Fine Aets—The Reception of the Artists' Fund.—The opening of the Spring Exhibition at the Gallery of the Artists' Fund Society, No. 1334 Chesnut street, took pilace on Theeday evening last. A leading feature of the exhibition of this lostitution is the Artist of the exhibition of this lostitution is the Artist of the exhibition of this lostitution is the Artist alone, exertion is thus atimulated by a landable ambition to exert and vie with each other for the production of Lew pictures for each opening of the Gallery; and the quality and quantity of such productions by some of our leading artists are truly wonderful. From the progress made within the last lew years, we may safely predict that, whenever American art shall receive such patronage and support as Europe extends to loster rising genius, or even a tithe of the money spent here in the worthless foreign productions with which the country is annually laundated, American genius will form one of the most brilliant pages in art history.

The importance of cultivating a love of art and developing the owers of genius is nowhere feit in the present da escusibly as in Paris, and the result is seen not on in her altainments in the highest walks of art, but in he be any of the handleraft productions and mechanic arts. We cannot averestimats the importance of art-culture and encouragement thereof, since by history we learn that civilization and art have ever been intimately allied—rising and falling together.

Our spece will not permit more than a passing FIRE ARTS-THE RECEPTION OF THE ARTISTS' have ever been intimately allied—rising and falling together.

Our space will not permit more than a passing notice of the most prominent pictures on exhibition. In the first gallery is No. 5, "View in Switzerland," by Paul Weber. A very fine picture.

Ro. 9, "Lara Bridge," entrance to Giendalangh, county Wicklow, Ireland, by J. Faulkner, in which rostic life is well pertrayed, in combination with the fine atmospheric effect that pervades the scene.

No. 61, "Evening, Tallaght," county Dublin, and No. 55 "The Pargie," are also by Faulkner, and each possess qualities of the highest order of art—especially the latter picture. So far as we have seen of this artist, he seems to impart a peculiar coarm to everything emanating from his pencit. There is nothing back neyed or stereotyped in his compositions. We do not siways admire the tone of his skies—though they are always in keeping with his subject. His ardent spirit delight to catch the evane-scent and revel in the novel effects of nature; and with his fine feeling and brilling toolor, invests the glowing heath, the heather-ciad mountains, or a no k in the Dargle, with all the vigor and romance of life.

No. 13, "Wild Cat lives," by W. S. Young. A very brillimit color, invests the glowing heath, the heatherclad mountains, or a no k in the Dargle, with all the vigor and romance of life.

No. 13, "Wild Cat Rivor," by W. S. Young. A very pleasing little picture, well handled. No. 73, by the silme artist, it also good.

No. 16, "The Last Message," by C. Schussele. A picture that appeals to every heart, but not equal to his best efforts. No. 53 is also by the same pencil. It is a clever sketch, good in texture, and very effective.
No. 18, "The Wreckers," by T. E. Moran, is one of his best efforts. The light in the sky is somewhat subdued; the water brilliant and buoyant, representing great volume and force, while the objects introduced are remarkably strong and well toned. No. 24 is also by Moran. Very pure in color, and full of life and motion. It is a grey picture, of sky and water, and except a few birds, is without living or marine objects to attract attention, thus exposing and almost demonstrating the artist's power in the successful representation of those elements.

No. 11, "Young Mother;" No. 19, "Compensation;"
No. 23, "An incident in the Early Life of James Watt," By C. F. Blanvelt, Fluely handled. Good in tone, and very effective.

Mr. Peter Moran Contributes three cattle pieces—
No. 26, "Sheep," No. 40, "Summer Time," and No. 22,
"The Gipsy Camp"—which are all good, the last named especially. The animals are drawn with great spirit, It is a remarkably strong picture, and shows how much an aspiring artist may accomplish by daring the attempt
No. 63, "A Glimpse of Lake Erie," by Mrs. E. A.
Christie, There is a nice quiet feeling, and tenderness of sentiment pervading this little picture that is very pleasing.

Mr. F. De Berg Richards contributes several picand and possible.

Mr. F. De Berg Richards contributes several plotures, all possessing more or less merit. No. 79, "Patterson's Ford upon the Potomac," we like the best. This artist is better in execution than in selection.

W. T. Richards contributes two olever little pictures—No. 37, "Nantucket Beach," and No. 35, "Cresbard Creek." nam Creek."
No. 47, Crayon Portrait, by S. J. Ferris. Excellent.

No. 47. Crayon Portrait, by S. J. Ferris. Excellent. This artist has few rivals in this special branch of art. No. 68. "The Debtor's Prison." by the same, is a very good picture: handled somewhat timidly, but well drawn and full of feeting.

No. 55. Portrait, by T. Henry Smith. Well and delicately handled, fine in tone, and correct in drawing. Mr. Smith is a master in this branch of art.

