or a short time after cating; is often very severe and obstrate.

24. Flatulence and Acidity.-These symptoms arise from the indigestion of food, which fer-ments instead of digesting.

3d. Costiveness and Loss of Appetite.—These symptoms are the effects of the unnatural condition of food in the stomach, and the want of a pure bile and gastric juice. The stomach is often painfully distended by wind; the appetite is sometimes variations.

sometimes voracious. 4th. Gloom and Depression of Spirits.—This state unfits many for the enjoyment of life, and is caused by the impure blood furnished by imperfect digestion. In this stage of the disease many persons commit suicide. There is a constant foreboding of evil, and an indifference and positive inability to perform the offices of life.

5th. Diarrhea.—After being at first costive, the sufferer is afflicted with diarrhea, which is owing to a diseased condition of the bowels, produced by the undigested food, which is evacuated in the same condition as when eaten, and of course gives no strength to the system. 6th. Pains in all Parts of the System-Arise from the action of impure blood upon the nerves. They are felt chiefly in the head, sides, and breast, and in the extremities. In many cases there is an uneasiness in the throat, with a sense of choking or suffocation; the mouth is often clammy, with a bad taste and a furred tongue. tongue.

7th. Consumptive Symptoms and Palpitation of the Heart.—Many persons pronounced as having these diseases have, in fact, nothing but Dys-pepsia, the lung and heart disease being only symptoms.

8th, Cough.—This is a very frequent symptom of Dyspepsia, and leads very often into confirmed consumption. 9th. Want of Sleep.—A very distressing symptom, resulting from mental derangements.

10th. Symptoms of External Relation.—The patient is affected painfully by cold and heat, which is owing to unnatural dryness of skin, and the skin is often affected by cruptions and tetters. The gloomy dyspeptic avoids society as much as possible.

11th. Vomiting.—A frequent and distressing symptom. It relieves the pain, but emaciates and wears out the patient, 12th. Dizeiness, dimness of vision, headache, and staggering in walking.—These are very alarming symptoms, which are speedily removed by our medicines; but if neglected are quickly followed by numbness and studen death.

13th. It is impossible for us to give all the symptoms of Dyspepsia in so small a space, but the above the considered sufficient, if we are that the patient loses his memory and regard to surraunding objects, and frequently becomes morose and sour in disposition. We should say, however, that pains in the joints and stiffness of the limbs, which go by the name of rheumatism and neuralgis, are produced by Dyspepsia. Also, a hardness of the muscles of the abdomen, which becomes contracted and hardness. which becomes contracted and hard; and in some cases the belly sinks, instead of being gently prominent.

N. B .- Perhaps we have not said enough of that strongest symptom of Dyspepsia, melancholy. We have examined hundreds of cases of Dyspepsia, who were so much affected in their minds that they constantly forbode loss of their reason, which unfitted them for business of any kind, and many of them have been patients of the Insane Asylum, who are now permanently cured by our medicine. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent yearly, and hundreds of thousands of the best men and women of America linger in pain and die, and fill a premature grave, with that awful disease, Dyspepsia. They try this physician and that physician, but alas! alas! no relief, no cure; and the next we hear of them they have gone "to that bourne from whence no traveller returns." Out of the thousands of cases of Dyspepsia that have used Dr. Wishart's Great American Dyspepsia Pills and Pine Tree Tar Cordial, not one of them has failed of a perfect cure. We warrant a perfect cure in every case, no waller if it be twenty years' standing. Sold by all druggists everywhere, and at Dr. Wishart's Office, No. 10 N. Second street, Philadelphia, Pa. PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL.

A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF THROAT AND LUNG DISEASES.

PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL.

It is the vital principle of the Pine Tree obtained by a peculiar process in the distillation of the tar, by which its highest medical properties are retained.

It is the only safe and reliable remedy which has ever been prepared from the juice of the Pine Tree.

It invigorates the digestive organs and restores the appetite.

It strengthens the debilitated system. It purifies and enriches the blood, and expels from the system the corruption which scrofula breeds on the lungs. It dissolves the mucus or phlegm which stops the air passages of the lungs. Its healing principle acts upon the irritated

The CHINGARORA TOBACCO grows from the rich soil of the "ORIENT." and is possessed of a peculiarly delicious flavor, entirely unknown to the tobaccos of all other climes. But its unprecedented popularity has sprung from the fact of the entire absence of that deadily poisen, Nicotia, which permeates every other tobacco, and which is the one and sole cause of the distressing nervous diseases, dyspepsia, etc., which most invariably, sooner or later, follow the indulgence of the pipe and cigar. At the recent analyzation of tobacco from all parts of the world, at the Academy of Sciences, in Paris, the renowned Chemist, M. Lamoureaux, declared that while European and American tobacco contained fully eight percent, and the purest Havana tobacco from two to five per cent, of Nicotia, the CHINGARORA did not contain one discoverable particle of that deadily poison, a drop of which, extracted, will destroy life.

Our Agent at BOMBAY has shipped us large quantities of the CHINGARORA during the last two years, and although we have been pressed to supply the demand for this delicious luxury to the veteran smoker, yet we are now prepared to offer it in unlimited quantities, at a pice much lower than some American tobacco of a lar inferior quality.

A comolisseur has but to smoke the American tobacco and cigars, which are invariably chemically flavored, to be disgusted with the medicinal taste, which leaves a nauseoux, unhealthy coating in the mouth, and in time never fails to shatter the nervous system.

The netives of the "ORIENT" amoke the CHINsurface of the lungs and throat, penetrating to each diseased part, relieving pain and subduing inflammation. It is the result of years of study and experiment, and it is offered to the afflicted with the positive assurance of its power to cure, if the patient has not too long delayed a resort to the means of cure.
