A DISASTROUS FIRE .- This morning, a short A DIBASTROUS FIRE.—This morning, a short time after 12 o'clock, the large brick building owned by Joshua Longstreth and occupied by J. Rush Ritter & Co., No. 232 Church street, be-tween Second and Third, was discovered on fire. The private watchman of the establishment, Joshua Beesley, was making his rounds. ex-amining the premises, when he saw flames issuing from a window on the first floor of the premises. He gave the alarm, and Mr. Ritter and two of his sons, then sleeping in the building, were informed of the conflagration going on.

building, were informed of the conflagration going on. Mr. Ritter gained the roof, and from there dropped the keys of the doors down to the watchman, in order that the latter might gain access to the lower part of the building. An alarm was then sounded from box 51, at the corner of Third and Market streets, and the firemen were soon at the scene. Meeting with no resistance, but aided by the combustible dry goods with which the building was well stocked, the fiames rushed npward with great rapidity, and soon reached the roof of the building, having destroyed everything in the Measrs, Ritter & Co. had just received an ex-tensive assoriment of silks, white goods, etc., which by them were valued at from $18,000 to $20,000. On this stock they have an insurance of $16,000, as follows:—Reliance, of Philadelphia, $5000; Philadelphia, $4000; Manhattan, of New York, $5000; and Metropolitan, $2000. The building, which is built of brick, and four-stories in height, is owned by Mr. Longstreth, and is supposed to be fully covered by in-surance. surance

From this building the flames assailed those adjoining, but the energetic manner in which adjoining, but the energetic manner in which the firemen worked prevented their serious damage by fire, and they were perfectly deluged with water. No, 237 was occupied by Measrs, lyins & Horner general dealers in dry goods, on the first floor; Mr. E. Kayser, dry goods jobber, was established on the second: and the remain-ing upper stories were used as a hoop skirt manufactory. The goods and working mate-rials in all the rooms of this building were greatly damaged by water.

Hais in all the rooms of this building were greatly damaged by water. How the fire originated is yet hidden in mys-tery. Mr. Ritter and the two young men escaped from the building by means of a trap-door through the roof, their retreat down stairs being cut off by the flames.

A ROBBERY ON THE SCHUYLKILL .--- On Monday afternoon last, one Patrick Larkins saw a man named Joseph Clark moving along in an intoxicated state. From previous observations made by him, Patrick was assured that Clark had money upon his person. Some time after Clark went down into the cabin of the canal boat I. II Benton, lying in the Fairmount locks. Allowing sufficient time to elapse for Clark to succumb to the soporific influence, Lar-kins followed him down into the cabin, and there found him asleep, and without any com-punction rifled Clark's pockets, taking a pocket-book containing a promissory note for $500 and seventy-five collars in greenbacks. Clark soon after learned of this loss, and obtained a de-scription of the man who had visited the boat. Information was given Lieutenant Coonsily Information was given Lieutenant Connelly, who despatched Officers Ewing and Galton, in pursuit of the culprit. Patrick was arrested in the vicinity yesterday by these officers; and at a bearing before Alderman Patchel, he was committed in default of $1500 bail.

committee in default of $1500 ball. Lieutenant Connelly visited the residence of Larkins, Sr., at Twenty-fifth and Pine streets, and found the cover of the pocket-book in the yard, and the promissory note in a drawer of a bureau, in one of the upper rooms of the house. The prisoner acknowledged the crime. He is about twenty-five years of age, goes under the alias of "Caffie," and is well known to our police

A DAMPER was put upon everything yes-terday in the shape of a copious fall of rain, which varied the monotony of its continuance which varied the monotony of its continuance with drizzling and pouring. As might be ex-pected on such a day, business was not brisk-to outside observation—and everybody looked dull. During the thunderstorm in the morning, the lightning struck's telegraphic pole stand-ing but a short distance from the Oakdale Park ticket-office, at once demolishing it, and whirling the splinters in all directions. Surely this first of May, on which the weather determined to be as surly and disagreeable as determined to be as surry and disagreeable as possible, boded no good, especially for many who were destined to change their residing places; for moving operations of themselves are fraught with little pleasure and great trou-ble even on a pleasant day, but a shower of rain, fluctuating in power, must of all things dampen the little existing ardor for moving, making it a most displeasing and highly disa-greeable transaction.