Mr. G. E. Wood contributes several pictures, the best of which is a small sketch, No. 66. "On Sable River, Adirondack Mountains." Our advice to F. De B. Richards is equally applicable to this artist.

No. 64, "The Refugees," by D. R. Knight, contains some excellent painting. "The Colored Girl," on the left, is very fine. The design is also good, as well as some excellent painting. "The Colored Giri," on the left, is very fine. The design is also good, as well as the grouping of the figures. The general tone is not agreeable; otherwise it is an usexceptionable picture. As a first attempt at a large picture, Mr. Knight has been very successful. been very successful.

Mr. Hamilton contributes nothing new, or of special interest.

Medallion Portraits, No. 35, by Broome, are very Medallion Portraits, No. 35, by Broome, are very fine; No. 50, by Barber, is also good.
No. 83, By J. A. Balley. A very excellent work of art, beaming with tender sentiment.
No. 84, Statuette, by Ida Waugh, promising much in the fu ure.
No. 85, "Winte,." by Jervis McEntree. Tenderly handled, and although a little weak, yet good.
Shattuck contributes two or three pictures, which are both pleasing and good; as does also Mr. Guy, one of which is very remarkable for its delicate handling and blob Saisb, but defective in linear perspective. There are quite a number of other contributors, whom we cannot at present notice. The artists of Pennsylvania are evidently intent upon doing their lest. Let the lovers of art follow their example by a

THANKSGIVING ANNIVERSARY BY THE ODD-FELLOWS.—Friday next being the day set apart as a Day of Thanksgiving and Prayer by this Order throughout the country, the following programme of exercises will be observed in ing programme of exercises will be observed in this city:—

The Lodges meeting in the Sixth Street Hall will worship in Trinity Methodist Church, where Rev. Dr. B. H. Nadai will conduct the ceremonies; Nazaieth Church, where Rev. T. A. Feinley will preach; and St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, where Rev. Dr. Hutter will officiate. The Lodges meeting at Third and Brown will attend Divine service at the First Presbyterian Church of Kensington, and Twelfth Street Methodist Church. At these places Rev. Mr. Eva and Rev. W. C. H. Robinson will deliver sermons appropriate to the day. From Third and German the Lodges there convening will proceed to Trinity Episcopal Church. Past Grand Master Washburn will preach to these Lodges. Master Washburn will preach to these Lodges. Spring Garden Baptist Church has been selected by the Lodges of Spring Garden Hall as their place of assembling for worship—who will officiate in the pulpit we cannot tell. In West Philadelphia there will also be special Divine service, and in Germantown the Lodges there meeting will assemble and carry out the letter and spirit of the Thanksgiving Proclamation issued by the chief authority of Odd Fellow-ship, the Grand Sire of the United States. In Manayunk and Roxborough a united service has been agreed upon, the service taking place in the evening.

HOSPITAL NEWS .- The following-named persons were admitted yesterday into the city nos-William Cook, fifty-four years of age, living in Front street, above Green, was run over yes-terday by a cart, and seriously injured about Andrew Murray was admitted to the Hospital yesterday, owing to severe injuries he had re-ceived by being kicked by a horse, while driving, near Morgan's Corner. Caroline Anderson, thirty-five years of age, living at Seventh and Sansom streets, fell yesterday and broke her leg.

William D. Conway, thirty-six years of age, living in the neighborhood of Federal and Tenth streets, had his skull fractured yesterday morning by a machine which he was superintending. He died at the Hospital, at noon, from the effects of his injuries.

Jacob Myers, who fell overboard on Wednesday, at Walnut street wharf, and was injured, died yesterday at the Pennsylvania Hospital. He was a German by birth.

PHILADELPHIA COLLECTORSHIP. - The sponsible office of Collector of the Pert of Philadelphia has, with the consent of the United States Senate, been conferred upon Colonel J. W. Cake, a prominent citizen of Schuylkill county. The new Collector is President of the Farmers' Bank of Pottsville, Collector in Collect Originally, Colonel Case was a Democrat, but the firing upon Fort Sumter converted him into a staunch Republican; and, during the progress of the war, he contributed freely to the cause of the Union and her noble defenders.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.-Last night, about ten COMMITTED SUIGIDE.—Last night, about ten o'clock, Mrs. Mary Bowers, aged twenty-four years, residing at No. 450 N. Front street, left her home, and committed suicide by jumping into the Delaware at Willow street wharf. The body was recovered and taken to her late home. She leaves three children, one of whom is only four weeks old. The cause which led to this deplorable event was not ascertained. The Coroner was sent for, and an inquest will be held to day.

SIGNIFICANT PREPARATIONS .- One of the Government sloops-of-war is undergoing the necessary alterations at the Navy Yard, to fit it for a seceiving ship at League Island. The alterations give it the appearance of a floating house, the entire deck being roofed over.

IMPORTANT.—On and after the 1st of May all bills for water rents unpaid will have a penalty of five per cent, added.
