THE DAILY RVENING THE STATE OF LINE PRINTERS. FRIDER. MARKETS H. 1867.

THE RELEASED TRAITOR.

From the Independent. Jefferson Davis ought to have been tried leng, long ago. His protracted detention in prison, without a trial, justly brought reproach npon the Government. This reproach is now fearfully increased by his discharge on bail, It was hitherto supposed that the Government, being either not ready or not willing to bring him to trial, had no other alternative than to continue him in custody. It now seems, however, that the prisoner might have been re-Acased at any time within the last two years, If only the officers of the law had bethought themselves of admitting him to bail. Can any good reason be assigned why he should have been bailed a few days ago, rather than a few weeks ago, or a few months ago, or a year and a half ago? None! But he never should have been bailed at all! Does not everybody know that men charged with far less heinous crimes are not admitted to bail? Are small criminals to be denied the privilege of bail, and great criminals to enjoy it? If a man who robs a bank must remain in jail till his trial, shall a man who levies war against the Government, fires hotels, starves prisoners, and slaughters half a million of his fellow-men, be obsequiously invited to put on a pair of green kid gloves, take a new hat and cane, and step out of prison to receive the congratulations of his friends? Our sense of justice revolts at such a proceeding. We grant that Mr. Davis should not have been incarcerated for an undue term without a trial. No apology can be made for the Government's unusua and unjust delay in arraigning him before its bar. But to admit him to bail, like the commonest of culprits, is a mockery of justice— a confusion of moral distinctions—a national disgrace. Nothing in the punishment of Mr. Davis as a state prisoner, thus far, shows him to have been guilty of any greater crime than picking a pocket, or committing assault and battery. To say that treason is a bailable offense is next to saying that it is no offense at all. The greatest law-breaker of modern times shocks the civilized world by his crimes, fills the land with mourning, darkens the nation's history with his shadow, and yet the sum total of his guilt is roundly estimated by the law at one hundred thousand dollars! This man stands charged with connivance at the murder of Abraham Lincoln. Has any other man, so charged, been so bailed? Why not release John H. Surratt on similar terms? As both men are charged with the same offense, and as neither has yet been brought to trial, why should not both be treated alike? In view of all the circumstances, we have found it impossible to regard the release of Mr. Davis as other than a hideous blunder. We have no words adequate to express our mingled regret, indignation, and scorn at the act. Some of the principal actors in it are men whom we personally love and revere. Of course, they have acted from the noblest and purest motives; they are incapable of acting from any other. But they have, nevertheless, lent their countenance to a proceeding which, in our judgment, is as great a disgrace as has fallen upon the nation since the public drunkenness of Andrew Johnson on the day of his inauguration as Vice-President. ALARMING SCENE IN A THEATRE. - According to the London Spectator, Miss Madge Robertson, who is playing the heroine in Mr. Andrew Halliday's new drama, A Great City, now performing at Drury Lane Theatre, narrowly escaped a serious accident. The play is designed to meet the popular craving for realism, and one of the incidents is the driving of a Hansom cab, probably taken off the stand outside, across the stage. As it entered, says our contemporary, and the driver smacked his whip, and the lady who had summoned it (Miss Robertson) immeed in nit and calleries. (Miss Robertson) jumped in, pit and galleries, all densely crowded, sent out a roar of applause so sudden and so loud that the horse, frightened out of his wits, became almost ungovernable, backed the cab on to the footlights till it bent the brass rod which protects them, and but for the strenuous exertions of the supers, who "whoohooed" in the most natural and nnstagy style, would have shot poor Miss Robertson head over heels into the orchestra, with the cab upon her, and the horse most probably on the top of the cab. The beast at last recovered itself, and galloped a short distance in a most spirited manner, and Miss Robertson escaped unscathed.

A New STRIKE.—The Pall Mall Gazette says:-"An odd development of the practice of strikes has just occurred at the Carr-house colliery, near Rotherham. This time it is not the men who have struck against the masters, but the boys who have struck against the men. A fine had been imposed on several of the lads for breaking lamps, which they deemed unjust; the rest of the boys, forty in number, made common cause with their comrades, and refused to go down the pit unless the fines were remitted. The result was that the working of the pit had to be suspended. The men who had gone down were obliged to return, and some four hundred miners are in consequence thrown out of work. Perhaps the men may now discover that there may be two sides to the question of strikes, and may be enabled in some degree to enter into the feeling of the masters."

A New PRINTING MACHINE.-The London Press News says:- "Various rumors are afloat in England respecting a machine constructed to print twenty thousand papers in one hour.

A great deal has yet to be done to bring it to perfection. It is a copy of Wilkinson's machine, brought out some years since in America. It prints on a continuous sheet of damped paper (unrolled from a cylinder) on both sides, registering as exact as book work on a hand press. Stereotype plates of the pages are used, but of a smaller curve than those for the Applegarth or Hoe. When the sheet has received the impression on both sides, it is cut by a simple contrivance and carried forward, a complete newspaper, to the delivery-board."

PICTURE SALE.—A sale of pictures, sketches, Picture Sale.—A sale of pictures, sketches, water-color drawings, etc., by Ingres, took place at the Hotel Drouot, Paris, three weeks ago. A sketch of the "Death of Leonardi da Vinci" fetched 2500 francs; a small copy of "Stratonice," 3400 francs; a another, 4220 francs; a drawing of "Philip V," 4380 francs; a small copy of the "Tu Marcelluseris," 5700 francs; an "Odalisque," in monochrome, 5750 francs; a copy in small of "Saint-Symphomian." 12,600 francs; "The Virgin with the rian," 12,600 francs; "The Virgin with the Holy Wafer," 17,100 francs; a small copy of the "Age of Gold," 27,000 francs; and another "Odalisque," a completed picture, 44,000 francs.

THE CHINGARORA ANTI-NERVOUS SMOKING TOBACCO!

The CHINGARORA TOBACCO grows from the rich soil of the "ORIENT," and is possessed of a peculiarly delicious flavor, entirely unknown to the tobaccos of all other climes. But its unprecedented popularity has sprung from the fact of the entire absence of that deadly poisen, Nicotin, which permeates every other tobacco, and which is the one and sole cause of the distressing nervous diseases, dyspepsia, etc., which most invariably, sooner or later, follow the indulgence of the pipe and cigar. At the recent analyzation of tobacco from all parts of the world, at the Academy of Sciences, in Paris, the renowned Chemist, M. Lamoureaux, declared that while European and American tobacco contained fully eight per cent, and the purest Havana tobacco from two to five per bent, of Nicotin, the CHINGARORA did not contain one discoverable particle of that deadly poison, a drop of which, extracted, will destroy life.

Our Agent at BOMBAY has shipped us large quantities of the CHINGARORA during the last two years, and although we have been pressed to supply the demand for this delicious luxury to the veteran smoker, yet we are now prepared to offer it in unlimited quantities, at a price much lower than some American tobacco of a har inferior quality.

A conneisseur has but to smoke the American tobacco and cigars, which are invariably chemically flavored, to be disgusted with the medicinal taste, which leaves a nauseous, unhealthy coating in the mouth, and in time never fails to shatter the nervous system.

The natives of the "ORLENT" smoke the CHIN-mouth, and in time never this to shatter the nervous system.

The natives of the "ORIENT" smoke the CHINGARORA from morn till night, from youth to age, and are happily unconscious of the wiid, distressing fire which courses through the veins of the inhaler of the tumes of tobacco containing Nucotia.
We invite every lover of the weed to try the OHINGARORA, and guarantee unprecedented pleasure in its delicious flavor. Sold everywhere at $1 per $5.