THE COEN EXCHANGE ASSOCIATION-MEETING HIS MORNING TO CONSIDER THE CHANGE OF NAME, --This morning, at half-past 11 o'clock, a special meeting of "The Corn Exchange Asso-clation" was held at their rooms, at the corner of Second and Gold streets, to consider the pro-pored change in the name of the Association. Howard Hinchman, Esq., the President of the Association, in stating the object of the meet-ing, said;-

And although it is eaither my purpose new my prime to express an opinion Sheen called to deliberate. And although it is neither my purpose nor my province to express an opinion upon the subject. I nevertheless feel constrained upon the subject. I nevertheless feel constrained upon the subject. I nevertheless feel constrained upon this important issue, you will be guided out alone by the brilliant records that adorn the pages of our past history—a history that has rendered that you will also reflect with earnest solicitade upon the unfithomed and yet probable fature, for the great meterst manifested in the change of the tille of this basiliation is not confined to our own members alone, but it has become a subject of discussion with kindred institutions, and it is possible, gentiemen, that when the scis of these kindred bodies shall have become known to you, they may have a controlling influence upon your own deliberations. "Permit me to add, gentiemen, thatfas the subject fifteenth article of our By-havs, which adomits the subject to you hody for discussion only defering final action for a period of not less than tes days. With these brief remarks, gentiemen, the subject await your action." Mr. George W. Buzby then addressed the

He stated that those engaged in the flour and grain trade did not comprise more than one-half of the present membership of the Association; and no one desired to have the name and character of his business thus benored. Mr. Buzby urged the members of the Association to regard every one as a brother in trade and in a spirit of magnanimity to consent to the change of name, and hereafter put aside all exclusiveness of spirit. By so doing the last act of the "Corn Exchange Association," under that distinctive name, will be a very commendable one. Mr. Buzby then read the following series of resolutions:-

Mr, Buzby then read the following series of resolutions:--Whereas, This Corn Exchange Association was pri-marily organized for the purpose of enhancing the interests of, and affording greater facilities to, that particular branch of the large merchandising interest of Philadelphia designated as the "Flour and Grain Trade." and was especially adapted to the wants thereof: and, whereas, by invitation from time to time, through a series of years past, its membership has largely increased, and now consists of represen-tatives of the various mercantile, commercial, and manufacturing interests of our thriving metropolis; and, whereas, the want of a great Business Mart, or Exchange, such as may be found in the leading cities of our Union, for the regulating of trade, and where business men of all classes may daily meet for a full and free inter-change of opinion, to make purchases, effect sales, etc., is now being agitated, and is much needed, therefore, in view of these facts, and in justice to those members of our Association who are not, from the nature of their business, properly represented by the title "Cora Exchange," and to meet public opinion, and provide for a growing want to the ecom munity, be it Rezolved. AT THE sale of unclaimed packages of the Adams Express Company was one box on which the bidding was quite lively, and the article was run up to a good price. On the purchaser opening it, it was found to contain strawberry plants, of course useless. No doubt the excited bidders were bidding in the hones of getting a Spring Suit of the make of that popular house.

COME TO GRIEF AGAIN. - Colonel James

Come to GRIEF AGAIN. — Colonel James Buchanan Cross, one of the most accomplished swindlers that ever breathed the breath of life, has come to grief again. His operations in this city and State in times past still linger in the memory of our citizens, and we doubt if any one familiar with them will express regret at the fact that the Colonei is again in jeopardy. It seems that he has been at his old tricks of trade in Chicago, and having in divers unwar-rantable ways succeeded in replenishing his purse in that locality, proceeded thence to New York city and took up his quarters at the Metro-politan Hotel, where he was living after a very comfortable and elegant fashion on his fil-gotten means. The police authorities of Chi-cago, however, contrived to learn of his where-abouts, and a day or two ago they telegraphed to New York, requesting that the Colonei might be restrained of his liberty to such an extent that he colonel at his hotel, and together they pro-mode to the police headuarters, where Colo-A New York detective thereupon wanted upon the Colonel at his hotel, and together they pro-ceeded to the police headquarters, where Colo-nel Cross now awaits the arrival of the Chicago and the who wants the arrival of the Chicago officials, who will duly convoy him to the chicago of his latest exploits. We sincerely hope he will there be disposed of for some time to come,

He was walking off with it, when Officer Houck discovered the boy, and the latter observing affairs, started on a run down Wood street. Passing a sugar-house, he dropped his bundle, which was taken into the place. "BANKERS' AND BROKERS' TELEGRAPH .--- Out "BANKERS' AND BROKERS' TELEGRAPH.—Our brief and pleasant business experience with this company induces us to call the attention of the business public generally to what we conceive to be of vital interest to them—the duty of sustaining by their patronage its praiseworthy efforts to sustain a healthy com-petition in what is fast getting to be a giant and oppressive monopoly. If one huge com-pany is to be allowed to break down all compe-tition, by fair or foul means, through the cri-minal negligence of the business public, that public has no right to complain if, in the end, the exactions made upon them by the successpublic has no right to complain if, in the end, the exactions made upon them by the success-ful monopoly shall become almost unbearable. For this reason, therefore, we trust our busi-ness men, will extend a liberal patronage to the Bankers and Brokers' line, to the immediate as well as remote benefit of their pockets. We know their charges to be very moderate, and cheerfully vouch for the obligingness and cour-tesy of the employes connected with the office.
